WHY IS ELECTRIC LIGHT BEST?

Because it is Healthy, Clean, Pure and Brilliant.

HEALTHY! It has no odor. Prof. Thomson states one cubic foot of gas consumes as much oxygen as four adults.

CLEAN It causes no discolorations of furnishings and decorations in homes.

SAFE As electric bell work, no danger of suffocation.

CHEAP! By using a little care in turning off lights when not in use it is cheaper than any other illuminant.

SPEND A NOISY DAY

The Kentucky Democratic Convention Unable to Reach a Ballot.

AN OBSTINATE MAN

The Chairman Refuses to Put Motion Ousting the Police.

Louisville, Ky., June 26.—"If I tried to name the nominee I should need three guesses." This is the way ex-Governor McCreary, an old timer in Kentucky politics, expressed his opinion of the three cornered fight for the nomination for governor by the Democratic state convention.

Conferences lasting until long after midnight failed to bring any two of the candidates nearer together, though for a time it looked as though Stone and Hardin might get together. But this is an unlikely combination, for no matter what its result one of the parties must lose all, for Goebel has the state organization. Goebel's coolness and nerve, and his skill as a political manager will make him the central figure in the fight.

Many delegates have gone home. What effect this will have on the main contest is an open question, but it has seriously alarmed many of the candidates for minor offices.

The convention got together shortly after 10 o'clock this morning.

Hon. John S. Rhea got the floor at once and called attention to the presence in the hall of policemen, the interference being that they were not there simply to keep order. He moved that the chairman order them removed.

The chairman recalled the attempt of Friday night by outsiders to interfere with the proceedings of the convention, said the police had been called at his request and declared the motion out of order.

Rhea and other Stone and Hardin leaders appealed from this decision and demanded a call of the counties.

The chair declined to recognize the appeal and ordered the roll call for a ballot for governor.

Instantly the convention was in a turmoil, equal to any of the exciting incidents of last week. The Stone and Hardin leaders made frantic appeals for justice and fairness. A dozen of them gathered in the space in front of the chairman and, with the vociferous support of hundreds of delegates, declared that the ballot would not proceed until their appeal from the decision of the chair was put to the house. The discontent over what were believed to be arbitrary decisions of the chair bade fair to put a stop to further business.

Here occurred an incident well illustrating the state of feeling. A note was handed Chairman Redwine and he sat down to read it. Again the delegates became wildly excited.

"What does your boss say?" "Read it out," they yelled at the top of their voices. The note was handed to the clerk and read. It proved to be a note from the printer in regard to a shortage of tally sheets.

C. J. Bronston, a Hardin manager, got the floor and urged his followers to restrain themselves, asserting that the motion to remove the police was not made with a purpose to interfere with the work of the convention; that he would support the nominee, no matter how he was nominated, but that those in control of the convention should be put on record before the people.

Congressman C. K. Wheeler followed. He attacked the ruling of the chairman and quoted from the rules of Speaker Reed amid loud applause.

Judge Tarvin, of Covington, a Goebel leader, upheld the chairman and declared that no appeal lies in a matter involving the very existence of the convention.

The chairman made another attempt to have the roll called on nomination for governor, but the opposition created such disorder the clerk could not be heard.

Then came a deafening chorus of sing-song yells, the chairman beating time with his gavel. After several minutes of this pandemonium a facetious delegate arose:

"Gentlemen," he said, after struggling some time to make himself heard, "there seems to be a general disposition to sing. Why not let us sing together? Let us sing 'Praise God from whom all blessings flow.'"

A wave of laughter swept through the hall, then all caught up the strain and the hymn was sung amid surroundings that made it sound weird and uncanny, not indicative of peace and goodwill, as its mission.

But sacred music never had a less soothing influence. It gave way to the old chorus of disorder, and another attempt to start the roll call was howled down. At this juncture a delegate rushed toward the stage. Immediately in front of the chairman stood a line of blue coats. The excited delegate began to denounce the police, the chairman and things generally. An officer laid his hands on the disturber's shoulders. The convention arose as one man, and a dangerous movement to the front began. Every delegate was on his feet and wildly excited. This gesticulating, noisy mass surged forward, pushing back the police and crowding them against the stage. Four of the dissidents with presence of mind took possession of the disturber and hustled him out of the way.

The police, who had been stoically listening to all sorts of denunciations for hours, evidently thought the matter serious. One of them, Capt. Mahon, pulled his revolver. His intention probably was to protect Chairman Redwine, who had made his way to the rear of the stage. At any rate the crowd did not catch sight of the weapon, or the convention might have developed what has been momentarily feared for nearly a week—a general fight. The cause of the disturbance removed, comparative silence that was not deathlike was restored.

One delegate shouted: "Mr. Chairman, I move the convention adjourn to meet at some future day in Manchester, Clay county, Ky."

An uproar ensued and when it had spent itself a Harding leader in front of the stage asked the chairman if he would call the roll on the appeal:

"No sir," came the determined answer. "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," began the crowd and for five minutes the convention took part in an admirable rendition of the national anthem. Patriotic music had even less quieting influence than religious.

"My Old Kentucky Home" followed and the gathering became personal.

"Hang Redwine on a Sour Apple Tree" they chanted.

Meanwhile the chairman reclined in his easy chair, his elbow on the table, with head resting on his hand, fanning himself complacently.

The dinner hour was long past, the chorus was showing signs of fatigue and oratory was waning when a long-headed gentlemen of color with a big tray of sandwiches came on the scene. The white men assumed the burden with eagerness. This infused enough life into the assemblage to cause a renewal of the farce. To allow vocal chords to rest, a round of whistling was started with "A Hot Time" as the theme.

Chairman Redwine showed the first sign of impatience. Rapping the table sharply he said imploringly:

"Gentlemen, how long is this going to last?"

"Until we get a vote," came the response, like a Kansas cyclone, and the crowd struck up "We Won't Go Home Till Morning."

ROOSEVELT DEPARTS.

But Enthusiasm of the Rough Riders Continues Unabated.

Las Vegas, N. M., June 26.—Although Col. Roosevelt departed on his eastward journey at 1 o'clock this morning the enthusiasm of his Rough Riders, who are holding their first annual reunion here, continued unabated today. The Rough Riders' and citizens' parade took place at 10 o'clock under the command of M. H. Alburger. It was upwards of a mile in length, with a band of music heading each of the four divisions. The first division consisted of the Rough Riders, guests of the regiment and the citizens' committee having the reunion arrangements in charge. The Albuquerque band headed this division. The Rough Riders, numbering over 1000, were commanded by Lieut. Col. Brodie and lined up regardless of the various troops to which they belonged.

The regimental colors that floated on San Juan hill were carried by David L. Hughes, of Tucson, Ariz., a member of Troop H.

TAWNEY BUSY.

Detained In Washington to Look Out For Gen. Henderson's Interests.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative Tawney has been detained in Washington, and his business, it is said, is to look out for the interests of Gen. Henderson during the absence of Representative Babcock. The latter has been called home on account of the illness of his wife. Tawney denies, however, that he is assisting to form a combine to control the appointive offices in the next house, or is aiding Henderson to make a slate on committee assignments.

A BIG STRIKE.

Probability That All Tin Plate Works Will Be Closed Down.

Pittsburg, June 26.—All the tin plate works in the country will be closed at midnight on Friday as a result of the failure to settle the wage scale at the conference in Chicago. Fully 50,000 persons will be affected by the shutdown.

The conference, which opened in Chicago on Tuesday morning, closed Saturday evening at 6 o'clock without arriving at an agreement. The workers' wage committee, acting under instructions received from the annual convention held in Detroit last month, made a demand for an advance of 20 per cent. The present wage scale expires on June 30, and members of the Amalgamated association are not permitted to work after that date unless the new scale is signed.

About 25,000 skilled workers are members of the association, and as many more are dependent upon them and will be idle while the skilled men are unemployed. Nearly 75 per cent of the tin plate workers of the country are employed in Western Pennsylvania mills.

The scale for the tin house men, as unskilled labor, was arranged several weeks ago, and provides for a big advance to some of the workers, and averages nearly 20 per cent. All the tin plate mills in the country are union mills with but four exceptions. Some of them may continue in operation, but it is not likely that they will.

Secretary Williams of the Amalgamated association stated today that all negotiations are off for the present, and that the matter will have to be referred back to the subordinate lodges. Mr. Williams said that the manufacturers offered them an advance, but it was not as much as they wanted and, as the committee had no authority to do anything except what the convention decided on in Detroit just a month ago, the conference was brought to an end. It would be impossible, he said, to refer the matter back to the subordinate lodges this week, much less arrange for another conference.

FIRE AT ADAMS MINE.

Blaze In No. 2 Shaft Caused a Complete Loss.

Eveleth, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—No. 2 shaft of the Adams mine was burned this morning. Water was unobtainable and the fire could not be stopped, until everything was a complete loss. Several men were taken to the hospital, having received injuries. There are 200 men out of work on account of the fire.

ZENITH CITY TELEPHONE CO.

308 Lyceum Building, Duluth, Minn.

To Investors!

The attention of conservative investors is invited to the stock of the Zenith City Telephone Company, which offers exceptional advantages and inducements for the above class of investors, and a limited amount of which stock is now offered.

The Zenith City Telephone Company was invited by a unanimous vote of the Council of the City of Duluth to build a Telephone Exchange to meet a popular and constantly increasing demand for first-class telephone service at lower rates of rental than the extortionate prices charged heretofore and which rates of charge were made possible by the monopolistic character of the business as conducted to the present time.

The organizers of the Company are prominent, public-spirited men, well and favorably known in Duluth and throughout the business circles of the United States as having extensive experience in handling large enterprises and above all accustomed to succeed in their undertakings.

A few of the many features which make the stock of the Company especially desirable and commend it strongly to careful and conservative persons who have idle money for which they wish to secure a highly profitable and at the same time, absolutely safe investment, are the following.

FIRST—Our experience in promoting and equipping telephone systems—We have over early companies the advantage of the experience of many years to guide us. The high state of perfection attained in this line of work enables us at this time, to construct and complete a plant, more perfect in every detail, cheaper and easier to conduct and maintain, and capable of giving more satisfactory service in every way, than would have been possible at an earlier period. All of our work can be accomplished without the waste of a dollar or a day's time in expensive experiments, to afterwards prove valueless, which in earlier days of telephone development, was unavoidable. Taking advantage of and guided by this experience, we will adopt only such systems and use only such materials and apparatus generally as thorough trial and experience of years have proven to be most perfect and best adapted to the work. By availing ourselves of these advantages, we purpose having, when completed, the most perfect and in every way the most satisfactory telephone plant in existence. A large portion of our wires being underground and carried in the most modern highgrade conduits, secure for us better service and greater saving in the maintenance of our lines over the old system of overhead wiring.

SECOND—

We have now 634 five-year contracts and 225 in Superior.

We are getting additional subscribers every day, and at the popular prices which we have fixed as our annual charge—$35 for the first year and $30 thereafter for business places, and $25 for residences, as against the prohibitive and unreasonable charges of our competitors, ranging from $50 to $100 per annum. Many hundreds of people in Duluth and Superior will use our telephones who have not used any heretofore and who could not be prevailed upon to do so at the old prices, hence our telephone service will be of much more value to you, we having all the old company's subscribers with as many more new ones, which is the experience in all cities where new systems have been built within the past five years.

THIRD—We have a 25-year franchise from the city of Duluth. It is a well-established and admitted fact among all well informed financiers that there is nothing more valuable than public franchises. It is equally certain that a franchise such as ours must be especially valuable, and as the city in which operations under it are to be conducted develop and increase, it will steadily increase in value.

FOURTH—Under the terms and conditions of our organization all stockholders are upon an equal footing and small stockholders are so protected as to render their investment a perfectly safe and profitable one.

FIFTH—All expense connected with construction and equipment is being paid as work is done or equipment furnished. By this course when the plant is completed and opened, it will be without indebtedness, under which condition the payment of liberal dividends upon the first year's business is clearly assured.

No man or woman having idle money can afford to pass by the opportunity this stock offers for investment, without careful investigation.

Consider Well These Facts:

We have a 25-year franchise.

We already have as many subscribers on 5-year contracts as our competitors.

We are constructing the most perfect, most complete and in every way the most desirable Telephone plant in the country.

We are constructing an extensive and valuable underground conduit system, insuring the best service and perfect protection.

We can earn upon the basis of 1000 subscribers $18 net per annum on each telephone rented.

We are paying for everything as we go, and when we commence operations, it will be under such conditions as to insure the payment of dividends on the first year's operations, and obviate the delay in dividends frequently occuring in corporations where the above is not the case.

We afford the best advantages and greatest possible protection for small stockholders.

The entire proposition in connection with this line of investments is one worthy of careful investigation and consideration on the part of any one in a position to purchase stock. A LIMITED AMOUNT OF THE TREASURY STOCK OF THE COMPANY is now available for citizens of Duluth, which limited amount, however, will be exhausted, at the present rate of sale at an early day. It is therefore important that any person interested in the matter should act at once.

We will cheerfully furnish upon application further details, terms, etc., to any person desiring such information.

Address or call on R. H. Evans, President of the Company, at 308 Lyceum Bldg, Duluth, Minn.

SPIRIT VS. FINANCE

Dr. Chambers Says Such a Question Is Before the Presbyterians.

FAITH UNDERMINED

Discussions of the Bible Have Caused People to Become Indifferent.

New York, June 26.—Rev. Dr. James Chambers, who has just resigned the pastorate of Calvary Presbyterian church, said in his farewell sermon that Presbyterianism was on the verge of a serious question in the city of New York—the church was beginning to be looked upon in the light of a paying investment. The paying church was getting more popular than the praying church. The people were too much inclined to subordinate the real aim.

In order to provide for the dissidents that could not support a church, he thought the presbytery ought to raise a fund of at least $500,000 to endow parishes. He believed something ought to be done to elevate the real purpose of the church and that the spiritual end should dictate its policy.

"We have gone through our experience here because there has not been a sufficient constituency to maintain a Presbyterian organization," said Dr. Chambers. "The churches must go where the people are and stay there and save the people. I stated that the locality was inhabited almost entirely by people of another race. I want to say now that a certain rabbi told me he could buy for his people fifteen or twenty churches if a satisfactory price was arranged. At least five offers have been made for this property. When we send missionaries among the Jews we must put up the money. We cannot work among them any other way.

"There is another element that has a wide influence in this church. The discussions of the Bible have had a mighty influence on the people. Their faith has been undermined until it has reached a state of indifference. Doubt has been raised as to the very substructure of the Christian faith. This has made the task of the minister tenfold greater."

Dr. Chambers said it was with deep regret that he relinquished his pastorate. The church is said he sol'd for $100,000 to a synagogue and the proceeds is voted to missionary work.

PROF. McGIFFERT'S CASE.

New York Presbytery Will Not Consider It Now.

New York, June 26.—The New York presbytery will meet today for the purpose of finishing left over business but the case of Professor McGiffert will not be touched upon. The presbytery at its last meeting, acting upon the message from the general assembly regarding Professor McGiffert's heretical views appointed a commission to investigate the charges and to make a report thereon. This commission was instructed to report later than the November meeting, and as nothing further will be done in the matter until after the summer vacation it is not likely that any development will take place until then. The investigating body has not as yet met, and as most of the members are now away from the city it is unlikely that the inquiry will be begun until toward the fall.

It has been rumored that Dr. McGiffert, rather than face the notoriety of a trial for heresy, would leave the Presbyterian church and join the Congregational denomination. Dr. Robert F. Sample, however, said that he doubted if Professor McGiffert had any such intention.

"The professor," he said, "in his works wrote as a historian and, as I understand, did not advance those writings as being his own personal opinion. That much, I think, was made clear in his letter to the general assembly, but of course until he appears before the commission it is impossible to say whether Dr. McGiffert's beliefs differ with the orthodox faith of the Presbyterian church."

Although the commission is stated to have beenformed of strongly conservative members, it is apparent from Dr. Sample's remarks that the examination will not be conducted in any prejudiced or narrow spirit.

THE SAENGERBUND.

Great Preparations Being Made For Coming Concerts.

Cincinnati, June 26.—There have been many arrivals the past two days for the golden jubilee here this week of the North American Saengerbund. The large orchestra is now at work night and day. Since the arrival yesterday of President J. Hanno Deiler of New Orleans all the committees have opened their headquarters.

The rehearsals of yesterday and last night were continued today. Tonight the first general rehearsal will occur at Music hall, and tomorrow night the new saengerfest hall, with a stage capacity of over 4000, will be used for another general rehearsal, so as to get familiar with the surroundings for the opening concert on Wednesday evening.

Director Oscar Ehrgott is pleased with the work of the 130 performers now rehearsing in the orchestra, and as the 4000 in the chorus are all trained singers no trouble is anticipated with any of the five elaborate programs for the concerts of the golden jubilee week.

"DUTCH" NEAL DEAD.

The Pugilist Injured In a Fight at Chicago.

Chicago, June 26.—Dutch Neal, the St. Louis pugilist, who fell unconscious in the ring last Wednesday, in the sixth round of a glove contest with Harry Peppers, the California middleweight, died yesterday without having regained unconsciousness. Neal's death is attributed to a blood clot on the brain, resulting from over-exertion while in an unfit physical condition. Peppers was arrested as soon as it became apparent that Neal's condition was serious, and is now in jail in default of $2000 bonds.

When Neal appeared in the ring he was so fat and flabby that his condition caused comment. After a minute's sparring Peppers landed a light right on Neal's ear. The blow unbalanced the St. Louis man, and as he reeled sideways one of his feet slipped off the platform and he fell to the floor of the ring.

Referee George Siler had just finished counting ten when Neal rolled out of the ring on the floor, his head striking with a noise that was heard through the building. He got up a moment later, but soon after having been assisted to his dressing room he became unconscious and remained so until he died.

Hidden Weakness.

Just as we sometimes see a tree or pole apparently strong and sound come rushing down with a sudden crash because of some undetected process of decay, so no matter how good an appearance a woman may present, if she is subject to any hidden weakness, gradually sapping away and undermining her vitality, some day her entire constitution will give way and leave her a prostrate physical wreck.

The average doctor gives a little something for the headache and a little something else for the backache and still another thing for the nerves and so on, never once reaching the hidden weakness in the distinctly feminine organism.

The vast experience and special practice of Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., in treating women's diseases, enables him to understand and cope successfully with these particular ailments. Any woman may feel the utmost confidence in consulting him by mail. She will receive, free of cost, sound professional advice whereby her health may, in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, be promptly and permanently restored. All correspondence is held to be sacredly confidential.

A lady living in Coshocton Co., Ohio, Mrs. W. T. Stanton, of Blissfield, writes: "I had female weakness very bad for nearly three years. Had dragging down pains in and above my hips and such dreadful pains in the back and top of my head (just as though someone was lifting me by the hair). Had no ambition, would try to work a few days then would have to lie in bed for a long time. No tongue can express the suffering I endured. I had much pain at monthly periods. I doctored most of the time with as good a physician as there is in the state, but had no ease only when I was quiet and off my feet and then I had more or less pain in my head. When I began taking Dr. Pierce's medicines I weighed 102 pounds, and was very pale and weak. I took twelve bottles of his 'Favorite Prescription' and seven of the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' Now I feel like a different person. Have no pain in my head, can do all the work for myself, husband and one child; am gaining in flesh. I feel it is through God's mercy and your wonderful medicines that I am cured."

HER FIRST TRIAL TRIP.

The New Yacht Columbia Beats the Old Defender.

Newport, R. I., June 26.—The first trial trip of the new American cup defender Columbia, which took place in Narragansett bay yesterday, was more successful than either her builders or owner had reason to hope. Not only did the new boat show herself to be able in every particular, but she met the old racer Defender in a friendly brush of a mile to windward and vanquished her with the greatest ease. The race, which was over in five minutes, was sailed in an 8-knot breeze under the same conditions, each boat carrying three lower sails with sheet well flattened. It took the Columbia about three minutes, sailing from Defender's weather quarter, to blanket her and in five minutes she was 100 yards ahead, going past the old cup defender as if the latter were anchored.

Under these conditions it would seem as if the Columbia were from fifteen to twenty seconds a mile faster than Defender and if she can make the same gain in a hard blow the anxiety for the safety of the America's cup, will be considerably relieved.

The trip yesterday was the builders' trial and the managing owner, C. Oliver Iselin, and a number of his yachting friends were on board. Still the Columbia's designer, Nat Herreshoff, was in charge, and after the sail down the bay the boat was towed back to Bristol for a few minor repairs.

It is expected the boat will have another trial either today or Tuesday and that by the end of the week she will be turned over to Mr. Iselin. In the meantime her interior fittings will be finished and her bowsprit, which apparently started in the socket yesterday, probably will need some attention. Before the Columbia left for Bristol Mr. Iselin expressed himself as more than satisfied with her and it was a happy lot of yachtsmen that watched her performance and went to Bristol with her tonight.

A BRAVE RESCUE.

Prof. Moore and Philander Johnson Saved From Drowning.

Chicago, June 26.—A special to the Chronicle from Cape May, N. J., says: Congressman Henry C. Loudenslager of New Jersey, chairman of the pension committee of the house and W. M. Kirkpatrick a Philadelphia newspaper man, last evening heroically rescued Professor Willis L. Moore, the chief of the United State's weather service, and Philander Johnson, of Washington, from drowning. Near the two men were many bathers, but Johnson and Moore got out beyond their depth and were discovered in a dangerous predicament. Loudenslager is a big athlete, and bravely handled his man. The rescuers were heartily cheered by the crowd, which quickly gathered.

DIED SUDDENLY.

Grand Rapids, Minn., June 26.—The body of Luman C. Warriner, manager of Seeley & Potter's store at Winnibegoshish dam, who died suddenly Saturday evening, was brought here yesterday.

Mr. Warriner was taken sick at the dam after supper Saturday evening, and died before he could be brought to Bena. The doctors say Bright's disease of the kidneys caused death. Mr. Warriner was well known here, having formerly been in the jewelry business. He was about 50 years old.

STORMS IN NEBRASKA.

Omaha, June 26.—Disastrous wind, rain and hail storms visited parts of Nebraska yesterday. At Ravena, Neb., five inches of rain fell between 5 and 7 p. m., streets are torrents, cellars are flooded, and Seeley's mill dam is in danger. Washouts are reported along the railroads in that part of the state.

The whole country around Bartley, Neb., is flooded, and for miles to the northeast not a stalk of corn or spear of wheat is left. Hailstones measuring five and a half inches were picked up.

At Bradley, Neb., a twister wrecked a 2-story brick block owned by Charles Nash, of New York, causing a loss of $10,000. W. A. Wallworth was caught in the debris and seriously hurt. Several other buildings were damaged and the ground was plowed up by the wind.

FATHER OF THE ACTRESS.

New York, June 26.—Thomas Walsh, a noted East Side politician, better known as Fatty Walsh, died tonight of heart failure, aged 63 years. He was the father of Blanche Walsh, the actress.

REPORT BY ENGINEERS

Not Satisfied With Plans of the Sault Water Power Company.

IMPORTANT POINTS

Have Been Referred to the Attorney General For His Decision.

Washington, June 26.—There appears to be a misunderstanding among the people of the Northwest in respect to the attitude of the war department toward the proposition of the Michigan-Lake Superior Power company to secure the right to draw water from the St. Mary's river for hydraulic purposes. Secretary Alger has not granted permission for the company to establish its canal and draw water from the river, nor has a board of engineers reported against the plans of the power company on the ground that the level of Lake Superior would be too much lowered and the interests of navigation imperilled. The board reported on these points as reasons for opposing the granting of permission to the company, but the principal reason assigned by the board was the international questions included, and the water power project is not underestimated. The Lake Carriers' association has been furnished with a copy of the report of the board and it is interesting to observe what the engineers of the war department said concerning the importance of this water power project.

Secretary Alger wrote to the president of the water power company saying that in the light of the statement of the company that its plans are certain not to interfere with navigation no permission is necessary from the war department. The secretary informed the company that permission to private companies to draw water from around public improvements which have been established in the interests of navigation is confined to cases where the government interests are likely to be placed in jeopardy, and as the company guarantees that no injury shall follow its plans of operation, no permission from the department is necessary. This subject of utilizing the power of the St. Mary's falls is an interesting one, not only from the standpoint of the tremendous development of power that is possible there, but also from the navigation interests involved.

The lake carriers are greatly interested in the subject, and department officials say that the report of the board of engineers on the matter is one of the ablest that has ever been presented to the department on a question involving industrial and navigation interests. The board consisted of Col. Haydecker, engineer in charge at Detroit; Col. Raymond, the engineer member of the commission on the deep waterways from the lakes to the sea, and Col. Symons, in charge of the engineer office at Buffalo. Under instructions from Secretary Alger this board investigated the whole subject. Attention is called in the report to the fact that the flow of water through the St. Mary's river at the point where the work is to be done is from 60,000 to 100,000 cubic inches per second the low and high water respectively. The power company proposes to draw 32,000 inches per second of this surplus water. The engineers call attention to the rights of another company organized for operation on the United States side of the river, and suggest that the power company should satisfy the claims of this company.

In the matter of water rights it speaks of the plans proposed by the company for protective measures to guard the navigation interests of the country as based upon an assumption and the engineers are not satisfied that it is the best plan. The engineers report that they believe an international question as well as navigation is involved, as the navigation interests of Canada would also be affected. Attention is called to the tremendous growth of traffic through the Canadian canal and the danger involved in the proposition to divert a part of the outflow of Lake Superior, which apparently draw down the lake level. The board thinks that this should be done with the consent of one government only, but if any change is made it should be upon conditions satisfactory to both the United States and Canada.

In pointing out a solution of the whole problem, and one that would protect the interests of navigation and secure the desired power, the board says that in view of the enormous commercial interests at stake the board earnestly recommends that action be taken through the proper diplomatic channels for securing an international commission, consisting of representatives of the United States and Canada, duly authorized to consider the conditions surrounding questions involved; also to consider the conditions surrounding the discharge of water from Lake Superior and for such plans under which it may be utilized for the development of power without serious injury to the interests of navigation, and to definitely establish the boundary between the countries in the St. Mary's river, to determine the division of water power privileges of the rapids between the two countries and securing to the governments control of the remedial works necessary to preserve navigation, the commission to report to the two governments. The legal questions involved in the matter have been referred by the war department to the attorney general for report, and in view of the fact that the water power company informs the department that it has its work well under way, and conditional sales of 20,000-horse power of hydraulic power in sight, the magnitude of the enterprise may be realized. It will be observed that while the board of engineers are consistent in attempting to guard the interests of navigation, as that is primarily their business, they are more wide awake to the importance of developing the water power advantages of Lake Superior than army engineers usually are.

PACIFIC COAST SHIPYARD.

President Hill Said to Be Planning Numerous Improvements.

Tacoma, June 26.—It is reported on the strength of private letters from St. Paul, one coming from an officer in the St. Paul offices, that President Hill is planning numerous improvements in this state, all to be completed or under way when the Great Northern tunnel is finished in 1901. It is understood that Mr. Hill intends to extend his coast line across Frazer river bridge into New Westminster, and thence into Vancouver, where the Canadian Pacific now dominates all railroad business.

If the report be true, his long cherished project for a big Pacific coast shipyard is to become a reality at Fair Haven, on Bellingham bay, where timber, coal, coke, limestone and iron are all within easy reach. This is particularly true since the Seattle & Northern railway, which taps the Skagit county iron deposits near Hamilton, recently passed into the hands of a syndicate friendly to Hill.

It is announced that Mr. Hill is preparing to utilize electric engines for hauling his trains through the Cascade tunnel, which when completed will prevent smoke in the tunnel. Engines will be attached after trains are taken through.

A special received yesterday from Idaho is to the effect that the Northern Pacific has beaten the Oregon Railway & Navigation company in the fight to control the Clearwater valley, and is now master of the situation there. The Oregon railway has practically withdrawn from Idaho, devoting all its energies at present to its Walla Walla extension. Its workmen and engineers have been recalled from Lewiston, while the Northern Pacific has 2000 men working in that section.

La Camas prairie and its immense wheat crop have been the objective points of the fierce fight waged between the roads, but the Northern Pacific cabine is now building thither. It has fifteen miles of this extension finished, and 1000 graders are scattered along the remainder of the distance.

The prevailing sentiment is that if President Mohler had intended to continue the fight he would not have allowed the Northern Pacific to get so far ahead of him. The other chief objective point in Idaho was the new Buffalo Hump mining district. As the matter stands, the Northern Pacific will be within sixty miles of there by September, while the Oregon railway will still be 140 miles away.

Mme. Yale's HAIR TONIC

Ladies and Gentlemen: It affords me great pleasure to call the attention of the public to the Excelsior Hair Tonic, which is the first and only remedy known to chemistry which positively turns gray hair back to its original color without dye. It has gone on record that wonderful woman chemist—has made this most valuable of all chemical discoveries. Mme. Yale personally endorses its action and gives the public her solemn guarantee that it has been tested in every conceivable way, and has proved itself to be the only Hair Specific. It stops hair falling immediately and creates a luxurious growth. Contains no injurious ingredient. Physicians and chemists invited to analyze it. It is not stick or greasy—on the contrary, it makes the hair soft, youthful, fluffy, and keeps it in curl. For gentlemen and ladies with hair a little gray, a stronked gray, entirely gray and with BALD HEADS, it is especially recommended. Price, $1.00. Our special price—

89 cents.

HIS LAST SERMON.

President Timothy Dwight Bids Farewell to Yale.

New Haven, June 26.—President Timothy Dwight, the venerable retiring president of Yale university, yesterday preached his last baccalaureate sermon before the graduating classes of the academic and scientific departments. The occasion was also the fiftieth anniversary of President Dwight's own graduation. Many of his old classmates were in the chapel.

He said at the close: "And so I bid you farewell. May the long summer day and the sunset hour at the end of it be filled with beautiful light, and may the closing twilight season be full of thoughts and hopes of the better and happier life beyond. May your testimony and mine unite, as it comes from our personal experience in the words of the Psalmist's song, about our loving God and father, who 'maketh the outgoings of the morning and evening to rejoice.'"

ENTIRELY UNPROVOKED.

Private Wigfall Shoots Private Kirby Through the Leg.

San Francisco, June 26.—Private Wesley Kirby of Company H, Twenty-fourth infantry, was shot through the leg by Private Frank Wigfall of the same company at the headquarters of the Presidio. The wound is serious, and it may be necessary to amputate the limb. Eye witnesses state that the shooting was entirely unprovoked. Kirby was blacking his shoes when Wigfall loaded his rifle and fired. Seeing that the shot had not proved fatal, he was reloading his gun when it was taken from him by other soldiers, who hustled him into the guard house. No cause is assigned for his attempt to commit murder.

ANTARCTIC EXPEDITION.

The Leader of It Sums Up the Results.

New York, June 26.—A dispatch to the Herald from Montevideo today says: The Antarctic steamer Belgica has sailed for LaPlata. M. DeGerlache, leader of the late expedition, sums up as follows the result of his journey to the Antarctic regions:

1—Discovery of a channel which was named the Belgica channel.

2—Discovery of anchipelago formerly believed to be an isolated island.

3—Rectification of numerous errors in the British admiralty maps concerning Fireland and Shetland islands.

4—The water temperature permits the supposition that there is a continent far to the south.

5—Important discoveries referring to flora and fauna.

6—Discovery of unknown lands, especially Dance island.

DEIGNAN GIVES UP.

Elkhorn, Wis., June 26—Oscar W. Deignan, wheelman of the Merrimac, is in this city visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Ellen O'Brien. He has given up the idea of becoming a naval cadet.

The bill introduced in congress authorizing the president to make him a naval cadet was amended, requiring him to pass an examination, the same as any other cadet. He has not the means to go through a preparatory course.

THE CREW SAVED.

Natives of Hawaii Rescue Some Shipwrecked Sailors.

San Francisco, June 26.—Hawaiian advices of June 18 state that the crew of the wrecked schooner Mokuloio, who were supposed to be lost in a small skiff in which they started from Hanalei to Watmea, Island of Kauai, have arrived safely in Honolulu. Their skiff was capsized and they were in the water for three hours before some natives came to their assistance. They were nearly dead when picked up.

The report that the body of King Lunalalilo had been stolen from the royal tomb is denied. When the vault was opened recently the remains were undisturbed.

CHANGES IN FRANCE.

Some Anti-Dreyfus Officials Are Given the Bounce.

Paris, June 26.—At the cabinet council yesterday, M. Loubet, the president, signed orders making the following changes:

M. Bertrand, prosecutor general to the appeal court, and M. Feuilloley, public prosecutor, both removed. M. Bulot, advocate general, is appointed public prosecutor.

M. Lombard, who dismissal on account of the Deroulede trial has been much criticised as unfust, is appointed advocate general. M. Bertrand's successor has not yet been appointed.

Gen. Zurlinden, Gen. Roget, Col. Saxe and Col. Couberthn are transferred to other garrisons.

The premier, M. Waldeck-Rosseau, read a draft of his speech in parliament tomorrow, which will be very brief, merely announcing that the new ministry has no aim but to follow out the order of the day voted on June 22nd, on motion of Joseph Ruau, Democratic Radical, representing the Second district of Saint Gaudens, which reads as follows:

"The chamber, determined to support only a government resolved to defend vigorously republican institutions and to procure public order, and passes to the order of the day."

FOR MUCH-NEEDED REST.

San Francisco, June 26.—Among the arrivals on the steamer Rio de Janeiro from Hong Kong were Capt. N. M. Dyer of the Baltimore, who has been succeeded by Capt. J. M. Forsyth, and Capt. Chs. Miller of the Marietta, a suburb of Boston; Capt. A. N. Walker of the Concord, who has been succeeded by Capt. Seth M. Arlkey, and is to go to Frankfort, Ky., and the medical inspectors of the Baltimore, who is going to Washington. These officers have been detached from duty and ordered home to secure much-needed rest.

CAPT. CRESSEY'S BURIAL.

San Francisco, June 26.—Edward Potter Cressey, late brevet lieutenant colonel and captain of the Third United States cavalry, has been buried in the national cemetery with full Masonic rites. He was a graduate of West Point, class of 1858. He served with distinction and honor throughout the war of the rebellion and latterly held posts on the frontier.

STRUCK BY A CHINAMAN.

New York, June 26.—A dispatch to the Herald from Pekin says: G. A. Fliche, interpreter of the French legation here, has been struck by a Chinaman and is suffering from bruises.

The French minister demands a public apology from the tsung li yamen.

RESISTING REQUISITION.

NOTICE.—

Default having been made in the terms of a certain mortgage bearing date June 25th, 1896, executed by Gustava Sjogren and Charles W. Sjogren, mortgagors, to the Zenith Building and Loan association of Duluth, Minnesota, mortgagee; said mortgage having been duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 10th day of July, A. D. 1896, at 8:30 o'clock a. m., in Book 93 of mortgages, on page 531, the said default consisting in failure to pay the interest upon a note of $200.00 dated June 25th, 1896, payable semi-annually, and no interest whatever having ever been paid upon said note; and it being stipulated in said mortgage that if default should be made by the said mortgagors in any of the terms of the said mortgage, the said mortgagee should have power to declare the whole sum of the said note due and payable; and the sum of $237.84 being now due and payable upon said note and mortgage for principal and interest.

Now therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and of the statute in such case made and provided notice is hereby given that the premises described in the said mortgage, to-wit: Lot number 1, in block number 10, in the First Division of New Duluth, now a part of the city of Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, at the front door of the county court house, facing Second street, in the city of Duluth, state of Minnesota, on the 1st day of August, 1899, for the purpose of paying the said debt with interest, from the date of this notice, besides all taxes that may be paid by the said mortgagor and legal costs of this foreclosure, including $25.00 attorney's fees, stipulated to be paid in case of foreclosure, subject to redemption within one year from date of such sale, as provided by law.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.—

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of ten hundred sixty and 17-100 dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage executed and delivered by Elizabeth O'Meara (widow), mortgagor, to A. Buchanan, mortgagee, bearing date January 15, 1892, and with a power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds for St. Louis County and state of Minnesota, on January 26, 1892, at 8 o'clock a. m., in Book 58 of mortgages, page 208; which said mortgage and the debt secured thereby were duly assigned by said A. Buchanan to James B. Bonar, by written assignment dated February 13th, 1892, and recorded in the office of the register of deeds for said St. Louis County, Minnesota, on February 19, 1892, at 8 o'clock a. m., in Book 97 of mortgages, page 90; and no action or proceeding, at law or otherwise, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Lot numbered six (6), block seventy-two (72), Oneota, according to the recorded plat thereof in St. Louis County, Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis County at the front door of the court house, in said county and state, on July 19th, 1899, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt and interest and taxes, if any, on said premises and fifty dollars, attorneys fee as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from date of sale as provided by law.

DECLINE IN WHEAT

Market Started Out Weak Again and Prices Went Down Farther.

THE CABLES LOWER

Heavy Northwest Receipts Continue to Be a Chief Bearish Feature.

Duluth board of Trade, June 26.—The wheat market was weak and lower again today. The chief bearish feature at the start was the continued heaviness of the receipts at Duluth, Minneapolis and Chicago. Naturally the large quantity of grain being sent to market by the farmers has a very depressing effect on prices. It was figured that the visible would show an increase of about 1,000,000 bus. The cables were also a bearish factor, there being a decline of ½@⅝d at Liverpool.

The figures on the receipts outside of Duluth and Minneapolis were also extraordinarily heavy and added to the weakness. Good buying caused a rally, but after noon heavy realizing sent the price downward. The close was ¼c lower than Saturday here and ⅝@⅝c lower at Chicago for the July option. September declined ⅝c here and ⅝@⅝c at Chicago.

Trading in futures was active on the Duluth board. July wheat opened ¼c lower at 75⅝c, declined to 75c at 9:50, fell off to 72¾c at 10:50, recovered to 73¼c at 11:40 and was quoted at 73⅝@73¾c at noon. It sold at 73⅝@74c at 12:05, dropped to 73¼c at 1:05 and closed at 73¼c, a net loss of ¼c for the day. Trading in September was of fair volume. It opened ⅛c off at 73⅝c, sold at 73¼c at 9:34, declined to 72¾ at 9:50, rallied to 73¼c at 11:40, sold down to 73⅛c and closed at those figures, ⅝c under Saturday. Cash stuff was selling at ⅛c under July for wheat in store and the July price for wheat to arrive. About 100,000 bus changed hands. Oats declined ¼c, rye lost ⅛c, while barley and corn were unchanged. Cash flax showed no change, while September flax advanced ¾c. Following were the closing prices:

Car inspection—Wheat, 203; corn, 29; oats, no. 1 northern, cash, 73c; July, 73¼c; September, 73½c. No. 2 northern, 68½c. No. 3 spring, 66c. To arrive—No. 1 hard, 75¾c; No. 1 northern, 73½c. Oats, 27½@27¾c. Rye, 45c. Barley, 37c. Flax, $1.00; September, 95c; October, 94c. Corn, 33½c.

Chicago inspection—Wheat, 263; corn, 29; rye, 6; barley, 1; flax, 19. Receipts—Wheat, 225,183 bus; corn, 37,075 bus; rye, 2980 bus; barley, 589 bus; flax, 1070 bus. Shipments—Wheat, 155,632 bus; corn, 1071 bus; barley, 35,676 bus; rye, 240 bus; flax, 34,920 bus.

ON THE CHICAGO BOARD.

The Wheat Market Again Shows a Weak Tendency.

Chicago, June 26.—Wheat was weak today on a rather small amount of trading. There was an almost entire absence of support at first, but continued heavy domestic receipts were taken advantage of by bear traders to depress prices. September opened ⅝c lower at 71½@71⅝c. During the first half hour's trading the price declined slowly, but steadily, reaching 73¾c before the turn came. At the decline there was some buying by shorts and against puts, causing a rally to 74½c, but the strength was short lived and September sold off to 73¾c before 11 o'clock.

Minneapolis and Duluth receipts were 981 cars against 886 last week and 89 a year ago. Chicago receipts were 155 cars, 7 of contract grade. Liverpool cables showed 1⅝@2d decline at that market. A visible increase of about a million bus was looked for.

The little support the market was receiving disappeared in a hurry shortly before 11 o'clock, when figures on the receipts at points outside of the two big Northwest receiving centers were posted. Kansas City alone reported arrivals of 300 cars, compared with 26 last year. September fell to 73⅝@73¾c. July liquidation in particular was heavy. Before noon, however, the market became fairly steady, under covering by shorts, and before 12:30 the price had recovered to 74⅝@74¾. But realizing afternoon became heavy, and the tendency from that time until the close was downward. September was bringing 74@74c at the close.

Corn was slow and weak, the chief influence being the enormous receipts, 1691 cars. Cables were slightly lower and the weather was favorable. Not much long corn was forced out by the decline, however. September opened ¼c lower at 31c, declined to 23½c and reacted to 34@34¼c.

Oats were quiet and fairly steady, considering the weakness of other grain markets. There was a fairly good cash demand and this supported the speculative market. Receipts were heavy, 373 cars. September opened 21¼@21⅜c, and advanced to 21½c.

Provisions were weak on the large hog receipts and lower yard prices. Selling was general, though not heavy. September pork opened 2½c lower at $8.32, declined to $8.27 and reacted to $8.30. September lard opened a shade lower at $5.12@5.15, and declined to $5.10@5.12. September ribs, 2½c lower at $4.82.

Close, wheat, July, 72¾@74c; September, 74@74½c; December, 75¾@76c. Corn, June and July, 31c; September, 34½c; December, 33½c; May, 35¾@36c. Oats, June, 25½c; July, 21½c; September, 21½@22c; December, 21⅜c; May, 23⅝@24c. Pork, June, $8.12; July, $8.12@8.15; September, $8.32. Lard, June and July, $5.00; September, $5.12@5.15. Ribs, June and July, $4.70; September, $4.82@4.85. Cash, wheat, No. 2 red, 72@74c; No. 3 red, 70@72½c; No. 2 hard winter, 70½@71c; No. 3 hard winter, 69½@70c; No. 1 northern spring, 73@74½c; No. 2, 72@72½c; No. 3 spring, 69@72½c. No. 2 corn, 34½c; No. 3 corn, 33½@34⅞c. No. 2 oats, 26@26½c; No. 3, 24½@26c. Flax, cash, Northwest, $1.06; cash, Southwest, $1.02; July, $1.04; September, 95c. Barley, cash, 38@42c. Rye, July, 44c; September, 37c. Timothy, August, $2.70; September, $2.65. Clover, October, $7.65.

LIVE STOCK.

Chicago, June 26.—Estimated receipts today, hogs, 50,000; tomorrow, 25,000. Market generally steady. Mixed and butchers, $3.60@3.82½; good heavy, $3.70@3.80; rough heavy, $3.50@3.65; light, $3.65@3.85. Cattle, receipts, 20,000. Market strong to 10c higher. Beeves, $4.50@5.50; cows and heifers, $2.00@4.90; stockers and feeders, $3.75@5.10. Sheep, receipts, 15,000. Market about steady. Sheep, $3.50@5.25; lambs, $4.50@6.80. Official figures for Saturday: Hogs, receipts, 19,030; shipments, 6820. Cattle, receipts, 519; shipments, 742. Sheep, receipts, 2049; shipments, none.

MIDWAY HORSEMARKET.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul.—Barrett & Zimmerman's report: The bulk of consignments the past week consisted of horses with quality and weight above the average grade of the previous week. Prime offerings of all classes received a fair demand yet trade showed no vital activity which forced a great many sales to clear barely country cost which has the last sixty days advanced ahead of the market prices.

Several consignments of Western horses were placed on the market and while they were not in the best condition they had many inquiries and sales had splendid results. Mules had a good demand but sold exclusively on retail basis. Market was well stocked with all classes of horses throughout the week. The representative sales were as follows:

Drafters, choice to extra	$135@$175
Drafters, common to good	80@ 100
Farm horses, choice to extra	100@ 125
Farm horses, common to good	60@ 75
Western horses, unbroke	180 40
Western horses, halter broke	200 55

NEW YORK MONEY.

Silver certificates, 60½@62c. Bar silver, 60¼c. Mexican dollars, 48½c. Government bonds, steady; United States 2s, registered, $1.00½; 3s, registered, $1.08⅝; coupon, $1.08⅝; new 4s, registered, $1.25½; coupon, $1.26½; old 4s, registered, $1.12¼; coupon, $1.14½; 5s, registered, $1.12¼; coupon, $1.12¼.

THE COTTON MARKET.

New York, June 26.—The cotton market opened about steady in tone with prices 3 to 6 points lower in sympathy with unfavorable Liverpool cables and bright crop reports. Trading was on generous lines and price changes rapidly extensive enough to suit the most exacting operator. Shorts were seen to be taking profits in not a few instances.

Cotton spot closed quiet 1-16c decline; middling uplands, 6c; do gulf, 6¼c; sales, 1729 bales. Cotton futures closed steady; June, $5.46; July, $5.85; August, $5.57; September, $5.56; October, $5.67; November, $5.65; December, $5.69; June, $5.74; February, $5.77; March, $5.80; April, $5.83; May, $5.87.

GOSSIP.

Received over the private wire of B. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, 307 Board of Trade, and 107 Chamber of Commerce, Duluth:

Chicago, June 26—Wheat: English markets closed lower, but there was a slight recovery in cargoes at London. Paris wheat and flour closed slightly lower. Odessa cabled low barometer, with a strong wind, prospect for improvement in Dneiper and Caucasus. World's shipments vary 6,800,000 bus according to Beerbohm, and 7,338,000 bus according to Jones. Beerbohm says wheat on passage decreases 1,240,000 bus. The Mark Lane Express says the latest crop reports from Germany, Italy and Austro-Hungary are decidedly favorable. Spain and France about an average, while Bulgaria, Holland, Roumania and Russia are decidedly unfavorable. In the trans-Caspian region of Asiatic Russia famine is threatened on account of prolonged drought and a plague of locusts. Wheat on passage decreased 320,000 bus. Broomhall predicts a liberal decrease on passage next week. The English visible decreased 182,000 bus. The world's visible decreased 1,640,000 bus. The American visible increased very nearly 1,000,000 bus. Primary receipts 1,21,000 bus; shipments, 417,000 bus, with a large increase in receipts in the Northwest, as well as in Kansas City. The movement in the Northwest promises to let up very soon. One car of new winter wheat was received here, grading No. 3. The weather map is a fine one, but with indications of rain in the Northwest. Rust is reported in South Dakota.

At one time today the market assumed a condition bordering on a panic but room traders oversold themselves and on good commission house buying there was a small-sized rally. It looks as if the liquidation was thorough and complete. It looks this afternoon as if there was a large short interest because it has been a very easy matter to go short of the market. There has been a good cash business in Duluth with some inquiry here. We can confirm 28 loads for export. With sentiment so extremely bearish as it is at present, we can only say one thing, that is buy on the breaks. It is possible that export business may creep up to higher figures than we have quoted.

Corn was weak but rallied toward the close. Receipts are very heavy but may let up towards the first of the month. There was a large cash business and large short interest outstanding. Europe seems to want corn in an extraordinary manner.

Oats have held up well and we feel very friendly to this cereal on general principles.

Provisions are firm notwithstanding large receipts of hogs.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Buying of the Standard Railroad Stocks a Feature.

New York, June 26.—The railroads were the features of the opening market today, New York Central rising 1⅜ on the reported lease of the Boston & Albany. There were sympathetic advances in Northwest, Union Pacific, preferred and Big Four ranging from ⅝ to 1¾. Reading, preferred, Northern Pacific, Atchison also rose sharply. Sugar gained 1¼ while Federal Steel, preferred, which was quoted exdividend dropped ¾. Buying of the standard railroad stocks developed, the Vanderbilts and Grangers making pronounced gains. Some of the specialties were well supported, but pressure against Steel and Wire, Brooklyn Transit, Sugar and Metropolitan obstructed the rise in this division and realizations followed. Resistance was shown by railways, but concessions were made. Manipulations in Sugar caused a rebound to 154⅝ and the general market shared in the sympathetic. New York Central, Northwestern and Union Pacific rose to the top at advances of 1¾ to 3 and New Haven stiffened 3½ on bids.

London orders for the international group were large and the entire list was benefited by this absorption. Renewed efforts, however, against the speculative list checked the success of the bulls and there were declines from 1 to 3¾ points in the Tobaccos and Sugar, Brooklyn Transit, Manhattan and Metropolitan Street Railway. Losses in the railways were under a point, except in Omaha and New York Central. Sales of stocks to noon, 311,735 shares. Bonds were well sustained on a moderate demand.

PREVENTS SPREAD OF FIRE.

Remarkable Test Undergone by Luxfer Prisms.

One of the most interesting fire tests ever made in this city, which took place on Thursday, has established beyond all doubt that the equipment of buildings with Luxfer prisms is a very effective preventive against the spread of fire, says the Philadelphia Record. On an open lot a brick furnace was built, in two sides of which were placed three different kinds of glass windows, one of the metallic sashes containing Luxfer prisms, another plate glass cut into square segments and joined with copper ribs or strips in the same manner as the prisms, and the third ordinary window glass, which was ribbed with copper in the same way.

A roaring fire of pine logs, which was built within the furnace, generated a heat of over 2000 degrees, according to an official test with a pyrometer. The fire was of such intensity that ordinary panes of plate or window glass would have broken within a minute after the blaze was kindled, but for hours the windows of the furnace withstood the tremendous heat. The glass contracted and bulged inward from two to four inches and the window glass was especially warped and twisted. Although the prisms and the plate and window glass cracked, they were held solidly together by the copper ribs and prevented the fire within from breaking through. It was demonstrated that the copper ribs not only held the glass together, but acted as a heat conductor and prevented the glass from melting.

When the furnace fire was greatest firemen directed a stream from a hose from a city fire plug against the glass, and although the hose was within two feet of the Luxfer prisms and the plate glass, neither of them broke. The ordinary window glass also resisted the stream of water for a time, so great was the cohesive strength added by the copper ribs.

Superintendent William McDevitt of the Fire Underwriters' association, expressed the unanimous opinion of the fire officials who observed the test, in the following statement: "The test demonstrates that Luxfer prisms, and glass windows constructed with copper ribs like the prisms, are of immense value in protecting buildings from flames, being even better than shutters. They not only prevent fire from entering a building, but prevent it from breaking out of a building. They are of especial value for use in windows near fire escapes, keeping flames from leaping through windows, thus cutting off the fire escapes."

HE WAS AN M. D.

A Canadian river steamer was recently the scene of an amusing blunder, says Answers. A lady passenger was taken ill in the night, and the steamer did not carry a doctor. The steward rushed to find the list of passengers, and read it through. In it was the name, "James Thompson, M. D."

The steward ran to the passenger's berth and aroused him by vigorous blows at the door.

"What's the matter? Is the boat sinking?" came from within in a startled tone.

"There is a passenger ill and we want your assistance, doctor," replied the steward.

"What are you playing at?" growled the voice. "I ain't no doctor."

"Why, you have got 'M. D.' after your name."

"Well, I can put them letters after it if I like, can't I?" said the voice within. "That's my trade. I'm a mule driver."

H. W. RICHARDSON, Local Forecast Official.

Chicago, June 26.—Forecast until 8 p. m. tomorrow: Wisconsin — Fair tonight; Tuesday generally fair except showers and thunder storms in extreme northwest portion; continued warm; brisk southeast winds. Minnesota—Probably showers and thunder storms tonight and Tuesday; continued warm; brisk to high southeast winds.

NOTICE TO ATTORNEYS.

On and after this date, The Evening Herald will run all probate notices three times, as required by law, for $1. The regular price for this class of work heretofore has been $6 for the three publications, and this will be a considerable saving to estates that have to be probated.

EXPORTS OF MANUFACTURES.

The remarkable growth in the exportation of manufactures by this country has led to the preparation by the treasury bureau of statistics of a series of tables showing the value of each class of manufactures exported in each year during the past decade and the amount of each class sent to each country. By this process it is practicable to determine the trend of our foreign trade in manufactures, both as to the class of manufactures most demanded abroad and the countries which are proving our best customers.

That this subject is one which justifies a careful study is apparent, in view of the fact that the exportation of manufactures has more than doubled in the last six years, more than trebled since 1880, more than quadrupled since 1870, is more than eight times as large as it was in 1860, and in 1898 and 1899 for the first time in our history exceeded the importation of manufactures. The exportation of manufactures in the fiscal year about to end will average more than $1,000,000 a day for each business day of the year.

A study of the figures which cover the details of the ten years' exportation of manufactures shows that the total value of our manufactures exported has increased 110 per cent in the decade, while an examination of the exportation of manufactures by other countries fails to show any considerable percentage of increase in any of them during the same period. Great Britain's exports of manufactures show no increase since 1890, the earliest year at which a separate statement of manufactures exported is attainable, while her total exports of domestic products (of which manufactures form about 85 per cent), shows no increase in value in the decade 1888-97. From France the exports of manufactures show an increase of but 10 per cent in the decade 1887-96, Germany 13 per cent, Switzerland 6 per cent, Netherlands 3 per cent and Austria-Hungary and Russia a loss, while, as above indicated, the exports of American manufactures in the decade 1889-98 show an increase of 110 per cent, and in the year 1899 will be about three times that of 1879.

An examination of the details of our own exports of manufactures shows that it is in the production, manufacture and exportation of metals that we seem to excel. The history of nations and peoples shows that great classes of people frequently excel in certain industries, and that the growth of our exportation, as well as our domestic production of manufactures seems to point to metals as our most successful line of work, at least at the present time. In 1889 manufactures of metals formed less than 20 per cent of our total exports of manufactures, while in 1898 they formed over 44 per cent. The increase in exportation of metals and manufactures thereof in the decade 1889-98 was 339 per cent, while the increase in the exportation of all manufactures in that time was but 110 per cent, and the increase in exportation of manufactures other than those of meals during that time was but 55 per cent. In this estimate of the exportation of manufactures of metals only those articles composed exclusively of metals are included, those made up in part of metals, such as railway cars, agricultural machinery, etc., being included among the other manufactures. The rapid increase in the exportation of manufactures of metals is shown by the fact that the exports of brass and manufactures thereof in 1889 were but $321,137, and in 1898 $1,320,093; instruments for scientific purposes increased from $1,033,338 to $2,770,803, and in the year about to end will reach nearly $4,000,000; cycles, of which there were no exportations in 1889, amounted to $6,846,529 in the exportations of 1898; clocks and watches increased from $1,355,319 in 1889 to $1,727,480 in 1898; zinc and manufactures thereof, from $28,684 to $1,339,668; copper and its manufactures from $2,343,954 to $32,180,872, and iron and steel from $21,156,077 in 1889 to $70,406,885 in 1898, while in the fiscal year 1899 the total will exceed $90,000,000.

Another interesting fact developed by an examination of the figures is that the European countries in which manufactures have long been established furnish as satisfactory a market for our manufactured goods as do the countries where manufacturing has not yet been largely developed. In reapers and mowers, clocks and watches, sewing machines, bicycles and the various manufactures of iron and steel, and many other articles of the higher grades of manufacture, the European countries in which manufacturing plants and machinery, and skilled workmen abound, furnish a market for a large share of our exports, thus failing to justify the expressed fear that a development of manufactures in countries where we are now seeking a foothold for our commerce would destroy their value as a permanent market.

WHO IS THE AUTHORITY?

Reference has been made in the news columns of The Herald to the manner in which the bond buyers combined and secured Ashland county, Wis., bonds at a small premium—a game which they tried in Duluth but in vain, because a Duluth firm declined to enter the combination. The chairman of the county board at Ashland has been much worked up over the story of the combine and how he and his colleagues were hoodwinked, and in one of the Ashland papers he endeavors to defend himself by misrepresenting Duluth, as follows:

"Now as regards Duluth, I have authority for the statement that Duluth paid 8 per cent commission for negotiating their bonds. This was a side deal, and on the face of it, it appears that Duluth has received a premium. It was done this way simply to make a good showing for Duluth's credit, whereas, as I am informed, instead of receiving par even, they received about 8 per cent below par, which is as much as it might expect with a debt of $3,000,000."

As the above statement is utterly false, a lie from beginning to end, it is up to Chairman Andrus to produce his "authority." Is it a member of the bond buyers' combine? There was no side deal in connection with the sale of the Duluth bonds. No one "negotiated" their sale, and consequently there was no "commission" paid. The bonds were publicly offered for sale and sealed bids were received and opened at a public meeting of the common council. The attempt to form a combine similar to that worked at Ashland failed, and the result was that the Duluth bonds were sold at a handsome premium.

AN OUTRAGE.

Every reader of Saturday's edition of The Herald must have been surprised and shocked by the story of two little children—one aged 4 and the other 6—being arraigned in the police court charged with the larceny of a bunch of pansies! Surprised that the city attorney's office would sanction the issue of a warrant for children of such tender years, and shocked that a judge would listen for one moment to any criminal complaint against them. At the same time another boy of but 6 years of age was arraigned on a charge of assaulting another boy! Perhaps a 3-months-old babe in arms will be brought before the court to morrow for disturbing the neighborhood by a too liberal exercise of its vocal organs.

Surely there is some person with a grain of common sense connected with the city attorney's office or the police court who has sufficient influence to put a stop to this practice of issuing warrants for larceny and assault against children hardly old enough to know the difference between right and wrong.

That a 4-year-old girl should be arrested for taking a bunch of pansies that she coveted is a monstrous outrage and a disgrace to everyone connected with the affair. That Judge Edson did not imediately order her discharge and give a merited rebuke to the heartless complainant and the thickheaded person who authorized the issuance of the warrant is an unpleasant surprise to his friends.

PINGREE AND ALGER.

Certainly politics make strange bedfellows. The spectacle of Governor Pingree and Secretary Alger combined in an attempt to elect the latter as United States senator from Michigan is one of the most surprising political events that have occurred for a long time. Judged by the records the two men are utterly dissimilar. The interests which Pingree has been fighting for years are those with which Alger has been heretofore allied, at least according to public belief. It is certainly a curious combination.

Those who have admired Governor Pingree's attitude on many public questions, and his fearless independence, will be much disappointed because he has joined hands with a politician of the Russell A. Alger stripe. The combination must certainly weaken Pingree as a political factor. No man can touch pitch without being defiled, and no public man—great or small—can be known as a political friend of Alger without losing the respect of a large section of the people.

Some of the Washington correspondents construe the combination between Pingree and Alger as a sign that the latter will retire from the cabinet at an early date. If true, the administration is entitled to congratulations on getting rid of such an incubus. At the same time it is a pity that the president did not possess sufficient backbone to demand Alger's resignation months ago.

The New York Journal says: "David said in his haste: 'All men are liars.' Magistrate Crane said yesterday, at his leisure: 'Nine-tenths of all the women in the world are liars, and I wouldn't believe one of them under oath.' Unless these two eminent authorities are mistaken, only about 5 per cent of the population of the world can be trusted, and all of these are women. But a complicating thought occurs to us. If David told the truth, Magistrate Crane, being a man, must be a liar himself, and consequently his assertion about women can not be trusted. And David was a man, too—but the situation is becoming too mixed. Let us drop the subject."

Booker T. Washington is not considered as infallible authority by many of the colored people of the South, but having recently returned from Europe he makes a statement that will give the negroes something to think about. He says the condition of the while working people in Europe is much inferior to that of the colored people in the United States, and he advises the latter to stay where they are.

The Tower Journal says: "A Republican plank against trusts is as old as the platform of 1888." Just so. Years ago the Republican platforms did oppose trusts, but when the trusts and Mark Hanna secured control of the Republican party there was a change. As a result, the St. Louis platform of 1896 did not even mention the trusts.

Chief Kipley of the Chicago police force has made an order prohibiting the use of giant fire crackers. Now let Chief Hansen follow this excellent example. An old gentleman of Webster City, Iowa, had his eyes ruined a few days ago by one of these dangerous things, and a similar accident occurred at Fargo.

The News Tribune says that the platform adopted by the Kentucky Democrats "cuts loose into such an untrodden wilderness that any sort of forecast is precluded." And yet the morning paper poses as an authority on "pure English."

A medical expert has demonstrated that Jeffries had an easy task to defeat Fitzsimmons. He examined the victor and found that his solar plexus is so small and so well guarded that it would have been almost impossible to locate it.

The state of Kansas is always unique. The town of Bessemer has two curfews; one at 8 o'clock for the cows and one at 9 o'clock for the children. To be consistent there should be one at 7 o'clock for the politicians.

The Des Moines News says: "Foraker should thank his stars for the opposition of the Chicago newspapers. They tried to kill off Henderson, with what result is now easy history.

The wires in the Philadelphia Record office must be crossed. It speaks of "ex-Governor Merriam of Iowa." But Minnesota is not making any complaint.

"Only a rich and fertile country like Missouri can afford bad roads," says the Kansas City Star. Or, Minnesota.

Perhaps some people will now understand why Spain found it impossible to pacify the Philippines.

Birds In the House.

Our Dumb Animals: Do not hang your bird mercly where his cage looks pretty. Nor must you fly to the other extreme and place him in a glare of sunlight, even in winter. Birds suffer and die from this cause. The best way is to give him his choice; put him in the sun, and shade a part of his cage, so that he may do as he likes. You will notice that he often sits in the shade.

Remember and take care about placing him in a draught, or too close to even a closed window, except on warm summer days. It is as great a mistake to put him where he will be subject to the dry, burning heat of a furnace or stove. Do not hang his cage too high nor too low, but let him breathe the pure air which you breathe yourself.

From November until June wrap his cage nightly in a warm shawl, or draw over it a thick flannel cover, and never place the cage on the floor, as I saw advised not long ago.

Your bird needs variety as well as you, bird-store men and bird-book writers to the contrary, notwithstanding. Give him every day, beside his seed and fresh water, a bit of green food, lettuce, sorrel, chickweed, plantain (leaf or ends) or a slice of banana or apple, and fasten the delicacy so that it cannot fall to the floor. A dainty bird will not touch it if it falls. Also, now and then, perhaps three times a week, give him a snip or two of raw beef the size of a pin head—larger if he's a mocking bird. He may look askance at first, and turn his wise, black eyes upon it with curiosity, but he will soon relish it and eagerly snatch it from your finger, and it takes the place of the insects he would add to his bill of fare if he were free.

In fact, try to keep in mind that the little fellow has likes and dislikes, pain and discomfort, happiness and pleasure, much as you have yourself, and you will be well repaid by his brightness and vivacity.

How We Grow.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: American manufacturers exported products worth $183,000,000 in 1885 and $330,000,000 worth in 1898. Within a decade or two this will be a billion-dollar country in supplying the world with manufactured articles.

"Not to the extent that we hoped to," was the answer. "We're victims of a monopoly. The only gun store in town has raised prices so that the investment isn't worth the trouble."

SAFE AT LAST.

The air was hot at 9 a. m.,
No fresh and cooling breeze
Fanned Mother Earth or softly stirred
The leaves upon the trees.
At 10 the sun was working hard
With flattering success;
The mercury was boiling hot—
Ninety degrees or less.

At noon the heat was furnace like
Dogs gasped for want of air.
At 1 great strong thermometers
Were bursting everywhere.
And then at last one prim old maid
Said, with a modest cough:
"I think I'll go upstairs and take My winter flannels off."

Havemeyer's Change of Tune.

Indianapolis Journal: Mr. Havemeyer illustrates in a new way the old rhyme that "when the devil was sick the devil a monk would be, but when he got well the devil a monk was he." In the days of the Cleveland administration Mr. Havemeyer moved heaven and earth to secure protection for his sugar, but having failed to get as much as he desired he denounced the tariff as "the mother of trusts."

Fighting at a Disadvantage.

Philadelphia Record: One of the reasons why volunteers whose time of enlistment has expired hesitate to re-enlist for fighting in the Philippines is because the government has armed them with Springfield rifles to fight an enemy using Mausers. They are asked to fight at a disadvantage.

One Invention Spoils Another.

Indianapolis Journal: The invention of smokeless powder was a long stride in the art of war. This rendered the firing party invisible and enabled him to do greater execution. The next step was the invention of the telescope sight with which to locate the flash of the smokeless powder, and this is now under test. The next will be to invent a telescope for locating the man with the telescope looking for the man with the invisible powder, and then it will be time to call a halt.

Are They Worth the Price?

Philadelphia Ledger: Probably in response to the demand for information as to the health of our troops in the Philippines, the war department has published the statistics of the period from Feb. 4, the beginning of the insurrection, to June 6. They show that 226 men were killed in action and sixty-nine died of their wounds—a total of 295—while 61 died of disease. It is further stated that 1366 men were wounded during the same time, but how many were and are still on the sick list is not stated. The figures are impressive. Are the Philippines worth their cost in human life? Apart from their cost paid in the lives of our brave soldiers, the administration paid Spain $20,000,000 in gold for the islands. But Spain did not deliver them, did not give possession of them. Yet Spain has the $20,000,000 and the United States has a costly and, apparently, an endless war of conquest and subjugation.

The Rivals.

Brown envied Jones, his neighbor, who lived just across the way.
And often rose from praying to discontentedly say:
"If I could stand in Jones' place how happy I should be!
If I could have his blessings, they would be enough for me!"
And so he struggled on and on, and step by step he rose,
But Jones was always just ahead to rob him of repose.

Jones looked upon his neighbor Brown with envy in his breast;
He had the finest house in town, but still was sorely pressed.
"If I from all my debts were free," he oft in secret said,
"How truly happy I should be, how high I'd hold my head!"
And day by day he strove away beneath his heavy load,
With hopes of overtaking Brown upon his toilsome road.

They traveled far, each thinking that the other kept ahead,
And honors came to each to live long after he was dead;
Jones envied Brown and Brown set out to pass Jones on the way,
And, either blind unto the truth, pressed onward day by day—
If Brown had never heard of Jones and Jones had known no Brown
Would they have reached the places where they put their burdens down?

Attorney General Griggs Addresses the Law Alumni of Yale College.

SEES BIG PROGRESS

Recounts Many Improvements In Laws and the Practice Thereof.

New Haven, Conn., June 26.—The attorney general of the United States, John D. Griggs, addressed the Yale law alumni here today. His address in part was as follows:

Whatever doubts the historians have had heretofore in deciding what particular era of the world is most worthy of the designation of the Golden Age in the history of the Anglo-Saxon peoples, there will be no disagreement, I think, when the records are written up to its close in awarding to this last year of this most wonderful century the distinction of having reached a higher point of attainment, a more universal condition of intelligence, and a greater average of personal comfort than the human race ever before enjoyed.

Regard the education, the intelligence, the manner of living, the improvement of ordinary dwellings, the food on the table, the clothes that are worn, the books that are read, the newspapers that come every day, the shortened hours of labor, the holidays, the increase of travel and visitation, the extension to the masses of the privileges of art, literature and science, which but a short time ago were obtainable only by the wealthy—consider the extension and improvement in all these things, as well as in the scientific inventions and appliances that tend to promote business, improve manufacture, extend commerce and create wealth, and everybody will admit without a moment's hesitation that the people are living better and doing better than in any other period of the world's history. This is our judgment as to the nineteenth century in this its closing year. The record is one of prodigious growth and resources, and above all of amelioration in the condition of all classes of people.

Let us review the course of jurisprudence, especially in America, and see whether that department of human government has kept pace with the general progress of civilized society. Invention and discovery have revolutionized the means of internal communication, and made the uttermost parts of the earth like neighboring regions. New forces and novel processes have been adapted to the use of mankind in every branch of industrial, commercial and social life, adding immensely to their wealth and convenience. But it has been said by an eminent student of the history and philosophy of law that legislation has failed to keep pace with this material progress and with the increase of accumulated wealth. If by this is meant that our jurisprudence has proved inadequate as a system of legal mandate and judicial procedure to provide protection and redress in reasonable measure for all the new and expanded relations of property, of business, and of civil status that have developed, I think the statement may well be challenged.

If, on the other hand, it is only meant to assert that those ancient principles of jurisprudence which supply the basis of our system—the English common law—moulded by the progress of development from century to century and from time to time enlarged, restrained, and variously modified by statutory enactment, have remained substantially the rule of civil conduct, supplying the standard of justice by which the novel methods and vast transactions of our day are to be judged, without yielding to the universal demand for change and experiment, then the statement may be received as a testimonial to the wisdom, the stability, and inherent adaptability of English law; for one of the most remarkable characteristics of the common law is its easy and natural adaptation, through its administration by the bar of the courts, to relations and circumstances that are novel and without exact precedent. If no precedent is forthcoming, there is always the more substantial guide of ancient principle to point the way to a decision that shall stand thereafter as a ruling precedent.

Substantially our system of jurisprudence remains unaltered from that which our fathers obeyed and administered when the nineteenth century first dawned. With forty-five state legislatures annually or biennially engaged in enacting, amending, supplementing, and revising, and constantly issuing vast volumes of new statutes, it is remarkable how little alteration has been made in the substantial system of English law which we inherited from the mother country, and which still remains a steadfast system of justice, the foundation of our civil rights and liberties. Changes, indeed, there have been, some for the better, some, perhaps, for the worse. Most of them have beenin procedure rather than in the matter of substance or principle. There has been a vast acceleration of legal process, from summons to execution, that is in keeping with the more rapid business requirements of the times. The refinements and complications of practice, both in law and chancery courts, which formerly prolonged to unreasonable lengths the pursuit of justice, and made it more prudent for many to bear the ills they had than to fly to others that they knew not of, have given way to more direct, more simple and expeditious courses of procedure, whereby justice has been made not only more certain, but more speedy, thus increasing general confidence in the courts, and adding immensely to the respect and authority inspired by a system of just and equal laws efficiently administered.

This century has witnessed the practical abolishment of the evils and horrors of poor debtors' prisons. Out of a more refined spirit of humane sympathy, under the mollifying influences of general prosperity and a larger average of personal comfort among the population, came an intolerance of the idea that anyone, guiltless of crime or fraud, should lose his liberty merely because of his poverty or misfortune.

Indeed, one can hardly point to a single modification made either in substantive law or in judicial procedure during the century that has not been in line with the humane spirit and more generous instincts that characterize the upward trend of society and social life.

The general health and safety of the community have become, within proper limits, objects of public concern, and statutes relating to sanitation, health, food, personal safety from accident, water supply and pollution, are now an important part of the statute law of every state.

The softening influences of the age have operated with beneficent effect upon the old rigor of the criminal law. A hundred years ago the law of England embraced more than thirty crimes to which the death penalty was affixed. Now, both here and there, with the exception of a few rare instances such as treason, murder is the only capital offense against the criminal law.

Any review of the century's ameliorations would be incomplete indeed if it failed to include that one of all others the most far-reaching and stupendous in effect, and involving in its establishment the most gigantic struggle that our nation has ever known between the adherents of two different theories of personal right as applied to a particular race. I refer to the overthrow of the system, originally recognized by our fundamental law and approved by the judgment of our highest federal court, which gave to one man the right to take the person and the services of another, not as a matter of contract, but as a matter of authority and ownership.

It is my judgment that in the courts of law, and the courts of equity as well, in this country, justice is administered as speedily and as rapidly as the rights and the desires of the parties can reasonably require.

The whole tendency of court practice, both at law and in equity, is toward the speedy disposition of cases, and if there be complaint of delay in any instance, it is ascribable more to the outside arrangements and manipulations of the counsel than to the disposition of the court or lack of opportunity to be heard. It is a shrewd and critical age, and many a man who never looked into a statute book, and whose acquaintance with a court-house is merely a passing one, will boldly challenge the correctness of judgments pronounced by the highest courts of the land, provided they happen to clash with his political creed. But rare is the American citizen who is base enough or so lacking in respect and loyalty for our institutions as to impugn the honor or integrity of the bench.

There was a time in the early days when it was common for some judges of the federal bench to interlard their charges to the grand jury with political addresses, wherein they took occasion to warn the public against the evils which were threatening our institutions from the conduct of the opposition party, and the spread of pernicious principles dangerous to liberty. An address of this kind to the United States grand jury at Baltimore in 1803, which reflected upon the tendency of the government as administered by Thomas Jefferson, brought an associate justice of the supreme court to the bar of the senate to answer an impeachment for misbehavior in office. The impeachment was ordered at the instance of the president. Justice Chase was acquitted, but the incident is a valuable one as indicating, on the one hand, an active partisanship by the bench in political and partisan discussion which has happily been abandoned universally, and on the other hand, a lack of public and official reverence for the courts which, happily also, no longer is wanting.

It is natural, therefore, that public affection for our judicial system should be strong in a land where not only is equal justice the birthright of every citizen, but where also every tendency of justice is toward the side of tenderness and the mitigation of every degree of unnecessary human misery. It is not the powerful nor the rich, but the poor and the helpless, the widow and the orphan, of whom the law is specially careful. About the weak it throws its broadest shield, and against them it makes the least presumptions where life or liberty or property are involved. It is not the rich nor the powerful who administer our law. Our judges are taken from the ranks of the bar—chosen for their integrity, their learning and their high sense of justice.

If the prevailing motive of public officers were plunder and personal profit, no citizen would pay his taxes except as a forced tribute to official robbers. Municipal, state and national bankruptcy would be universal. The whole social and political fabric would fall a shattered heap if things were as bad as we are constantly told they are.

No man would trust his neighbor. Integrity gone, confidence gone, there would remain nothing but a return to the plans of self-preservation followed in those dark ages when each man's fortress and personal armor were his only reliance against outrage and lawlessness.

I decline to believe in the low morality that is so frequently attributed to the business world. I believe the average of men are better, more honest, more high minded today than they were when this closing century began. The world can not grow in all the sentiments that make for liberty, for generosity, for humane amelioration of the criminal and the unfortunate, without gaining at the same time in fidelity and common honesty.

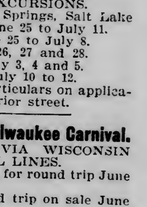
Gentlemen of the Graduating Class: I commend to you the cultivation of a spirit that will enable you to take a healthy, sound, and cheerful view of the struggles and movements of society, of law, and of government, believing that their tendency is toward improvement, not deterioration.

Boils and Pimples Give Warning.

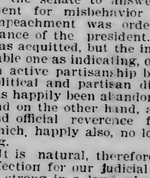
AN UNFAILING SIGN THAT NATURE IS APPEALING FOR HELP.

When Nature is overtaxed, she has her own way of giving notice that assistance is needed. She does not ask for help until it is impossible to get along without it. Boils and pimples are an indication that the system is accumulating impurities which must be gotten rid of; they are an urgent appeal for assistance—a warning that can not safely be ignored.

To neglect to purify the blood at this time means more than the annoyance of painful boils and unsightly pimples. If these impurities are allowed to remain, the system succumbs to any ordinary illness, and is unable to withstand the many ailments which are so prevalent during spring and summer.



Mrs. L. Gentile, 2004 Second Avenue, Seattle, Wash., says: "I was afflicted for a long time with pimples, which were very annoying, as they disfigured my face fearfully. After using many other remedies in vain, S. S. S. promptly and thoroughly cleansed my blood, and now I rejoice in a good complexion, which I never had before."



Capt. W. H. Dunlap, of the A. G. S. R. R., Chattanooga, Tenn., writes: "Several boils and carbuncles broke out upon me, causing great pain and annoyance. My blood seemed to be in a riotous condition, and nothing I took seemed to do any good. Six bottles of S. S. S. cured me completely and my blood has been perfectly pure ever since."

S. S. S. FOR THE BLOOD

is the best blood remedy, because it is purely vegetable and is the only one that is absolutely free from potash and mercury. It promptly purifies the blood and thoroughly cleanses the system, builds up the general health and strength. It cures Scrofula, Eczema, Cancer, Rheumatism, Tetter, Boils, Sores, etc., by going direct to the cause of the trouble and forcing out all impure blood.

As to Vivisection.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I am very much in sympathy with the man who on Friday night wrote for your paper an article criticising vivisection as practiced by persons of cruel heart upon animals of a suffering disposition. I myself heard of a case where the full of a cat was removed from the patient animal and the tail of a dog being likewise removed was surgically engrafted in its place. Though done painlessly under the influence of chloroform, the results have been in the extreme cruel and heartrending in the extreme.

For upon recovery the cat looking around became much frightened and ran off at a great pace, thinking itself pursued by a dog, and it has since suffered much from the inquisitiveness of dogs in general.

Another sad case has come to my notice where some fanatical vivisectionists bored a hole into the head of a poor rabbit, and extracting its brains by means of a pump, transferred them to the cranial cavity of the head of a man which had previously been vacant. The ass died a lingering death, but the man made an unfortunate recovery and spends his time writing articles for the newspapers on subjects of which he can of course possess only the amount of knowledge which his transplanted brains can evolve. Thus all humanity is made to suffer.

It is time this mad thirst for knowledge was chained, curbed and restrained. Better lose a few thousand human beings than that one innocent dog should his life offer up on the altar of the vivisectionist. Stop it, stop it while yet it is not too late, lest we have no more cats and dogs and sausages and rabbits and other innocent reptiles to amuse us in our dotage. And oh, let us all be ignorant! When ignorance is bliss 'tis folly to learn anything. How blissful we all are, and let us so continue. Vivisection with all its attendant horrors and suffering will increase our knowledge and make us all unhappy—the laboring classes—you and I—who work. Let us be happy—you and I—and ignorant—particularly ignorant.

Knights Templar Elected Officers and Adjourned---St. Paul Next Year.

THIS COUNTY'S SOIL

Farmers' Institute Speakers Say It Is Second to None.

The annual conclave of the grand commandery Knights Templar of Minnesota, which convened Saturday morning in the Masonic Temple, closed late Saturday afternoon. J. C. Munro, of St. Cloud, was elected right eminent grand commander. St. Paul was chosen for the next annual conclave.

The election of officers, which took place at the afternoon session, resulted as follows: J. C. Munro, St. Cloud, Rt. E. G. C.; T. H. Warren, Stillwater, V. E. D. G. C.; J. W. Chamberlain, St. Paul, E. G. G.; R. W. Hartley, Minneapolis, E. G. C. G.; S. S. Kilvington, Minneapolis, E. G. S. K.; H. F. Parshall, St. Cloud, E. G. P.; J. G. McFarlane, Minneapolis, E. G. T.; Thomas Montgomery, St. Paul, E. G. R.; E. P. Sanborn, St. Paul, E. G. St. B.; H. L. Luther, Faribault, E. G. Sw. B.; C. L. West, Austin, E. G. W.

After dinner in the evening, a number of the knights went for a ride on the steamer Bon Voyage.

The majority of the visiting delegates left for home Saturday evening.

THE INSTITUTE CLOSES.

Successful Farmers' Institute Was Ended Saturday Afternoon.

The Farmers' institute closed Saturday afternoon with addresses by ex-Senator Greeley, of South Dakota, and Dr. Curryer, in which both dwelt on the advantages of the country around Duluth for agriculture. Mr. Greeley declared that St. Louis county is second to none in the state for some branches of agriculture, and that any man could make a living off from twenty acres in this vicinity.

Dr. Curryer urged that the opportunities afforded for farming in this locality be improved, and pointed out the excellent market that is growing up in Duluth, which, he prophesied, would be a second Chicago in a very few years.

At the examination of stock in front of the Armory before the afternoon session at the city hall, Professor Carlyle gave a talk on "Cows and How to Buy," illustrating his remarks with six cows taken from the dairies in the vicinity of Duluth.

The chief point about a cow, he said, is the capacity to consume and digest cheap, nutritious food. The capacity should be large, and such a capacity is indicated by, first, a long and deep body; second, a refined and delicate appearing frame, not coarse and fleshy; third, a long and capacious udder, well carried up between the thighs behind and spreading forward in the abdomen, with long, branched and tortuous milk veins on the under part of the body, ending in long, well defined openings through the abdominal walk, and, fourth, a soft, unctuous, oily skin, covered with a fine, silky hair. If these points are clearly established, and the general makeup of the cow is sprightly and active, indicating vigor and vitality, the animal is a profitable dairy cow.

After the institute closed, the speakers discussed agricultural topics with groups of the audience for over an hour.

Pain Conquered; Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 92,649]

"I feel it my duty to write and thank you for what your Vegetable Compound has done for me. It is the only medicine I have found that has done me any good. Before taking your medicine, I was all run down, tired all the time, no appetite, pains in my back and bearing down pains and a great sufferer during menstruation. After taking two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt like a new woman. I am now on my fourth bottle and all my pains have left me. I feel better than I have felt for three years and would recommend your Compound to every suffering woman. I hope this letter will help others to find a cure for their troubles." — MRS. DELLA REMICKER, RENSSELAER, IND.

The serious ills of women develop from neglect of early symptoms. Every pain and ache has a cause, and the warning they give should not be disregarded.

Mrs. Pinkham understands these troubles better than any local physician and will give every woman free advice who is puzzled about her health. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass. Don't put off writing until health is completely broken down. Write at the first indication of trouble.

THE "MYSTIC MIDGETS."

Cast of the Great Children's Musical Spectacle.

The "Mystic Midgets," which is in process of rehearsal, will be given at the Lyceum theater Friday evening and Saturday matinee, and those who have witnessed the rehearsals say that it promises to be one of the most brilliant musical spectacles ever given in this city. It will be a children's production, over 100 of them appearing in the cast, though some of the heavier parts are taken by older people. The cast will be as follows:

Titania, queen ..... Rene Smith
Tinymite ..... Marjorie Harrison
Tiddlewink ..... Rose Smith
Psyche ..... Maude White
Butterfly Guards .....
Lottie Dryer, Hazel Roberts, Helen McKinley, Florence Orchard.
The Queen's favorites.....
Luella Wishart, Chloe Richards, Alice Beneteau, Katie Sargent, Myrna Presnell, Gretchen Sargent, Maud Kelly, Francis Kelly, Corine Beneteau, Lucille Bradley.

Sambo ..... James Roberts
Simbo ..... Donald Clark
Ugho ..... Leigh Swan
Pick ..... Claus Jeronimus
Nick ..... Charles Fitzgerald
Trick ..... Roscoe Kernan
Slick ..... Willie White
Stick ..... Paul Stearns
Stick ..... Roy Mitchell

Mrs. S. H. Jones will be the accompanist on the piano. Professor Collins has brought a new dance back from the East, the Queen Louise Gavotte, and it will be given by sixteen young society ladies. A rehearsal was held today of the spectacle.

Miss French Leaves.

Miss Elsie J. French, for many years a prominent teacher in the Lakeside and Lester Park public schools, left last evening for Chicago to pass the teachers' examination and take up her residence in that city. Miss French is a lady of high accomplishments, having delighted large audiences in the Lester Park Methodist church with "Her Old World Stories," reminiscences of her tour through Europe a year ago. Miss French leaves a host of friends who regret her departure from Duluth.

Founder's Day Reception.

The Founder's day reception of the Twentieth Century club will be held in the club rooms in Torrey building tonight. THE CUP IS LOST

Superior Marksmen Won Interstate Cup By One Bird Yesterday.

SHOOTING EVENTS

Several Large Ones Are Being Arranged For the Near Future.

Duluth lost the interstate cup to the Superior Gun club by the narrow margin of one bird yesterday afternoon. The shoot took place at Superior between teams of seven men each from the Central Gun club of Duluth and the Superior Gun club, and the score was 139 for Superior and 138 for Duluth, at twenty-five birds for each man. The shooting averaged up well, and the day was perfect. Duluth won the cup last, and according to the rules the shoot should have taken place in Duluth. It was taken over to Superior, however, because the East End grounds in Duluth were being used by picnicers. Therefore, to even up, the next two shoots for the cup will take place in Duluth. The Duluth club will challenge Superior for the cup again in about three weeks, and the challenge will probably be for a ten-man team.

The score for the shoot was as follows:

DULUTH.

The diamond badge, offered for the championship of the head of the lakes, is expected to arrive here the last of this week or the first of next week, and after A. W. Loud, who won it at the first shoot, has had a chance to wear it a little while it will be subject to challenge. Only those who entered the first shoot are eligible to challenge the wearer of the badge, but as there were 25 entries in the shoot there will be no lack of people to challenge.

The Central Gun club is contemplating a trip to Ely for a shoot in a short time. It is planned to have a tournament there in which Duluth, Superior, Two Harbors and range towns will take part. After that the next big event will be the annual tournament. This will take place some time in August, the date to be fixed later. It will last two days, as usual, and shooters from all over the Northwest will be here.

AT THE PAVILION.

Cherry Sisters and Other Attractions Drawing Large Crowds.

The Cherry sisters, famous the country over, made their first appearance in Duluth at the Pavilion yesterday, and large crowds attended both afternoon and evening performances. The show is an excellent one, and it is generally agreed to be one of the best that has ever been seen at the Pavilion. Yesterday's delightful weather was a strong card for the Pavilion casino, for never a bright day passes in summer without a large crowd attending the Pavilion, to take in the show and the view and the delightful air and all of the other attractions.

The Cherry sisters gave their famous performance, which must be seen to be appreciated, and the crowds were delighted with them. Everyone knows what the Cherry sisters are, but not everybody in Duluth at least—has seen them. There are other good specialties on the program, too. The trick bicyclists are a long way ahead of anything of the kind ever witnessed here, excepting no one. The little Schwartz children who do a cake walk, are delightful, as all of the large audiences who saw them in the Elks' show can testify. Then there are other features of interest, and altogether the show is entirely worth seeing.

School Board Meeting.

At a special meeting of the school board Saturday evening a resolution was adopted authorizing the rebuilding of the sidewalk of the Jackson school at a cost not to exceed $150. A letter was received from the Twentieth Century club asking the board to obtain the Spanish cannon awarded to Duluth by the war department, and to have the cannon mounted on the campus in front of the High School.

Cycle Races For Fourth.

The Duluth Cycle club will take charge of the bicycle events which are to be part of the Fourth of July celebration. A meeting of the club has been called for tomorrow evening, at which time arrangements will be made for the meet. At least three races are assured. There will be a mile novice, a half-mile scratch and a 2-mile handicap. Frank E. Bohm, manager of the Viking agency, will receive all entries for the events.

RESPECTS TO DEAD.

Knights of Pythias Hold Their Annual Memorial Service.

The Knights of Pythias held their annual memorial services yesterday. In the morning the graves of the knights at Forest Hill cemetery were decorated by the Lakeside company, assisted by members of Amethyst company. The knights formed a triangle at each grave and Lieut. Nichols spoke a few words as the flowers were placed on the mounds. The grave of Dr. Salter was then visited and the same mark of respect paid as at the graves of the knights, although he was not a member of the order.

In the afternoon public services were held in the lodge room. The services were opened with a solo, "Calvary," by Professor Woodward, Rev. F. A. Lawson offered prayer and Mrs. Woodward sang 'Come Unto Me." Rev. Mr. Lawson delivered an address, his theme being "Friendship and Immortality," comemnding the practice and precepts of the order as exemplifying the one and teaching the other.

A male quartet composed of Professor Woodward, Mr. Black, Mr. Willoughby and Mr. Lynn sang "They're Gathering Homeward," and the services closed with a benediction by Rev. Mr. Lawson.

WORK NEEDED.

Dr. Ryan Calls on His Parishoners to Help St. Luke's Hospital.

Rev. Dr. Ryan, in his morning sermon yesterday, at St. Paul's Episcopal church, spoke of the necessity of hospitals, and the moral obligation resting on the people of his church to sustain St. Luke's hospital in its work. He took for his text Acts xi, 27-30, telling of the sending by the disciples of relief to the brethren in Judea in the time of famine.

A call for good deeds in line with God's work should be responded to promptly and generously, he said. There are two aspects of Christian service, that of the practical working out of God's plan in this world. To be content with the spiritual side of religion indicates selfishness. Today Christians are measured by what they do in ameliorating the ills of human life. It has come to be understood that the Christian church has to do for the bodies of men as well as for their spirits. In fact, it has always had an inclination to lay hold on the so-called secular side of life and sanctify it.

The office of hospitals has been enlarged. At first they were for the indigent and unfortunate, now they are sought as a home in illness by those of means.

Dr. Ryan then gave a history of the St. Luke's hospital work, from its inception on St. Luke's day in 1882. In November the hospital was established in an old building on Third avenue east. In two years the present property was acquired, and the present building erected with a debt of but $1500. During the present rectorship all bills have been met promptly each month, an annex built for the nurses and the laundry, and about $6000 accumulated for a building fund.

In conclusion, he said:

"One-tenth of all the work during the past year has been for charity ministering to those nobody else could or would minister to. Whether in giving to this cause we are ministering to our own or not, we know that we are ministering to somebody's child, and we can feel that we are ministering there with wisdom to Christ's poor. We can well remind ourselves that he that gives for such a purpose as this will some day listen with a glad heart to the gracious words:

"'Inasmuch as ye have done this unto the least of these my brethern, ye have done it unto me.'

"And whatsoever we give, let us give not grudgingly, but generously and promptly. Let us offer our gifts and not wait to be solicited therefor."

COUNTY IS SUSTAINED.

Judge Cant Holds Forfeited Tax Sale Effective Immediately.

Judge Cant in special term of district court Saturday afternoon decided the important question raised by the West Duluth Building and Loan association in favor of the county. The point was whether or not the forefeited tax sale is effective as soon as the property was kocked down to the successful bidder. The county officers, against whom the case was brought, held this to be the case, while the association claimed that the sale was not effective until the certificate of sale was made out and delivered, and that it had a right to redeem in the meantime. Judge Cant decided that there is no right to redeem after the sale, and the case will undoubtedly be appealed, as the question is an important one that it is to the interest of everyone concerned to have definitely settld.

Keaough's Body Found.

The body of Michael Keaough, who was drowned at the Superior entry May 29, by the capsizing of one of Capt. Barker's dredge scows, was found yesterday on the south shore about a mile and a half from the entry, by a rafting crew. The remains will be sent to Sturgeon Bay, Wis., Keaough's home.

NOTICE TO ATTORNEYS.

On and after this date, The Evening Herald will run all probate notices three times, as required by law, for $1. The regular price for this class of work heretofore has been $6 for the three publications, and this will be a considerable saving to estates that have to be probated.

A GAME APIECE.

Duluth and St. Anthony Play Even on Baseball Games.

There were four games of baseball at the head of the lakes Saturday and Sunday, two on each side of the bay. Superior won two games from the Palace team, of Minneapolis, and Duluth played even with the St. Anthony team, of St. Paul, winning one game and losing the other.

The Saturday game in Duluth was a good one, and the score would have been much evener and would have spoken better for the game if it had not been for one or two costly errors on the part of the visitors. Duluth won out by a score of 7 to 1, but the visiting team is an active one, and it showed up much better in yesterday's game. Had it not been for these errors the score would have been something like 3 to 1 in favor of Duluth. Cox for Duluth pitched both games. Saturday's game by innings follows:

Duluth ....2 0 0 0 0 2 0 3 *—7

In Sunday's game, before one of the largest crowds of the season, the visitors won by a score of 6 to 4. Duluth was not playing in good form at all, and though the home team buckled down after the first few innings and played ball, it was too late. In the early part of the game some of Duluth's best and surest players went wrong and fumbled the ball like any small boy. In the second inning most of this kind of work was done, and it resulted in three scores for the visitors, too great a lead to be overcome.

One result of the game, or rather the practice before the game, was that Loule Kline, who has caught for Duluth all this season and who acted as backstop for Superior last year, will no longer play with Duluth. While Kline was standing in front of the grand stand with his back to the grounds, one of the players threw the ball in from the field, and it accidentally struck Kline on the back of the head. He turned around and began using abusive language. Manager Wade asked him to be quiet, and he left the grounds. Manager Wade immediately released him and put Featherstone behind the bat. Goldie was rung in in the field, and the game went on without "Louie." Ritter, who caught for the St. Anthony team yesterday, will probably be engaged for the Duluth team. He formerly played with the St. Paul professional team and he is a good man. In last Sunday's game at Superior he played third base, and his throw from third to first was one of the prettiest things ever seen on a ball ground.

Hart, the new pitcher, was to have pitched yesterday, but he had a sprained hand, and Cox had to double. The score by innings follows:

St. Anthony ....0 3 1 1 0 0 1 0 0—6
Duluth ....0 1 0 1 2 0 0 0 0—4

Batteries: Ball and Ritter; Cox and Featherstone. Umpire, Hake.

The two games between the Superior team and the Palace team of Minneapolis were hardly close enough to be interesting. Saturday Superior won by a score of 12 to 3, and Sunday the score was 20 to 2 in favor of the same team.

Stage Employe's Picnic.

The Stage Employes' union No. 32, held its annual picnic at Brautigam's summer garden on the lake shore yesterday afternoon. Hundreds of people attended and took part in the day's events, which included games and outdoor sports. Flaaten's orchestra was present, and the dancing pavilion was a busy place all of the afternoon and evening. The picnic was one of the most successful ever given there and everybody reports a good time.

Miraculous Benefit RECEIVED FROM
Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure.

ELI P. BABCOCK, of Avoca, N. Y., a veteran of the 3rd N. Y. Artillery and for thirty years of the Babcock & Munsel Carriage Co., of Auburn, says: "I write to express my gratitude for the miraculous benefit received from Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. I suffered for years, as result of army life, from sciatica which affected my heart in the worst form, my limbs swelled from the ankles up. I bloated until I was unable to button my clothing; had sharp pains about the heart, smothering spells and shortness of breath. For three months I was unable to lie down, and all the sleep I got was in an arm chair. I was treated by the best doctors but gradually grew worse. About a year ago I commenced taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and it saved my life as if by a miracle."

THE DAKOTAS.

Dr. Bilyea Is Found Guilty of Procuring an Abortion.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Devil's Lake—The jury in the case of Dr. Bilyea, after being out twenty-five hours, brought in a verdict of gullty of unlawfully procuring an abortion. Defendant's attorneys made a motion for a new trial. The judge gave them till July 6 to prepare an argument.

While shooting at a cat J. N. Kibler accidentally shot Attorney E. H. Hutchins, the bullet lodging in his chest, face and eye. Mr. Hutchins is probably not dangerously injured, but will lose his left eye.

Fargo—The grasshopper scare in Eddy county is reported more serious. The neglect of the farmers to plow the land last fall and destroy the eggs has caused all kinds of trouble. It is thought the matter will be local in that section and not spread to the adjoining counties. Last year the hoppers were destroyed by burning. The railroad and elevator companies shipped in several cars of oil to assist in the extermination.

Cathy—Rocky mountain locusts are again making their appearance in some sections of this locality. Owing to the lateness of the crops much apprehension is felt by the farmers lest the damage of the pest may be much greater than last year.

Grand Forks—Grand Forks is in the midst of a building boom, confined principally to the erection of dwellings, of which there has been a far greater demand than could be supplied this season, caused by recent changes made by the Great Northern time table, which resulted in many railroad men and traveling men moving their families here to live.

The Northwestern Telephone Exchange company will rebuild all its lines in this city, beginning the work next week.

Thomas Moen, one of the oldest farmers in this section, died Saturday, aged 80 years.

Arrangements for the summer carnival in this city on July 19 and 20 are well under way. The celebration will be on a larger scale than anything of the kind ever before attempted in this section.

Hillsboro—S. A. Sylvester, who until a year ago was Northwestern agent of the Equitable Insurance company, with headquarters at Mayville, N. D., has been surrendered by the Washington authorities and will be returned to Traill county, charged with embezzlement. Last fall his accounts were audited and found considerably short, and he disappeared.

Wahpeton—A buggy ride of 130 miles from Wahpeton through Davenport, Wheatland, Tower City, Casselton and Hunter, has given a fine view of crop prospects. The wheat standing from six to sixteen inches high is almost everywhere dark green and very promising. Oat fields, like the wheat, are full of promise. The grass was never greener, and it is of great growth. Much flax is sown, but being put in later than the wheat, its growth is not yet large.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Sioux Falls—It has just leaked out that papers have been filed here which were the result of one of the most sensational cases ever tried in Sioux Falls. The case involves the property of Isaac Turner, a wealthy resident, who died here a few days ago and whose body was taken yesterday to Waterloo, Iowa, for burial. The heirs are the widow and four children. Deceased failed to execute a will, but a short time prior to his death expressed a wish that C. T. Lorimer, of this city, be appointed administrator of his estate. This was apparently satisfactory to all heirs. Now a son, Charles, has filed a petition through an attorney for his own appointment as administrator. Other heirs will bitterly fight against this plan.

Pierre—Up to date, wolf bounty applications have been filed with the state auditor for $10,000, double the appropriation available for this year. Two-thirds of the claims filed are from counties east of the Missouri river.

Estelline—Two lightning rod sharpers were arrested in Estelline. They had worked Watertown and had come here for business when the Watertown victims got after them. They finally gave up the notes and the most of the money obtained in Watertown and paid the expense of the Estelline parties and were released.

Rapid City—The sheep shearing season has commenced in those parts of the Hills where sheep raising is carried on. It is rather late owing to the difficulty in getting shearers as soon as they are needed. The clip will be unusually large this year on account of the cold winter. The sheep ranges are in a fine condition and large numbers of sheep have already been brought in this season and have commenced to fatten. The prospects are that this will be the best year for lambs that the Hills has seen for some time.

Pierre—Treasurer Schamber has sent out drafts for $20,000 to take up the last of the constitutional bonds issued by the state in 1890. This reduces the bonded debt of the state to less than $700,000, none of it bearing more than 4½ per cent interest.

A Test of Baltic Rock Is Made at Atlantic Mill.

Houghton—The first test of Baltic rock was made at the Atlantic mill today. John Stanton, Joseph E. Gray, Cameron Currie and W. A. Paine were numbered among a party that examined the Baltic in all its workings Thursday. Messrs. Paine and Currie returned to Portage Lake in the evening, and both expressed themselves highly pleased and gratified at the Baltic's outlook and declared that the property was all that had ever been claimed for it. Mr. Paine believes the Baltic offers the possibilities of a Quincy, with its remarkably wide lode that can be worked practically from the roofs, and he finds very much to commend in the course pursued at the mine. Like Mr. Currie, Mr. Paine feels justly elated in being interested from the start in the development of the new property.

The full number of drifts at the Isle Royale—twenty-two—are now under way. Twenty-two air drills are at work, and henceforth the extension of new drifts will go on with great rapidity. The longest drift at present is that at the eleventh level south of No. 2, where a distance of about seventy-five feet has been reached, partly in the older workings. No. 2 shaft shows better, though it was expected, and all the drifts give promise that the Isle Royale will be heard from later on to good advantage.

Visitors to the new Arcadian mill speak of it in most flattering terms and all agree that it is a model in every respect. At the mine fifty-nine drills are at work and new ground continues to be opened at the usual rapid rate.

No less than 500 men are now employed on the construction work of the Copper Range railroad. The labor market has eased up considerably of late, and the mines and various industries now have no trouble in securing full complements of workmen.

Negaunee—William J. Allen, who for the past several years has been engaged in the undertaking and furniture business here, is closing out preparatory to leaving the city for Humboldt, where he will take charge of the Bessie mine, which will be reopened after a long shut down. The Carnegie company has obtained a lease of this property and it will be reopened under their direction.

Sault Ste. Marie—A number of the directors of the American Alkali company, some of whom were accompanied by their families, arrived in the city last week. While here the gentlemen, who are representatives of the company which will establish works here on the completion of the water power canal, took occasion to thoroughly inspect the work. Among those in the party were: The Messrs. and Mesdames W. W. Gibbs and W. H. Kerr; the Misses Gibbs, E. Roydhouse, Hempstead, F. Roydhouse, Joly Hempstead and Bessie W. Hanifer, and Messrs. R. W. Woboken, John E. Hanifer, George W. Roydhouse, R. H. Forder and son, W. O. Hempstead, Arthur Moore and J. B. Entz. They all reside in Philadelphia.

SHAMROCK IS AFLOAT

The Christening Attended By a Distinguished Company of Guests.

MEETS AN ACCIDENT

As the Yacht Reaches Midstream She Collides With a Barge.

London, June 26.—Sir Thomas Lipton's cup challenger Shamrock is ready for launching. The ceremony will occur at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Millwall. At this hour—noon—she is hidden from view in an enormous launching cradle under a temporary shed in Samudas yards.

An hour ago 500 workmen completed the preparations for the launch, and the occasion is now being observed as a general holiday. On a little spot among the forests of masts hailing from every quarter of the globe a large tent, gaily decorated with flags, was erected opposite the yacht, which stood on the slips ready for the water, and flying stars and stripes and union jacks. Crowds of people who had no chance of seeing anything out of the ordinary assembled during the morning in the vicinity of the yard and detachments of police appeared to preserve order.

From the river little could be seen except the stern of the yacht, upon which in bright golden letters shone the name Shamrock.

Previous to the launch Sir Thomas Lipton gave a luncheon at the Savoy hotel to the guests invited to the ceremony. They included Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, the marquis of Dufferin, the earl and countess of Clanwilliam, Lady Russell of Killowen, the Hon. Lillian Russell, the Hon. Schomberg Kerr McDonnell, principal private secretary to the marquis of Salisbury; Sir George Faudel-Phillips, former lord mayor of London, and Lady Phillips, Herbert Gladstone, Maj. Sharman-Crawford, the Hon. W. Walsh and H. M. McGill Downy, the last three representing the Royal Ulster Yacht club.

After the usual loyal toasts, Admiral Beresford proposed the success of the Shamrock and briefly sketched the struggles of times gone by and Sir Thomas Lipton's "gallant entry into the breach" and challenge for the cup. Then the admiral, in breezy style, raised his glass and said:

"Now we come to the last scene but one. May the Shamrock win a fair, square race, and may she have the additional ballast of the America's cup when she returns." The guests heartily raised their glasses in response and the owner of the Shamrock modestly replied with a few words of thanks.

After lunch the party drove to Samudas yard in two coaches, Admiral Beresford driving the first. They were the object of much attention while proceeding down the Thames embankment and through the city and Whitechapel.

Lady Russell christened the Shamrock with the customary bottle of champagne, saying: "I christen you Shamrock. God bless you; good luck to you; may you bring back the cup."

Three cheers were then given, and on a signal from Lady Russell the boat and the cradle glided safely into the water.

After the launch the party assembled in the adjoining tent and had tea. The health of the Shamrock was drunk, and congratulatory speeches were made.

As the Shamrock reached midstream from the slips a barge collided with her, striking the yacht's bow above the water line and making a big dent. The full extent of the damage done has not yet been ascertained.

There was a great cry when the Shamrock struck, and particularly from members of the Lipton party, who witnessed the launch from the river. But, it was soon ascertained that the damage done was slight and the yacht was towed toward the Southwest India, hundreds of whistles and horns made a tremendous din.

SOME BIG IFS.

Governor Pingree Says He May or May Not Favor McKinley.

Detroit, June 26.—Governor Pingree today made a statement, brought out by Washington dispatches, which quoted Secretary Alger as saying that "Governor Pingree is for President McKinley first, last and all the time."

Said the governor: "If Gen. Alger said that, it is his opinion from his point of view. The question whether I am for McKinley lies with the president, not with me. If Gen. Alger knows that President McKinley is opposed to territorial expansion and is not an advocate of the murders and the destruction being visited upon the innocent Filipinos, he has a right to say I am for McKinley. If Gen. Alger is informed that McKinley is opposed to trusts and to legislation which fosters, creates and encourages them, and in favor of legislation to restrict and suppress them, he is closer to the opinions of the president than has generally been believed. If Gen. Alger is assured that President McKinley is not in touch and sympathy with the disreputable political methods of Mark Hanna and his friends, and deprecates such leadership, then I am for McKinley.

"The question of whether I favor McKinley is of no consequence in this senatorial matter, but I am for McKinley in everything he does which I consider right and against every thing which I consider wrong."

WILL NOT BUY HOGS.

The Chicago Packers Becoming Alarmed Over the Strike.

Chicago, June 26.—About 300 men actually engaged in the killing of hogs joined the ranks of the strikers at the stock yards today in demanding an increase in wages of 25 cents a day. No trouble is apprehended by the police. The strikers claim more stock yards employes will go out tomorrow.

It is asserted that unless the packers make concessions to their employes a strike, which will eventually tie up the stock yards industries, will take place July 1. The trouble so far has been confined to the unskilled laborers. That the situation is regarded as rather serious by the packers was indicated today by the fact that several of the largest packing houses refused to buy hogs.

THAT FEDERAL DIVIDEND.

The Suit of Walter R. Kern Has Been Dismissed.

Philadelphia June 26.—It is stated here that the suit of Walter R. Kern to prevent the payment of the recently declared dividend on the common stock of the Federal Steel company has been dropped.

Notice of discontinuance was filed in the court of chancery at Trenton this afternoon.

BETTER THAN CUBANS.

Gen. King Says the Filipinos Can Govern Themselves.

Milwaukee, June 26.—Brig. Gen. Charles King, who returned from the Philippines a short time ago, was asked by the Milwaukee Journal for his views of the situation in the Philippines. Gen. King's reply was received in a letter today, in which he states that the capability of the Filipinos for self-government cannot be doubted, and if given a fair start they could look out for themselves infinitely better than our people imagine.

Gen. King's letter reads as follows:

San Francisco, June 22, 1899.—To the Editor of the Journal, Milwaukee, Wis.: Dear Sir—Thinking over your telegram and request of June 7, I find myself seriously embarrassed. As an officer of the army there are many reasons why I should not give my views of the situation in the Philippines, how long fighting is likely to continue and thoughts as to America's parts in the future of the islands.

"The capability of the Filipinos for self-government cannot be doubted; such men as Arellano, Aguinaldo and many others whom I might name, are highly educated: nine-tenths of the people read and write; all are skilled artisans in one way or another; they are industrious, frugal, temperate and given a fair start, could look out for themselves infinitely better than our people imagine. In my opinion they rank far higher than the Cubans or the uneducated negroes, to whom we have given the right of suffrage. Very truly yours,

"CHARLES KING."

WEST DULUTH

Andrew Erickson, who fell from the viaduct over the St. Paul & Duluth tracks Saturday morning, died at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Dr. Graham found that the man's spine was fractured, and this was the cause of death. The injured man retained consciousness to the last, and bid an affecting farewell to his wife and four children. He had $1000 insurance on his life, $500 of which was in the Maccabees.

The remains of the deceased were taken to River Falls, Wis., for burial last evening, being accompanied by the wife and family. Brief services were held at the house before the departure.

HE ROWED ALL RIGHT.

Court Officer Ed Jensen went to a picnic at Fond du Lac yesterday. He went on the train, but did not come back by the same conveyance, and thereby hangs a tale of woe as long as the river from Fond du Lac to West Duluth. He missed the train and had to row all the way home, which he reached before morning and right, although there were times when he had doubts about ever getting back to West Duluth. He has promised to keep track of the trains in future.

WILD MAN CAPTURED.

One Found In the Northern Woods of Wisconsin.

Milwaukee, June 26.—A Journal special from Chippewa Falls, Wis., says: A wild man was captured in the woods fifty miles north of this city and placed in the county jail here today. He is about 60 years of age and has lost nearly all resemblance to a human being. His hair and beard is about two feet long and his clothes consist of a solitary gunny sack wrapped around his body and on his head a coonskin cap. His speech is unintelligible and he is believed to be an imbecile.

TWO HUNDRED SICK.

Only 450 Kansans Still Able to Do Military Duty.

Kansas City, June 26.—A special cablegram to the Star from Manilla, via Hong Kong, June 25, says:

Capt. Clarke, Capt. Watson, Lieut. Ball and 200 sick or wounded from the Twentieth Kansas regiment have been sent home. Only 450 men are still doing duty. These are on the firing line. The other members of the regiment are relieved from duty on account of sickness.

The Kansas regiment's normal strength is about 1200 men. With 200 sick on the way home and 450 on the firing line, 550 are left among those "unfit for duty."

GRAIN-O BRINGS RELIEF

To the coffee drinker. Coffee drinking is a habit that is universally indulged in and almost as universally injurious. Have you tried Grain-O? It is almost like coffee, but the effects are just the opposite. Coffee upsets the stomach, ruins the digestion, affects the heart and disturbs the whole nervous system. Grain-O tones up the stomach, aids digestion and strengthens the nerves. There is nothing but nourishment in Grain-O. It can't be otherwise. 15 and 25 cents per package.

MARINE NEWS.

The Steamer City of Venice Is Aground at Round Island.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The steamer City of Venice, up bound, is aground at Round Island. She lies two feet forward. A tug and lighters are at work trying to release her.

THE TUG TRUST.

A Cleveland dispatch says: The tug trust has been successfully organized. This company will have control of all the tug lines between Buffalo and Duluth and Chicago, and will include nearly all of the wrecking outfits. It will be known as the Great Lakes Towing company, and the articles of incorporation will be taken out before the close of another week. The new management will take hold of the plants and commence operating them early in July. The new company will be capitalized at $1,000,000. Duluth and Chicago parties are said to have large holdings of the stock.

HAY LAKE CHANNEL.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., June 26.—Col. G. J. Lydecker, who is in charge of the government improvements in this district, has been in the city since last Tuesday and will probably remain the greater portion of this week. He is here on a tour of inspection. While at the Soo he will gather data for a report which he will soon make to the secretary of war on the project for improving the Hay Lake channel and other portions of St. Mary's river. Appropriations aggregating $394,000 were made by congress for continuous contracts and $100,000 in addition which is available this year for improving Hay Lake channel. The principal feature of the contemplated improvements is the widening of the steamboat channel through Hay lake and Middle Neebish. From estimates of the cost of doing the proposed work, Col. Lydecker is of the opinion that appropriations now made would be sufficient to widen the channel about 150 feet. The probabilities are that the report to be made by Col. Lydecker will be approved by the secretary of war at once and that considerable work will be done on the project this season.

NEEDS OF WEST END

Council Will Consider Its Needs In Way of Fire Apparatus.

MUCH DISCUSSION

Several Things Up That Ensure Lots of It For Tonight.

The question of giving West Duluth a fire engine may come up at the council meeting this evening, and if it does there will undoubtedly be "heap much talk." Alderman Sang says West Duluth not only needs an engine but must have it. He cites the breaking out of two fires in West Duluth sawmills in twenty-four hours recently, and says that if any of the mills there are burned, it is a question whether they would be rebuilt at all, unless, perhaps, on a much smaller scale than now. A mill could burn up while the apparatus was getting to the scene from up town, he says, and the up town district has no engines to spare, he believes, furthermore.

If West Duluth makes a "spiel" for an engine, it is not unlikely that there will be a clamor from the East End to have the fire hall at Endion reopened by fall, at least.

The matter of confirming the award of the contract for steam ferry service at the canal to Capt. J. D. Lloyd will come up, and there may be considerable discussion over it. The matter went over last week on account of the fact that the committee on harbors and docks, to which the award was referred, did not regard the boat, the Hull, that Capt. Lloyd proposes to furnish, with much favor. The objection to her is that she lacks power and is slow.

The report of the special committee on the settlement of deliquent assessments in judgment in the comptroller's office may be taken from the table and acted upon. The committee recommends settling such assessments, on which no assignment certificate has been issued, for the judgment and 7 per cent interest thereon, except in case the amount does not exceed the assessed valuation for 1898, when the amount of such valuation is to be accepted.

OQUENDO TROPHY HERE.

Captured Spanish Cannon Arrives and Is Viewed By Many.

The gun taken from the Spanish cruiser Oquendo after the destruction of Cervera's fleet at Santiago, which has been loaned by the government to Duluth, reached here yesterday morning. It is rifled, is seventeen feet long and has a 7-inch bore. At the breech is the inscription, "Astilleros Del-Nervion-Bilboa, 1895." Just forward of this is the legend:

TROPHY OQUENDO,
Santiago, July 3, 1898.

The plate closing the breech is gone, having been taken from the gun and thrown overboard by the Spanish after the surrender, it is said.

The car carrying the gun stood at the St. Croix avenue crossing all day yesterday and this morning and was viewed by a large number of people.

MORE CLEVELAND RIOTS.

Hostile Demonstrations Directed Against Non-Union Men.

Cleveland, June 26.—Several small riots took place today, due to the presence of non-union crews on on the Big Consolidated cars. At Harvard and Trement streets, on the Broadway line, a northbound car was attacked while going through a Polish settlement. The motorman and conductor were struck by stones and the former, Charles W. Kennedy, drew a revolver, firing over the heads of the crowd, which then gave way in fright. Kennedy was arrested. At South Brooklyn there were several hostile demonstrations directed aagainst non-union crews.

FOR SELF-GOVERNMENT.

The First Steps Now Being Taken at Manilla.

Manilla, June 26, 7:30 p. m.—The Montana and Kansas volunteers are returning from San Fernando and the Twelfth and Ninth regulars will replace them.

Senor Luis Marinas, the first Spanish consul general at the Philippine islands, has arrived here from Singapore on board the Isla de Luzon.

Great interest is taken in the result of the first step, which is now being taken here, in the direction of self-government. The supreme court is sitting daily and the American and Filipino judges are holding consultations through an interpreter. A unanimous vote is required for a decision. Maj. Gen. Otis has persuaded Maj. Young of the Utah battery to remain on the court for a time after the battery departs. Three of the native justices are absent.

Ambrosio Rianzares, a justice of the criminal branch of the court, happened to be at Tarlac, then the seat of the insurgent government, when the appointments were announced, and he was arrested and sentenced to banishment for life. His present whereabouts are not known. Pedro Llorente, associate justice of the supreme court, is in Cebu, where he has great influence, working to popularize American rule.

The native justices will now begin to hold criminal courts, having jurisdiction over all offenses except those committed by soldiers or against military authority.

PUZZLING TRICK.

"I had a little party of Japanese jugglers on the road in '91," said an ex-theatrical manager, "and got on to a good many of their tricks. Most of them were surprisingly simple in reality, and the one I don't remember ever having seen explained was the feat of walking barefooted up a ladder of sharp swords. The swords were of the native straight-blade shape, and were so keen that they would easily slice a handkerchief in two in mid-air. Before sticking them through the uprights to form the ladder, the head Jap always passed his thumb along the edge of each, from hilt to tip. As he did so he drew out a narrow steel tape, which was coiled on a spring in the handle. The tape had a hole in the end, which caught on the point of the sword and completely shielded the edge. After the walking was over it was quietly released, as the swords were taken out, and flew up into the handle again. The weapon could then be passed around for inspection. Most people supposed that the Jap used some chaemical to toughen his soles, but the truth was as I have stated."

THE CITY OF QUIVIRA.

Mooney, the Ethnologist, Thinks It Was On the Wichita.

The June Harper's contains an article by James Mooney of the bureau of ethnology on the much-discussed city of Quivira, the half-mythical city located somewhere in this quarter of the continent, of which the Spanish invaders of New Mexico heard from the Indians, and which several of them claimed to have reached, says J. Sterling Morton in the Conservative. Their narratives differ greatly, but agree in saying that the city when found, was most unsatisfactory, containing no more gold than we may suppose an Indian encampment of those times would have contained. Mr. Mooney identifies Quivira with some settlement of the Wichita Indians between the great bend of the Arkansas and the present city of Wichita.

The late Judge Savage, of Omaha, located Quivira at the Loup Fork of the Platte, maintaining his position in several scholarly papers, which appear in the publications of the State Historical society. He depended mainly on the narrative of one Penalosa, who made the journey from Santa Fe in 1622, whereas Mr. Mooney's Quivira is that of Coronado, who visited it in 1540. According to one view, the inhabitants of the "city" were Pawnees, by the other they were Wichitas.

Where experts disagree the Conservative would not presume to rush in; but it seems possible that both these theories may be correct and that villages on both the Arkansas and the Platte may have been visited by the early Spanish parties. It would not be strange if two explorers, eighty years apart, thought they had found the same city, especially if the two towns were known by the same name to the roving Comanches of the Southwest, who had no towns nor pottery of their own; for the Pawnees and Wichitas were closely related and resemble each other greatly to this day in language and customs. The many-storied houses that Penalosa found in his Quivira are a great puzzle. If one gives his story any credence; Coronado's city contained houses of grass and one of these, built by the Wichita Indians in the northeast corner of the grounds at the Omaha exposition, was described in detail last fall.

It would be interesting to know what C. F. Lummis and the Landmarks club think of the Spanish explorers and their Quivira.

STILL FASHIONABLE.

There is an idea afloat now that is exploited from time to time against finger bowls. For breakfast, when fruit is served, they are, of course, necessary, and in spite of the "new" idea, the more conservative people use them on the dinner table. If is so usual to have bonbons or some other sort of sweets at the end of dinner that finger bowls are indispensible. One woman lately said to me that she had dined at a house where the bowls were tabooed, and at her earliest opportunity had escaped to the bath-room, where she could remove the stickiness from her fingers. It is almost impossible to handle asparagus, bread, cake or any food without leaving a traceable odor and feeling on one's finger tips, and I think finger bowls will always be used by those who consider comfort a factor.

GEN. OTIS' OPINION

Belief That His Estimate of Troops Was Formulated In Washington.

MILES WILL NOT GO

Thinks Gen. Otis Has Done Well With Troops at Hand.

New York, June 26.—A special to the Herald from Washington says: Maj. Gen. Miles is a strenuous advocate of the despatch of large reinforcements to Gen. Otis in the Philippines. Gen. Miles declined to discuss the military situation in the Philippines other than to say that it was "serious" nor would he give any idea of the number of troops he thought should now be sent to the Philippines to place the archipelago under American control.

Gen. Miles, as far back as April, recommended that ten of the volunteer regiments which the president is authorized to raise under the army reorganization law be reorganized and sent to Manilla. At that officers at army headquarters believed this force would be sufficient to crush the rebellion. In view of the strength developed by the insurgents ,they are not now so sanguine that ten regiments are enough. There will be 15,700 men in the ten regiments, the advisability of raising which the war department is now considering, but well informed officers say the force of 50,000 men which Gen. Otis will have when the reinforcements are placed at his disposal will not be sufficient.

Besides the island of Luzon there are many other islands in the archipelago in which this government will have to restore peace and order and in the more important ones there are organized bodies prepared to resist occupation by American troops.

Gen. Marcus P. Miller, who recently arrived from the Philippines, where he governed Iloilo, has been living here since his return. Gen. Miller's view as to the number of men required for the subjugation of the islands is very different from that of Gen. Otis. He believes 65,000 men at least are required, 30,000 for the control of Luzon and the remainder for the restoration of peace and order in the other Islands.

Gen. Miller's opinion coincides with Gen. Lawton's and that of other officers subordinate to Gen. Otis. In fact, in other than administration circles there is a disposition to believe Gen. Otis' estimate of the number of men required was made when he knew of the desire of the president not to raise volunteers, but if possible to avoid it.

There is no truth in the story that Gen. Miles has applied to be sent to Manilla. Gen. Miles would not wish to take any action to displace Gen. Otis, when that officer is doing all he can to quell the rebellion with the limited means at his command. Notwithstanding the report to the contrary, the president is satisfied with Gen. Otis' course and has no intention of relieving or recalling him.

It is equally untrue, it is asserted by Acting Secretary Meiklejohn, that Gen. Otis has cabled that he will be compelled to retreat unless promptly reinforced.

SAYS THE WAR IS OVER.

Gen. Otis Sends Reply Regarding the Situation.

Washington, June 26.—Gen. Otis, in reply to a cable from the war department asking for information regarding the situation and conditions in the Philippines, today cabled a long reply as follows:

Manilla, June 26.—Adjutant General, Washington: Rainy season; little inland campaigning possible in Luzon. We occupy large portion Tagalog country, lines stretching from Imus south to San Fernando north, nearly sixty miles, and to eastward into Laguna province. Insurgent armies have suffered great losses and are scattered; only large force held together, about 4000 in Tarlac province and Northern Pampanga. Their scattered forces in bands of 50 to 500 in other portions of Luzon, in Cavite and Bantangas provinces could assemble possibly 2000, though demoralized from recent defeats.

Mass of people terrorized by insurgent soldiers; desire peace and American protection; no longer flee on approach of our troops unless forced by insurgents, but gladly welcome them; no recent burning of towns; population within our lines becoming dense, taking up land cultivation extensively; kept out of Manilla as much as possible, its city population becoming too great to be cared for. Natives southerst of Luzon combining to drive out insurgents.

Only hope insurgent leaders is United States aid. They proclaim near overthrow of present administration to be followed by their independence and recognition by United States. This is the influence which enables them to hold out; much contention prevails among them and no civil government remains.

Trade with ports not in our possession former source of insurgent revenue now interdicted; not certain of wisdom of this policy, as people in those parts are without supply of food and merchants suffering losses; meditate restoring trade privileges, although insurgents reap benefits.

Courts here in successful operation under direction of able Filipinos.

Affairs in other islands comparatively quiet, awaiting results in Luzon. All anxious for trade, and repeated calls for American troops received. Am giving attention to Jolo archipelago and Palawan islands.

Our troops have worked to limit of endurance. Volunteer organizations have been called in, replaced by regulars, who now occupy salient positions. Nebraska, Pennsylvania and Utah now taking transports, and Sixth infantry sent to Negros to relieve California. These troops in good physical condition; sickness among troops has increased lately, due most to arduous service and climatic influences; nothing alarming. Of the 12 per cent of the command reported sick, nearly 6 in general hospital, of whom 3 per cent have typhoid and 17 malarial fevers; 25 per cent have intestinal troubles; remaining 55 per cent have various ailments; 14 are due to wounds.

Many officers and men who served in Cuba break down under recurrence of Cuban fever, and regular regiments lately received are inadequately officered. OTIS.

The inadequacy of the number of officers mentioned in last part of above cablegram has been remedied by the sailing of the transports Zelandia and Sheridan, carrying a number of officers for regiments in the Philippines.

Adjt. Gen. Corbin says that all officers belonging to regiments in the Philippines who are not absent on account of a surgeon's certificate are under orders to join their regiments at once. Forty-four have sailed on the recent transports, going to Manilla.

Secretary Alger said today that no action will be taken for the enlargement of the army or sending troops to reinforce Gen. Otis until the return of President McKinley. He also said that Gen. Wheeler would receive no assignment until that time.

MAY THIS GREAT DOCTOR CURE OTHERS.

Mrs. A. B. Carmen, 221 Fourth avenue northeast, Minneapolis: "When I first noticed my eyes failing was six years ago. I did not do anything for them until last year, when I visited Chicago and consulted several physicians there. After months of treatment, under great expense, I returned to Minneapolis, not cured. Out of curiosity I went to Dr. Doran's office. The doctor received me very nicely and told me I could be cured in six weeks. I was very thankful to hear such good news, because I had given up all hope of getting any better. I did not tell my husband where I had been until one day he said, 'I believe your eyes are getting better.' It was then I told him that Dr. Doran was giving me treatments. I can speak very highly of this great doctor because he cured me in six weeks when Chicago physicians failed."

A FRIEND TO THE SUFFERING.

James R. Stevenson, Hastings, Minn.: "When I began treating with Dr. Doran I was one of the greatest sufferers possible. I could not move in bed without help. My back would crack and act as though it would break. I was helpless, nervous, debilitated and had not enjoyed one good night's rest in three years. I was in misery all the time. My life began to be a burden to myself and to all of the family because someone had to be with me all the time. I spent all my earnings doctoring with home physicians to no avail. After learning of a great specialist in Minneapolis, Dr. Doran, I took three months treatment and today I am cured and working at my trade."

TO LEAVE CHICAGO

Secretary Gage to Remove East When He Leaves the Cabinet.

LIKELY TO NEW YORK

Meiklejohn May Succeed Alger as Head of the War Department.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The published statement that Secretary Gage is to leave Chicago and make his home in either Washington or New York is said to be true. The friends of the secretary are aware of the fact that he desires to make his home in the East in the future, and the chances are that some banking firm in New York will secure his services after he retires as secretary of the treasury at the close of the present McKinley administration. Secretary Gage is considered one of the best financiers in the United States. He conducted a successful business in Chicago and secured distinction in that city before President McKinley decided to make him his secretary of the treasury. It is not now believed that President McKinley, should he be renominated and re-elected, will retain many of his present official associates. Charles Emory Smith may hold his place as postmaster general. Attorney General Griggs may remain at the head of the department of justice. Secretary of the Interior Hitchcock will probably be asked to remain at the head of this big department and there is a possibility that Secretary Long may be the head of the navy department should Mr. McKinley be lucky enough to be re-elected. Secretary Alger, of course, is going out of office at the end of the present administration. If not before. There is just a bare possibility that Mr. McKinley may be wise enough to promote George D. Meiklejohn and should he decide to do so his next administration, so far as the war department is concerned, will be much more popular than is the case at the present time.

* * *

Gen. Henderson, of Iowa, is not at all troubled over his prospects regarding the speakership. He is satisfied that he will be elected unanimously. In this respect his views are probably correct. Gen. Henderson, however, will have a good deal of trouble in making up his committees and in endeavoring to satisfy congressmen regarding patronage in the lower house during the fifty-sixth session. Clerk McDowell, of Pennsylvania, will undoubtedly be re-elected to his present position, but before he accomplishes this he must make certain promises to congressmen who have been instrumental in farthering Henderson's chances and give to them about what they desire in the way of petty appointments which he will have to dole out as clerk of the house. The Pennsylvania politicians, working in harmony with former Senator Quay will, of course, use every effort to satisfy all factions in the next house.

* * *

President McKinley will return to Washington within the next week. The understanding is that he will make some important announcement regarding future action in the Philippines. It is considered absolutely necessary that Gen. Otis' forces at Manilla should be largely increased and unless enough regulars can be sent there a call for 35,000 additional troops will be issued within a very short time. The president realizes that it will be politic for him to bring the war to a close in the Philippines some time in advance of the assembling of the Fifty-sixth congress. In view of the fact that an extra session is anticipated by October early action on the part of the president seems certain shortly after his return to the capital city from New England.

Under date of April 28, 1899, Consul General Goodnow writes from Shanghai to a Utah correspondent: No potato starch is used in the cotton mills of China, to my knowledge. One mill here uses about sixty piculs (8000 pounds) of wheat starch per month and another uses about 1000 pounds per month of the same. This costs from $2.50 to $5 Mexican ($1.18 to $2.36) gold per picul (133 1-3 pounds) delivered. It is necessary to use almost twice as much of this as would be necessary to use of potato starch to accomplish the same result.

The state department has received the following, dated Lyons, from Consul Covert: Among the many efforts made to increase the trade of France in the Orient is one by which the consuls are to be brought into direct communication with the business men of their country. In pursuance of this plan, the consul general at Calcutta will hold a reception to meet the business men of Paris at the ministry of foreign affairs. The announcement is made that he will place himself at the disposition of persons who wish to consider the possible openings for French trade in British India, especially for rails, nails, automobiles, petroleum, velocipedes, textiles, silks, laces, woolens, cottons, jewelry, silverware, watches, clocks, machinery for flour mills, photographic apparatus and Paris made articles." The consul at Calcutta will visit several industrial centers in France for the purpose of discussing the same matters with business classes.

There is probably no man in Washington better posted as to facts and figures relative to the foreign trade of the United States than O. P. Austin, chief of the bureau of statistics of the treasury department. Mr. Austin is not only a veritable walking encyclopedia on all matters relative to our foreign commerce and kindred mates, but he has the happy faculty of being able to place an apparently dull and uninteresting set of figures into such form as to prove interesting reading to almost anyone. He will take up a table of statistics and by deductions and comparisons weave the whole into an almost entertaining article. That he is able to do this is due to the fact that for many years he was a writer of note for many different newspapers. His newspaper training stood him in good stead since he became chief of the bureau of statistics, and his work at the head of this important bureau has made it one of the best known and most talked of departments of the treasury. Former chiefs have simply contented themselves with publishing from time to time a lot of dry-rot figures, which had been gathered by the agents of the government all over the universe, and this musty collection once compiled in tabulated form was turned over to the printer, and the general public never really knew much of anything about what progress the United States was making in the way of increasing trade with foreign powers. Mr. Austin, from his inception into the office, has proceeded upon an entirely different tack. As a newspaper correspondent he has been in the habit of getting up at least a couple of "weekly letters," and he conceived the idea of supplying to the press generally a couple of official weekly letters from material, official material, which passed through his hands relative to trade relations generally. This he does in addition to his manifold duties as an executive officer of a great bureau of the government, and he spends several hours a day preparing letters, or, as he still persists in terming it, "stuff" for the newspapers of the country, and his efforts bear fruit in nearly every direction, and many newspapers of the country frequently use material he furnishes upon which to base editorial matter.

Washingtonians during the past few days have had an opportunity to view at close range one of the staunchest cruisers in the American navy—the cruiser Detroit. Thousands have visited the Washington navy yard to view the noted warship, and many hundreds have been permitted to go aboard and be shown over the vessel by brawny jack tars, many of whom saw considerable service during the Spanish-American war and at other periods. These brawny sons of Neptune have been kept pretty busy during the past few days showing ladies, young, old or, of indifferent ages over the ship and explaining to them things nautical and otherwise. The Detroit is a third-class cruiser and has about 250 officers and men aboard. She was built in 1892 and was put into commission October, 1893. For her comparatively brief service she has had as many, if not more, exciting experiences than any other warship in the navy. Her work at Rio Janeiro during the De Mello revolution is well remembered. She held the whole rebel fleet at bay, while her men stood by her guns in forcing the revolutionary admiral to permit the American merchantmen to discharge their cargoes at the Brazilian capital. Shortly after this incident the Detroit was ordered to the Asiatic station, and was there during the China-Japanese war. Not very long ago she was sent to Nicaragua to guard American interests during a revolution which was in progress at Bluefields. The Detroit is the largest vessel of the navy to visit Washington in recent years, and this is the first opportunity Washingtonians have had to view a real fighter. Several months ago the gunboat Helena, which is a light draft vessel, built for service along the China coast, visited Washington navy yard and was an object of much interest. She is at present doing patrol duty in the Philippine islands. The Detroit is about 2400 tons, and carries a battery of rapid-fire guns, consisting of eleven 5-inch, six 6-pounders, two 1-pounders, one Gatling gun and two Colt automatic guns. She bears the white paint which has made the vessels of the United States so famous the world over during times of peace.

The demand for good mutton is constantly increasing, and the production of prime mutton for American and European markets is rapidly becoming a permanently established industry of vast proportions in the United States. Our rich lands and abundant feeds are well suited to the economic production of superior mutton, and it has been clearly demonstated that mutton sheep, properly selected, can grow a large part, if not all, of the wool demanded for American manufacturing. Notwithstanding the apparent contraction of our flocks, the sheep industry has been established on a more permanent basis. This has been done by making mutton the primary consideration, and wool incidental, instead of the reverse, as has generally been the case heretofore. The agricultural department has conducted a number of experiments along these lines at the government "experiment stations." The results of the various experiments which have been made in this matter are embodied in a bulletin shortly to be issued by the agricultural department, prepared by Professor Charles F. Curtiss, director of the Iowa agricultural experiment station. This bulletin contains eighteen illustrations and is for free distribution.

J. S. VAN ANTWERP.

SHE PLEADED GUILTY.

Mrs. Barrow, the Kidnaper, Gets a Stiff Sentence.

New York, June 26.—Mrs. George H. Barrow when arraigned before Justice Werner in the criminal branch of the supreme court today pleaded guilty to the charge of kidnaping baby Marion Clark. She was sentenced to twelve years and ten months in prison.

FOREIGN CROP PROSPECTS.

In England and France Wheat is Doing Well.

London, June 26.—The Mark Lane Express today says the crop prospects in England and France have improved. The wheat is heading in France under satisfactory conditions and a yield of 40,000,000 quarters is expected. Advices from Central Europe show that after allowing for local troubles, a full average wheat crop is promised from the Baltic to the Adriatic and from the Rhine to the Vistula.

An almost unbroken story of deterioration comes from Roumania, Russia, East Poland and the East Baltic provinces.

The Express urges English wheat holders to hold their grain and "thus defeat an evident attempt of the Americans to bear the market."

GERALD LAPINER'S ABDUCTORS.

John Collins and Ann Ingersoll on Trial For Kidnaping.

Chicago, June 26.—John Collins and Mrs. Ann Ingersoll, of Painesville, Ohio, were placed on trial before Judge Waterman today on the charge of kidnaping Gerald Lapiner. Several witnesses have been brought here from Painesville and the prosecution claims to have a case strong enough to warrant heavy punishments. In Illinois the extreme penalty for the crime is life imprisonment.

THE PARIS STICKS FAST.

London, June 26.—The attempts made Saturday and Sunday to float the American line steamer Paris were unsuccessful. The vessel is more buoyant but is still fast. Five divers are now examining her more closely.

A GREAT CRICKETER.

London, June 26.—A. E. J. Collins, the 11-year-old Clifton college school boy cricket player, concluded his remarkable innings today, scoring 598 runs and not out. Collins on Saturday made the marvelous score of 501 runs and not out, while in five hours, during which time he only gave three chances. His performance has caused great enthusiasm in English cricket circles.

DEATHS FROM WOUNDS.

William A. Pilgrim, of Thirteenth Minnesota Dies From Smallpox.

THE SHERIDAN SAILS.

Washington, June 26.—Adjt. Gen. Corbin has received a telegram from Gen. Shafter at San Francisco stating that the transport Sheridan sailed at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon for Manilla. Gen. Young and aides, Col. Daggett and Maj. Quinton, and Companies I and H of the Fourteenth infantry, 229 enlisted men and two company officers, were on board. Troops A and F, Fourth cavalry, seven officers and 175 enlisted men, Lieut. Moss and twenty-five men of Twenty-fourth infantry, eight hospital corps men and forty-one members of the signal corps were also on the transport. Recruits numbering 1248 for the regiments already in the Philippines were carried. In addition to this were a number of company officers and assistant surgeons.

TO MUSTER OUT TROOPS.

Washington, June 26.—By direction of the acting secretary of war, the following named officers have been relieved from duty at Camp Meade, Middletown, Pa., and ordered to San Francisco for duty as mustering officers in connection with the muster out of volunteer troops returning from the Philippines:

Lieut. Col. Stephen P. Jocelyn, Twenty-fifth infantry; Capts. C. L. Bekurts, Sixteenth infantry, and E. R. Chrisman, Twentieth infantry, and Lieuts. W. W. Darragh, Twentieth infantry; C. N. Purdy, Sixth infantry; E. G. Ovensine, Sixteenth infantry, and John Robertson, Sixth infantry.

Lieut. Col. Jocelyn is the designated chief mustering officer with the other officers named as his assistants. On the completion of their duty all the officers will join their regiments.

TO DISCUSS REFORMS.

Buffalo, June 26.—Distinguished men from all sections of the country are expected here on Wednesday to participate in the discussion of reforms before the national social and political conference which will open here on that day. An elaborate program has been arranged. On Wednesday national and local monopolies will be discussed; on Thursday, militarism, single tax, non-partisan temperance, organized labor and direct legislation will be among the subjects discussed and on Friday "What Can the Parties Do?" and "Is a New Party Needed?" will be debated. Later on that day people with ideas "As to the First Thing to Do" will meet and select speakers, who will address the delegates on Saturday. The committees will report on Monday as to possible harmony in method. A general discussion will follow.

All of the meetings will be in executive session. Among those expected to be present are Chief Justice Doster of the Kansas supreme court; Attorney General Frank Monnett of Ohio; Rev. R. Heber Newton, Rev. George Gates, Grinnell, Iowa college; Hon. Marion Butler, George Fred Williams and Eugene V. Debs.

READY FOR THE RACES

Weather Favorable For the University Boat Race at Poughkeepsie.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 26.—If the day had been made for the occasion it could not have been more favorable for the 4-oared race between crews of Cornell university and the university of Pennsylvania, and the 8-oared freshmen crews of Columbia, Cornell and Pennsylvania, which are scheduled to be rowed at 5 and 6 o'clock p. m. respectively, both for two miles.

Clear skies, still water and yet just the suspicion of a breeze to temper the brightly shining sun greeted the college men when they arose this morning, and there was every indication that it would last.

The indications are that the attendance today will not be large, the greater crowd being expected for the university race tomorrow, in which Wisconsin will make a fourth contestant.

The interest of the morning centered in the drawing for positions. Cornell crew got first choice and was given the outside course nearest the channel of the river, a course which Ward, of Pennsylvania, says has distinct advantage in an ebb tide. Wisconsin got the inside course, which has usually been so disastrous to Pennsylvania and which is so near the bank that there is sometimes a back swell. Pennsylvania got the course next to Wisconsin and Columbia next to Cornell. The courses number from the shore, the inside crew being 225 feet from the shore. Numbering in that way to the east the crews drew as follows: No. 1, Wisconsin; No. 2, Pennsylvania; No. 3, Columbia; No. 4, Cornell. The positions hold for the races. The drawing for the freshmen race resulted in Pennsylvania getting position or course No. 2, Cornell 3 and Columbia 4, course No. 1 not being used. In the 4-oared contest Cornell will row on course No. 3 and Pennsylvania on No. 4.

If there be any difference in the tidal influence upon the four positions it will affect Wisconsin men to their disadvantage rather than add the outside crews, for the Westerners would be the ones to feel the retarding effect of their proximity to the shore. Position No. 1, however, is so far from the shore that it is a question whether there is really any virtue in the talk about the best position. Coach McConville of the Wisconsin men felt that way and said: "We shall do our best wherever we are."

The drawings were followed by discussion over the tide and the benefit the outside crew would get if the race was rowed at the hour set. The committee decided, so as to avoid all controversy, that the races should all be postponed for one hour, the 4-oared taking place at 5 o'clock this afternoon, the freshmen at 6 this afternoon and the 'varsity at 7 o'clock tomorrow.

A SURPRISE.

Paris, June 26.—The cabinet ministry presented themselves to chambers this afternoon. The chamber of deputies was thronged and there was great animation at the opening of the session, when it became known that two alleged hostile groups, the Socialist-Radicals and the Democratic Left, had decided to vote in favor of the government and that Paul De Cassagnac had withdrawn his interpellation.

Identical statements were read in the chamber of deputies & ythe premier, M. Waldeck-Rousseau and in the senate by the minister of justice, M. Monis. They were as follows:

"The chamber of deputies in expressing itself resolved not to support any government but one determined to defend energetic republican institutions and assure public order, has clearly declined the task imposed upon the new cabinet. The ministry has no other ambition than to accomplish it."

"Then, to accomplish it, in order to bring about the pacification of the country and to maintain intact our common inheritance, it seemed to us that existing delusions should be effaced and that the work we are about to undertake required the co-operation of all Republicans. While the affair is definite, though varying according to the methods of different schools, accord becomes easier and controversies are lost in the presence of the one duty to perform. To end the agitations pursued, under disguises easy to penetrate, against the regime which has been sanctioned and will be upheld by universal suffrage and to require from all the services, loyal assistance and courageous assumption of responsibility—such is necessarily the first duty of the government. It is resolved to have all judicial decisions respected, and if the first wish of the country is to listen to the voice of justice, it will maintain silence and respect while its decisions are prepared.

"In the front rank of the important interests of the country, bound up with the conservation of the dignity of the nation, we place the interests of the army, when the republic has constructed on a stronger and wider basis and which is synonimous with the republic's security and is the pride of France. We think, with the army's most illustrious and surest guide, that inviolable attachment to discipline is the first and essential guarantee of the army's own greatness. We intend to defend it with the same energy against the attacks and solicitations which constitute the most undeserved of insults.

"We desire, above all, that appeasement may be accomplished and it will come quickly if every one will give up being a law unto himself, and bow to the law of the land.

"To accomplish the work which has devolved upon us, we have need of the co-operation of parliament and its whole confidence. We as the wisest mandate. We take the fullest responsibility. We ask for a truce of the irritating discussions, hurtful to the interests of the country, and that you will vote without delay a law necessary to the good working of the public services. If our efforts are not sterile dissension among republicans will vanish and the republic will soon resume the path of economic and social progress."

M. Waldeck-Rousseau accepted an order of the day moved by M. Jules Perilles, Radical Socialist, reading as follows:

"The chamber, approving the declarations and acts of the government, passes to the order of the day."

The chamber adopted M. Perilles motion by a vote of 263 to 237. An indescribable scene of excitement followed in the lobbies.

The senate, by a vote of 187 to 25, approved the declaration of the government.

LOSING TRADE.

St. Louis County Is Missing Much Rainy Lake Traffic.

"That $1600 appropriation for the improvement of the Crane Lake road has become the laughing stock of every person along the Crane Lake route from Tower to Harding," said a well known mining man who came over the road from Mine Center on Saturday. It is claimed that under the appropriation three men have been working for the past ten days, but that they have scarcely gotten the hole filled. The road is said to be in fairly good condition, but nevertheless it takes a four-horse team with the stage just ten hours to make the 26-mile portage from Crane lake to Vermilion dam. The trip between Mine Center and Duluth has been made quicker this spring than ever before, despite the Crane Lake road conditions. The lost time on the portage, according to those that have been over the route, is more than made up by the new boat run by Capt. Jim Hayes of Duluth, between Mine Center and Kettle Falls.

The friends of the Crane Lake route are considerably stirred up over the greatly increased tonnage into the Seine and Rainy River country by way of Rat Portage. It is estimated that since navigation on the Rainy lake opened there have been 200 tons of freight a day coming into the gold country over the Canadian Pacific from Port Arthur and Winnipeg, as against less than two tons a day over the Crane Lake route.

The Crane Lake route is claimed to be much the shortest, and the failure to get the portage in good condition is said to cost Duluth and Tower not less than 50,000 tons of freight a year.

ALLOTMENTS CANCELLED.

Indian Allotments Annulled For Failure to Observe Law.

By order of the commissioner of Indian affairs ten Indian allotments were cancelled this morning in the United States land office. The land is west and northwest of Tower, and is taken from the Indians owing to their failure to meet the requirements of the law under which the allotments were made. The cases are of long standing, and it is said that most of the Indians took the land for the pine there was on it and not for "agricultural purposes," as provided by law, and then it is claimed they failed to live on it. The land cancelled is said to have considerable pine on it. The cancellations were: Mary Perron, for her minor child, Aselda Perron, allotment in section 6-66-17; Alex Newago, section 26-65-21; Hannah Buell, section 10-65-17; Angeline Setter for her child, Mamie Setter, section 6-66-21; Olive Valley, section 2-66-21; Josephine Perron, section 21-66-18; Delia Cournoyer, section 4-66-21; Mary Perron, section 19-66-17; August Perron, section 22-66-18; Mary Curilid, section 19-66-17.

IS IT PROPER?

Considerable Comment on a Canadian Vessel Flying British Flag Alone.

One of the Canadian passenger steamers on several recent trips to this port has been flying the British flag without the usual formality of displaying the Stars and Stripes also. This action on the part of her captain has caused much comment in the harbor, and on several occasions the doughty Britisher has been called down for what the American mariners consider a lack of courtesy. The action of the Canadian steamer has raised a question that few local marine men are able to answer, as to whether the vessel can be compelled to fly the Stars and Stripes. The general impression is that she can not. Nothing can be found in the statutes to make the Canadian vessel fly the United States flag, while on the other hand there is an unwritten law that all vessels that enter a foreign port shall fly the flag of the country in which the port is, just over her native flag. This case brings up the case of a Duluth schooner, the Charley Leland, in a Canadian port. The schooner in 1874 ran into Port Arthur on a day when the governor of the province was visiting the town, and not having any other flag on board the American vessel unfurled the Stars and Stripes in honor of the governor. The mayor of Port Arthur came down to the wharf and ordered the flag lowered, and the captain took it down. Later in the day the governor heard of the incident, and going down to the little American schooner he thanked her captain for the courtesy and requested him to again raise the Stars and Stripes.

THE REFUNDING BONDS.

Dillon & Hubbard May Want Points Tested In Superior Court.

City Attorney Richards has received a letter from Dillon & Hubbard that leads him to guess that the firm may desire that certain points relative to the $500,000 refunding bond issue be settled by a test case in the state supreme court. This is mere surmise, however, Mr. Richards says. The latter wrote the firm furnishing them with information in regard to the points referred, and he expressed the hope that this would be sufficient.

Flour For Everybody.

A barrel of flour is to be given away each day. That is what will happen at the Big Duluth every day until after the Fourth of July. Not just ordinary flour, but one of the best brands in the world—Duluth's own product—the Duluth Imperial flour.

Until July 4 every purchaser will be given a numbered ticket, and a drawing will be made every morning at 10 o'clock for the tickets given away on the day preceding. On Tuesday at 10 a. m. the drawing will be made on tickets given away Monday, and the lucky number will get a 196-pound barrel of flour.

This generous feature of the Big Duluth will begin tomorrow, and the ten big barrels of Duluth Imperial at the store tell what a magnificent opportunity is given for getting flour at no cost whatever.

A ton of flour to be given away in this way.

His End Was Sudden.

Simon Rubenack, a saloon keeper at 2215 West Superior street, died suddenly in his saloon yesterday afternoon. He had been complaining of pain in his stomach all day, and about 4 o'clock Dr. Greeley was sent for, but Rubenack died just as the doctor entered the saloon. Coroner Eklund was sent for and viewed the remains, giving it as his opinion that death was due to cirrhosis of the liver and that an inquest was unnecessary. Rubenack leaves a wife and family. He was about 45 years old.

Big Grain Receipts.

Wheat receipts were unusually heavy today. At 8 o'clock this morning the Eastern Minnesota reported 300 cars at West Superior and the Northern Pacific 200 cars. The estimated receipts for the day was 700 cars, which was a record breaker for this time of the year.

Taken Under Advisement.

In district court this morning Judge Moer listened to arguments in the case of J. A. McGregor against the water board of the city of Duluth, and took it under advisement. The case was continued to today from last Saturday's special term, and it involves the legality of the water rates on flat buildings made by the water board. The point at issue was whether the case was a proper one for an injunction proceedings. It was tried once before, or rather a similar case was tried and the court held that it was not a proper subject for injunction. H. B. Fryberger appeared for the plaintiff and City Attorney Richards argued the case in behalf of the city.

THE SIMS ROAD.

Sims Logging Road Will Be Extended to the Big Fork.

The Itasca Lumber company today announced its intention of going ahead with the extentions of the Sims logging road. Early in the spring the company had about twenty miles of right-of-way surveyed from the end of the present road, eighteen miles north of Deer river, to the Big Fork river. It is probable that not more than twelve miles of track will be built this year, however, as all work so far has been retarded by wet weather and the inability to get men to work on the new roadbed. It is said that work will now be pushed so that the company can take out a large tract of burned timber near Turtle lake next winter.

The general direction of the Itasca Lumber company's road, or the Sims road as it is called, is northwest from Deer river, and the building of the new extension has given rise to many reports as to the future of the road. It is claimed that while the road is being extended apparently to get at the pine lands around Turtle lake, it will eventually reach Canada, and that it will become part of the Great Northern system. In this connection it is said that James J. Hill has furnished heavy standard rails for the extension at a very low cost, and that he was enabled to do this by means of an option he got on steel rails before the recent rise in prices. It is also said that Mr. Hill has offered the company the use of his steam shovels in building the extension.

In case the road is built to Little Falls on the Big Fork, to which point it has been surveyed, it will only require a stretch of track eighteen miles long to put it through to Koochiching, opposite Fort Francis.

The Janitor Surprised.

At the regular meeting of Majestic lodge No. 60 Rebekah degree, I. O. O. F., last Saturday evening a very pleasant surprise was given to Mr. Woelffer, the janitor of the hall. The degree transacted its regular business, after which a special committee was appointed to call Mr. Woelffer to the lodge room and serious charges preferred against him for disobeying superior officers. After the case was given a fair trial a unanimous verdict was given in his favor in the form of a ring set with the emblems of the order, to which he responded with thanks.

For Good Citizenship.

Rev. B. B. Haugan, of Fergus Falls, will speak in this city Sunday afternoon, July 23, in connection with a grand rally in the interest of good citizenship. Mr. Haugan is said to be one of the ablest and most eloquent speakers in the Norwegian language in the Northwest, and he is closely connected with the people's movement as well as the temperance cause.

New Train to Northfield, Faribault, Owatonna and Austin.

The C. M. & St. P. Ry. has put on a new train leaving St. Paul at 7:20 p. m. daily, except Sunday, running 40 minutes. This enables people at the head of the lake to leave in the afternoon and reach I. & M. division points the same evening.

Yours truly,
J. T. CONLEY, A. G. P. A.

EAGLE TO SCREAM

Duluth's Fourth of July Celebration Will Be the Biggest Ever.

PARADE TO BE BIG

It Is Expected That Ten Thousand People Will Be In Line.

The committee having the Fourth of July celebration in charge has held several meetings in the past few days, and all indications point to a much larger celebration than was at first hoped for. The members of the committee say that there will be at least 10,000 people in the morning procession, including the three local National Guard companies, the different labor unions and 300 members of secret societies.

Maj. Bidwell has been selected as marshal, and he will have about twenty aides. The procession will be headed by the City band of thirty-five pieces and other bands from out of town are expected. The committee on arrangements has made out the following program for the parade: The Bug-o-Ma-Ge-Shig league of Red Men in full colonial uniform, G. A. R. posts, National Guard companies and junior militia, two divisions of the Uniform rank of the Knights of Pythias and Knights of the Maccabees, four divisions of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and the Uniform Rank of Odd Fellows. Over 1000 members of the Benevolent Society of Polish Catholics headed by the Polish Silver Cornet band have asked for a place in the parade, and the Independent Order of Foresters have sized the situation up and offer 2000 members of the various courts to help make up the 10,000 marchers so confidently predicted by the committee.

The ladies of the Turners' society will turn out 100 strong. The turn out of the labor organizations of the city, which has always been a great feature of Duluth's celebrations, promises to excel all previous efforts in original floats and in strength. Chief Black of the fire department says that he will have every man that can be spared in the parade and the police will lead the procession with all the available men on the force.

The members of the committee are especially well pleased with the way the merchants are arranging for floats.

Realizing that a Fourth of July parade would be out of date without a calathumpian parade the committee at a recent meeting decided to offer some very unique prizes for the most comical specimens of humanity.

In the evening it is proposed to have a torchlight procession and many of those in the morning parade will be out after dark. The committee thought for a long while over the advisability of having or not having a display of oratory. The friends of the old Fourth of July idea argued that the celebration would be no celebration worth mentioning without patriotic speeches, and Mayor Truesen and Thomas J. McKeon were invited to carry out this part of the program.

The Driving park will be the storm center of the celebration in the afternoon. There will be horse races, bicycle races, foot races, wheelbarrow races, sack races and probably a ball game.

The committee has also decided to offer a number of cash prizes to the secret society having the largest number of men in line, to the labor union with the largest turn out and to the best decorated bicycle in the parade.

The day's celebration will close with a military ball at the Armory, the appointments of which will be carried out on the same elaborate scale that marks all the preparations for the other features of the day.

CHARGED WITH ASSAULT.

Bert Bellinger Claimed to Have Committed One.

Bert Bellinger was arraigned before Judge Edson this afternoon on the charge of assaulting a young woman named Schmouse at the stage employes' picnic at Brautigam's garden yesterday. He pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for June 27 at 2 p. m., he being released on his own recognizance.

It is stated that the assault took place in a little grove near the picnic grounds. The young woman's screams were heard by a couple of young men who ran to the scene and seized Bellinger and turned him over to Officer Schulte. The officer reported that the young woman told him when he arrested Belinger that the latter made an improper proposal to her and that he threatened to cut her throat if she did not accede.

LESSONS IN GOLF.

Visiting Golfer Shows Local Players a Few Things.

William Vincent Hoare, of Dayton, Ohio, gave a very interesting exhibition of golf playing on the links of the North Land Golf club Saturday afternoon, and there were a large number of members of the club out to get pointers on the game from him. E. P. Towne played against him, and did well, though the game was merely an exhibition one and no score was kept. After playing a game Mr. Hoare took the members of the club out and gave some of them lessons on the game which were helpful.

The south forty acres of the grounds were not in good shape Saturday afternoon, owing to the rank growth of grass and the play was mostly on the north forty acres. Today the grass is being cut, and by tomorrow the grounds will be in excellent shape. Outside of the grass they are in good shape now.

AN OFF YEAR.

This Will Be a Very Quiet Season In Duluth Boat Racing.

There will be a meeting of the board of directors of the Duluth Boat club in a short time, when it will probably be decided what the season is to develop in the way of boating. In all probability, however, this will be an off year in boating at the head of the lakes. It is not expected that there will be any representation of the club at the annual regatta of the Minnesota and Winnipeg Rowing association, which will be held some time during the summer, and this may reach some definite shape at the meeting of the directors.

The pleasure boat portion of the club's business is flourishing apace, however, and the club is in most excellent shape. It has a fine line of pleasure boats in good condition and they are kept busy every good day.

This winter the club will probably have to move to Park Point, as the Great Northern road has bought the property the club is now using, and the slip will be so busy that even if the site is not wanted by the railroad it will no longer be a good one for the club's purposes. Therefore, a new site on Park Point will be selected, as near the canal as possible. Probably a couple of lots with 100 feet frontage will be purchased and the club's headquarters fixed about half a mile from the canal on the bay shore of the point. The club house will have to be larger in order to accommodate the large numbers of steam, gasoline and naphtha launches that are accumulating at the head of the lakes. There will also be wide verandas with good views, and there are other plans that will make the club house in its new location a great resort.

HE IS SMOOTH.

James O'Brien Suspected of Having Worked In the Bidwell Style.

The preliminary hearing of James O'Brien, who is charged with passing a forged check for $30 on W. M. Abrahamson, June 7, was this afternoon continued to June 28 at 2 p. m., at the request of the defense.

The police have ascertained that O'Brien did not pass the check at Abrahamson's store, and in view of the fact that the evidence thus far secured connecting him with forging the check is mainly the statement of his alleged accomplice and it is not unlikely that he will be turned over to the Minneapolis authorities for trial charged with passing a forged check for $80, purporting to have been drawn by W. B. Silver, trustee, on the First National bank here in favor of one Brown, on the Van Strum Furniture company of Minneapolis.

From Minneapolis O'Brien went to Red Wing and there mailed a letter addressed "Franklin Paine, La Crosse, Wis., reporter, Minneapolis Tribune," and containing a $50 check purporting to have been drawn in favor of "Paine" by the Minneapolis Tribune company. The letter was signed Thomas Brown and stated that the check had been sent to Brown at Red Wing by mistake.

O'Brien went to work in a printing office in La Crosse, for the purpose, it is thought, of getting an acquaintance so that he could get the check cashed, but was arrested before he had worked his scheme. In his pocket, when arrested, was found a letter addressed "Franklin Paine, Dubuque, Iowa," and signed with the name of Thomas Brown as director of the Y. M. C. A. at La Crosse. Enclosed was a sight draft with the amount blank, signed Thomas Brown, in favor of Franklin Paine.

The scheme O'Brien had started to work resembles the method pursued by the famous Bidwells, the forgers who swindled the Bank of England out of several millions of dollars.

Wanted a Head Covering.

Frank Williams was arraigned in police court this afternoon charged with stealing a hat from L. Oreckovsky's store at No. 530 West Superior street, Saturday night. The accused pleaded not guilty and was to be tried later in the day.

NO BLOOD TO FLOW

Order Driving Whites Off Cass Lake Will Not Result In Blood.

MAY MAINTAIN MEN

Claimed That Great Northern's Employes Will Not Have to Move.

Duluth is to get part of the population of Cass Lake when that prosperous little town is wiped off the map by order of the interior department. Several Cass Lake business men spent Sunday in Duluth and are making arrangements to move their families here. Bemidji, however, seems destined to get the greater part of the population, and other towns along the line will offer good inducements for settlers from Cass Lake.

A prominent resident of Cass Lake, in speaking of the situation today, said: "There is no question in our minds now but that we will have to give up our homes and business places and seek a living elsewhere. This talk of bloodshed and trouble when the whites are ordered off, however, is extremely foolish. There may be tears shed, but no blood. We are preparing to move off quietly. In fact, some of our citizens have already gone to Farris or Bemidji, and business is at a standstill. Some of the Indians are as indignant at the situation as we are, but neither the Indians nor the white population are so foolish as to resist the enforcement of the department's order."

A railroad official who has had some experience in similar cases said today that while all outsiders will undoubtedly have to pack up and get out, there is a likelihood that the Great Northern will not be greatly disturbed by the order. Its right-of-way across the reservation is, of course, not disputed, and this authority believes that the right-of-way carries with it the right of maintaining a sufficient force along the line to keep the road in operation. This would include the section men and other employes needed at various points along the line, and it is believed that it will include the boarding cars. The Scanlon-Gibson Lumber company also has a permit from the department to operate on the reservation, and of course if it is permitted to operate it must have the men necessary for its work.

The general disposition in regard to the talk of bloodshed is to laugh at it. No one seriously believes that among the few hundreds of people concerned there are any that desire to take up arms against their government, even if they do not consider that they have been rightly used.

Jailed For Fighting.

James Wells and William Keenan had a scrimmage in front of the Rising Sun hotel on Lake avenue south yesterday and were arrested. They were arraigned in police court this afternoon on the charge of disorderly conduct and pleaded guilty. Wells, who landed a few kicks on the officer who jumped in to stop the melee, Wells claiming that he meant them for Keenan, was fined $10 and costs and went up for ten days in default. Keenan went up for five days in default of payment of a fine of $5 and costs.

BIG LOSS BY FIRE.

Michigan Central Depot at Toledo Is In Flames.

Toledo, Ohio, June 26.—At 1 o'clock today fire broke out in some unexplained manner in the freight house of the Michigan Central. In a few minutes the whole structure, including the freight offices, was a solid mass of flames. A strong northwest wind was blowing and the flames were driven across the bayou, a slip from the river, and one freight house of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton caught fire. One hundred freight cars, nearly all loaded, have been destroyed, and the entire fire department is battling to save further damage. A dredge, a sand sucker and some minor craft in the bayou were destroyed.

The loss is estimated at $500,000. The fire was under control at 2:30.

CAPS CLIMAX.

English Paper Says American Clan-na-Gael Would Aid Transvaal.

London, June 27.—The St. James Gazette, which has been remarkable for its jingoism on the subject of the Transvaal, caps the climax today by earnestly appealing to the British admiralty to take immediate steps to counteract the plans of the representatives of the Clan-na-Gael from the United States, who are now at Pretoria with the view of obtaining authority to start a fleet of privateers under the Transvaal flag, with the object of looting Cape miners."

STARTED IN A CLUB.

The Story About Trouble at Nuevitas Is Untrue.

Havana, June 27.—The report of serious trouble at Nuevitas in connection with the payment of the Cuban troops, the story being that the Cubans, after receiving payment, charged the guard and recovered the arms they had surrendered, turns to be without foundation. The Cuban submarine wires from Santa Cruz have not been working since June 25, and no dispatches have come over the line. A naval surgeon apparently started the story in the United States club.

DEIGNAN MISQUOTED.

Des Moines, Iowa, June 27.—State Treasurer Herriott, who is greatly interested in Osborne W. Deignan, Iowa's hero of the Merrimac, said tonight regarding the dispatch sent out from Elkhorn, Wis., Sunday that the dispatch was evidently a misstatement and a misquotation of Deignan, who left here only a few days ago. He is on his way to Annapolis, in fact, and Mr. Herriott says he left with the intention of entering the preparatory school. His financial condition is known and while no modus operandi is determined no one need fear but what this matter will be taken care of. His friends have reached an agreement on this score and a full understanding exists. Mr. Herriott is confident that Deignan was misquoted. Iowa will see that the young man goes through the academy if he so desires.

PRESIDENT OF AMHERST.

Amherst, Mass., June 27.—The trustees of Amherst college announced today the election of Professor George Harris of Andover as president of the college.

FLEET TO MOBILIZE.

Chatham, Eng., June 27.—A dispatch has been received at the dock yard here for the fleet to mobilize July 11. It is believed that this a step taken preparatory to the annual navy maneuvers. Ten battleships and thirty-two cruisers will take part in the operations.

TO PROTECT AMERICANS.

The Chicago to Be Retained In Transvaal Vicinity.

Washington, June 27.—The Chicago sailed yesterday from Tamatatee, Madagascar, for Delagoa. She is on her way around the cape of Good Hope to Brazil, but owing to the unsettled state of affairs in the Transvaal, she will be retained in that vicinity as long as may be necessary to afford protection to the American interests in that quarter. These interests are considerable, both in the number of Americans resident in the Transvaal engaged in mining operations and in the volume of American capital employed in the mining industry.

MORE MEN QUIT WORK.

Painters at the Stock Yards Want Their Wages Raised.

Chicago, June 27.—The demands of the unskilled stockyards workmen in several departments have been met and the men returned to work today, but in other departments the workmen went out this forenoon to enforce their demands. Several hundred painters, who demand an increase of 2½ cents an hour, have joined the strikers' ranks. Another conference was held today between representatives of the packing firms in regard to arranging a settlement of the troubles. Most of the packers were in favor of granting the demands of the men. It was believed that an amicable agreement would be reached before night, and that by tomorrow all the strikers will have returned to work. The strikers claim that they have 1200 men out.

WISCONSIN MUNICIPAL LEAGUE.

Fond du Lac, Wis., June 27.—The second biennial convention of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities opened in this city last evening with an address of welcome by Mayor Hoskins. President C. B. Wheelan, former mayor of Madison, delivered his annual address. Hon. I. D. Butler, president of the Municipal league of Milwaukee, talked on "The Model Charter and Its Relations to Wisconsin Cities." The attendance is large.

CROKER GETS A PRIZE.

Newmarket, June 27.—Richard Croker's Knickerbocker, ridden by the lightweight American jockey Reiff, finished second in the Visitors' plate. Sloan won the Bottisham plate on Doric II. Chubb second. Brio and Hadrian ran a dead heat for third place.

A SURVEY ORDERED.

Cleveland, June 27.—At a meeting of the Pan-American Railway company, held in this city, a survey was ordered made of the route from Tampa, Fla., south to a terminus on the gulf of Mexico. Work will be commenced on the line as soon as profile maps can be submitted to the contractors.

FIRED OUT BODILY

Some Americans Who Claim They Were Ill-Treated In Guatemala.

TWO SIDES TO STORY

It Is Claimed That They Harbored the Kansas City Filibusterers.

New Orleans, June 27.—B. B. Pears, the brother of Frank Pears, who was killed by a sentry in San Pedro, Spanish Honduras, on Jan. 31, and whose killing was made the subject of official inquiry by the United States, reached New Orleans on the steamer Breakwater last night. Mr. Pears claims that United States Minister Godfrey Hunter had taken no steps in the matter. The Pears family will push the case at Washington. He has been refused permission by the Hondouranean authorities to disinter the body of his brother.

The Breakwater also brought over John B. Richards and W. H. Harris, who allege they were ejected from Guatemala by the government of that country. The men claim they both discovered a gold mine in the province of Zacapa, where they washed out $17 worth of gold in one hour. They went to Zacapa to have their claim recorded and were warned by the authorities to leave the country. Instead they went back to their claim, where on June 18 Richards was arrested, Harris escaping. Richards was thrown into a filthy prison at Zacapa, he claims, with thirty-six other captives. He wired Minister Hunter, but to no effect, and on the second day after his arrest he was taken to Port Barrios under guard and there he was loaded upon the Breakwater and his fare paid to this country. He found Harris on the same ship.

Richards and Harris are indignant over their treatment, and say they will bring the facts to the attention of the authorities at Washington. Richards has been in Central America for five or six years. He secured a position with the Guatemala Central railroad. It is said he harbored the party of Americans known as the Kansas City filibusters and in that way probably incurred the displeasure of the Guatemala government.

ANTI-FRENCH RIOT.

That Which Recently Took Place In Chinese Territory.

New York, June 27.—A dispatch to the Herald from Hong Kong says: The Chinese custom house and the French consulate at Meng Ting, on the Yun-Nan frontier, were plundered and burned on June 22 by a band of armed Chinese. The commissioner and Messrs. Shinney, Oldham, Mailke, Miller and the French consul, M. De La Batie, escaped. The demonstration is believed to have been anti-French.

M. Doumer's visit to Yun Nan Goo was in the interests of the French railway from Tonkin, which is to anticipate the British line from Burmah. M. Doumer returned to Hanoi on June 21, passing through Mong Cai.

Marshal Sou, whose presence prevented black flag raids in French territory, passed through Hong Kong last week on his way to Pekin, after consultation at the frontier town with M. Doumer. France's action should have an important effect on the further partition of Southern China.

THE SAENGERBUND.

Everything Is Ready For the Triennial Fest.

Cincinnati, June 27.—Everything is in readiness, including the great golden jubilee hall, for the tri-ennial fest of the North American Saengerbund, which begins tomorrow and continues the rest of this week. Among the many visiting musical societies none attract more attention this year than the Louisville Liederkranz, although many others are much larger. There will be over 1000 in the mass chorus this week. The only society in the original fest of 1849 which will be present this week at the twenty-ninth Saengerfest is the Louisville Liederkranz.

At the meeting of the bunde one of the chief features is the commers, and that part of the festival began today and will continue over Sunday next.

Among the orchestral numbers attracting particular attention in rehearsals is Wagner's "Kaiser March" that had its inspiration in the great evolution of the sixteenth century, which Wagner intended originally to be sung by a great male chorus.

THE LAW NO GOOD.

Labor Statute Which Applies Only to Corporation Employes.

Scranton, Pa., June 27.—Judge Guster has handed down an opinion in which he declares the act passed by the legislature in 1897, which gives protection to employes who form, join or belong to labor organizations, to be unconstitutional. The opinion is in the case of Lewis Mack, who prosecuted George W. Clark, a foreman for a large steam fitting and plumbing house, for discharging workmen because they belonged to labor unions. Judge Gunster says:

"The act in question affords no protection whatever to the employe of the individual, firm or limited partnership. On the contrary, while the employe of a corporation, under its provision, may freely form, join or belong to any lawful organization, his neighbor, engaged in the same occupation or trade, when employed by any individual or firm, may be freely banished for doing the same thing."

TO PREVENT STRIKES.

A Half Million New York Workingmen to Consolidate.

New York, June 27.—The organization of a great union of 500,000 workmen in greater New York has been begun by a committee appointed by the Central Federated union.

G. A. Perrin, secretary of the Iron Moulders' union, and one of the leading members of the committee, said: "This new union will be the biggest local central labor body on the face of the earth. All the unions in the five boroughs of New York city will join. Employes also will benefit by the centralization of central labor unions in New York city. Strikes are bound to become fewer in number year after year. Through the influence of the great central organization, the principle of arbitration will triumph at last."

ALUMINUM AND NICKEL.

Metal of Which the Yacht Shamrock Is Constructed.

London, June 27.—It is said in authoritative circles that the alloy of which the Shamrock is constructed above the water line is composed of three parts aluminum and one part nickel. Her deck is also said to be constructed of sheets of the same metal, three-sixteenths of an inch thick, thus effecting a saving of about two-tenths in the weight of the deck alone and stiffening the yacht's hull more effectively than could be accomplished with wood. It is considered that yesterday's accident proved the strength of the metal, for while the force of the impact was enough to swing the yacht around about four points, the only damage done to her by the vessel which collided with the Shamrock was a dent about half an inch deep, with no sign of cracking on the surface of the metal.

VOTED DOWN.

De Roulede Creates a Sensation In French Chamber of Deputies.

Paris, June 27.—In the chamber of deputies today M. Paul DeRoulede, founder of the so-called League of Patriots and member for the Angoulem division of Charente, introduced a proposal for a revision of the constitution, with the view of substituting "a popular for a parliamentary republic," and demanded urgency for his motion.

The premier, M. Waldeck-Rousseau, opposed the proposition and asked that the motion be referred to a committee.

M. DeRoulede requested permission to speak, but the president of the chamber refused to allow him to do so.

M. Lascies, anti-Semite member for the Condon division of Gers, accused the premier of having recourse to subterfuges, and a violent tumult ensued. Several of the deputies tried to speak, but their voices were drowned, and the president was compelled to suspend the session. When it was resumed an urgency was proposed for M. DeRoulede's motion, and was defeated by a vote of 397 to 70.

ANOTHER TUMULT.

Socialists Create a Scene In Chamber of Deputies at Brussels.

Brussels, June 27.—Stormy scenes were witnessed in the chamber of deputies today in connection with the debate on the electoral bill introduced by the government. The Socialists accused the Questors of bringing legal officers of the crown to the chamber for the purpose of taking notes of the proceedings. The Questors hotly protested and an inconceivable tumult ensued. The sitting was eventually suspended. The Socialist deputy, Furniment, sang snatches of the "Marseillaise" and all the Socialists joined in the chorus. Shouts of "Vive la Republique" were also raised.

MIDSUMMER CARNIVALS.

A Hundred Thousand Visitors In Milwaukee to Attend.

Milwaukee, June 27.—Milwaukee's second annual midsummer carnival opened today and will continue until Friday night. Never before in the city's history has so much money been expended in decorations and the carnival colors, red, green and yellow, in bunting and flags, together with electric displays, present a grand spectacle. Music abounds everywhere, and the 100,000 visitors will not want for entertainment during the reign of the festival.

The festivities begin tonight with "Venetian Night" on Milwaukee bay. Over 200 small boats will participate in the aquatic parade, and fireworks and music will form an important part of the event.

On Wednesday there will be two great features, a flower parade in the afternoon and a thrilling fire run at night. Governor Roosevelt of New York will head the flower parade.

Thursday is designated as "Carnival Day," and will be a holiday. The masked parade will move in the afternoon. This will be the novelty of the carnival. A large number of citizens in fancy costumes will take part, in addition to numerous societies. In the evening of carnival day a great night festival will take place at Schlitz park, when music and dancing will be the feature.

A fitting climax to the season's festivities will be the carnival pageant on Friday night. Twenty elaborate floats have been prepared for the occasion, and in the pageant will be 1500 costumed attendants and characters.

FORMERLY OF ST. PAUL.

Newspaper Man Dies While on a Fishing Trip.

Portland, Ore., June 27.—News was received last evening that W. H. McDonald, business manager of the Evening Telegram, has been found dead near Oak Point, seventy-five miles from this city. Mr. McDonald was on a fishing trip. Death was probably due to hemorrhage of the lungs. From 1880 to 1887 McDonald was cashier in the office of the St. Paul Globe.

NEGROES THREATEN.

Non-Union Men Get the Usual Treatment at Pana.

Pana, Ill., June 27.—All the state troops having departed, Mayor Gorman after a long conference with Maj. Cabanis, commander of the troops, and Sheriff Downey, decided to place on duty 100 special police who are patrolling every street of the city. All mines have been closed and the negroes are taking their departure as rapidly as they can secure transportation. Many blacks, however, are patrolling the streets, making threats against the lives of operators who they claim, by closing their mines, intentionally threw them out of employment.

A NEW MINISTRY.

Santiago, Chili, June 27.—A Liberal ministry has been formed in succession to the Conservative cabinet, which resigned June 2.

FOR BLAND'S SUCCESSOR.

St. Louis, June 27.—Governor Stephens, who is in the city for a short time, announces that he will call a special election in the Eighth congressional district of Missouri about Dec. 1, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Richard P. Bland.

THOUSAND A WEEK

Number of Men Required to Fill Gen. Otis' Requirements.

AN EFFECTIVE FORCE

What Gen. Otis Means When He Says Thirty Thousand Men.

Washington, June 27.—The president upon his return to Washington was promptly acquainted with the situation in the Philippines, as exhibited in Gen. Otis' statement cabled yesterday. He was in conference for a little while with Secretary Alger respecting the best method of carrying out Gen. Otis' desire to maintain at least throughout the rainy season an effective fighting force of no less than 30,000 men in the island.

In the general's last estimate, which was received yesterday, it is noted that he asks for an "effective" force of 30,000 men. This last estimate will oblige the war department to secure more troops. Gen. Otis' sick report and his casualty list make it evident that provision must be made at once to supply a shortage of about 15 per cent in his force. The officials are taking into consideration the assurance from the medical authorities that no diminution to this disability rate can be expected during the wet season, but that the conditions may grow even worse as the season advances. Many of these men will have to be invalided home to the United States, it being demonstrated, particularly in the typhoid cases, that convalescence is rare unless the patient leaves the Philippines. Thus the department will be under the necessity of keeping up a steady flow of recruits from the United States if Gen. Otis' desire is to be complied with.

The recruiting officers' reports indicate an ability on their part to supply 1000 men a week, more than sufficient, it is believed, to meet Gen. Otis' needs in the future, while as for the present the department has assembled 5000 recruits at San Francisco, ready for transports as soon as ships can be found.

OFFICERS ASSIGNED.

Washington, June 27.—The following named officers, recently promoted, have been assigned as follows: Col. William H. Bisbee, to the Thirteenth infantry; Lieut. Col. Charles A. Dempsey, First infantry; Maj. Chrales A. Williams, Seventeenth infantry; Maj. Marion P. Mause, Second infantry; Capt. Dwight E. Holly, Fourth infantry; Capt. John S. Grismerd, Seventh infantry; Capt. E. Chrisman, Twentieth infantry; Capt. Peter C. Harris, Ninth infantry; Capt. Munroe E. McFarland, Eighteenth infantry; Capt. William L. Wilder, Eleventh infantry; Capt. William H. Wilhelm, Twenty-first infantry; Capt. William R. Sample, Third infantry; Capt. William R. Dashiel, Twenty-fourth infantry; Capt. Eli A. Helmick, Fifteenth infantry; Capt. Charles G. French, Seventh infantry; Capt. Robert W. Tose, Twenty-first infantry; Capt. William C. Blot, Sixteenth infantry; Capt. W. A. Campbell, Twenty-second infantry; Lieut. E. S. Walton, Eighteenth infantry; Lieut. C. R. Bridges, Twenty-second infantry; Lieut. Tenney Ross, Second infantry.

CLOSE TO RECORD.

Washington, June 27.—The war department has received the following cablegram:

Manilla, June 27.—Adjutant General, Washington: Transport Grant arrived this morning. No casualties. OTIS.

The Grant sailed from San Francisco on May 30, carrying the Sixteenth infantry, forty officers and 1665 men, Lieut. Col. W. F. Spurgin commanding. This is a 26-day passage and very close to the record for the run from San Francisco to Manilla.

OFFICERS FOR PHILIPPINES.

Washington, June 27.—The war department is going over the list of army officers to see whether any may be found who can be made available for service in the Philippines by being detached from their present commands. In many cases officers serving with regiments in the United States have offered to be transferred to regiments in the Philippines. Nearly every transport bound for Manilla will carry officers to take the places of those who are unable to perform duty by reason of illness or wounds received in battle.

A STRIKE SETTLED.

Stock Yards Employes and the Packers Have Agreed.

Chicago, June 27.—It was announced by the packers this morning that the stock yards strike was settled last night and that the men are all back at work today. The strikers in several departments were given increases in wages. The following statement regarding the strike was issued by Armour & Co.:

"About a week ago the unskilled labor at the stock yards was given an advance of about 25 per cent. The skilled labor made a demand. Subsequent to the advance granted the unskilled labor the wage scale of 1893 had been adopted. This practically makes the highest wages ever paid at the stock yards. There are a few who were not reduced in 1893 and whose wages now are fully up to the scale current then, and fully up to the best wages ever paid. All the packers in the stock yards are acting in harmony, and, contrary to rumors that have been current in some quarters, none of them has objected to a reasonable advance in wages that have not been up to the 1893 scale.

"The demand for increased wages came spasmodically from different gangs, but the meeting held yesterday by the packers includes all the laborers in the stock yards, and the situation is now satisfactory."

PENSION FOR DULUTH MAN.

Washington, June 27.—(Special to the Herald.)—An original pension of $6 per month has been granted to Samuel Kielley, of Duluth.

THREE DIVIDENDS.

New York, June 27.—The directors of the Lake Shore, Canada Southern and Michigan Central railroads have declared the regular semi-annual dividends of ½ per cent, 1 per cent and 2 per cent respectively.

THE FEUD RENEWED.

Report That Tom Baker's Attorney Killed Sheriff White.

Louisville, June 27.—A special to the Times from London, Ky., says a report from apparently reliable sources says hostilities were renewed in the Baker-Howard feud. A. D. Hampton, one of Tom Baker's attorneys, it is said, became involved in a quarrel with some of the White sympathizers, when Sheriff Beverley H. White attempted to arrest him. Hampton drew a pistol and shot White, killing him instantly. Hampton then fled to the mountains. He is being followed, according to the report, by a number of White's friends, who swear vengeance against him. Hampton belongs to the Philpot family, one of the strongest in the mountains.

MAY HAVE PLAGUE ABOARD.

The Steamer Nippon Maru Arrives at San Francisco.

San Francisco, June 27.—The steamer Nippon Maru, which was held at Honolulu on account of the rumored death of a passenger from black plague, arrived here today and was ordered to the quarantine station. She has a large passenger list, and her health conditions will not be announced until after the medical examination has been completed. It is believed that there are no more cases of plague on board.

THE BOAT RACE.

Sam Boyle Is Laying Odds on the Pennsylvania Crew.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 27.—There was every promise early today of the best of conditions for the university boat race, which is set for 6 o'clock this afternoon, the contest from the crews representing the university of Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Cornell and Columbia. The sky was blue, with scarcely enough breeze blowing to stir the bunting with which the town was profusely decorated. The air was cool and invigorating.

Trains from below and the river steamers began bringing in excursionists early in the day, among the arrivals being a number of college delegations, all enthusiastic over the merits of their favored crews. Cornell is always a favorite with Poughkeepsie people and the success of the up-state university in the freshman race yesterday was responsible for a great deal of added enthusiasm.

The betting today was very limited, one deterrent being the poverty of the Columbia contingent consequent upon the order with which they backed the freshmen from Morningside yesterday. As a general thing the bets were Cornell against Columbia at even money; Cornell against Pennsylvania or Wisconsin at 4 to 5; Cornell against the field at 7 to 10. Pennsylvanians had plenty of money and most of them are willing to back their crew at the same odds as quoted on Cornell, although some of the daring ones offered and found takers on Pennsylvania against the field at even money.

Sam Boyle, who was captain of the Pennsylvania 'varsity in 1897, said just before noon: "We have $30,000 to put up on our crew but are finding difficulty in getting takers, although four of us have just succeeded in making a bet of $4000 against Cornell at even money. We will bet that way right along against Cornell and we will give 3 to 1 against Columbia, and 3 to 2 against Wisconsin."

The varsity course is a 4-mile straight, beginning at Crum Elbow and ending a mile below the bridge. Wisconsin's position is 329 feet from the west shore, with Pennsylvania next to the eastward, Columbia next and beyond Cornell.

The sun was so warm on the river that Ellis Ward of Pennsylvania did not send his men out for a morning limber and did not even allow them about the float.

Up at Cornell's quarters, the 'varsity boat, which had been rigged for the freshman race yesterday, has to be re-rigged today for the 'varsity crew and to see that everything was all right Courtney had the men sit in the shell and take a short row up the river. Their form was perfect and they rowed two miles at a splendid pace. He brought them back to the float and after they had cooled off allowed them to take a plunge for about half an hour. Courtney said that every one of them was in fine physical condition and that if they were beaten it would be by better oarsmen.

Cogch McConville reported that his Wisconsin men were in excellent condition but that he did not intend to send them out. Some of Columbia's men were in the smaller boats for a while, but Dr. Peet did not put them through any regular practice.

A NEW CRATER.

One In Yellowstone Park Has an Eruption.

St. Paul, June 27.—E. J. Westlake, manager of the Fountain hotel in the Yellowstone Park, telegraphs that "at 9:20 yesterday morning, and continuing until 10:25 without intermission, there was an eruption from a crater about fifty feet north of the Fountain geyser, which we have always considered to be nothing more than a pool, and having no name. The size of the opening is about the same as that of the Fountain, and I do not exaggerate when I say that the height it played was from 200 to 250 feet, and was the grandest I have ever witnessed in the park."

THREE BOYS INJURED.

Excursion Train on the Big Four Wrecked Near Danville.

Indianapolis, June 27.—A special train on the Peoria and Eastern division of the Big Four, carrying Knights of Pythias from Champaign, Ill., to Danville, Ill., to attend a celebration, was wrecked near Danville today. The engine and tender jumped the track, dragging two cars after them into a ditch. Three boys were seriously injured, but no one was killed.

CLAIMS A BIG ESTATE.

Chicago, June 27.—Mrs. Moran and her daughter Leonora, of this city, have put in the hands of lawyers their claims to the $500,600 fortune left by William J. Wright, a Pittsburg, Pa., brewer who died some time ago.

Mrs. Moran declares that Wright is a name assumed by her husband after leaving her twenty-five years ago.

MONEY AND A TITLE.

Chicago, June 27.—John B. O'Connor, a stenographer of this city, claims he has been notified that he is one of four heirs to the estate left by the late earl of Cochrane, near Dunfermline, Scotland, and valued at $6,250,000. Of the other heirs two live in Scotland and the fourth in Montana. It is said a title goes with the estate.

OUT FOR A TRIAL.

Newport, R. I., June 27.—The new American yacht Columbia went out for her first ocean trial trip today, accompanied by the Defender. The Navahoe, Royal Phelps Carroll's big sloop, followed in about half an hour. The Columbia and the Defender got away soon after 10:30 o'clock in a light but freshening southerly wind and on a flood tide.

ZENITH CITY TELEPHONE CO.

308 Lyceum Building, Duluth, Minn.

To Investors!

The attention of conservative investors is invited to the stock of the Zenith City Telephone Company, which offers exceptional advantages and inducements for the above class of investors, and a limited amount of which stock is now offered.

The Zenith City Telephone Company was invited by a unanimous vote of the Council of the City of Duluth to build a Telephone Exchange to meet a popular and constantly increasing demand for first-class telephone service at lower rates of rental than the extortionate prices charged heretofore and which rates of charge were made possible by the monopolistic character of the business as conducted to the present time.

The organizers of the Company are prominent, public-spirited men, well and favorably known in Duluth and throughout the business circles of the United States as having extensive experience in handling large enterprises and above all accustomed to succeed in their undertakings.

A few of the many features which make the stock of the Company especially desirable and commend it strongly to careful and conservative persons who have idle money for which they wish to secure a highly profitable and at the same time, absolutely safe investment, are the following.

FIRST—Our experience in promoting and equipping telephone systems—We have over early companies the advantage of the experience of many years to guide us. The high state of perfection attained in this line of work enables us at this time, to construct and complete a plant, more perfect in every detail, cheaper and easier to conduct and maintain, and capable of giving more satisfactory service in every way, than would have been possible at an earlier period. All of our work can be accomplished without the waste of a dollar or a day's time in expensive experiments, to afterwards prove valueless, which in earlier days of telephone development, was unavoidable. Taking advantage of and guided by this experience, we will adopt only such systems and use only such materials and apparatus generally as thorough trial and experience of years have proven to be most perfect and best adapted to the work. By availing ourselves of these advantages, we purpose having, when completed, the most perfect and in every way the most satisfactory telephone plant in existence. A large portion of our wires being underground and carried in the most modern highgrade conduits, secure for us better service and greater saving in the maintenance of our lines over the old system of overhead wiring.

SECOND—

We have now 634 five-year contracts and 225 in Superior.

We are getting additional subscribers every day, and at the popular prices which we have fixed as our annual charge—$35 for the first year and $30 thereafter for business places, and $29 for residences, as against the prohibitive and unreasonable charges of our competitors, ranging from $50 to $100 per annum. Many hundreds of people in Duluth and Superior will use our telephones who have not used any heretofore and who could not be prevailed upon to do so at the old prices, hence our telephone service will be of much more value to you, we having all the old company's subscribers with as many more new ones, which is the experience in all cities where new systems have been built within the past five years.

THIRD—We have a 25-year franchise from the city of Duluth. It is a well-established and admitted fact among all well informed financiers that there is nothing more valuable than public franchises. It is equally certain that a franchise such as ours must be especially valuable, and as the city in which operations under it are to be conducted develop and increase, it will steadily increase in value.

FOURTH—Under the terms and conditions of our organization all stockholders are upon an equal footing and small stockholders are so protected as to render their investment a perfectly safe and profitable one.

FIFTH—All expense connected with construction and equipment is being paid as work is done or equipment furnished. By this course when the plant is completed and opened, it will be without indebtedness, under which condition the payment of liberal dividends upon the first year's business is clearly assured.

No man or woman having idle money can afford to pass by the opportunity this stock offers for investment, without careful investigation.

CONSIDER WELL THESE FACTS:

We have a 25-year franchise and are the only Company holding a franchise in the city.

We already have as many subscribers on 5-year contracts as our competitors.

We are constructing the most perfect, most complete and in every way the most desirable Telephone plant in the country.

We are constructing an extensive and valuable underground conduit system, insuring the best service and perfect protection.

We can earn upon the basis of 1000 subscribers $18 net per annum on each telephone rented.

We are paying for everything as we go, and when we commence operations, it will be under such conditions as to insure the payment of dividends on the first year's operations, and obviate the delay in dividends frequently occuring in corporations where the above is not the case.

We afford the best advantages and greatest possible protection for small stockholders.

The entire proposition in connection with this line of investments is one worthy of careful investigation and consideration on the part of any one in a position to purchase stock. A LIMITED AMOUNT OF THE TREASURY STOCK OF THE COMPANY is now available for citizens of Duluth, which limited amount, however, will be exhausted, at the present rate of sale at an early day. It is therefore important that any person interested in the matter should act at once.

We will cheerfully furnish upon application further details, terms, etc., to any person desiring such information.

Tin Plate Mills Simply Close Down Until Agreement Is Reached.

IT HAS A MONOPOLY

The American Tin Plate Company Controls All But Four Mills.

Chicago, June 27.—The American Tin Plate company which, barring four mills, has a monopoly of the tin plate manufacturing interests of the United States, is facing the prospect of a general strike next Friday midnight, the result of which will be to close all its mills. Twenty-five thousand skilled workmen and 15,000 laborers are likely to be involved.

President Theodore Shaffer and Secretary John Williams, with a committee of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers, were in Chicago from Tuesday to Saturday night of last week in daily conference with the officials of the American Tin Plate company in the Marquette building. The committee is now back in Pittsburg, and notice of a general strike to begin Friday midnight has been issued.

While the officials of the company in Chicago deny there is any ill-feeling resulting from the failure to agree over the wage scale, it was admitted that the company's mills are to be shut down. It was also practically admitted at the company's office that the shut down would continue until the wage scale was agreed to by both sides.

The second vice president, W. T. Graham, of the Tin Plate company, represented the company in the conference with the workmen. The committee and the tin plate trust officials kept the fact of the differences secret, and it was not until notice of the closing down of the mills was posted in Pittsburg that the news reached Chicago. Mr. Graham, speaking for the company, denied there was any feeling between the Amalgamated association and the officials over the wage scale.

"The committee came here under instructions to ask for a 20 per cent increase and, as we understand it, they had no authority to accept anything else," he said. "The members of the committee were here several days. We submitted a compromise proposition, but the committee said they had no authority to accept it, and asked to submit it to the different unions. Our proposition was for an advance equivalent to that paid by the manufacturers of iron and steel sheets, approximately 11 per cent.

"As the contract with the association lasted only until June 30, there was nothing left for us to do but shut down until the company's proposition had been submitted to the various unions of the Amalgamated association. There is no talk of a strike."

The various mills of the great concern, the capitalization of which is $50,000,000, are scattered over the Eastern and middle states as follows: Bridgeport, Ohio, 6; Elwood, Ind., 20; Montpelier, Ind., 6; Atlanta, Ind., 6; Lisbon, Ohio, 7; Blairsville, Pa., 1; Cleveland, Ohio, 3; Cincinnati, 10; Cumberland, Md., 5; Ellwood, Penn., 5; Niles, Ohio, 6; Joliet, Ill., 4; West Newton, Pa., 1; Connellsville, Pa., 6; Middletown, Ind., 6; Johnstown, Pa., 4; Wheeling, W. Va., 10; Martin's Ferry, Ohio, 14; Philadelphia, 6; Pittsburg, 20; Gas City, Ind., 8; Cambridge, Ohio, 5; Anderson, Ind., 6; Menesson, Pa., 14; Newcastle, Pa., 6; Remington, Pa., 2; New Kensington, Pa., 1; Canal Dover, Ohio, 4; Brooklyn, N. Y., 3; Baltimore, Md., 2; Demmler, Pa., 8; Irondale, Ohio, 4; Washington, Pa., 4.

THE BANKRUPTCY LAW.

Meeting of Referees to Be Held In Chicago.

Chicago, June 27.—Sidney C. Eastman, referee in bankruptcy, who some weeks ago sent to all the referees in the country a suggestion that a convention for revising the national bankruptcy act be held in Chicago about June 26, announces that the meeting will probably be held in the latter part of July. The suggestion made by Mr. Eastman has been taken up eagerly by referees and other interested persons throughout the United States and a large attendance is promised when the gathering convenes.

It was thought at first that the convention could be held in Chicago this month, but the undertaking was too great and the court business throughout the country was too pressing to permit of a large attendance.

AMERICAN WHIST LEAGUE.

The Annual Session to Be Held In Chicago Soon.

Chicago, June 27.—Three hundred whist players are expected in Chicago from all over the United States for the ninth annual congress of the American Whist league, to be held during the week beginning July 10. All the sessions are to be held in the Auditorium.

Four trophy matches are to be held—for the Brooklyn trophy for auxiliary associations; Hamilton trophy for club fours; challenge trophy for club fours, and Minneapolis trophy for club pairs.

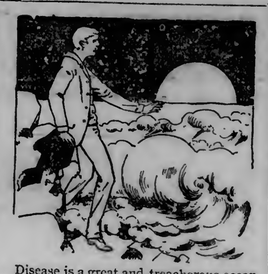
Special excursions from the East and West are to bring the delegates and the convention promises to be the largest held in the history of the organization. The convention has not been held in Chicago since the World's fair year, when there was a big attendance. The standing of the organization is such that Cavendish, the late great English authority upon the game, journeyed across the Atlantic twice to attend the sessions.

FARRIS' BRIGHT PROSPECTS.

Brainerd & Northern to Build Through to Turtle River.

Farris, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is asserted on good authority that the Brainerd & Northern railroad will commence work at once on its recent survey from Nary through Farris to the Turtle River country. This will give Farris two lines of road and, in connection with the fact that the Great Northern will remove its division headquarters from Cass Lake here, assures a rapid and permanent growth for this little city.

A new town is now being platted at the terminus of the extension from Bemidji of the Brainerd & Northern Minnesota railroad to the Turtle River country, where the road has a contract for hauling 200,000,000 feet of timber for the Burlington Lumber company, of Burlington, Iowa. Lumbermen and cruisers are now o the ground surveying roads and locating camp sites preparatory to the commencement of work this fall on some of the heaviest timber yet standing in Northern Minnesota, which is tributary to Turtle River lake, on whose south



Disease is a great and treacherous ocean. Man ever stands upon its shore and gazes out over its calm surface without a thought of danger. It licks his feet—it advances and recedes almost playfully—but all the same it will crack his bones and eat him, and wipe the crimson foam from its jaws as if nothing had happend, as it has been doing ever since the world began.

A man who carelessly saunters along the shore of the insatiate sea of disease, will some day encounter a great storm in the form of some fatal malady and will be engulfed. Because a man does not have to go to bed when he suffers from a trivial indigestion, because he does not have to give up work when he gets nervous and cannot sleep at night, because he can still force down an unsatisfactory meal when he is suffering from loss of appetite, because by strong effort he can add a column of figures with aching head—is no reason that these disorders are trifling or to be neglected. They are the warnings of serious sickness. A man who promptly heeds them, and resorts to the right remedy, will speedily recover his usual health. The man who neglects them will find that he is in the grip of consumption, some nervous disorder, or some other dread malady, due to improper or insufficient nutrition. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best of all medicines for men and women who suffer in this way. It restores the lost appetite, facilitates the flow of digestive juices, invigorates the liver, purifies and enriches the blood and tones and builds up the nerves. It cures 98 per cent. of all chronic bronchial, throat and lung affections, and is an unfailing remedy for nervous prostration. Medicine dealers sell it.

shore the new town is located. Prominent St. Paul and Minneapolis parties are interested in this new movement, and a great many claims have been taken in this vicinity by parties from the cities among them being C. L. Smith of the Northwestern Agriculturist, who, together with his sons and daughters have acquired 800 acres lying along the west bank of the lake. Mr. Smith says that after looking the country over thoroughly he decided to locate permanently in the Turtle River country, as nowhere did he find a country to compare with it in all respects, and especially for agricultural and stock-raising purposes.

NEW TRIAL GRANTED.

Supreme Court Says Warren's Case Should Go to Jury.

St. Paul, June 27.—A fireman is warranted in taking risks that in another man would be wanton recklessness. That is the supreme court's decision in the suit of Charles Warren against the Duluth Street Railway company, which the court says should have gone to the jury. Justice Canty writes the opinion.

Warren was driver of a hook and ladder truck last September which came plunging down Lake avenue, and collided with the trolley car. Warren was seriously injured and Arthur Twaddle was killed. Warren says he could not stop the truck and his only chance was to get by the car, which was moving slowly and could have been stopped in a few feet if the motorman had see him, and with his bell clanking and two other pieces of apparatus thundering after him, with their gongs, the motorman should have seen him. The evidence showed that he ran into the car quite as much as it ran into him, and the St. Louis county court instructed a verdict for the defendant.

The Duluth charter specifically gives the fire apparatus the right-of-way, but the court believes the right would be the same without special provision. In this particular case it is a close question, but it is for the jury to decide. Syllabus:

"Held, the duties of a member of the city fire department when driving fire apparatus on a call to a fire may require him to take risks which would be negligence for a private person to take in pursuit of his private business, in an action by such a member against a street railway company for damages for an injury resulting from a collision at a street crossing between a street car and a hook and ladder truck driven by him, it is held, that the question of defendant's negligence and of his contributory negligence were both for the jury. Order reserved and a new trial granted."

The ruling of the supreme court will possibly affect the status of the Twaddle case. An action for $5000 damage on account of his death was brought and tried at the May term of court, the jury finding for the street railway company.

ONE WIFE NEAR DULUTH.

Julius Werner Arrested In New York For Bigamy.

New York, June 27.—Julius Werner, 70 years old, when arraigned before County Judge Moore in Long Island City, admitted that he had five wives and was guilty of bigamy. Three of Werner's wives are living in New York, another lives near Duluth and the fifth is a resident of Detroit.

Werner was arrested on complaint of Marie Knipner, of New York, who alleged he married her in 1895. After that she found that he had already been married to four other women. Two of his marriages were under the name of Fritz and the other three under his real name.

Werner generally employed a matrimonial agency when he was in search of a new wife and his latest marriage was arranged by an agent named Emil Millbrecht, of New York. The agent appeared in court as a witness against Werner. He said the latter had promised him a fee of $40, but had up to the present time paid only $22 on account.

When arraigned Werner made no attempt to deny any of the charges, but pleaded guilty and threw himself on the mercy of the court. He was remanded for sentence.

SIGHTED THE SFAX.

Plymouth, Eng., June 27.—The Belgium steamer Bruxellsville, which arrived here today from African ports, reported having sighted at noon yesterday a French cruiser, believed to be the Sfax, having Dreyfus on board, going in the direction of Brest.

Joseph Chamberlain Says Transvaal Government Is a Festering Sore.

NO BACKWARD STEP

Says England Will Insist Upon Reforms She Has Demanded.

Birmingham, June 27.—Joseph Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonies, addressing the Unionists of this city last evening, reviewed carefully the Transvaal question.

In the course of his speech he said that owing to the enormous military preparations of the government of the South African republic, Great Britam had been compelled to increase the British garrison in Cape Colony and Natal, entailing an additional expenditure of £500,000 annually.

"If the reforms which Lord Ripon proposed in 1894 had been accepted," said the minister, "there would have been no ruid and no crisis at the present time. But the ruid tied the hands of the government and prevented the application of pressure."

Mr. Chamberlain said the government had tried to establish friendly relations with President Krueger, but all advances had been received with contempt. He then proceeded to eulogize Sir Alfred Milner, governor of Cape Colony and British high commissioner for South Africa. The government accepted full responsibility for the actions of that official. As for the counter proposals of Mr. Krueger, they did not constitute even a fair installment of reform.

After denouncing in the strongest terms the attitude and actions of the Boers, Mr. Chamberlain, with great deliberation and emphasis, added:

"The Transvaal's enormous secret service funds have procured it friends and advocates in every country. The way the British subject is treated is not only a menace to them all, but interferes with our prestige among the natives, who now regard the Boers and not the British as the paramount power. Before violating the London convendion, the Transvaal is flagrantly violating that equality the convention was designed to accomplish. Its misgovernment is a festering sore, poisoning the whole atmosphere of South Africa. The Dutch in Cape Colony and Natal would be in their happiest condition, but so long as the disease of hatred and suspicion prevails in the Transvaal it is impossible to stop the contagion.

"Four times since independence was granted we have been on the verge of war with the Transvaal. It is erroneous to say the British government wants war, but it is equally erroneous to say that the government will draw back now that it has put its hands to the plow. We hope the efforts that are now being made will lead to an amicable arrangement, for Great Britain only desires justice, but there comes a time when patience can hardly be distinguished from weakness and when moral pressure becomes a farce that cannot be continued without loss of self respect. I trust that that time may never come in this instance, but if it does Britons will insist upon the means to find a result essential to the peace of South Africa."

The speech was warmly applauded. In reply to a vote of thanks Mr. Chamberlain said he felt strengthened and encouraged by their confidence and support. He had spoken from the heart because he believed they had reached a critical turning point in the history of the empire and that the whole world was watching to see how they would issue from the difficulty.

"It is my belief," he said, in closing, "that the country will show itself not unworthy of its glorious history and traditions."

A BOMBSHELL.

A French Clerical Writer's Method of Describing Archbishop Ireland.

New York, June 27.—A dispatch to the Herald from Brussels says the Revue Generale, a well known Belgian magazine patronized by many of the leaders of the Catholic party, has consented to publish a violent onslaught on Archbishop Ireland by the French clerical writer, Ricault D'Hericault. The writer finds Mgr. Ireland much too advanced. He says:

"The American archbishop recently came to France as a commercial traveler for revolutionary ideas.

"The French Catholics were struck at hearing a foreigner pretending to teach them how they were to behave themselves and at the real scandal caused by this successor of the apostles. We offer our congratulations to France upon having become a Free Masonic republic, which exiles some of its priests and sends others into the army and closes convents. Many French prelates looked upon Ireland as a savage. He has been truly described as a bombshell."

WHITEMAN WILL APPEAL.

Has No Intention of Leaving Dansville For Europe.

Chicago, June 27.—Reports that Alonzo J. Whiteman, formerly of Duluth, had fled to Europe are unfounded, according to a dispatch received here from Dansville, N. Y. The dispatch says Whiteman is in Dansville, where he resides, and says he has no intention of going away. The dispatch also says his case in Chicago will be appealed to the supreme court and he is confident judgment will be reversed.

SHEPARD CONVICTED.

Hartsville, Mo., June 26.—Another of the Macomb train robbers was convicted here last night, when the jury brought in a verdict finding young Joe Shepard guilty, fixing the punishment at ten years in the penitentiary. The convict, who is but 21 years old, is a son of Jake Shepard, a member of the old James gang.

NOTICE TO ATTORNEYS.

On and after this date, The Evening Herald will run all probate notices three times, as required by law, for $1. The regular price for this class of work heretofore has been $6 for the three publications, and this will be a considerable saving to estates that have to be probated.

FREE TO SUFFERERS.

The New Cure For Kidney, Bladder and Uric Acid Troubles.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing kidney, liver, bladder and uric acid troubles.

Swamp-Root has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless too poor to purchase relief, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of The Duluth Evening Herald who have not already tried it may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in The Duluth Evening Herald, and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular 50-cent and $1 sizes are sold by all first-class druggists.

A LONG LEASE.

New York Central Preparing For a Transcontinental System.

New York, June 27.—The Tribune says the report that the New York Central had come to an agreement with the Boston & Albany railroad by which the Central would lease the Boston & Albany for a term of 999 years and guarantee 8 per cent on the stock, was not a surprise either in railroad circles or in Wall street. That the lease is practically closed was confirmed from a trustworthy source yesterday.

In Wall street the view was taken that this New England arrangement would before long be followed by the long-talked-of extension of the New York Central system to the Pacific coast from its present western terminus in Chicago, by consolidation with the Chicago & Northwestern, the Union Pacific and the Oregon Short Line.

HAD A NARROW ESCAPE.

Socialists of France May Yet Destroy the Republic.

New York, June 27.—The Paris correspondent of the Tribune, discussing the victory of the government, says:

The constitutional republic has had a narrow escape. The majority of twenty-six is attributed to the timely intervention of M. Brisson who succeeded in stemming the tide, which, after M. Mirman's fierce onslaught, seemed about to sweep the cabinet away. The deafening shouts of "Vive la Commune" and "Assassin," with which the Socialists greeted the Marquis de Gallifet, are considered the gravest revolutionary symptom which has occurred in the chamber for many years.

The victory won by the cabinet assures a strong executive government until the conclusion of the Dreyfus court-martial but moderate Republicans like Ribot declare that the real danger will come from the Socialists, who now for the first time participate in the actual government, who fully realize their increased power and who never before have been so exacting. Nationalist Reactionists openly confess that it is through the Socialists that they hope to destroy the republic and eventually to win the day.

According to information received at the ministry of marine, Dreyfus is not expected to arrive before Saturday or Sunday.

ANOTHER WAR SCARE.

Indians at Cass Lake Said to Be Threatening.

Walker, Minn., June 27.—Capt. Mercier's action in ordering the whites away was simply to avoid trouble with the Indians, if not another uprising. Emboldened by their success last October, the Chippewas were ready to take the war path again, and bloodshed was imminent when the order directing the removal of the intruders was issued. The Indians had been in an ugly mood for weeks. Chief Flatmouth more than hinted that some one would be hurt if the wishes of the people were not granted, and he had warned all whites who wished to avoid trouble to leave the reservation. He said the Indians would fight at a moment's notice.

Mercier lost no time in issuing the order, and Cass Lake is to be depopulated. The whites are exasperated with Mercier for the course he took.

One of the soldiers at Walker informed a representative that the Indians are constantly sneering at the troops and casting reflections on their ability to use guns or make any showing in a fight. The soldiers believe there is more trouble ahead.

SOLDIER JUMPS OVERBOARD.

Transport Logan Arrives From Porto Rico With Troops.

New York, June 27.—The United States transport Logan arrived today from San Juan, Porto Rico, with 39 cabin passengers, principally officers and their families, 143 discharged and furloughed soldiers and 350 men and 60 horses of light batteries H and C, Seventh United States artillery, and heavy battery B, Fifth United States artillery. The troops are under command of Capt. M. J. Macomb. On June 23, John Corbett, a dishonorably discharged soldier of battery G, Fifth artillery, jumped overboard and was lost. It is said that his troubles had preyed upon him until he became demented. He had said many times that he would kill himself.

Zeigler's seconds threw up the sponge. As a preliminary bout Fitzsimmons, who was generously cheered, was introduced as middleweight champion of the world and smartly threw friendly rounds with Dan Hickey.

In yesterday's races the 4-oared race over the course was won by Pennsylvania; time, 9:32. Cornell was second; time, 11:14 3-5. NO SPECIAL SESSION.

Governor's Plan For Relief of the Cyclone Sufferers.

Milwaukee, June 27.—Governor Scofield came to Milwaukee yesterday to confer with Dr. F. W. Epley, of New Richmond, in regard to the relief fund. Dr. Epley advocated the calling of a special session of the legislature to provide for an appropriation of $250,000 for the relief of the tornado sufferers. Governor Scofield has decided not to call a special session. He is of the opinion that all necessary funds should be raised by subscription and is confident adequate subscriptions will ultimately be made in that way. The plan which Governor Scofield favors provides for the forming of a responsible committee who shall determine what amount is immediately necessary and how much in all. The committee should then apportion the sum among the various communities of the state and the organization extended for the purpose of influencing each community to raise its share and a little more to meet deficiencies.

THEY DID WELL.

San Francisco, June 27.—Eight miners have just returned here from Alaska with $250,000, the result of two years' digging within twenty miles of Dawson City. One of them named W. H. Armstrong has a nugget worth $260.

PERISHED FROM COLD.

San Francisco, June 27.—A Call special from Nevada City, Cal., says Mrs. Norval Douglass, of San Francisco, has received a letter saying her son, Harry Douglass, with twenty-five other picked miners from California, who left June 2 of last year for Siberia, have perished from privation and cold. It is stated they went to Siberia under contract to remain three years.

ADVANCE IN WHEAT

Market Started Out Weak But Good Buying Caused a Rise.

THE CABLES LOWER

Northwest Receipts Again Large and Heavy Liquidation In July.

Duluth Board of Trade, June 27.—The wheat market opened weak and lower today, with the usual bearish influences at work. The Northwest receipts continued on a large scale, the foreign markets were weak and there was more liquidation of July on the Chicago board. About the only item of a bullish nature was a report of too much rain in the spring wheat country. Early cables from Liverpool showed declines on wheat of 5@5d, and the other foreign markets were lower. Liverpool closed quiet and 1@1d lower. It was claimed that this slump was the result of poor demand. Despite the bearishness, however, there was a steady influx of buyers and when Northwest advices stated that the receipts will show a large decrease next week, the market became strong and prices advanced to near the close. The better cash demand in all markets added to the stronger feeling. July wheat closed 7/8c up here and 1 5/8@3c up at Chicago. September here advanced 1/2c both here and at Chicago.

Trading in wheat was active on the Duluth board in both the July and September options. July opened 2/8c off at 72 1/8c, sold up to 73 1/4c at 11:15 and was at 73 1/4c bid at noon. It rose to 73 3/4c at 12:30 and closed at 73 5/8c, being 1/8c higher than yesterday. September opened 3/8c down at 72 5/8c, sold up to 73c at 11:15 and closed at 73 3/8c, a net gain of 1/8c for the day. Cash stuff sold at 1/8c under July for wheat in store and the July price for wheat to arrive. About 160,000 bus changed hands at these figures. Corn advanced 1/8c. Oats, rye, barley and flax were unchanged. Following were the closing prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, cash, 73 1/4c; July, 73 5/8c; No. 1 northern, cash, 73 1/4c; July, 73 3/8c; September, 73 5/8c. No. 2 northern, 68 1/4c. No. 3 spring, 66 1/4c. To arrive—No. 1 hard, 73 5/8c; No. 1 northern, 73 3/8c. Oats, 27 1/2@27 5/8c. Rye, 38 1/2@39c. Barley, 37c. Flax, $1.06. September, 95c; October, 94c. Corn, 33 1/4c.

Car inspection—Wheat, 500; corn, 97; oats, 7; barley, 3; flax, 15. Receipts—Wheat, 314,250 bus; corn, 50,733 bus; rye, 1656 bus; barley, 1760 bus; flax, 8341 bus. Shipments—Wheat, 7066 bus; corn, 92,487 bus, oats, 464 bus; rye, 441 bus.

ON THE CHICAGO BOARD.

Only One Little Cloud Obscured the Bears' Sunshine.

Chicago, June 27.—Wheat opened weak and lower today, September at 73 1/4@73 5/8c, compared with yesterday's closing price of 74@74c. It was the old story, weak foreign markets, heavy receipts and continued July liquidation. One little cloud was all that obscured the sunshine of the bears at first—there was too much rain in the West and Northwest. Minneapolis and Duluth receipts amounted to 500 cars, against 720 last week and 65 a year ago. Chicago receipts were 191 cars, 25 of contract grade. Early afternoon cables from Liverpool showed declines of 5@5 3/4d, while continental markets also showed varying declines. A peculiar feature of the trading is that Liverpool is apparently following America's decline, while the markets here are following Liverpool, a sort of round robin affair. Liverpool reported today that the decline there was partly due to the poor demand. Liquidation was quite heavy at first, but the market absorbed the offerings well and after September had declined 1@ 7/8c a reaction occurred to 74c. Beerbohm's estimate on the world's crop made the total but little more than the yearly requirements.

The stubbornness the market displayed during the morning gradually brought in buyers, and their number was greatly increased before noon by Northwest advices, which stated that a material decrease in Northwest receipts could be looked for next week. There was a lessening of country offerings of spring wheat. Cash wheat was reported in better demand at all points. The advance was well held, September sold as high as 74 1/2c and closed steady at 74 3/8c.

Corn was quiet but steady. Receipts were heavy, 1296 cars, and cables were lower, but the cash demand was excellent and this sustained the market. September opened unchanged at 34c, advanced to 34 1/8c and eased off to 34 1/8c.

Oats were dull but firm, following corn. The cash demand was good. Receipts were liberal, 397 cars. September opened a shade lower at 21 1/2c and advanced to 21 5/8@7/8c, easing off to 21 3/8c.

Provisions showed considerable firmness on a small amount of trading. Prospects were better for an amicable settlement of the stock yards labor troubles. Packers bought moderately and selling was scattered and mostly July liquidation by outsiders. September pork opened unchanged at 8.32 1/2 and advanced to $8.40. September lard opened unchanged at $5.12 @5.15, advanced to $5.20 and eased off to $5.17. September ribs opened 2 1/2@5c higher at $4.87 and sold a shade higher.

Close: Wheat, July, 72 1/2c; September, 74@c; December, 75 5/8@76c. Corn, June, 34 1/4c; July, 34 1/8@5c; September, 31 1/2@8c; December, 33 3/4@7/8c. Oats, June, 28@c; July, 21 7/8c; September, 21 5/8@7/8c; May, 25 5/8@3/4c. Pork, June $8.17; September, $8.37. Lard, June, $5.02; July, $5.02; September, $5.17. Ribs, June, $4.72; July, $4.72; September, $4.87. Cash wheat, No. 2 red, 73 1/4c; No. 2 hard winter, 70 1/2@71c; No. 3 hard winter, 69 1/2@70c; No. 1 northern spring, 73c; No. 2 northern, spring, 72@73c; No. 3 spring, 69@72c. No. 2 corn, 34 3/8c. No. 3 corn, 34 1/4c. No. 2 oats, 26 1/4c; No. 3 oats, 25 1/4@28c. Barley, cash, 38@42c. Rye, July, 61c; September, 58c. Timothy, August, $2.70; September, $2.60. Flax, cash, Northwestern, $1.06; Southwestern, $1.02; July, $1.02; September, 94 1/2c; October, 94c. Clover, October, 7.75.

CHICAGO MONEY.

Chicago, June 27.—Clearings, $22,586,171; balances, $2,975,715. New York exchange, 15 cents discount. Sterling exchange, $4.87@4.89.

MIDWAY HORSE MARKET.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul.—Barrett & Zimmerman's report: Receipts of horses were the largest for two weeks past. Buyers also were in better attendance than for some time, which created an active tone to the market, wholesale and retail trade was largely developed and a reaction in stock circles was apparent. Prices were firm and steady. Horses with good quality were mostly selected. The nominal value of serviceable, sound horses from 4 to 8 years, was as follows: Drafters, choice to extra.....$135@175
Drafters, common to good..... 90@ 110
Farm horses, choice to extra..... 115@ 140
Farm horses, common to good..... 80@ 95
Mules, 1300 lbs ..... 80@ 115
Western horses ..... 15@ 40

MARINE NEWS.

Lake Superior Rate on Coal to Be Advanced to Forty Cents.

Cleveland, June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Vesselmen are determined to advance the Lake Superior coal rate to 40 cents, and will probably succeed in doing so before the day is over with. Eighty cents is offered on ore from the head of the lakes, but there are, of course, few if any vessels to be had at that figure on account of the demand for grain carriers at Duluth.

COUNCIL OF WOMEN.

One Delegate Makes a Plea For the Men.

London, June 27.—The international council of women, which was assembled yesterday in the convocation hall of Church house, Westminster, is divided into five sections, or meetings, which are all crowded today.

Great interest is taken in the political section, which discussed today the parliamentary enfranchisement of women. The duchess of Aberdeen, the council, Mrs. May Wright Sewall, of the United States, presiding.

Miss Susan B. Anthony, one of the American delegates, detailed the progress of the movement in America.

The announcement that a paper would be read on behalf of an American women's society opposing female franchise was met by a storm of hisses. Mrs. Sewall protested against this "intolerance," pointing out that no one was obliged to attend but it was their duty, if present, to listen courteously to all the speakers. The paper was then read, punctuated by hoots of disapproval and derisive laughter.

In the professional section, Madame Antoinette Stirling created some excitement by declaring, with much emotion, that she thought the speakers were too hard on the men and adding that women only realized the full value of a husband when the latter was lost.

CHASING THEM OUT.

Non-Union Men Have Hard Time at Cleveland.

Cleveland, June 27.—The riotous outbreaks of yesterday were repeated today in several quarters of the city, nonunion men on the Big Consolidated lines being stoned and forced to abandon their cars. Only two cars were operated by non-union men on the Broadway line, and these were repeatedly stoned, every window being broken and the conductor and motormen being repeatedly struck.

At Axtell avenue a mob several hundred strong was broken up by police. The non-union carmen took to their heels, pursued by the crowd, but made their escape. The abandoned cars were wrecked by the mob. Similar scenes were enacted at noon at Dennison and Rhoades avenues and Burton and Clark avenues. The exodus of non-union men from the city continues.

HAS CONTRARY ORDERS.

One of the Predicaments of Government By Injunction.

Kansas City, June 27.—A special to the Star from Weir City, Kan., says: Judge Skedmore granted an extension of the injunction restraining the coal companies from importing laborers into Cherokee county today. This injunction creates a peculiar condition in the situation in this county, as there are two injunctions being enforced, one directing the sheriff to stop the importation of any foreign labor by the coal companies, and the other restraining the sheriff from interfering with the company importing anyone who desires to come into the county to work. The sheriff declares he will carry out the order of the first injunction. Complications arising from the two orders may cause trouble between the authorities.

A BICYCLE ACCIDENT.

Girl Badly Injured By Collision With a Bicycle Rider.

The 12-year-old daughter of T. B. Hancock, 709 West Third street, was quite badly injured in a bicycle collision on Eighteenth avenue east, near London road, Sunday afternoon. She suffered a slight concussion of the brain, but was much better today, and it is believed that she received no serious injury.

She was descending the avenue and in turning came into collision with a wheel ridden by a man whose name was not learned. The force of the impact broke the rim of her wheel in two. The girl was taken to the residence of Richard Dinham, 1562 London road, and was attended by Dr. Taylor. It was at first feared that the injury to her head might be serious, and no attempt was made to move her until the next morning, when she was taken home.

NOTICE TO ATTORNEYS.

On and after this date, The Evening Herald will run all probate notices three times, as required by law, for $1. The regular price for this class of work heretofore has been $6 for the three publications, and this will be a considerable saving to estates that have to be probated.

TRAVELERS AND TRUSTS.

The sensational testimony recently given before the industrial commission at Washington by President Dowe of the Commercial Travelers' league shows one of the great evils of trusts.

According to Mr. Dowe's estimate the great tobacco combines have thrown 3000 salesmen out of employment; the baking powder trust has discharged all but half a dozen men. Two instances cited are those of a salesman who had received a salary of $5000 a year and another $4500. The trade worked up by those men is served by an agent paid $8 a week. The bicycle trust will throw out 600 salesmen and cut down agencies in every city. Hundreds lose their jobs through the combination of the rubber, tin plate, steel rod and paper bag interests. Altogether thousands of traveling salesmen have felt the edge of the ax and many more are looking for the same fate on July 1, when contracts usually expire.

The traveling men are intelligent, acute and capable of waging a strong warfare against the trusts, and it is safe to say that no body of citizens will be more influential in securing the legislation needed to curb the power of these great combinations and restore the competition in all lines of trade that is essential to general prosperity.

A VALUABLE SERVICE.

Through the energetic work of the weather bureau in Porto Rico and Cuba there have been organized in those islands sections of the climate and crop service, and weekly bulletins detailing the progress of the staple crops, as affected by weather conditions, are now being regularly issued from the central stations at San Juan and Havana. In organizing this work in Cuba and the newly acquired possession of Porto Rico the weather bureau has been very successful. A large number of voluntary stations have been established in both islands, and the work of locating additional stations is being continued. Arrangements have already been completed by which monthly meteorological reports, such as are now issued by the various climate and crop service centers in the United States, will shortly appear. The monthly reports will contain temperature, rainfall and kindred statistics as to the climatic conditions prevailing in Cuba and Porto Rico, and, like the weekly bulletins, will be printed in both English and Spanish.

In the National Climate and Crop Bulletin, issued at Washington on Tuesdays, is now given a telegraphic summary of the climate and crop conditions prevailing in Cuba during the week ending each Monday, thus placing the Cuba section on the same footing with the various climate and crop sections in the states, so far as the publication of weekly summaries of the conditions affecting crops is concerned. In view of the fact that the money value of the tobacco, sugar cane, sugar beets, citrus fruits, rice, coffee and other crops of Cuba and Porto Rico is now very large, and that the agricultural resources of these islands are assured of even greater development, the inauguration of this service is very timely and of immense value. Now that the weather bureau has been so successful in its establishment of stations in the West India islands, The Herald suggests that, as far as practicable, the service be extended to include also the Hawaiian and Philippine islands.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

CHOOSING THE JUDICIARY.

After nearly every election when judges of the district or supreme courts are chosen, there is a warm discussion as to the best method of choosing a judiciary. Frequently the ablest judges on the bench are turned down in favor of some lawyer who possesses more knowledge of politics than of law, and who has successfully pulled the wires to secure the nomination as against an able judge who is not a politician. In the June number of the Atlantic, the evils of an elective judiciary are discussed by French Gaylord Cook, who took as his text the recent degradation of the chief justice of New York state by Tammany hall, as a political punishment. Historically he shows that originally no judgeships were elective, but that they gradually became so in the majority of the states under the Jeffersonian assaults upon the appointment system. The injury already done by this method and the increasing dangers for the future are sharply shown, and an earnest appeal is made for a return to a better system, for the good of the whole people and in the interests of justice.

It is not to be inferred that all judges elected by popular vote are corrupt, says Mr. Cook. The evil influence of politics upon the bench has been largely counteracted by professional pride, by conservative public sentiment, and by a critical bar. Lawyers, as a class, are influential in politics, and do not easily submit to the imposition and burden of an incompetent or unworthy judge. They often dictate nominations for the bench. But even with these safeguards the evil is not obviated. It is too subtle. Men of the highest qualifications, intellectual and moral, for judicial office, when chosen under the prevalent system of popular election, can scarcely escape the baleful influences to which that system subjects them. An under feeling of political obligation, a brooding dread of politician decapitation, consciously or unconsciously qualify the judgment and disturb the mind. They at least prevent independence and repose. "It is plain," says Mr. Bryce, "that judges, when sucked into the vortex of politics, must lose dignity, impartiality, and influence."

In fact, contends Mr. Cook, the judiciary cannot escape the baleful influence of politics so long as it is subject to popular election. "The time has come," he says, "for the states to return to the system of appointment. It is not contended that thereby all evil political influence would be obviated. Under a system of appointment, the selection of judges may at times be influenced by executive favoritism or by political considerations, but the possibility of such influences is reduced to a minimum. The executive can be held personally and directly responsible for his appointments to office, and any departure from his duty can be rebuked by the people at the polls."

It is questionable, however, whether the movement to return to an appointive judiciary will be popular. While the evils of the elective system, as at present conducted, are apparent, it is feared by many people that the appointive method would not produce better results. If judicial elections could be held at a different time from other elections, some of the evils now complained of might be remedied.

PING AND RUSS.

The Eastern papers do not take much stock in the alliance between Governor Pingree and Secretary Alger regarding the Michigan senatorship. Their comments are marked more by disbelief in the sincerity of Gen. Alger's anti-trust sentiments than anything else.

The Baltimore Sun says: "In boldly declaring himself the enemy of unscrupulous corporations, Alger has performed a feat of valor as great as if he had collared the beef trust during the late unpleasantness with Spain and openly denounced the bad rations it furnished our soldiers in Cuba."

The Philadelphia Times adds that "the alliance is one of the most grotesque in the history of Republican politics. Pingree is on the high road to socialism, a Jack Cade who can read and write. Alger has made a fortune out of protected industries and his entire sympathy is with the trusts and against the masses. He wants to be United States senator, however, more than he wants to increase his riches, and he is willing to attack the trusts in public to gain popularity. As senator, if he should be elected, he will roar as gently as a sucking dove in his warfare on the trusts."

The Washington Times says the whole country will join in the hope that the alliance will compel one of the partners to get out of the cabinet peaceably and quickly.

The New York Times, after demonstrating the selfishness of the combination and its probable futility, says: "Alger will probably not return to the war department, except to get his office coat. To be a candidate for another place and yet to retain a cabinet office must, it is assumed, appeal to his delicate sense of propriety as not to be approved. Persistence in hanging on under the circumstances would hurt the administration much more than it would be damaged by depriving it of the vote of Michigan."

But the Times is evidently unacquainted with the Algerian sense of propriety. Since his return to Washington, the secretary has stated very positively that he sees no impropriety in being a candidate for senator while he remains at the head of the war department, and therefore he proposes to stay in the cabinet.

An experiment to lay the dust on the streets with oil has been tried on Manhattan avenue in New York. The oil absorbed all the dust and dirt within reach, making a thick paste, a slippery pavement and a dirty one as well. Now it cannot be removed. All the women in the neighborhood demanded damages for soiled skirts and gowns. They assert the "white wings" greased the pavement for the benefit of clothing houses. Oil may continue to lay the dust on the Pennsylvania railroad tracks, but it has lost its job in New York.

A New York doctor named Helmer claims to have discovered a remedy for appendicitis that will obviate the necessity for a surgical operation. It consists of the manipulation of the psoas magnus muscle with the hands, a sort of kneading process, which causes spasmodic contraction and forces the irritating foreign body from the appendix. It is said that in one case treated, relief was given in eight minutes. People can administer this treatment themselves, if they only know where the psoas magnus muscle is.

W. H. Lawrence of the Thirteenth Minnesota regiment, son of a prominent resident of Wabasha county, has written from the Philippines an interesting letter which is published in the Wabasha Herald. It concludes as follows: "We have recently seen newspaper clippings to the effect that the volunteers would almost mutiny if sent home before the war is finished. The boys are indignant; not many of them believe in the justice of this war, and not one in a hundred would stay here a week longer if he could get home."

"The only son of a prize fighter who ever amounted to anything," says Victor Smith, "is the Rt. Hon. William Court Gully, speaker of the British house of commons. His father, John Gully, a butcher, and afterward a prize fighter, grew rich and was a member of parliament for Pontefract in 1835. Speaker Gully incidentally receives a salary of $25,000 a year."

In Boston last week the free baths were opened for the season and a morning paper announced that there would be "an attendant who is able to swim at each place." This leads the Transcript to remark: "Why not have an attendant at each place who could swim, even if only at that particular place?"

Dr. Laborde, a French physician, in a brochure on the subject, declares that, unless measures are taken, at once, to prevent it, the French working class, in a few years, will become habitual drunkards. Well, French politics, is enough to drive any one to drink.

A correspondent of the New York Sun, professing to give the political situation in Minnesota, says that fusion in this state has led to confusion. True, confusion for the Republican party.

Jadam Bede's announcement for his candidacy for the Republican nomination for congress makes interesting reading. A lengthy extract from it is given in another column.

The fierce struggle for the Democratic nomination for governor of Kentucky is doubtless due to the belief that the nominee will have an easy victory this year.

Admiral Schley merely says that it is still a controversy between Hodgson and Heilner.

Duluth's Baby Criminals.

Superior Telegram: The arrest and arraignment, in the Duluth police court, of a 4-year-old girl and her 6-year-old brother suggests the propriety of that city's taking up the Chicago crusade to secure the enactment of a law establishing a "juvenile court" for delinquent and neglected children. The baby girl was accused of the atrocious offense of stealing a bunch of pansies, her brother being an accomplice, and their trial was set for June 28. What an edifying spectacle to put before a community—the arraignment in a police court, along with drunks, vags and thieves, of a couple of babies. But apparently this is the only recourse of the aggrieved party who has been robbed of a bouquet in broad daylight by banditti from the cradle and kindergarten.

My Artless Girl.

Her beauty charms me more and more,
As dearer friends we grow.
Her mind reveals its precious store
As seasons come and go.
Her heart, I find, is purest gold—
And, strange as it may be
A tender spot it seems to hold
For dull, unworthy me!

But I can never love this girl
As I should like to do—
Although she makes my senses whirl,
Although she's fond and true
For she is always giving me
The scenes her blush has graced,
And in my den they have to be Conspicuously placed.

Her skies are green, her fields are blue,
Her lakes are always red;
Her drawing and perspective—few
Have gotten through her head;
Her foregrounds stretch far, far beyond
The gaze of mortal eye—
Her distances are never fond
Of blending with the sky.

So, though her qualities of mind
And heart are unsurpassed,
A girl of quite another kind
Must hold my fancy fast;
Because, why freely I confess
I love simplicity,
Her kind of utter artlessness
Is quite too much for me!

—Brooklyn Life.

A Spontaneous Sentiment.

Marine Review: There is no worked-up sentiment in the request from the shipping interests of Lake Superoir that Maj. Clinton B. Sears, United States engineer in charge of harbor improvements in the Duluth district, be retained at his present post, instead of being sent to Porto Rico, as ordered by a recent announcement from the war department. Maj. Sears is one of the most efficient officers of the engineer corps, and his thorough business methods have made for him in the lake region a host of friends and admirers.

Casualties of the Campaign.

Philadelphia Record: An official statement from the adjutant general's office of the casualties in the campaign against the Filipino insurgents shows 226 killed and sixty-nine died from wounds and 364 deaths from disease—659 lives lost between Feb 4 and June 6. During the same period of time 1366 federal soldiers have been incapacitated by wounds, while the number invalided by sickness, although not given in the official reports, is estimated by experts at from 2000 to 3000. And with all this sacrifice our little army of today practically defending itself at Manilla, just as in the early days of February last. Now, with this sad experience, it is proposed that Gen. Otis' force shall be increased merely in its original strength at the outset of the campaign, to be depleted and dribbled away just as in the dreary four months gone by? How long is this mockery of war to flout the nation with its fruitless results? There must be a speedy ending of sacrifice and bereavement, for

If blood be the price of admiralty,
Lord God, we have paid in full.

CORNISH CHAMPIONSHIP.

Owing to Accident Not Settled at Ishpeming Tournament.

The Cornish wrestling championship of the world was not decided at the park Saturday afternoon, says the Ishpeming correspondent of the Mafrquette Journal. What promised to be an exciting match for that honor and first money between the famed Carkeek and John Rowett, was abruptly ended in the second hitch by an injury which disabled Rowett so that he could not continue to wrestle. The injury was severe and it would have been impossible for Rowett to wrestle in his true form. Carkeek made Rowett a proposition to divide first and third moneys and delay the deciding match until a future date. This proposition was accepted. William Martin, of Calumet, took second money and Richard Champion, of this city, fourth.

The first part of the wrestling tournament was pulled off in the morning, when Rowett and Carkeek met to wrestle for standards. The men went at one another with a will and the audience was furnished an exhibition of the best wrestling that has been seen in this section in some time. The exhibition was greatly enjoyed by all who witnessed it. The consensus of opinion was that Rowett had the upper end of wrestling. After the men had wrestled, several hitches without a fall the judges, J. H. Rough, Joseph Tregonning and Case Downing, decided to give them both standards and further sport was stopped until the afternoon.

When the wrestling was once more started John Carkeek was matched against Robert Gilbert, the famous copper country wrestler. The match promised to be well contested and exciting, but Gilbert's shoulder was hurt so badly after a few hitches by a pitch given by Carkeek that he had to withdraw without completing the match. While the men were together the contest waxed fast and furious. The second match on the program was the best of the entire contest. It was between O'Neil and Rowlett. Both men worked cautiously. Nine hitches were required to settle the question of supremacy. There was some lively mixing and both men showed themselves masters of the game.

On one fall Stickler Prin declared a foul, because O'Neil used a hand to save himself. The other sticklers coincided and amid much noise the question was referred to the judges who decided not to allow the fall, whereupon Rowett addressed some heated words to the audience. Finaly Rowett caught his man prettily and won the fall. Rowett's supremacy over O'Neil was admitted by all but the latter's blindest admirers.

Jerry Murphy disposed of William Harrington in this round. Tim Harrington, of Michigamme, handled D. W. Hogan, of Marquette, with comparative ease. Ed Johns disposed of Thomas Mitchell, James Olds defeated Thomas Atwell. Richard Champion threw John Luzon and William Martin disposed of William Kelly. In the third round Carkeek was matched against Jerry Murphy and threw him with ease. Rowett disposed of Tim Harrington, and Richard Champion and William Martin threw their opponents, Johns and Olds. In the final round Carkeek and Rowett were matched in what promised to be the best contest of the tournament. The men came together with a rush. The first hitch lasted only a few seconds, when the men went down with no fall. In the second hitch Carkeek got the grape vine on Rowett's leg. The latter exerted all his strength to break the hold and in putting all the power of his muscles into his leg a tendon slipped and lamed him.

Carkeek consented to drop further wrestling and divide first and third money and Champion the fourth purse. Rowett's injury was bona fide, and there was nothing fake about the affair. The match would have been a fine exhibition if it were not for the accident. Rowett challenged Carkeek at the ring side. The latter did not consider the proposition on the spot as he is about to leave on a foreign tour. When he returns the men will undoubtedly get together. They each speak highly of the other's skill.

The copper country wrestlers were dissatisfied with the management of the wrestling. Tim Harrington, a clever middleweight wrestler, is kicking because he was matched with Rowett instead of with a lighter man. Mr. Harrington challenges any middleweight wrestler in this city for a match for any purse desired. He will wrestle here or in Calumet. Bob Gilbert, Tim Harrington and William Martin also challenge any trio of heavy, middle and lightweight wrestlers in the country, for a match at any place or at any time, and stand ready to post their money with any responsible party.

HAD A CONFERENCE.

London, June 27.—United States Ambassador Choate had a conference at the foreign office today with the marquis of Salisbury in regard to the objection raised by Canada on Friday to the suggested modus vivendi in connection with the Alaskan boundary dispute.

THE DAKOTAS.

One Farmer Tries to Kill Another at a Dance Near Inkster.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Inkster—A shooting affray occurred at a dance five miles west of here. James Hovland shot Allen McManus in the thigh. Both are farmers living about seven miles west. The ball took a downward course and was located at the knee. It is not thought to be a serious wound. Hoveland fired five shots, but four went wide of the mark. Hovland has always been considered a dangerous man and always carries his magazine loaded. Hovland drove away and is yet at large.

Cathay—Rocky Mountain locusts are again making their appearance in some sections in this locality. Owing to the lateness of the crops, much apprehension is felt by the farmers lest the damage of the pest may be much greater than last year.

Bismarck—The beginning of grading on the Bismarck, Washburn & Fort Buford railroad Saturday near this city was made a gala event. The mayor, state officials and prominent citizens participated in speeches eulogistic of Senator Washburn of Minneapolis, who is at the head of this enterprise. John Sutherland, of Washburn, threw the first shovel of earth.

Minot—This city is to have a new system of waterworks, and the pumping station of the present system will be moved to the river. Bids for the new work will be advertised for.

Lisbon—The sixth annual state convention and training school of the North Dakota Epworth league, which has been in continuous session in Lisbon since Wednesday, closed its proceedings after a successful session. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, E. S. Elfor, Grand Forks; first vice president, Rev. W. C. Fry, Lisbon; second vice president, Mrs. D. H. Fosberg, Hunter; third vice president, Rev. S. A. Danford, La Moure; fourth vice president, Miss Lulu E. Wylie, Drayton; secretary, Dr. C. S. Putnam, Casselton; treasurer, Miss Luella Peterson, Fargo. The president was re-elected, but all the other officers are new. It was decided to hold the next annual meeting at Park River.

Valley City—District court for Barnes county adjourned Saturday until July 17. John Scellick, of Fingal, charged with keeping a blind pig, was sentenced to ninety days in the county jail, and to pay a fine of $200. Gust Hanson and James Ryan, charged with grand larceny, and Robert Fluke alias Williams, each got two years in the penitentiary at Bismarck for burglary.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Chamberlain—Considerable bitter feeling has grown out of the depredations of cattle "rustlers" in the region lying along the west side of the Missouri river just north of the Nebraska line, and it would not be surprising if the cattle owners and stockmen should take the law into their own hands. The thieves on one of their raids drove off a herd of fifty-five head belonging to Messrs. Brockman and Jewett and other prominent cattlemen of Keya Paha county, Nebraska.

Yankton—Six hoboes were arrested here on suspicion of being the parties who burglarized the Milwaukee depot at Running Water. Mr. Germain of the department of special agents of the Milwaukee was sent from Chicago to investigate the case. He is confident he has sufficient evidence to convince the entire crowd and predicts that he will land them in the penitentiary.

Early Sunday night a portion of Yankton county was swept by a devastating wind, hail and rain storm, as a result of which many farmers will lost their entire crops. The district suffering most covers a strip twenty-eight miles long and three miles wide, some farmers losing as high as 400 acres of growing crops. North of the city is another strip thirty miles long and three miles wide where the storm did much damage. It is estimated the loss in Yankton county alone will amount to $100,000. About 100 farmers are heavy losers.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

Gen. Lord Kitchener, of Khartoum, governor general of the Soudan, has received $8200 from the earl of Minto, governor general of Canada, on behalf of the Canadians for the endowment fund of the Gordon memorial college at Khartoum.

The Daily Mail publishes a dispatch from Shanghai, saying that the German troops who were sent to punish the Chinese for a recent attack upon the railway near Kiao Chau met with armed resistance near Tituni. A fight ensued and the Chinese lost ten men. The Germans captured Tituni and then advanced on Kau Mai, which surrendered without fighting.

Anti-foreign disturbances have just occurred in Mong-Tsu province of Yun-Nan, where the residences of the customs staff and the French consulate have been burned by an armed mob. The foreigners effected their escape.

In the Spanish chamber of deputies the premier, Senor Don Francisco Silvela, replying to a question by Senor Romero y Robledo as to the disturbances at various parts of the country, said those at Madrid and Seville were not important, but those at Saragossa were serious. The government, he said, was fully determined to punish severely any outrage against law and order, and if necessary the whole peninsula would be declared in a state of siege.

IRELAND'S SPEECHES.

Said to Have Offended the Paris Aristocrats.

New York, June 27.—A Paris cable to the New York Journal says: An unprecedented and wholly gratuitous insult has just been put upon Archbishop Ireland as a result of the profoundly patriotic discourses he has delivered since his arrival in Paris. Many young men who have been pursuing their studies under the direction of the Jesuit expressed a wish that the eloquent American prelate be invited to deliver their annual oration at the closing exercises.

Apparently in compliance with a wish so unanimously expressed that it could not be overlooked, the invitation was issued by the director of conferences and accepted by the archbishop. At once the royalist and imperialist papers opened fire upon the republican churchman, who spoke as directly to their loudest. The Faubourg St. Germain as though he were merely addressing a local branch of the temperance society in St. Paul.

L'Autorite, edited by Cassagnac, the organ of Prince Victor Napoleon, has been most scurrilous in its attacks. It is now officially announced that the invitation to the archbishop is withdrawn. Aristocratic guests who have been invited have been notified that there will be no closing exercises this year. The students, who number over a thousand, are furious, and the lay organizers of these conferences have all resigned.

The result is that the anti-Republicans, namely, the Royalists and Bonapartists, feared that an address from an intensely republican prelate might weaken the hereditary opposition to the republic on the part of the young aristocrats.

Archbishop Ireland's addresses are now looked upon as a result of mere casual invitations, but a systematic defense of the republic. The Castellanes, the Derouledes and the Demuns have united with the old Boulangist duchesses in trying to get him out of France.

Loubet and the people want him to stay. It is said the invitation was a trick of those who dislike the archbishop because of his generous views. They got up the newspaper attacks in order to have an excuse to retract the invitation.

The New York Sun says the archbishop has started for America after a farewell reception Sunday by President Loubet.

ENGLISH LUTHERANS.

They Have Their Innings at the National Council.

St. Paul, June 27.—The national council of the United Norwegian Lutheran church of America yesterday afternoon abandoned in part its regular business and gave way to the third annual meeting of the English conference of the church. This is a branch of the council, although distinct in its organization and officers, organized for the purpose of "fostering English Lutheran work in the United Norwegian Lutheran church of America, as the requirements of the people may demand." Its delegates are also delegates to the national council, and vice versa. The English conference had full sway during the afternoon and evening.

The council elected the following officers, who will serve during the ensuing year: President, Rev. Th. Eggen, Madison, Wis.; vice president, Rev. H. E. Rasmussen, Lanesboro, Minn.; secretary, Rev. Louis S. Marvick, Hatton, N. D.; treasurer, Rev. E. O. Lee, Beloit, Wis. The secretary, Rev. Louis Marvick, has held the position since the organization of the conference. Today's meeting of the church council was devoted almost wholly to discussion of the school question. Another trial vote was taken on the proposition to consolidate the college and theological seminary, and resulted in a vote of 313 to 111 against the union of the two under one management. A similar vote Saturday evening resulted 261 to 223 against the proposition, so that is appears as though the non-unionists will surely win on the formal vote, which will probably be taken today.

What Is the Objection?

Boston Advertiser: Whitelaw Reid, in his address to the students of Miami university, apparently thought he had scored a great point against the anti-imperialists when he announced that the Filipinos could never be brought to deserve the dignity of American citizenship; but, admitting that, what in the world is the United States army trying to do in the Philippines? For nearly a year we have been informed that it was the duty of this country to shed our enlightenment upon those unruly savages, even at the cost of a prolonged, bloody and costly war. If these savages cannot be educated up to the American standard, what is the objection to granting them independence, in order that they may work out their own political improvement?

SWEEPING DECISION

Supreme Court's Opinion In Case Affecting the Building Associations.

ARE NOT USURIOUS

Mutual Concerns Are Exempt From the State Usury Laws.

The recent decision by the state supreme court in the case of the Zenith Building and Loan association, respondent, vs. William P. Heimbach et al, appellants, was a great victory for the building and loan associations over those who claimed that they were not mutual organizations and that their mortgages were usurious. These points were raised several times in other cases, but this was the first time the supreme court had a chance to pass on them. In view of the importance of the decision and its sweeping character, The Herald presents it in full. Following is the syllabus:

1. Held that the finding and conclusion herein of the trial court to the effect that the plaintiff is a mutual building and loan association within the meaning of sections 2218 and 2794, general statutes 1894, exempting such associations from the usury laws of the state, and that the mortgage here in question is not usurious are sustained by the evidence.

2. Held that the statutes so exempting such associations are constitutional. Order affirmed.

Chief Justice Start wrote the opinion of the court, as follows:

This is an action to foreclose a real estate mortgage executed April 16, 1892, by the defendants to the plaintiff to secure a loan of $4000 made by it to the defendant William P. Heimbach. The making of the mortgage and bond secured thereby, and that the payment of interest and premium and dues was not made as the bond and mortgage required, were admitted by the defendants, but they alleged as a defense that the transaction was usurious. The trial court made its findings of fact and conclusions of law to the effect that the mortgage was a valid security, and directed judgment of foreclosure and sale of the mortgaged premises. The defendants appealed from an order denying their motion for a new trial.

The amount agreed to be paid in this case as interest and premium was in excess of interest at the rate of 10 per cent per annum on the sum loaned, and the real question in this case is this: Is the plaintiff exempt from the usury laws of the state? The defendants claim that the question must be answered in the negative for three reasons:

First. The plaintiff was not organized as a building and loan association within the meaning of the statutes G. S. 1894, S. S. 2218, 2794, exempting such associations from the usury laws of the state.

Second. If it was so organized, it departed from the purposes of its organization and used its privilege and its charter as a cover for usurious transactions.

Third. That the statutes in question are class legislation and unconstitutional if they apply to such a corporation as the plaintiff.

1. The first and second claims may be considered together, for they are practically one. Tersely stated, the claim is this: The plaintiff is not a building and loan association, because it was organized to do and did do business not within the scope of such associations. It is not claimed by the defendants that the loan in question was usurious because of any specific violation of the principles of building and loan associations in this particular case, but that the plaintiff is not such an association, therefore it is exempt from the usury laws of the state, and that all the defendants were required to show in order to establish their defense was the fact that the premium and interest which they agreed to pay was in excess of the highest rate of interest allowed by law. The trial court found as a fact that the plaintiff is a mutual building and loan association duly organized under the laws of this state. This finding is challenged by the defendants.

The undisputed evidence establishes these facts: The plaintiff was incorporated under title 2, chapter 34, G. S. 1878, to commence business June 4, 1888. The general nature of its business was declared in its articles of incorporation to be the accumulation of funds by the contributions of its members, to be loaned to such members as desire the same and in such manner as might be prescribed by its by-laws. The directors were authorized by its charter to borrow money in their discretion for the purpose of loaning it to its members. The limit of its liabilities was originally fixed at $30,000, but it was afterwards raised to $250,000. They were also authorized in their discretion to issue or to withhold the stock of the association. The bylaws provided that no money should be sold at a less premium or bonus than 40 per cent, and also that "if any application requires immediate attention, the association may make loans between the monthly meetings, provided such loans are approved, in writing, by the president, secretary and treasurer, and four other directors, and the premium paid is not less than the highest paid at the last sale of money."

The business was limited to the county of St. Louis and adjoining counties and it was annually licensed by the public examiner of the state as a mutual building and loan association. It borrowed between the years 1889 and 1895 money for the purpose of reloaning it to persons who were or were about to become stockholders. The amount so borrowed is not disclosed by the evidence. The association, at some time not disclosed by the evidence, but the trial court finds that it was in 1888, passed a resolution to restrict the issue of shares to those who wanted to borrow. On Sept. 2, 1889, at a meeting of the association the highest bid for money was 70 per cent, after this the money was not put up at auction as all applications for it were made between meetings and after the passage of the resolution referred to, all persons applying for stock in the association were required to make an application for a loan of money on the stock subscribed, and as a part thereof bid a premium of 70 per cent therefor. The defendant, William P. Heimbach, was one of the original incorporators and a director of the plaintiff association and the holder of 10 shares of its stock before he became a borrower. He made application for a loan and bid therefor a premium of seventy per cent and a loan was awarded to him, pursuant to his application for the loan and defendants executed and delivered to the plaintiff the bond and mortgage described in the complaint, securing the repayment of the loan. The defendants upon the loan received from the plaintiff the sum of $4000 at the time of making it.

The defendant, William P. Heimbach, also as a condition of the loan subscribed for 300 additional shares of stock which with the stock then owned by him were assigned to the plaintiff as further security for the loan. The majority of the directors of the plaintiff were borrowers. The defendants claim that the provision of the plaintiff's charter authorizing it to borrow money to loan to its members, its by-law fixing a minimum premium, and its resolution limiting the issue of stock to borrowers destroy that mutuality which is the fundamental basis of the building and loan association, whereby the members loan to one another the funds accumulated by their mutual savings. And further that the provisions referred to and the method of transacting its business as disclosed by the evidence justify the conclusion that the plaintiff is a building and loan association in name only and a mere device and cover for usury. If this be so the mortgage in question must be held to be void for the law will ferret out usury, with the vigilance of a heresy hunter, no matter how subtle the device or shift adopted to conceal it may be. (City Loan company vs. Cheney, 61 Minn. 83.) But the evidence in this case does not justify the claim of the defendants. The mere fact that its charter authorized its directors to borrow money to loan to its members does not tend to show that the plaintiff is not a mutual building and loan association for the borrowing of money to loan to its members standing in need of accommodation beyond its immediate cash resources would be serving the legitimate purposes of its organization. (Endlichs Building Ap. S. 304.) Nor does the mere fact that it passed a resolution limiting the issue of further stock to borrowers and that the resolution was enforced necessarily impeach the claim of the plaintiff to be a building and loan association. It might be otherwise if the limitation was in its charter, and it appeared from the evidence that the promoters or incorporators had subscribed for a large number of shares, and had then adopted and enforced the limitation and borrowed money to loan to the new members.

But as already suggested such is not this case. It is not difficult to conceive of contingencies where it would not only be legitimate for a building and loan association to limit the number of shares any one member should be entitled to subscribe for, but also to limit future issues of stock to those who wished to borrow. Some such action would be necessary in cases where the inventors were more numerous than the borrowers, and idle funds were accumulating. There is, however, no evidence in this case which would justify the inference that the resolution in question was passed to prevent the accumulation of funds, but the evidence does not warrant the inference that it was passed to serve any fraudulent or improper purpose.

We have no statute which requires building and loan associations of the class to which the plaintiff belongs to loan its funds at competitive bidding only, or forbidding them from adopting a by-law fixing a minimum premium. Such a by-law applies to all borrowers alike, and does not trench on the mutuality feature of such associations. The finding and conclusion of the trial court to the effect that the plaintiff is a mutual building and loan association within the meaning of the stautes exempting such associations from the usury laws of the state, and that the mortgage in question is valid are sustained by the evidence. (Central Building and Loan association vs. Lampson, 60 Minn., 422.)

2. It has been assumed by this court in several cases that the provisions of the statutes, G. S. 1894, S. S. 2218, 2794, exempting building associations from the operation of our usury laws were constitutional, but the question was not directly raised or decided. In this case the defendant urges that statutes are class legislation and therefore unconstitutional. The operations of building and loan associations proper, when they adhere to the basic principles of their organization, differ so radically from ordinary loan transactions as to afford a proper basis for classification, and to justify the legislature in making a separate class of them, hence a statutory exemption of them from the operation of usury laws is constitutional. This proposition is sustained on principle and the great weight of authority, and we hold the statutes here in question constitutional. (4 A. & E. Encycl. of L. 1073.)

3. The remaining assignements of error not covered by what we have already said have been examined and found to be without merit. Order affirmed. START, C. J.

"LA TOSCA."

Melbourne Macdowell's company appeared at the Lyceum last night in Sardou's magnificent but terrible play, "La Tosca," and a splendid performance was witnessed by an assemblage that completely filled the theater. "La Tosca" is tragedy, pure and simple, with several tremendous scenes in which the most soul-racking of the human passions, hate, jealousy, malice, lust and woman's love, reach unusual heights. The period is 1800, and the scene is Rome, and in the background of the play can be felt the influence of the Little Corporal, whose victorious troops were ravaging Europe.

The story told by the play is characteristic of those times when human cruelty seems to have reached a pitch hardly dreamed of nowadays. Floria Tosca, a Roman diva, through her jealous love of Mario Cavaradossi, an artist, involves him with the Roman authorities for aiding the escape of a political prisoner, Cesare Angelotti. She imagines that he is harboring a rival, and finds out that it is the prisoner only too late to prevent the Baron Scarpia, the Roman police official, who has played upon her jealousy, from coming upon the scene. In his villa Cavaradossi has concealed the prisoner, and it is an awful scene where Scarpia forces Floria to tell him where the fugitive is, while in another room her agents are torturing her lover. It is to save him that she finally tells, but in the meantime the prisoner has taken poison. In his rage Scarpia orders the dead man and the man who had harbored him to be hung on the same scaffold.

Scarpia offers to save Mario at the price of Floria's honor, and at last forces her to consent. He gives an order for a mock execution of Mario, audible to Floria, but in an aside to the executioner he directs that he shall be shot. Just in time Floria finds a knife and stabs her persecutor to the heart, and then goes to get her lover. The mock execution is real, however, and she finds Mario lying in a pool of his own blood.

The bald narrative of the story does not give much of an idea of the play. There are several most powerful scenes, and Blanche Walsh as Floria and Melbourne Macdowell as Scarpia, assisted by a most competent company, were equal to all of them. The play is not unleavened by a little comedy, supplied by Miss Walsh in the earlier portions of the play where her jealous love of Mario leads her to suspect everybody and to hate even the beautiful women he paints. In the torture scene she was magnificent. Again, in the scene where Scarpia forces her to consent to part with her honor on his false promise to save her lover, and where she saves herself at the price of Scarpia's life, her art is marvelous. There seems to be less feeling and more of being the part in her work than in that of most actresses, and her reception was most warm. Mr. Macdowell was strong as the fiend incarnate that Sardou has made of Scarpia, and his success is only second that of Miss Walsh. Arthur Elliott as Cavaradossi and E. D. Denison as Angelotti were both entirely competent, and the minor members of the large cast were in keeping.

Duluth audiences seldom greet performers as last night's audience did. Each act was followed by a curtain call, and the stronger portions of the play were greeted with whirlwinds of applause.

AT THE PAVILION.

The audiences at the Pavilion continue to grow, and the famous Cherry sisters are proving a great attraction. Last night there were a large number of people at the hilltop to see the performance, and the Cherry sisters, the trick bicyclists, the little Schwartz children, and the other numbers on the program, were all much enjoyed. It has taken longer than usual this season to get the people started toward the Pavilion, but it now looks as though, having started, they will attend in larger numbers than ever before.

A PLUMP FIGURE

Makes a First-Class, Telling Argument.

"About a year ago a doctor and his wife came to board with us. We already had Miss G., who was at that time thin and yellow and considerably out of health.

The first morning the new boarders came to the table as guests, the young lady remarked as she sat her cup down: "This is coffee!" while the doctor added, "not at all like the poor coffee they have been giving us at the hotel." I smiled behind my napkin and asked if either of them ever used Postum Food Coffee. The doctor said he had tasted it, but it was weak, miserable stuff. Miss G. had heard of it and wished she could try it.

I said nothing, but at the end of three months, when Miss G. was ready to leave us for a new field of labor, said: "I have been giving you Postum Food Coffee all the time you have been here." "What is that coffee, Postum?" she said. I remarked that I had noticed with great pleasure her daily gain in health, and now that she was leaving us after only three months at our table, she had rosy cheeks and a plump figure, which was all the argument anyone needed to prove the fact that she had been well cared for, and the reason for her gain in health was the use of Postum Food Coffee, for no other change had been made of any account in her food.

The doctor was very much delighted with the experiment, and discovered that where he had tried Postum before he had been unfortunate in having it underboiled. Postum must be boiled fifteen or twenty minutes to bring out the delicious flavor, and then it will suit the taste of any one." Mrs. Florence Dougherty, Placerville, Idaho.

BEDE AS A CANDIDATE

Is In the Race For the Republican Nomination For Congress.

GIVES HIS REASONS

Contends Morris Is Too Weak and Cannot Be Elected Again.

In this month's Budget, J. Adam Bede announces what nearly every person has taken for granted for some time past, that he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for congress to succeed Judge Morris. The article announcing his candidacy is quite lengthy. He says at the outset:

"So much has been said by the city and country press regarding candidates for congress in the Sixth Minnesota district, in which connection my name has been frequently mentioned—sometimes in praise, ofttimes with contumely—and Congressman Morris having recently at a banquet in Minneapolis, and more recently in Duluth, brought me out as a candidate for his seat, while implying the public need of keeping himself there, a decent regard for the opinions of mankind seems to require that I make a plain statement of the situation as I understand it. This is the more compulsory on my part that my many friends outside of the district, where the local conditions are unknown, may not be misled, for I value the friendships I have made in Minnesota far above all the political honors the state could give.

"To come to the point at once, I had not until recently supposed that Judge Morris would ask for a renomination after making two hairbreadth escapes and at the last election losing his own precinct, ward, city and county, all of which are Republican and were carried by other candidates on the local and state ticket at the same election, but had presumed he would accept some federal appointment which could be easily secured at home or abroad. In 1896, out of 58,825 votes he had 719 majority over Towne. In 1898, out of 44,337 votes he had a plurality of 463 and a majority of only 51, the Socialist candidate, Kriz, having received 412 votes, which were of course taken from the fusion parties that supported Towne.

"The vote of St. Louis county at the last election on the Republican state and congressional tickets shows Mr. Morris in his own home even than Mr. Eustis (who ran 65,000 behind the rest of the ticket in the state), the figures being as follows: Koerner, 5310; Dunn, 5272; Berg, 5268; Douglas, 5255; Reese, 5251; Smith, 4954; Eustis, 4409; Morris, 4949. The above candidates all carried the county except Eustis and Morris; and the state ticket, except Eustis, carried the congressional district by several thousand. The Republican local ticket in St. Louis county was all elected except one candidate who lived on the Vermilion range and free silver.

"Judge Morris is a cultured gentleman, but for some reason he can't induce his Republican neighbors to vote for him, and his renomination would seem to me unwise. It is a tower of strength to a candidate to have his neighbors with him, and to be able to say that of him on the stump over the district. And it necessarily follows that it is a great weakness to him if the opposition can say that his neighbors are against him. One of the strong points always made by the friends of Judge Collins in urging him for governor is that he carries his own county, which is Democratic. And the argument against the renomination of Eustis is that he fell down at home. As a campaign speaker I am forced to face these facts, and having the matter urged upon me by Mr. Morris himself and by the press of the state, I express myself freely, with charity for all and malice toward none, but with a deep interest in the principles at stake. For once we could explain away the action of Duluth on the grounds of the peculiar conditions prevailing there in 1896, but we were as badly beaten there again in 1898 after the Republican press had declared the silver issue dead, so that there is no longer an honest explanation that does not involve a change of candidates."

Jadam points out that men who stay long in congress are men who are strong in their home counties, and shows that in this respect all the other Minnesota congressmen fill the bill. He adds:

"It is safe to renominate a man whose record affords such campaign material as that, but to me it seems unsafe, and I say it in all kindness and goodwill, to renominate one who has twice failed to carry the Republican wards of his home city. It is urged that the presidential election will pull Mr. Morris through, but that is begging the question and admitting weakness. We have tried a presidential year and an off-year, a big vote and a small vote, with perilously close results, and unless we secure a full half of the 10,000 or 15,000 increase at the next election we are lost. The change of one vote at a precinct would doubly defeat us. Besides, we have now a Democratic governor and state administration to go against which we did not have before. And last fall we got many votes because the war was on and the people were urged to uphold the hands of the president, but now the war is over, the hurrah spirit has passed away and the argument has gone with it. The silver issue is getting deader and deader, the trusts liver and liver, and the Democrats who voted the Republican ticket on the money question, and without whose suffrages Mr. Morris would never have gone to congress, are returning to their first love, feeling that other issues are now paramount. Therefore, while fully appreciating Mr. Morris' worth as a scholarly gentleman, and his service to the party as city attorney, municipal judge, district judge and congressman, I cannot, in view of these facts, though he is persona grata to me, believe it wise for a few of the officeholders to try to force his renomination. But I am willing to submit the matter to the Republican leaders of the state, who have in the past so ably assisted in our local battles, and abide by their judgment."

Bede then announces that he will be a candidate next year, his chief reason being that he has always been working for other men and the time has come when he thinks he ought to do something for himself. He also is of opinion that such a nomination would be good politics from a Republican party standpoint, and that under the circumstances Mr. Morris ought not to be a candidate. He contends that former gold Democrats should be given a nomination, and adds: "During the last campaign no one worked harder than I to secure a big majority for Mr. Morris and thus make him a fixture at Washington, but while we got the outside votes he fell down at home, so the game seems to be up, for we can't repeat it, and I deem myself eligible to succeed him."

But he does not forget that there are many able men in the district who might be deemed more available than himself, and he mentions a large number of names. Having answered the charges that he is erratic and a clown, he concludes: "Anyway, I am in the scrap and I am not a quitter."

A Foolish Man.

There was once a man who thought what a dreadful thing it would be if he were blind, and closed his eyes as he walked along to see how it would be. In this way he walked over a purse of gold which another man picked up. There are people today just as foolish. They moan over their poor helath thinking nothing will help them, when a trial of Hostetter's bitters will cure their ailments. It brings steady, vigorous nerves to nervous people. It purifies the blood, tones up the stomach, and brings back real health by making indigestion and constipation impossible. It is absolutely the greatest remedy known for all stomach troubles, and is to be found in every drug store.

Red Men Elect Officers.

CONTRACT IS MADE

Council Accepts G. A. Wieland's Proposition For Steam Ferry Service.

HULL WILL BE USED

Capt. Lloyd's Boat Will Be Used If It Is Satisfactory.

The council last evening accepted a proposition from G. A. Wieland for a steam ferry service at the canal, trips to be every fifteen minutes during the day and half hourly through the night, and directed the board of public works to enter into a contract with Mr. Wieland. The contract is to be for two years at $500 per month, with the privilege on the city's part of terminating the contract at the end of a year on payment of $17 per day.

The boat to be used is the Charles B. Hull, the one that Capt. J. D. Lloyd named in his proposition. If it does not prove satisfactory at the end of a trial of sixty days, another is to be substituted. The schedule provides for 15-minute trips from 6 a. m. to 10 p. m., and 30-minute service the balance of the twenty-four hours. Freight is not to be transferred between 6 and 9 a. m. and between 5 and 10 p. m.

Capt. Lloyd's proposition named a rate of $17 per day. He informed the council in a communication last night that he had disposed of the boat to Mr. Wieland.

Two petitions for a fire engine at West Duluth were received, one from all the lumber interests represented there and the other by the business men in general. They were referred to the fire department committee.

"What's that, the fire commissioners?" gasped Alderman Sang, jumping up and looking as if he had gotten hold of something that did not taste good.

He was informed that it had gone to the fire department committee, whereupon he took a turn for the better.

Alderman Cromwell called up his resolution for a new sidewalk on Sixth avenue west, from Superior street to Michigan street, which was tabled last week, and the council had another lively round over it. Alderman Carey suggested that the board of public works should assess part only to the property owners and the rest to the general fund, and he and President Crassweller got into an argument as to whether the general fund can be changed for that purpose.

Alderman Sang bethought him of a scheme to get the matter hung up for another week, and moved that it be referred to the city attorney for advice as to whether the whole amount can be assessed to the property owners. This is the procedure laid down and followed, but the motion answered the purpose and the matter went over.

A request was received from the board of fire commissioners for an additional appropriation of $2500 for the year, on account of extra expense incurred, among them being repairing No. 3 engine and the roof of No. 6 engine house, and the necessity of retaining the fire warden and blacksmith, who were not included in the board's estimate. Referred to the fire department and auditing and finance committee.

A communication from a number of residents of the easterly side of St. Croix avenue was received protesting against the location of a saloon on that side of the avenue. Referred.

The report of the special committee on plan of settlement of delinquent assessments in judgment in the comptroller's office was tabled to await the decision as to the legality of the refunding bond issue.

The city attorney reported on the claim of M. Fitzgerald for $289 for excavating the force main trench between Fifty-fourth and Sixtieth avenues east, to the effect that Mr. Fitzgerald seemed to have an equitable claim for remuneration, and that the city attorney would recommend that he be paid if the money could be taken out of the amount going to the Carroll-Porter company, the principal contractor. The report was referred to the committee on claims and accounts.

The council adjourend to 4:30 Saturday afternoon to pass the pay rolls, so that the city employes can have their money for the Fourth.

CASS LAKE PROTESTS.

The Indians Want the Town to Remain.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Referring to a telegram published in your issue of June 25, I would like to call your attention to some very important errors in same, especially with reference to the discussed removal of all white settlers from the reservation by the reported finding of the secretary of interior. Your dispatch from Cass Lake stating that "intense excitement prevails," and implying that such an order has been received is absolutely and unqualifedly false. The press dispatches that indicated that such an order was on the way naturally created sufficient interest to invite discussion, and a volunteer committee interviewed the most prominent Indians with reference to their grievances against the town of Cass Lake. After a most exhaustive canvass the committee reports that practically the only grievance they have is that outsiders and not the citizens of Cass Lake are securing vast quantities of fish, and they fear that it will finally result in depriving them of a large revenue from the sale of fish which they have heretofore received. Summing up the situation briefly, the Indians are practically a unit in desiring the town of Cass Lake to remain. As to the removal of the shops, etc., as quoted in your dispatch of the 25th inst., that is mere bosh, as the Great Northern holds sufficient right-of-way to maintain all necessary buildings for the operation of the road. It is entirely unfair to this community for the newspapers to publish reports that are not sustained by the facts, and the writer hopes that you will give the denial as prominent a place in your paper as the report had.

The report that the Indians are hostile to Cass Lake and its citizens is ridiculously false. The investigation as above reported by our committee proves this. As the receipts at the railway station here are in excess of $4000 per month and as this amount is indicated by the payment on freight shipments from Duluth, Minneapolis and St. Paul it is hard to grasp the press of the above named towns will urge on their boards of trade and commercial clubs, such action as will be necessary to secure the rescinding of this most unjust and arbitrary order. The citizens of Cass Lake invite the most careful and thorough investigation of their claims to being a most law-abiding and enterprising community, and feel that their claim to remaining permanently in their present location is both just and fair.

No armed resistance is thought of or talked of. We are not Filipinos or even Spaniards. We are all Americans and will bow to whatever the law decrees as final, though we seek the right of respectful protest. J. W. GREGG.

HEIRS TO FORTUNE

Archibald B. Kent and Mrs. Frank A. Densmore Receive Pleasing News.

FROM A RICH UNCLE

Uncle In London Leaves $600,000, of Which They Get One-Third.

Archibald B. Kent and his sister, Mrs. Frank A. Densmore, both of 1525 London road, were notified yesterday that they were heirs to $200,000. The fortune was left them by their uncle, E. P. Bailey, a wealthy capitalist and mine owner of London, who died last March.

The news of their great good fortune reached Mr. Kent and his sister by a letter from their parents, who are now in England looking after the estate of the deceased uncle, and while Mrs. Densmore and Mr. Kent are sure to get $200,000, they may get much more, as they are entitled to one-third of the estate, on which a low estimate places $600,000 as the value.

E. P. Bailey was a brother of Mrs. Kent. He has lived in London most of his life, though he had an elegant home at Brighton, the celebrated English watering place. For a time he lived in Paris. In early life he was in business with his father manufacturing laces in London, but he made most of his money in real estate investments and mining. In the estate are 200 houses, mostly in or near London. Some time before his death Mr. Bailey purchased a mine in Wales, and it is the exact value of this mine that is keeping the heirs in suspense. Recent reports say it is very valuable.

Mr. Bailey had one son, W. R. Bailey who was one of the first Americans to die in the Spanish war. Young Bailey was in this country when the war broke out and enlisted in New Orleans. While in camp at Tampa he was stricken down with fever and died in a few weeks. Prior to his enlisting in the United States army he had been service in the British army in India. He was the sole heir to his father's large fortune, and with his death the estate went to a number of immediate relatives, and the Kent family comes in for a third.

Archibald B. Kent and his brother-in-law, Frank A. Densmore, are employed with the Marshall-Wells Hardware company. Mr. Kent is bookkeeper, and he lives with Mr. and Mrs. Densmore out at 1525 London road. They have a very pretty little home and say that their fortune will not alter their present plans any. They do not know what they will do with 200 houses. Some of Mr. Densmore's relatives were in the New Richmond cyclone, and Mrs. Densmore laughingly suggested that they might have a cyclone to help them solve the perplexing question.

Land Office Officials Have a Difficult Description to Locate.

An example of the early method of locating land in Northern Minnesota came up in the land office this morning. Receiver M. D. Taylor of the St. Cloud district requested the local officials to locate a piece of usurveged land from a very unusual description. The land was covered over twenty years ago by Sioux half-breed script by a John McGuire. It is located in Itasca county, somewhere near the horse-shoe bend of the Bow String river. The only description given the local officials on which to mark it is that "it commences at a white pine tree, near the southeast corner of a clearing, near the southwest corner of what is known as Horse Shoe bend, on what is known as the Ka-ja-an-nik-a-man river." In view of the fact that the Bow String country is a very big country, and there are a number of clearings with southeast corners in them, the local officials realize that they have a very difficult problem to solve.

Camp Ramsey Money For Duluth Volunteers Will Amount to $2500.

The members and ex-members of the local National Guard are becoming somewhat anxious over the delay of the state in not paying the money for service at Camp Ramsey as provided for in the Pugh bill, which passed at the last session of the legislature. There has been a rumor about town that the money was being held till the time of encampment so that it would be spent in Minneapolis and St. Paul. The officers of the guard who claim to be in close touch with the adjutant general's office say that the report is without the slightest foundation. They say that the money for the local companies may be here this week and it is almost certain to be here next week. The delay is caused by the press of work in the adjutant general's office and the large amount of extra work in making out the extra pay roll for 2000 men. Special checks had to be printed and these checks were turned over to the adjutant general's office last Saturday. A force of clerks is now busy making out the checks and after they are made out will have to be signed. There are 2000 or more of these checks, and the amount to be paid the troops, exclusive of the Thirteenth regiment now in the Philippines, will be in the neighborhood of $23,000. Of this Duluth will get about $2500. Each enlisted man is entitled to $10 for the Camp Ramsey period of duty.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In your issue of June 26 an article appeared, criticising the views of "A Man," who contributed an item on this subject in your paper of June 23. It is quite evident from the tone in which he expressed his views that he sought to undermine the intentions and facts quoted by "the man," and exposed his own ignorance. Who this Wojcek Cezpinski, M. D. might be is a conundrum. He produces no argument and fails to answer a single assertion. Possibly being an ass, it would fail a generation of scientists to pump into his cranium the brains of an ape; one thing sure, the average patient would rather employ a different kind of M. D. than Wojcek Cezpinski.

QUESTION SETTLED

City Can Secure Gas Engines to Run Electric Light Plant.

IT SEEMS CHEAPER

Power Produced By Gas Appears Much Cheaper Than By Steam.

The light and water committee of the council has received a proposition from a manufacturer of gas engines to supply for the proposed electric light plant two 250-horse power and one 100 or 150-horse power engine at a cost, including the foundations for the engines, but little above the city engineer's estimate of the cost of three steam engines for the plant, which is $13,590. The question of whether large enough gas engines could be obtained was one of the main considerations with the committee, and this has now been settled.

The maker who submits the proposition states that engines of 1500 horse power of this make are in successful operation, and that the engines it is proposed to furnish the city will be guaranteed for five years.

The engines can be operated, it is said, at a cost that will bring the cost of operation of the plant well under $25,000 per annum. They are stated to consume sixteen feet of gas per horse power per hour. It is estimated that 400 lights would be sufficient, and estimating one horse power per light, the consumption for a 9½-hours' run would be 60,800 feet. It is believed by the committee that the gas can be produced by the city for less than 25 cents per 1000 feet. The plant is amply capable of producing the additional amount of gas required, and it is asserted that no additional help would be required. On this basis the average cost per night for 400 lights would be $15.20, but to allow ample leeway, the estimate may be fixed at about $18 per night.

In addition to the low cost of operation, there is urged in favor of the gas engines the complete stoppage of expense for fuel and a reduction, at least, in the cost of attendance when the plant is not running.

It is thought that arrangements may be made with the new telephone company so that the light cables may be carried on the telephone poles. To carry out this plan the poles would have to be higher, but the additional cost would be a bagatelle as compared with the cost of putting in separate poles for the light plant.

Another saving, and a great one, in the cost of operation, can be effected by the use of the improved light, which runs 100 hours without attention, making it necessary to look after the lamps but once a week instead of every day, as at present. The cost of attendance on the lamps is one of the chief factors in the cost of operation.

There is, it has been ascertained, ample room at the gas works to put in the gas engines.

It is thought that the committee will report Monday night.

TELLS HOW IT WAS.

Mr. Spencer Explains How Kiley Infants Were Arrested.

Assistant City Attorney Spencer says that he had not seen the Kiley children, for instituting proceedings against whom on the charge of stealing twenty peonies he had been criticised on account of their youth, when neither the complainant and that he did not know how young they were until they appeared in court. When Mr. Palmer made complaint to him, Mr. Spencer says, Detective Donovan was sent to investigate the cause and he reported that they were quite large children. The detective stated that the children had taken the flowers and sold them at the disorderly houses on St. Croix avenue. Mr. Spencer says that he gathered from all that he heard that they were about the statutory age, of 7, at least. When they were brought into court, Mr. Spencer says he at once made up his mind that the case should be dismissed. It appeared, however, that the children had been bothering the neighbors a good deal, and as the father did not seem inclined to restrain them the case was continued, Mr. Spencer says, to see if some means could not be devised to reach the parents. The children went into Mr. Palmer's house and took the peonies, Mr. Spencer says.

Police Court Victims.

In Judge Edson's court this morning Frank Williams was found guilty of stealing a hat from L. Oreckovsky's store on the Bowery Saturday night. He was fined $35 and costs, with thirty days in jail as the alternative. He went up.

The charge against Nick Klinch of failing to support his wife was dismissed on motion of the assistant city attorney.

James Dillon, Daniel Dwyer and James Johnson pleaded guilty of drunkenness and went up for ten days.

He Pleaded Guilty.

Bert Bellinger, who was arrested on the charge of assaulting Mary Schuman at the stage employe's picnic at Brannigan's garden Sunday and who pleaded not guilty in police court yesterday morning, withdrew his plea yesterday afternoon and pleaded guilty. A fine of $10 was imposed, which was paid.

Suit For Ejectment.

Lewis N. Worthington this morning began suit against Anton Kluczynski and others to have them evicted from land that he claims belongs to him. The property is lots 17 and 18, block 91, Duluth proper, Third division, and the plaintiff claims that the defendants have been unlawfully occupying it for several years. He asks for $300 damages, $300 rent, and the possession of the property. Crassweller & Crassweller are the attorneys.

MORE CHEAP RATES VIA THE "MILWAUKEE."

Cheap excursion rates have been arranged by the C. M. & St. P. railway to a large number of points in the East, South and West, in regard to which full information should be obtained before itineraries are arranged by those contemplating a business or pleasure trip during the summer. For such information call on "Milwaukee" agents or address J. T. Conley, assistant general passenger agent, St. Paul.

HUNG HIMSELF.

Patrick Rafferty Killed Himself on the Way to Insane Asylum.

Sheriff Sargent received a telegram this morning from Staples to the effect that Patrick Rafferty, who left here last night in charge of a couple of deputies who were to take him to the insane asylum at Fergus Falls, hung himself in the jail at Staples during last night.

No particulars were received, though a second telegram was looked for up to a late hour this afternoon. The telegram received this morning briefly stated that Rafferty hung himself in the jail. There is a wait of three hours at Staples on the way to Fergus Falls from here, and when the deputies are on their way down with a violent patient they usually take him over to the jail and leave him between trains, so that they will not have to guard him in the depot. This is probably what was done in this case. It is not known how the man managed to hang himself in the jail.

Rafferty was brought down from Biwabik a few days ago on a charge of drunkenness and lodged in the county jail. He had been working in the mines at Biwabik, and it is said that when he was drunk he had a way of making things hum around town. Sunday night in the jail Rafferty kicked up a row that kept all of the prisoners and the turnkey awake all night. Yesterday information of insanity was filed against him in probate court, and his examination took place yesterday afternoon.

There was no question of his insanity, and he was committed to the asylum at Fergus Falls. Last night he left for that place in charge of Deputy Sheriffs Mahoney and Haire, and this morning the telegram received here saying that he had hung himself. Rafferty said yesterday in probate court that he had been in the vicinity of Duluth for six years. He said that he was not crazy, but complained that he had a large number of enemies who were conspiring to put him out of the way, a very common hallucination.

TO STAY HERE.

Maj. C. B. Sears Will Not Be Removed to Porto Rico.

Maj. Sears will not leave Duluth at present. He will remain in charge of the harbor work of this district indefinitely. This good news was given out this afternoon upon the receipt of a telegram from the assistant adjutant general's office in Washington revoking the order transferring Maj. Sears from this district to take charge of the extensive harbor improvements in Porto Rico.

"That means that I will stay in Duluth and be able to finish the work begun here," said Maj. Sears, with a smile that showed very clearly that he was gratified by the change of orders. "I was both surprised and gratified to get this order," said he, 'not that I did not want to go to Porto Rico or anywhere that the government chooses to send me, but that I will now be enabled to see the improvements of this district finished, as I had hoped to, and I can remain in Duluth."

The order revoking the assigning of Maj. Sears to the Porto Rico district is a result of the pressure brought to bear on the war department to keep him here. When the news was announced several weeks ago, the marine interests of Marquette, Ashland, Bayfield, Superior and Duluth petitioned the department to revoke the order. On the recent visit of Secretary Alger to this city a large number of men prominent in local shipping and marine circles called on the secretary individually and asked him to have Maj. Sears continued here.

INDEPENDENT TELEPHONES.

The Association Said to Be In Prosperous Condition.

Chicago, June 27.—The third annual convention of the Independent Telephone association met here today, attended by 350 delegates from eighteen states. President James H. Thomas, of Chillicothe, Ohio, delivered an address.

"The year just closing," said Mr. Thomas, "finds the independent telephone interests with sufficient capital at its command to carry on the work. There are now 2300 telephone companies under the independent system operating 575,000 instruments, representing an investment of $55,000,000."

During the afternoon session a number of papers were read.

Dancing Class.

There will be a dance at Harmony hall tonight. Admission 25 cents.

The "Mystic Midgets."

There was a full rehearsal for the "Mystic Midgets" in the rooms of the Twentieth Century club this morning, and if rehearsals are reliable indications the presentation of this charming operetta will be a great success. It is to be given in the Lyceum Friday evening and Saturday afternoon for the benefit of the Children's home. As the time for the presentation draws near many new features are being added. One of the many features will be a fancy dance by eighteen young society girls. There will be elaborate costumes and special scenery. In fact nothing seems to have been overlooked that could in any way add to the beauty of the affair, and now the members of the Home board are only anxious for the financial success. The women having the entertainment in charge are: Mrs. E. S. Upham, Mrs. W. T. Bailey, Mrs. William White, committee on rehearsals and music; Mrs. John B. Adams, Mrs. B. Heller and M. R. Baldwin, committee on costumes. The committee having in charge the sale of tickets is Mrs. Victor Stearns and Mrs. W. W. Bouth.

HONOR THE FOUNDER.

Twentieth Century Club Gives Miss Statham a Reception.

The handsome rooms of the Twentieth Century club never looked prettier than at the reception given in honor of Miss Mary B. Statham last evening. All the club women of the city gathered to honor the founder of the club. Mrs. Morrison presided and opened the program with a short address of welcome and congratulation. She then introduced Miss Statham, who was given an ovation as she rose to speak. Miss Statham thanked the audience and said that the very fact that the members of the club were paying her the honor as founder was an evidence of the unselfishness and generosity of the women. She spoke of the progress of the Twentieth Century club with its 390 members, and of the general progress of women's clubs.

The musical program consisted of excellent solos by Mrs. Emily Ellis Woodward and Mrs. John Loman.

Dalton & Dalton Will Build a New Sawmill In West Duluth.

THEY WANT MUSIC

West Duluth People Want an Appropriation For Summer Band Music.

The firm of Dalton & Dalton, Canadian lumbermen who own an extensive block of pine lands on the north shore of Lake Superior, are negotiating for a site for a sawmill in West Duluth. It is reported that the matter is practically settled, and that the mill is to be located at the foot of Fifty-ninth avenue. A representative of the firm was in West Duluth recently, returning to Canada yesterday. He stated that a mill of large capacity would be erected by his firm in the near future, but that the matter of location was not definitely settled.

FIRE PROTECTION AND MUSIC.

Two petitions were circulated here yesterday, and both received the signature of practically every business man at this end of the city. One was presented to the council last evening, and was referred to a committee. It prays for an addition to the force of firemen stationed here, and also for the addition of a fire engine to the apparatus at the fire hall.

It is the general belief here that the present force is much too small, and that the equipment does not afford the fire protection that the important interests at this end of the city demand.

It is claimed that frequently but five men are on duty when a fire alarm is turned in, that two of these must attend to the horses, which leaves but three men to fight fire after the scene of the blaze is reached. It is argued that at least ten men should be stationed here. The need of a fire engine closer than the West End was demonstrated at the recent fires in the lumber mill yards. Before an engine can reach the docks there is time for thousands of dollars' worth of property to go up in smoke. The mills are all equipped with fire fighting apparatus, and it is claimed that but for this fact the recent fires would have proved serious indeed. As it was, they succeeded in keeping down the blaze until the city's department arrived.

The second petition, just as generally signed, was one to the board of park commissioners asking for an appropriation of $400 to pay the West Duluth band for a series of sixteen open-air evening concerts during the summer months. An appropriation of $100 was made for this purpose last year. It is argued that as West Duluth has no public parks, and as its property owners pay a tax annually for the support of parks in other parts of the city, it is but fair that the people of this end of the city should be afforded some outdoor pleasure at the public expense, and this desire takes expression in the demand for band concerts. The band is rapidly improving, and deserves well of the community. It is the general hope that the park board will deal liberally in the matter this year.

HE WILL BE CALLED.

Rev. Grammo, of New Hampshire, who is attending the national meeting of the Norwegian Lutherans in St. Paul, occupied the pulpit of the Norwegian Lutheran church of West Duluth last Sunday. He created a favorable impression, and the church trustees will extend him a call to locate here permanently, and it is understood that he will accept.

JONES APPROVES.

St. Louis, June 27.—Ex-Governor William J. Stone today received a letter from Senator Jones of Arkansas, chairman of the Democratic national committee, dated at London, in which the senator gives his most hearty approval of the July meeting of the national committee. Senator Jones says his health has improved wonderfully, and that he expects to return home about Sept. 1. Doubtless the official call for the meeting will be sent out within the next two days. It is expected that every state will be represented at the meeting, as important business will be up for consideration.

HOW IT SPREADS.

People Are Talking All Over Duluth. This Report Comes From Third Street West.

How it spreads.
Can't keep a "good thing" down.
Ever notice how good things are imitated?
Better the article, more imitators.
Fortunately the people have a safeguard.
Praise can't be imitated.
And true praise takes root and spreads.
Claim is one thing, proof another.
Claim is what the manufacturer says.
Proof is what the people say.
Duluth people say
Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys.
Cure all kidney ills.
Hundreds of citizens testify to this.
Here is a case in point.

Homer B. Thompson, of 2217 Third street west, employed as filer at the Scott & Holston Lumber company's mills, says: "We have used Doan's Kidney Pills in our family for years, sending to the Eastern states for them as they were not at first on sale here. We never had them fail to give prompt relief whenever the kidneys became inactive or backache threatened. Both myself and Mrs. Thompson had been for years subject to kidney complaint, and nothing we were able to get was successful in removing the trouble. I cannot speak too highly of Doan's Kidney Pills, and never fail to advise others suffering from their kidneys to go to the Duluth Drug company and get a box. They have invariably given satisfaction in every case where we have recommended their use."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers, price 50 cents, or sent by Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y. Sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

HANNA'S PLACE.

A Report Current That H. C. Payne of Wisconsin Will Take It.

Milwaukee, June 27.—A prominent Republican of this city who is a close friend of Henry C. Payne, is authority for the statement that the astute political manager has been asked to take the chairmanship of the Republican national committee, succeeding Mark Hanna, also as chairman of the executive committee. Senator Hanna is not a member of the national committee, while Mr. Payne both represents Wisconsin in that body and is vice-chairman of the executive committee.

It is further asserted that Mr. Payne is now considering the matter and that he is strongly tempted to accept the position, particularly since the pressure that is being brought to bear on him comes from the most influential quarters in Washington and elsewhere. So far has the matter gone that if Mr. Payne can secure the consent of his physician to take up the heavy work of the national chairmanship, it is understood that he will permit himself to be persuaded and will be installed as Senator Hanna's successor in the management of Republican politics late next fall or when the national committee is called together in December to prepare for the work of the presidential campaign of 1900.

Milwaukee, June 27.—Henry C. Payne today denounced as absolutely without foundation a story in a Chicago paper to the effect that he was considering an offer of the chairmanship of the Republican national committee.

ALL HANDS SAVED.

The Entire Crew of the Pawnee Was Picked Up.

New York, June 27.—The following telegram has been received at the office of the Clyde line in this city from its agent at Wilmington, N. C.:

"Pawnee destroyed by fire at midnight Sunday. Crew picked up by the George W. Clyde and arrived here at 11 a. m. All hands saved."

New York, June 27.—The steamer City of Macon, which arrived here today from Savannah, reports that yesterday she passed the burning wreck of the steamer Pawnee, forty miles from Cape Henry. The fate of the Pawnee's crew is unknown. The Pawnee was bound from Brunswick, Ga., for Boston.

The Pawnee, in command of Capt. Ingram, left Brunswick, Ga., on Friday, and Charlotte on Saturday for Boston, laden with lumber and general cargo. The Pawnee was a freight steamer with a crew of thirty-four men, but no passengers. The Pawnee was valued at $60,000 and was insured.

Capt. Savage of the City of Macon said that two or three hours earlier in the morning he passed the Cromwell liner Knickerbocker bound for New Orleans and also another southbound Clyde liner, whose name he was unable to make out, as there was a fog and the smoke of the burning steamer was blown far out to sea. Capt. Savage thinks it possible that the crew were picked up by one or the other of the southbound steamships. The City of Macon went close to the Pawnee. Her stern lights were burning, indicating that the fire started in the night. There was a quiet sea on all the time.

Wilmington, N. C., June 27.—The steamer George W. Clyde, Capt. Robinson, arrived here with Capt. Ingram and the entire crew of twenty-one men from the steamer Pawnee. The Clyde passed the Pawnee of Cuddituck on the North Carolina coast last as flames burst from the hold of the ship at midnight Sunday. The Clyde ran alongside and rescued the crew. The ship and general cargo was lost.

AWFUL CRIME CONFESSED.

Harper, Kan., June 27.—John Kernstadt, a 55-year-old boy, has confessed to having murdered his cousin, Nora, the 10-year-old daughter of Tony Kernstadt, a farmer. He first assaulted her and then threw her into an abandoned well, where she was found last Wednesday. She was alive when found but died an hour later without recovering consciousness. The youth was taken to Wichita for fear of mob violence.

DISCUSSED THE TREATY.

Madrid, June 27.—The senate today discussed the treaty of peace with the United States. Senor Montero Rios, who was president of the Spanish peace commissioners in the negotiations at Paris, urged the government immediately to appoint Spanish consuls in Spain's former colonies, that the Spaniards there might be enabled to decide whether to retain their Spanish nationality.

In the chamber of deputies Senor Silvela again denied the reports of the sale of Fernando Po, which, he added, would be of great importance to Spain in the future.

CROSSES TO SIBERIA

Rich Mineral Belt of the Yukon Crosses Into That Country.

Seattle, Wash., June 27.—The latest advices from the newly discovered gold fields at Cape Nome, Alaska, are contained in a letter from Maj. E. S. Ingraham, of Seattle, who writes under date of Feb. 2, 1899. Maj. Ingraham is the leader of a party of fourteen men who were fited out by Prince Luigi of Italy and local business men. He went first to Kotzebue sound, but finding nothing there, crossed overland to Cape Nome with a portion of the party, enduring considerable hardship. Maj. Ingraham writes:

"On Sept. 25 at 6 p. m. the men went to work test claims, some on Snow creek and the rest on Anvil creek. The best pan was obtained on Snow creek and amounted to $8.52. The aggregate of four days' work was $4 less than $1800. The gold was of good quality and sold at St. Michael without assay for $16.87 per ounce. On account of the lateness of the season and lack of supplies no attempt to reach bed rock was made. The news soon spread and there had been a constant arrival of prospectors from Unalaska, St. Michael and as far south as Kuskoquim. Fully 500 locations have been made to date.

"Two other districts have been organized, one at Lime creek beyond Cape Rodney and the other with Bonanza creek as a center.

"The rich finds at Cape Nome and on the Ne-Uek-Luck, a tributary of Fish river, prove beyond doubt that the rich mineral belt of the Yukon crosses to Siberia. Pay dirt is reported to have been struck on a river flowing into the chain of lakes having outlet at Port Clarence.

"Before starting from Kotzebue sound Dec. 15, 1898, prospectors had come in from the Noatak, reporting the discovery of a rich and extensive mineral belt north of the river. In November, 1898, there was a stampede from among the prospectors wintering on the Kowak, to reported rich diggings on the Alashuck, a tributary of the Kyukuk.

"There is no doubt that next summer will witness emarkable developments in the vicinity of Golovin bay."

THE EDMONTON TRAIL.

It Gets Another Hard Knock From Seattle Sources.

Seattle, June 27.—W. D. Doolittle, of Irvington, N. J., has arrived here after undergoing fearful experience during the past year. He attempted to enter the Alaskan gold fields over the Edmonton route, but failed and returned to Telegraph crek out of food and just able to make his wants known. He said:

"I have witnessed people coming in with hands and feet frozen, starving and suffering with scurvy. Of fourteen men on Telegraph creek, nine perished in a snow storm. Three men were found dead in a cabin at Moose lake. They died from scurvy. They were the Allison brothers of Kent, England, and Carter, of New Zealand. The latter part of May, Porter, the government agent at Telegraph creek, sent a relief party into the Liard district, consisting of two Indian guides and four white men. They had a scow load of provisions, which they distributed among the needy people, numbering about 700."

THE ADAMS MINE FIRE.

Water Supply Gone and This Will Cripple Operations.

Eveleth, June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fire that started in No. 2 shaft at the Adams mine yesterday morning about 7 o'clock entirely destroyed it. It being the source of the water supply for the mine all water was cut off and the mine fire department was useless as was also the city fire department, hose sufficient to reach the fire not being obtainable. Several men were more or less injured, some being badly burned. They were immediately taken to Dr. More's office, where Drs. More, Barrett, Shaw and West and Druggist P. E. Dowling bandaged up their burns after which the most injured were removed to the hospital. The burning of this shaft will greatly cripple the Adams mine, as it being the only source of water supply for the mine the other two shafts will be hampered for water until this shaft is repaired. The cause of the fire is unknown. Several hundred men will be temporarily thrown out of work, pending the erection of another shaft house.

W. A. Thomas, of Miles, Ohio, was looking over the ruins here Saturday afternoon.

E. R. Fitch, of Two Harbors, and J. O. Shedholt, of Virginia, were Sunday visitors here.

F. J. Clark, of Leverne, Pa., was here Saturday visiting friends and acquaintances.

Professor A. W. Rankin, state inspector of graded schools was here Friday in company with E. Z. Griggs, treasurer of school district No. 22, and Professor William Park, of Virginia.

Rev. P. O. Hanson left Monday evening for Duluth.

A cutting affray occurred at the Fayal location Sunday afternoon in which two Austrians were quite severely injured. The injured men were taken to the hospital and are rapidly recovering while the offenders were promptly placed in jail to await a hearing.

WISCONSIN FIRE UNDERWRITERS.

Milwaukee, June 27.—The Wisconsin fire underwriters organized yesterday and elected the following officers: President, E. J. Tapping, Milwaukee; vice president, E. F. Baker, of Portage; P. P. McDermott, of Fond du Lac; James Jenkins, of Oshkosh; W. H. Hardyke, of Milwaukee; secretary and treasurer. F. C. Hazleton, of Janesville. The association starts with a membership of 100.

BURROWS IS CAUSTIC.

Painesville, Ohio, June 27.—Senator Burrows of Michigan is visiting here. In an interview today he declared that his colleague, Senator McMillan, would be a candidate to succeed himself and would be re-elected next year. Concerning Secretary Alger's alliance with Governor Pingree, Senator Burrows said he thought the secretary had destroyed what chance he might have had to go to the senate by making such an alliance.

Marquette—There are 171,264 acres of primary school lands remaining unsold. Most of these lands are in Alger, Chippewa, Baraga, Delta, Gogebic, Houghton, Luce, Mackinac, Marquette, Ontonago, Oscoda and Schoolcraft counties. The school lands have heretofore been held at $1 per acre and the most desirable portions have been sold. In consequence, Land Commissioner French has withdrawn from the market the lands unsold pending a reappraisement of their value.

Menominee—Word has been received of an accident at Holmes Dams on Pike river, thirty miles from here, in which six lives were lost. A party was about rowing in a duck boat, when a squall came up, capsizing it. The names of the victims are: William Schuble and two sons, aged 11 and 7 years; Miss Stella, a daughter, aged 18; Charles Anderson, Gust Frederickson. The last two were section hands residing at Kirton, Mich. The bodies were recovered.

Negaunee—The Cleveland-Cliffs company has an option on the Hartford mine, located near the Cambria and Lillie mines, and the property may be purchased by that company. The Hartford is known to be mining quite an extensive body of ore. Although near the Cambria and Lillie mines, Hartford is not working in the deposits mined by those companies, as its shaft has not been sunk deep enough. It is believed that further sinking would reach the deposit worked by the older mines. The Hartford is not an idle property, and its manager, Benjamin Neely, Sr., has pumped it out this spring preparatory to the usual production.

LITTLE CHANGE.

The Louisville Convention Yet Unable to Choose a Nominee For Governor.

Louisville, Ky., June 27:—The belligerency of the delegates to the state Democratic convention to all appearances passed with the night. Chairman Redwine this morning ordered the first ballot for governor without arousing a word of protest. It proceeded in a humdrum way, the three candidates dividing the vote just about as they have from the start. Conferences between the Stone and Hardin managers lasted until late in the night without bringing them nearer to an agreement. They have nothing in common save opposition to Goebel, and that cause does not appeal strongly enough to their followers to bring about a working agreement. The whole contest still swings around the unmalleable Kenton county man, who has from the start played his hand coldly and skillfully and has not yet lost a trick. The drift of the Hardin-Stone coalition is strongly toward Hardin in preference to Stone but there is no sign yet that it can be made effective.

The first ballot this morning, the fourteenth since voting began, resulted: Stone, 378; Hardin, 358; Goebel, 356.

After the fifteenth, sixteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth ballots were taken today the result stood: Stone 374; Hardin, 370; Goebel, 348.

The nineteenth ballot: Stone, 374; Hardin, 366; Goebel, 352.

The balloting proceeded monotonously without important change until 11 o'clock, when a motion to adjourn until 3 o'clock was made by the Goebel people and carried.

YELLOW FEVER IN HAVANA.

Thirteen Cases to Date of Which Five Were Fatal.

Havana, June 27.—There have been thirteen cases of yellow fever in Havana this year. Of this number 5 were fatal and 8 recovered. Of the deaths, 1 was on board a ship in the harbor, 1 was the case of a marine, 1 soldier died and 2 civilians were fatally stricken. At present there is no case of yellow fever existing in Havana.

Collector Bliss expects that the customs receipts for June will exceed $1,000,000.

THE CRICKETERS.

London, June 27.—In the cricket match which was begun at Derby yesterday between the Derbyshire eleven and the Australians, the latter was all out today in their first innings for 533 runs. The home team yesterday was all out in its first innings for 123 runs. At the close of play today the Derbyshire players in their second innings had scored 20 runs for two wickets down.

COLUMBIA-DEFENDER RACE.

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave Gen. Burnham, of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she could not live till morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night. "All thought she must soon die from pneumonia, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, saying it had more than once saved her life, and she had cured her of consumption. After three small doses she slept easily all night, and its further use completely cured her." This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all throat, chest and lung diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at W. A. Abbett's drug store.

THE PRESIDENT'S RETURN.

Trip Cut Short Owing to Mrs. McKinley's Illness.

Washington, June 27.—The president and Mrs. McKinley, with the other members of their party, arrived here at 10:30 a. m. today and were immediately driven to the White House. Mrs. McKinley, whose illness cut short the president's stay at Adams, stood the journey very well and was slightly better on arrival. She contracted a cold while in New England and the change of the weather seemed to affect her so that it was deemed wise for her to return to the White House. Her condition is not considered either serious or alarming and she is expected to recuperate rapdly.

With the president and Mrs. McKinley were Mrs. Abner McKinley, Mrs. Sarah Duncan, of Cleveland; Miss Ida Barber, of Canton, and Dr. Rixey, the president's physician; Acting Secretary Cortelyou and Rudolph Forster.

Owing to the sudden and unexpected return of the president there will be no cabinet meeting today, although this is the regular day for the assembling of the president's councillors. It is possible, however, that a special meeting may be called for tomorrow to consider the question of additional troops for the Philippines.

Dr. Rixey said on leaving the White house half an hour after the arrival of the presidential party that Mrs. McKinley's condition need cause no alarm. "I expect her to recover rapidly," said he. "She will probably be sitting up this afternoon."

Many people called during the day to inquire concerning Mrs. McKinley's health. The president remained at his wife's bedside for a time, and then went to his office, where he found that many matters requiring his attention had accumulated during his absence. On this account he denied himself to the general public. He received Secretary Long during the morning about some departmental matters.

Asked about the question of additional troops in the Philippines, the secretary said all the troops Gen. Otis needed would be sent to him, but Gen. Otis had up to this time refrained from asking for more. Besides little could be accomplished during the rainy season in the way of active campaigning.

VACANCIES FILLED.

New Haven, Conn., June 27.—The alumni of Yale university today elected Henry F. Dimock, of New York, and Alfred L. Ripley, of Boston, members of the corporation to succeed the late Edward G. Mason, of Chicago, and F. J. Kingsbury, of Waterbury, Conn., who decline a re-election.

ROCKEFELLER RETURNS.

Seattle, June 27.—John D Rockefeller, the Standard Oil magnate, and party arrived from Alaska yesterday. After a brief stop in this city the party left for the East.

Why is Electric Light Best?

Because it is Healthy, Clean, Pure and Brilliant.

HEALTHY! It has no odor. Professor Thomson states one cubic foot of gas consumes as much oxygen as four adults.

CLEAN! It causes no discolorations of furnishings and decorations in homes.

SAFE! As electric bell work, no danger of suffocation.

CHEAP! By using a little care in turning off lights when not in use it is cheaper than any other illuminant.

MILWAUKEE'S CARNIVAL.

A Pretty Parade Was the Feature of the Day.

Milwaukee, June 28.—One of the prettiest attractions of carnival week was the floral parade which moved this afternoon. Ex-Governor George Peck was grand marshal of the pageant, which surpassed all expectations.

About fifty vehicles took part in the pageant. Governor Roosevelt of New York, the city's honored guest on this occasion, occupied the first carriage in line, a handsome victoria, accompanied by Governor Scofield and Acting President Edward P. Hackett of the Carnival association. The governor's carriage was distinguished from the rest in its decorations.

Following the leader came Mayor Rose and wife in a magnificent victoria decorated with pink roses. Then came a long string of handsome turnouts, including phaetons, runabouts, spiders, carts, drags, etc., occupied by society leaders of the city. The gowns of the ladies were most fetching. The vehicles were decorated in the most exquisite designs with vari-colored chrysanthemums roses, peonies, poppies, pond lilies, fleur de lis, snowballs, etc.

Mrs. George W. Peck, Jr., had charge of the plans, and it is estimated that 250,000 flowers have been required to decorate the carriages.

Governor Roosevelt was given an enthusiastic reception all along the line.

An informal reception was held at the Milwaukee Press club in honor of Governor Roosevelt this morning, after which he took luncheon at the Milwaukee club. The governor left for the East at 3:15 p. m.

ANOTHER CONFERENCE.

London, June 28.—United States Ambassador Choate had another conference this afternoon at the foreign office with the marquis of Salisbury on the subject of the Alaskan boundary dispute.

MAKES A DISCOVERY.

London, June 28.—The Pall Mall Gazette says it has discovered in London two members of the Clan-na-Gael from the United States who are en route to the Transvaal and trying to enlist money and men in support of the Boers.

TROOPS FOR OTIS

Will Have Forty Thousand Men When the Rainy Season Closes.

TO ENLIST RECRUITS

For Three Years and For Service In the Regular Army.

Washington, June 28.—Secretary Alger, Adjt. Gen. Corbin and Col Bird, assistant quartermaster in charge of transportation, had an hour's consultation with the president today relative to the question of reinforcements for Gen. Otis. A definite decision has been reached to continue recruiting men at all the recruiting stations for service in the Philippines and Secretary Alger said when he left the White House after the conference that Gen. Otis would have 40,000 men when the rainy season closed for a resumption of active operations.

There are seventy recruiting stations in the United States and enlistments are to be taken at all of these stations. The enlistments are to be for service in the regular army and recruits are to be organized in the regiments or assigned to regiments already formed after enlistment. Gen. Corbin said the enlistments would be for three years, although the law for the creation of the provisional army of 35,000 in excess of the regular army of 65,000 provides only for such a force until 1901.

Arrangements are to be made at once for increasing the transportation necessary to get those additional troops to the Philippines.

The decision to reinforce Gen. Otis by the end of the rainy season is interpreted to mean that aggressive campaigning will cease until the bad weather ends. Until that time our operations will probably be confined to occasional excursions to places in close vicinity to our lines, where the insurgents may have congregated in force. By remaining quiescent under good shelter during the season it is hoped the health of our troops will be conserved and the danger from climatic fevers reduced to a minimum.

Gen. Otis has cabled the war department that he has the skeleton organizations of two or three regiments which it is proposed to raise in the Philippines. At the war department this is said to mean that Gen. Otis has the officers for these regiments selected and that they are ready to be filled with enlisted men. How many of these can be secured from the volunteer regiments now in the Philippines is not known. It is stated at the war department that the recruits now being enlisted at the rate of 1000 a week cannot be used for the volunteer army provided for in the act of March 2, authorizing 35,000 men, although it would be an easy matter to transfer these men with their own consent to the volunteer service if it should be determined to raise additional troops.

ITALY'S ROYAL DECREE.

Intense Excitement When the Vote Comes Up.

Rome, June 28.—Great interest is being taken in today's session of the chamber of deputies. There are apprehensions that it may lead to a ministerial crisis over the royal decree empowering the government to prohibit public meetings, etc., and to punish strikers and those who infringe the press laws.

The extreme Leftists are resolved to resort to every means to postpone a vote approving the measure, so that they may subsequently be able to contest its legality in the courts on the grounds of its being unconstitutional as well as not sanctioned by parliament.

The debate on the navy estimates ought to have been resumed today, but immediately after the sitting was opened Signor Bonacci, minister of justice, moved its suspension on the ground that the chamber should first pronounce an opinion on the royal decree. The house eventually decided to adjourn until this afternoon.

SAMPLES FOR EXPORTATION.

Arrest of a Gang of Fraudulent Business Men.

New York, June 28.—Henry Morgan and Robert Klein, who are alleged to be members of a combination numbering eighteen men engaged in a fraudulent business enterprise, under the firm name of Lyon & Co., operating all over the country, have been arrested here, the other partners in the scheme having been previously captured. They called themselves shipping and commission merchants and, it is alleged, managed to get themselves confounded with a reputable firm of a similar name, which latter is engaged in the Haitian export trade. In the office the police found 100 or more letters from manufacturing concerns throughout the United Sttaes which showed that carloads of goods were on their way to New York for the firm. The police allege that those were secured under false pretenses as "samples for exportation."

ALL-AMERICAN TEAM.

One Is to Be Sent to the Paris Exposition.

Chicago, June 28.—An all-American athletic team, to be made up of the best athletes of American universities, is to be gathered by Walter Camp, Bartow S. Weeks, president of the A. A. U. A. and also executive of the New York Athletic club, and Dr. Paul Neumann of the Chicago Athletic club, to contest in the games at the Paris exposition next summer. The team will not only consist of track and field men, but also rowing, water polo and swimming. Governor Roosevelt of New York, who has been encouraging the venture, has been offered the honorary chairmanship.

KENTUCKY DEMOCRATS.

J. C. W. Beckham Was Nominated For Lieut. Governor.

Louisville, Ky., June 28.—With the star attraction off the board the Democratic state convention did not draw as well this morning. Everybody seemed anious to get through with business, and this was shown by the unanimous adoption of a resolution providing that after the second ballot for minor officers the hindmost candidate be dropped, and that nominating speeches be limited to two minutes. Nominating speeches were then begun.

For lieutenant governor, J. C. W. Beckham, of Nelson; William P. Thorn, of Henry; Maj. Thomas H. Hays, of Louisville; Judge Edward Kelly and M. Kendall were placed in nomination. The first ballot resulted: Beckham, 364; Thorn, 268; Kelly, 226; Hays, 201; Kendall, 39. Maj. Hays withdrew, and a second ballot for lieutenant governor was taken. Beckham had a slight advantage when the roll call was finished, and changes to him in the votes of several large counties soon gave him enough votes for a nomination. Then Kelly and Thorn in turn withdrew, and the nomination was made unanimous.

A HIGH RETURN.

First Test of Baltic Rock Was Very Satisfactory.

Houghton, Mich., June 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first mill run of the Baltic mine, made yesterday, gave returns of 1 8-10 per cent mineral, equal to 1 53-100 refined copper, exclusive of mass copper, which is between one-fourth and one-third of 1 per cent additional. The test is of exceptional interest because the Baltic is the first of the score of new mines, between Houghton and Ontonagon, to begin production, and because the returns secured are higher than secured from any other Lake Superior copper mine except the Calumet and Hecla.

FORMAL ORDER.

Issued By War Department Retaining Maj. Sears at Duluth.

Washington, June 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The assistant secretary of war today issued the following formal order: By direction of the secretary of war, so much of the order as directs Maj. Walter L. Fisk, corps of engineers, upon it being relieved of duty at Portland, Ore., to take the station at Duluth and relieve Maj. Clinton B. Sears, is rescinded. This means, of course, that Maj. Sears is to remain at his present station.

The lastest story in circulation here regarding make-up of committees of the next house is that Representative Burton, of Ohio, chairman of the committee on rivers and harbors at the last session, will be ousted by Gen. Henderson, who will be the next speaker. It is said that Representative Cooper, of Wisconsin, will be Burton's successor. This is doubted here, however, as Representative Babcock of that state is getting one of the biggest positions within Henderson's gift. Burton has been a good friend of the great lakes and it is doubtful if any better man than he can be selected for chairman of the river and harbors committee. Representative Morris is to remain a member of this committee and he will undoubtedly be able to take good care of the interests in his section.

Representative James A. Tawney has settled up his business here and has left for Minnesota. He had little to say today regarding his connection with Gen. Henderson and the latter's makeup of the committees as speaker of the next house, except that the Minnesota congressmen will be well taken care of. Tawney will undoubtedly fare as well as any other member of the North Star state delegation.

* * *

Before his departure for home today Representative Tawney expressed the opinion that President McKinley will not call an extra session of congress. Tawney's idea is his own, however, for he admits that he has not discussed this question with the president. The opinion still prevails here that the president will issue a call for congress to assemble as early as Oct. 1.

NO CHARTER.

American Isthmus Ship Canal Company's Plan Conflicted With New Jersey Laws.

Trenton, N. J., June 28.—Attorney General Gray this morning filed an opinion with the secretary of state advising the refusal of articles of incorporation of the American Isthmus Ship Canal company. The articles provided for an authorized capital of $30,000, with the provision that the capital stock might be increased to $250,000,000 by a vote of the holders of not less than three-fourths of the capital stock. This provision is in conflict with the New Jersey statute, which gives to the holders of two-thirds of the capital stock the power to increase the authorized capital. The secretary of state will later in the day return the papers to the company. The company was intended to be incorporated here to build a ship canal across the isthmus of Panama. Those named as incorporators were Henry Leeds, W. C. Merriam and Juan A. Smith, of Jersey City.

REIFF AND SLOAN WIN.

London, June 28.—At the second day's racing at Newmarket today the duke of Devonshire's 3-year-old filly Varar won the Soaham plate, 200 sovereigns. Lord Beresford's Meta II, with Sloan up, was unplaced. An all-aged selling plate was won by the Sonda colt, ridden by J. Reiff, the American lightweight jockey. Queen's Wake was second and Erlking, with Lester Reiff, brother of the winning jockey, was third. Sloan on Boy of Egremond was unplaced in a field of ten horses. Sloan finished first on Bournebridge in the Plantation stakes. Alve Scott was second and La Carolina filly third. Jolly Tar, ridden by Sloan, won the high-weight handicap. Bridegroom was second and Orecan was third.

NO SUNDAY BALL.

Indianapolis, June 28.—The supreme court today overruled the motion for a rehearing in the Sunday baseball case. This means that there will be no more Sunday baseball in Indianapolis if the mayor enforces the law, which he said he would do.

DEGREE CONFERRED.

Middleton, Conn., June 28.—The degree of LL.D. was conferred on President Arthur T. Hadley, of Yale university, by Wesleyan university today.

SELL TO THE TRUST

Six More Flour Mills In Minneapolis to Go to McIntyre.

THE DEAL IS FIXED

They Are at Present Leased to the Consolidated Milling Company.

Minneapolis, June 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The United States Milling company, popularly known as the flour trust, is now certain to acquire a much larger interest in Minneapolis milling properties than has hitherto been thought possible.

A. C. Loring, J. B. Gilfillan and John Martin, who hold a majority of the stock of the Northwestern Consolidated Milling company, have agreed to sell to Thomas McIntyre, president of the trust, the six smaller mills of this city that it owns, now leased to the Consolidated Milling company. The annual meeting takes place Friday, and the deal will be consummated at that time.

The figure is understood to be in the immediate neighborhood of $1,800,000. There has been a sharp advance in the stock within the past week. Insiders have paid 60 cents for stock which three or four months ago brought less than 4 cents. The capacity of the six mills is 14,000 barrels daily. The company is capitalized at $2,250,000, of which $1,000,000 is preferred stock, and is the third in size and importance of the Minneapolis companies.

The trust now has a total Minneapolis capacity of 34,000 barrels daily, while outside of the trust, in this city, are the Pillsbury-Washburn and Washburn-Crosby companies, aggregating over 25,000 barrels capacity.

GROCERY TRUST

The Wholesalers of Minnesota About to Form a Combine.

Chicago, June 28.—A combination similar to that recently organized by Iowa jobbers is said to have been formed by some of the most prominent wholesale grocers of Minnesota for the purpose of buying goods in large quantities and thus placing themselves in a position better to compel concessions from manufacturing firms.

Full details of the new organization, of which Mr. Cooper, of Griggs, Cooper & Co., of St. Paul, is said to be primemover, have not yet been decided upon. It is asserted that the combination will reduce expenses materially by dismissing about half of the traveling men employed by the individual houses. Other reductions in expenses will be made posible by the combine, and the increased margin of gain will be of material benefit in the active competition with Chicago jobbers.

Duluth wholesale grocers are apparently not in the combination of Minnesota jobbers for the buying of goods in large quantities and the reduction of expenses by reducing the force of traveling men. E. A. Patrick, treasurer and manager of the Stone-Ordean-Wells company said that the proposition had been exploited a number of times, but he thought it was only talk so far.

COMPANY RESPONSIBLE.

Award of Damages In Case of Lost Steamer La Bourgogne.

Paris, June 28.—The action for damages brought by Madame Resal as a result of the loss of her husband by the sinking of the French line steamer La Bourgogne, in collision with the British ship Cromartyshire, July 4, 1898, off Sable island, Nova Scotia, has resulted in a verdict against the company of 100,000 francs, the plaintiff at the same time being debarred from claiming any money lost with M. Resal which may hereafter be recovered. The court found the company responsible for the acts of the captain, who was declared to be at fault in not bringing his ship to a standstill after the collision, in losing time in launching the boats and in not furnishing the passengers with lifeboats.

THE CHESS PLAYERS.

London, June 28.—The twenty-second round of the international chessmasters' tournament was begun at noon today, when the pairing adopted from the second round of the Berger system was as follows: Lasker vs. Mason, Steinitz vs. Tinsley, Maroczy vs. Cohn, Pillsbury vs. Schlechter, Janowski vs. Showalter, Blackburne vs. Lee, Tschigorin and Bird had byes. When an adjournment was taken at 4:30 p. m. Lasker and Mason had drawn; Steinitz had disposed of Tinsley; Maroczy had the better game against Cohn; Pillsbury had the best position against Schlechter, while the games between Janowski and Showalter and Blackburne and Lee were adjourned in even positions.

EXCITEMENT TOO MUCH.

London, June 28.—Miss Ellen C. Johnson, superintendent of the Massachusetts Women's Reformatory prison, died suddenly today at the London residence of Edward Stuart Talbot, D.D., where she was a guest. It is believed she expired from heart failure, resulting from excitement in reading a paper at yesterday's meeting of the International Council of Women. The deceased was attended by Mrs. Dr. Barrows, of Boston.

MRS. McKINLEY BETTER.

Washington, June 28.—The condition of Mrs. McKinley had materially improved this morning. She is still weak, however, and upon the advice of Dr. Rixey, her physician, she did not arise. She passed a comfortable night and has gained strength since she reached the White House yesterday.

LOST AT THE END

Badger Crew Led In 'Varsity Race Almost to the End.

PENNSYLVANIA WON

Wisconsin Coxswain Steered Out of His Course For a Buoy.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 28.—Twenty thousand people saw one of the most exciting 4-mile boat races ever witnessed in the history of college rowing last evening. Five thousand people on the observation train yelled themselves hoarse in frantic appeals to their various college crews to do their best and with the other 15,000 they saw the red and blue carried over the line a winner by a short half length from the Wisconsins, who lost in the last 200 yards by bad steering.

Cornell, the victor of former years, pulled after, four full lengths in the rear and Columbia, never in the fight, after the end of the first mile, trailed in a good three lengths from the stern of the Cornell boat.

It was 7:05 when the third start was given, and this time the crews got away without accident. This start was a beautiful one, the four boats' noses seeming to hang together for the first two strokes. As they settled in the strokes taught them by the various coaches, Wisconsin seemed to be rowing the least number of strokes a minute of any of the crews, but her boat was going faster than any of the others. Wisconsin rowed 32, Pennsylvania 34, Cornell 34 and Columbia 32.

Before the first eighth mile was finished the Wisconsin boat had shoved its nose ahead of the other crews, Cornell second, Pennsylvania hanging well out to her, and Columbia fourth, dropping astern.

When the first half mile was reached, so fast was the Wisconsin boat going that it had taken its whole length ahead of Pennsylvania, and was half a length ahead of the Cornell boat on the extreme east. Columbia was coming, with the nose of her boat just overlapping Pennsylvania.

Frantically the Pennsylvania rooters on the train yelled at their crew, and the broad, brown backs of the Quakers seemed to respond, as in a few minutes they shot their boat up even with the Cornell boat. But to catch Wisconsin was not so easy. On a perfectly even keel, with the bodies going well back together, and the heads seeming as if they would swing off the shoulders, a feature that seemed to make the cries think they would go to pieces after the first mile, the Wisconsin crew flew on.

When the mile was reached, the Wisconsin boat had a lead of a clear length over Pennsylvania, while Cornell was see-sawing for second place. The Wisconsin crew had settled down to a stroke of 32 to a minute, the boat never checking between the strokes, and the blades cutting the water as keenly as a knife.

"Look at those Westerners go," shouted those on the observation train, and Wisconsin stock went up for a little while.

The slow recovery and the slow stroke had behind it a wonderful power, and the Wisconsin boat never checked or stopped as it went toward the second mile.

In the meantime Pennsylvania and Cornell were having as pretty a fight for second place as ever has been seen on the course. Time and time again the Cornell crew put a little more back in the stroke and sent the nose of their boat even with that of the Quakers. But it was quite apparent that there was little chance of their holding it there. Their work was being done spasmodically, and they seemingly made a desperate effort to get to the front and stay there long enough to dishearten their opponents.

When the Wisconsin crew had reached the mile and a quarter point they eased off a trifle in their stroke, rowing for two or three minutes at 32.

At the same time Cornell picked up their stroke and shoved their boat slightly ahead of Pennsylvania and overlapping the stern of the Wisconsin shell.

"Cornell!" came from thousands of throats on the observation boats, and the hope arose that the Cornell crew was going to the front in its usual style. But, with apparent ease, the Wisconsin stroke went up, and the boat shot ahead again a good half length. At the same time Pennsylvania's boat, which had been lagging half a length behind Cornell, shot up even with Cornell, while Columbia, making a desperate effort, placed the nose of its shell near Pennsylvania's stern. At this point it was one of the most beautiful races imaginable, and all rowed with a clean, neat stroke.

Again, as they neared the mile and a half point, Cornell's boat came up even with the Pennsylvania shell, but was unable to catch Wisconsin, which now had a lead over the two crews of three-quarters of a length, and was still going. From this point on to the 2-mile point the Wisconsin boat seemed to fairly fly. Pennsylvania was putting more strength in the oar, but, instead of catching the Badgers, the Westerners' boat drew away from them with ease.

As they passed the 2-mile mark there was a quarter of a length of clear water between the nose of the Pennsylvania shell and the stern of the Wisconsin shell, and then, for the first time, those on the train began to appreciate that Wisconsin was not a 1-mile crew, and that, having pulled through the first two hard miles at such a splendid pace, they were liable to make trouble at the finish.

Cornell was even with Pennsylvania at the mark, and the two crews stayed on even terms until the two mile and a half point was reached. Then the see-sawing began again. Cornell and Pennsylvania alternately forging the noses of their boats ahead of each other in a desperate effort to maintain the second place, while the wonderful Western crew, with the indescribable stroke, with the much-criticised form, kept their shell a length in the van.

Poor Columbia struggled three boat lengths behind, rowing with all the power there was in the boat, when they must have known it was a losing race.

At the two and three-quarter miles' point Cornell began to drop back a little, in spite of the injunctions of the coxswain, who was frantically appealing to his men while Pennsylvania spurted ahead a little, and finally lapped the Wisconsin shell, having a fair length of advantage over Cornell. In the last quarter of the second mile, where the race goes under the great Poughkeepsie bridge, the crews of Pennsylvania and Wisconsin struggled almost like demons, the one to keep the advantage and the other to gain it.

But Wisconsin was rowing better than Pennsylvania. The Quakers' temper was erratic, as they made various spurts in their endeavor to overtake Wisconsin, while the latter was rowing steadily at 32, their backs going backward and forward in absolutely perfect rythm. As they passed under the bridge Wisconsin had a length lead of Pennsylvania and one and a half over Cornell. Just after they passed the bridge Pennsylvania made another endeavor to close up the gap, and did succeed in lapping their boat over the Badgers' stern, but the Westerners immediately responded, increasing their stroke slightly at this time. Cornell's boat was fully two and a half lengths behind Pennsylvania, while Columbia was three lengths to the stern of the Cornell boat.

Passing the three-and-a-quarter miles' point, Pennsylvania hit the stroke up to 35, and there began one of the most exciting contests ever seen in boat racing. Slowly the bow man of the Pennsylvania boat lined up with the coxswain of the Wisconsin boat, but just as he had come on a line with him the Wisconsin crew responded to the spurt and again drew away.

It was at this point that Wisconsin was seen to swerve badly toward the Western shore, and, to the surprise of everybody, maintained this course, although it took them inside of a number of small pleasure boats and fully 500 yards, if they maintained their angle, out of their course at the finish.

Naturally the Pennsylvania boat pulled desperately. The Quakers gained on the Wisconsin boat, and as they passed into the last quarter the noses of the shells were on a line. The Pennsylvania contingent on the train were frantic with joy, and standing up, gave vent to their feelings with yells to the crew to win the race. The Wisconsin boat, unable to turn back into its lane, had found dead water in the lane that they had sought near the shore, and, pull as they would, and as desperately as they did, the nose of the Pennsylvania shell came out, inch by inch, until it crossed the line a scant length ahead of the Badgers' boat.

It was a finish that set wild with delight every lover of good sport. The Cornell boat was fully three lengths to the rear of the Wisconsin boat, while the Columbias finished gamely their stern chase, almost four lengths behind Cornell.

The Associated Press time, as taken very accurately, was 20 minutes 1 3-5 seconds, while the official time given from the referee's boat was 20 minutes 4 seconds. None of the crews was in what could be called a bad condition when they finished.

As soon as their boat was housed the Badgers formed a group about Capt. Sutherland and shook his hand, and then they fairly hugged each other. Their enthusiasm was unbounded, although they were very much disappointed at not finishing first. The eight were unanimous, however, in relieving their coxswain from all blame for steering them out of their course.

The little steersman himself, J. G. Dillen by name, felt very much depressed about the matter, though he made a good defense of his action.

"Just as we were passing under the big bridge," he said, "I noticed a large buoy crate floating right ahead of us, hard on our port bow. In a few seconds we would have struck it, and in order to avert a collision I veered sharply toward the shore, going so far out of our course that I realized that if I were to attempt to get back again the movement would probably cost us the half length that we were then in the lead of Pennsylvania, and looking down among the small boats on the course and seeing an opportunity to pass among them and reach the finish line, I resolved to keep the shell as she was then headed and take the chances. Of course the maneuver cost us the race, but I am sure I did the best that was to be done under the circumstances."

After Dillen had said this the rest of the crew crowded around him and patted the little fellow on the back.

"You did all right, old man, and we will stand by you," they exclaimed in a chorus.

THE COACH SATISFIED.

McConville Says the Wisconsin Crew Could Have Won.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 28.—Coach McConville of the Wisconsin crew said last night: "I am more than satisfied with the result of the race. My boys rowed beautifully, and I am satisfied that they were rowing the winning stroke when they encountered that obstruction under the bridge. Even then I think they could have maintained the lead had it not been for the mass of small boats, which compelled them to slacken their speed. The only complaint that I have to make against the officials is for not properly policing the inside of the course. Our splendid showing today will do a world of good in advancing rowing in our university, and you may look for a spanking good crew down here next year."

In the olden times it was no uncommon occurrence for sentitive, delicate women to be beheaded for trivial or imaginary offences. In this respect the world has made great strides. Nevertheless, women still suffer death in a slower and more torturesome form, and for no offence whatever, save a little ignorance, or possibly, a little neglect.

The woman who suffers from weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organs, whether she realizes it or not, is being slowly but surely tortured to death. She suffers almost continually with sick headache. She has pains in the back, what she calls "stitches" in the side and shooting pains everywhere. She experiences burning and dragging down sensations. She becomes weak, nervous and despondent. She neglects her home, and is petulant with her husband. If she consults the average physician, there is not one chance in ten that he will hit upon the real cause of her trouble. He will attribute her bad feelings to stomach, liver, heart or nervous trouble. A woman in this condition should consult some eminent and skillful specialist who has had a wide experience. Dr. R. V. Pierce, for thirty years chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., has, with the assistance of a staff of able physicians, prescribed for many thousands of women. He has invented a wonderful medicine for ailing women, known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It has stood the test for thirty years. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned in wifehood and motherhood, making them strong and well. It allays inflammation, heals ulceration, soothes pain and tones and builds up the nerves. It transforms weak, nervous women into healthy, happy wives and mothers.

"I was an invalid for over a year with change of life," writes Mrs. C. Smith, of Orr, Cascade Co., Mont. "Had pains across the pit of my stomach and such extreme weakness I could hardly walk. I took one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and five of his 'Favorite Prescription' and am entirely well."

GREATEST OF CURSES

Eminent American, Just From Manilla, Tells Truths the Censors Hide.

OUR OWN CREATION

Revolt Due to Our Arming the Natives Against the Spaniards.

New York, June 28.—A London cablegram to the World says: An American publicist of high standing and unique experience throughout the world, but whose position makes it impossible for him to disclose his name, has just arrived in London from Manilla and has given the World the following statement for publication out of a pure sense of duty to his country:

"I have studied the situation in the Philippines for eight months from the inside.

"I went there willing to give adhesion to the annexation policy if I could discover its justice and feasibility. I came away with the absolute conviction that this Philippine campaign, with its inevitable consequences, is the greatest calamity our nation has ever encountered.

"The censorship prevents the American people learning the truth about the situation. It is the most monstrous censorship ever imposed. The Spaniards during the war closed down on all news dispatches without distinction at Manilla, but the present censorship is conducted by an officer who parades his personal prejudices against certain newspapers, openly favoring those whose correspondents frame their dispatches to suit his expressed wishes.

"News of vital moment to America is killed daily by this officer, upon no other ground than that 'we don't want to excite our people; let them have the official reports; they are best for them.'

"I heard a high officer say one day to a correspondent who had appealed from the censor:

"'If you allowed your dispatch to go through we would be overwhelmed with cables, and I don't want the bother.'

"So our people are systematically kept in the dark, misled, and this purposeless, criminal campaign proceeds.

"This rebellion is of our own creation. The Philippines were pacified when we went there. We took Aguinaldo and his confederates back from Hong Kong, where they had withdrawn in fulfilment of their agreement with Spain. We armed them against the Spanish. Now we are paying the bitter penalty.

"Subjugation can be effected in a few months. It will take 50,000 men. Far fewer would suffice if our army had any enthusiasm in the work, but it has none. In fact the soldiers loathe it. They constantly ask:

"'What are we fighting for? Why should we be killing these Filipinos? Where is the glory in the gain?'

"No one can satisfactorily answer these questions. But it is sorrowfully recognized that we have gone into a trap from which release is difficult if not impossible.

"And when the islands are subdued we shall be confronted with the most hopeless situation in our history. No sane man who knows the Filipinos can suggest what could give them the rights of American citizenship. They are utterly antagonistic and antipathetic to us morally and mentally. They combine all the unspeakable qualities of the Chinese and the Malays. Education, even if they tolerated it, would not improve them from our point of view.

"No government is possible there except a military government, which will perpetuate if it does not aggravate the evil qualities of the race, accentuated as they are by ages of oppression and bad government.

"Already the United States is subsidizing the Catholic church in the Philippines. This is one of the sinister necessities of our entanglement. Abolish priestly rule there and nothing is left to differentiate the Filipinos from the savages.

"The maintenance of this church, contrary to every principle of our constitution, must be continued if we are to remain. The friars have fled, but the seculars remain, and are an indispensable element in preventing utter chaos in the islands.

"The islands are rich and fertile, but as to a commercial market the open door is impossible for us. If that policy is declared the Germans, who have adapted their manufactures exactly to the requirements of the islanders, can undersell us and drive our merchandise out at every turn.

"Neither military, political nor commercial advantage can accrue to us by this fatal policy of annexation. The American people are being hoodwinked and deluded by politicians who are conscious that they have recklessly landed the country in an insane and injurious enterprise.

"The problem of how to extricate ourselves from it without indelible disgrace and damage is one of stupendous difficulty. But the risk to our national interests of attempting to retain the Philippines is fraught with vastly more momentous dangers.

"A military government will demoralize the rulers and the ruled. The Philippines will be a source of constant international trouble, a forcing house for administrative corruption, devoid of a single redeeming feature."

NOTICE TO ATTORNEYS.

On and after this date, The Evening Herald will run all probate notices three times, as required by law, for $1. The regular price for this class of work heretofore has been $6 for the three publications, and this will be a considerable saving to estates that have to be probated.

Mrs. Col. Richardson
SAVED BY MRS. PINKHAM.

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 72,896]

"You have saved my life, snatched me from the brink of the grave almost, and I wish to thank you. About eighteen months ago I was a total wreck, physically. I had been troubled with leucorrhœa for some time, but had given hardly any attention to the trouble.

"At last inflammation of the womb and ovaries resulted and then I suffered agonies, had to give up my profession (musician and piano player), was confined to my bed and life became a terrible cross. My husband summoned the best physicians, but their benefit was but temporary at best. I believe I should have contracted the morphine habit under their care, if my common sense had not intervened.

"One day my husband noticed the advertisement of your remedies and immediately bought me a full trial. Soon the pain in my ovaries was gone. I am now well, strong and robust, walk, ride a wheel, and feel like a girl in her teens. I would not be without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it is like water of life to me. I am very gratefully and sincerely your well-wisher, and I heartily recommend your remedies. I hope some poor creature may be helped to health by reading my story."—Mrs. Col. E. P. Richardson, Rhinelander, Wis.

OLD FURNACE STARTS UP.

One at South Chicago Which Has Been Remodeled.

Chicago, June 28.—The officials of the South Chicago Furnace company will start up their big plant at One Hundred and Sixth street on the Fourth of July, and it is expected will run steadily for an indefinite period. Its 400-ton capacity for the coming twelve months has already been sold.

The plant was built years ago and, after a varied existence, was shut down about 1894. Last spring the phenomenal activity in the iron trade led to the organization of the present company, which purchased the plant, and has been engaged since in modernizing it. The plant proper comprises a blast furnace, whose capacity is 75,000 tons of pig iron yearly.

Most of the stockholders of the company are identified, directly or indirectly, with the Federal Steel and American Steel and Wire interests. The greater part of the product already contracted for goes to those two concerns.

ONE MAY RESIST.

Order to Leave Is Served Upon Cass Lake Residents.

Cass Lake, June 28.—Capt. Mercer, Indian agent, yesterday began notifying intruding white men on the Cass lake reservation to remove from the same. His notification consists of a printed circular which is posted in all parts of the village and scattered in all the houses. It contains, in addition to extracts from the laws relative to reservations, the following notice:

"By order of the commissioner of Indian affairs, pursuant to instructions from the secretary of the interior, all persons, firms or corporations, trespassing upon Indian lands within the limits of the Leech lake Indian agency, are hereby notified to vacate and remove therefrom within thirty days from this date.

"All buildings, stores and other property remaining within the limits of said agency after said period of thirty days, shall be subject to the penalties according to the statutes in such case provided.

"Attention is also called to the fact that a right-of-way granted to a railroad carries with it no authority for the use of the land granted other than for the construction and operation of the railroad. A general merchandise store on a railroad right-of-way is not allowed.

"All white men living with Indian women within the limits of the reservations of this agency, not legally married, are trespassers, and are included in the above notice; and any white man who, being legally married to an Indian woman, violates the law, disturbs the peace—whose conduct is immoral, or whose presence on the reservation is from any cause whatever detrimental to the welfare of the Indians—will be removed."

At a council of Chippewas held here last night, it was definitely determined to "go the whole hog," as the saying is among them, and demand also the removal of the Scanlan & Gibson sawmill, which they allege gives no employment to Indians. It is now believed that there will be serious opposition to removal, though it was reported that Former Judge Ives, now publishing a newspaper here, proposes to resist the order.

A REPORT DENIED.

London, Ky., June 28.—There is not a shadow of truth in the story printed in Louisville that Sheriff Beverly P. White of Clay county was shot and killed in Manchester. A messenger has just arrived from Manchester and informs the Evening Post correspondent that he left Sheriff White at 8 o'clock yesterday morning alive and well. Everything is quiet at Manchester.

Hundreds of lives saved every year by having Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil in the house just when it is needed. Cures croup, heals burns, cuts, wounds of every sort.

Can You Answer This?

Did you ever see a poor article substituted? There are over 1,000 concerns today claiming that they have just as good a brand as T. & T. Coffee. If T. & T. Coffee were not the best would they do this?

T. & T. COFFEE

has merit; if you will give it a trial you will say the same as thousands have said, viz: "T. & T. is the best coffee I ever used." Try it and be convinced. Packed only in 1 and 2 pound sealed tin cans by

A NEW SMELTER.

Germans to Build One In Shasta County, Cal.

Redding, Col., June 28.—It is stated that German capitalists intend to soon build a great smelter in Shasta county. During the last three years George Bayha, local representative of a German syndicate, has filed locations on twenty-five copper claims on Stillwater creek, about twenty miles from Redding. Expensive development work has been done on these claims and the syndicate has secured options on considerable adjacent lands. Electricity generated by water power will be used for motive power and for other purposes. There seems every evidence that the German syndicate will shortly begin the work of building a smelter and railway line eight miles long to connect with the Southern Pacific. The new smelter will double the copper output of Shasta county.

OPPOSES MILITARISM.

Fire-Eating General Says Japan Needs No Defenses.

Vancouver, June 28.—The assembling of the peace conference at The Hague has led Viscount Miuras, the fire-eating Japanese general, to join hands with Count Okuma in a crusade against the extension of the army and navy and the increase of taxes. The viscount thinks that Japan is under no necessity of being prepared for military action. He says:

"China has neither power nor intention to fight us. The Siberian railway, being unfit for rapid transportation of troops, Russia ought not be a cause of disquietude on our part. No European power would be able to send an army of 30,000 or 50,000 men to the far East. It is not necessary that we should take the far Eastern fleets of European powers as the standard of our navy. In a war in which this country may be involved, decisive battles will be fought on land, then the last resort. A naval defeat, therefore, is not of serious consequence. Neither is this country in need of a standing army. Seeing that the European powers are not able to send large military forces, there will be ample time after the breaking off of diplomatic relations to make the requisite preparations for repelling foreign invasion."

This news of Viscount Miuras' views has created a sensation in Japan.

BANKS FOR MANILLA.

Chicago, June 28.—"The National bank of Manilla," and "The First National bank of Manilla" are the names of two banks for which Chicago men have asked the federal government to grant charters. The applicants for a charter for "The National bank of Manilla" are J. L. Fulton, L. R. Ellis, J. H. Strong, J. L. Ray and A. L. Dewar, all substantial business men.

"Mr. Fulton originated the plan," said Mr. Dewar today. "We expect our charter soon. The capital of the bank is to be $200,000, perhaps more. Some of us expect to make a trip to the Philippines soon to look over the ground, although we are already convinced that the new possessions of the United States offer good returns for investments. We will start out actively as soon as our charter arrives from Washington."

It is said the government authorities have not yet taken action on either application.

FATAL RUNAWAY.

Neillsville, Wis., June 28.—In the town of Hoard, a few miles north of here, Miss Alice Williams, Mrs. Nell Morrison and four children and Mrs. Elmer were out riding, when the brace on the buggy pole broke, frightening the team. Miss Williams was thrown from the buggy striking her head on a stump causing concussion of the brain from which she died. Mrs. Morrison broke her arm and received internal injuries which caused her death. The children were injured slightly.

FOX RIVER HIGH.

Kaukauna, Wis., June 28.—The unprecedented high stage of water of the Fox river carried out the flume of the Kaukauna Electric Light company on the Green Bay and Mississippi canal and with it two railroad bridges on the Chicago & Northwestern and the turnpike to the Outagami company's plant. The damage will be considerable.

MISS COOPER DEFEATED.

London, June 27.—In the championship round in the lawn tennis games at Wimbledon today the brothers Doherty, holders of the championship, beat Clarence Hobart and Nisbet, three to love. Mrs. Hilliard beats Miss Cooper, holder of the ladies' championship.

SERIOUS ANTI-TAX RIOTS.

Saragossa, Spain, June 27.—Many people were injured during the rioting here yesterday. Seventeen persons received dangerous wounds. The troops were obliged to fire on the people. Martial law has been declared at Valencia, and fighting has occurred at Grenada, where the troops charged and wounded several persons. Anti-budget demonstrations have also occurred at Kurgos, Toledo and Logrono.

TO ARBITRATE.

Denver, Col., June 27—The state board of arbitration, consisting of W. N. Byers, Roady Kenehan and W. F. Hynes, met today to take some action regarding the settlement of the smelters' strike. Several days will probably elapse before the board suggests a plan of settlement.

ADVANCE IN WHEAT

Market Started Out Strong and Prices Kept on the Rise.

THE CABLES HIGHER

Too Much Rain In the Harvest Fields---The Receipts Lighter.

Duluth Board of Trade, June 28.—The wheat market was stronger this morning, and the opening prices were at an advance which was increased later. The rise in the American markets yesterday was reflected at Liverpool and on the continent, the close at Liverpool being ⅝ old above yesterday. Another bullish feature was the excessive rain in the winter wheat country where harvesting is in progress. The Northwest receipts were also lighter than recently. Prices receded on moderate realizing, but soon recovered, and the market remained firm to the close. July gained 8c over yesterday here and 1⅝@1⅝c at Chicago. September rose 8c here and 1⅝c at Chicago.

Trading was active on the Duluth board. July wheat opened 7⅝c up at 75⅝c, advanced to 76¾c at 9:32, fell off to 75⅝c at 10:30, but rallied to 76⅝ at 11:30. It held at 76c at 12, advanced to 76¾c at 12:30, but eased off and closed at 76, or 8c above yesterday. September started unchanged at 73⅝c, advanced to 73⅞c at 9:32, reacted to 73½c at 9:50, rallied to 73⅞c at 11:10, but declined after noon and closed at 73c, a net gain of 8c for the day. About 75,000 bus of cash stuff was sold at unchanged premiums. Rye advanced 1@2 Oats, barley and corn were unchanged. Cash flax showed no change, but September flax rose 3½c. Following were the closing prices:

Wheat—No 1 hard, cash, 76¾c; July, 76c; No. 1 northern, cash, 75⅝c; July, 74c; September, 73¼c. No. 2 northern, 69¾c; No. 3 spring, 67c. To arrive—No. 1 hard, 76¾c; No. 1 northern, 76c; Oats, 24½@26½c; Rye, 52c; Barley, 37c; Flax, $1.00; September, 98c; October, 98c. Corn, 25½c.

BOARD NOTES.

Today's Northwest weather—Minnestown clear, 70, no rain; Fargo clear, 66; Grand Forks clear, calm 61; Fergus Falls clear pleasant.

Illinois state report issued today makes winter wheat condition 78 compared with 82 May 1. Of area 51 per cent was plowed up. Corn area 7,125,000 acres shows an increase over last year of 183,000 acres. The condition is rather low 86 per cent in North, 89 per cent in central and 85 per cent in southern part of state.

September wheat Duluth 72¾c, calls 73¼c. September corn, puts 34½c calls 35¼c good all this week in the Chicago market.

New York reports 10 loads of wheat and 25 loads of corn for export today.

Washington wires—Crop conditions have been highly favorable for the past week. Corn has made marked progress in the principal states. Winter wheat while light is of good quality. A large crop of excellent quality is being harvested in California. Spring wheat continues promising. Oats need rain in New York and Michigan and are too rank in Wisconsin, Iowa and Nebraska. Reports are favorable from Ohio, Central Mississippi and Upper Missouri valleys.

ON THE CHICAGO BOARD.

Wheat Opening on the Side of the Bulls.

Chicago, June 28.—Wheat opened today with the advantage on the side of the bulls. Liverpool and continental markets responded readily to yesterday's advance here. Liverpool especially showing strength. There was altogether too much rain in the wheat country for the good of harvesting operations or for the growing grain and with these elements of strength to back them bulls forced prices up at the opening. September starting at 74¼@75c against yesterday's closing price of 74c. Under moderate buying by shorts a slight further advance was recorded. September selling to 75@75⅛c here. Northwest receipts showed considerable falling off. Minneapolis and Duluth reporting 491 cars against 712 last week and 32 a year ago. Chicago receipts were 152 cars, 21 of contract grade. Eastern points reported continental acceptances of wheat at 1 shilling per quarter higher than previous sales. Moderate realizing on the bulge carried September to 75¾c, but it rallied immediately to 75⅝@75⅞c. Weekly crop bulletins generally reported the winter wheat of good quality and the yield in some instances better than expected.

The big factor in the strength the wheat market developed about 11 o'clock, and which held until within about half an hour from the close, was the reports of crop damage which came in from all parts of the Northwest. These were serious enough to curtail liquidation in a marked degree and send shorts to cover. The bull movement gradually carried the September price up to 74⅝@75c, but that price touched, realizing again became prominent and a decline ensued which kept up to the close. September closed steady at 74½ bid.

Corn was dull and a little easier. Receipts continued heavy and the weekly crop reports altogether favorable. Elevator people were prominent sellers. Receipts were 949 cars. September opened unchanged at 34⅜@35c and eased off to 34⅝c. Oats were quiet but firm. Offerings were light and there was some demand from shorts. Receipts were 248 cars. September opened a shade higher at 21⅝c and advanced to 21⅞c.

Provisions were dull and firm, following the higher hog market. Commission houses were tair buyers. Packers sold moderately. September pork opened 7½c higher at $8.45 and eased off to $8.40@8.42. September lard opened 2½c higher at $5.20 and advanced to $5.22. September ribs opened 2½c higher at $4.90 and advanced to $4.92.

Close: Wheat, July, 73¾@73⅞c; September, 74@c; December, 76¾@76⅞c. Corn, June, 34⅝c; July, 34¼c; September, 34⅝c; December, 35⅜c; May, 35@35⅛c. Oats, June, 25½c; July, 24⅝c; September, 21⅝@21⅞c; December, 23¾c; May, 27¾@28c. Pork, June and July, $8.22; September, $8.42@8.45. Lard, June and July, $5.07; September, $5.22. Ribs, June and July, $4.75; September, $4.90@4.92. Cash, wheat, No. 2 red 73¾@75c; No. 3 red, 72@73c; No. 2 hard winter, 74½@72c; No. 3 hard winter, 70@71½c; No. 1 northern spring, 73½@74c; No. 2 northern, 72@73½c; No. 3 spring, 69@72½c. No. 2 corn, 34½c; No. 3 corn, 34c. No. 2 oats, 26½c; No. 3 oats, 25¾@26¼c. Flax, cash, Northwest, $1.06; July, $1.02; September, 98c; October, 97c. Barley, cash, 38½@42c. Rye, July, 60½c; September, 59c. Timothy, August, $2.00; September, $2.50. Clover, October, $7.50.

LIVE STOCK.

Chicago, June 28.—Estimated receipts today: Hogs, 32,000; tomorrow, 30000; left over, 3782; market fully 5c higher. MIDWAY HORSE MARKET.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul.—Barrett & Zimmerman's report: The volume of horses arriving was fair. The tone of the market was quite favorable with a number of buyers in attendance. Retail trade made up the bulk of the outlet. The wholesale trade was effected by Manitoba dealers. The outlook in trade is pointing towards a fair activeness, especially in retail trade during the summer months. Prices held unchanged from yesterday's quotation. The nominal value of serviceable, sound horses from 4 to 8 years was as follows:

Drafters, choice to extra.....$125@175
Drafters, common to good..... 90@110
Farm horses, choice to extra..... 115@140

THE COPPER STOCKS.

Following were the closing quotations of copper stocks today, as reported by Paine, Webber & Co., Hotel St. Louis:

Boston, June 28.—Closing prices of copper shares: Adventure, 9; Arcadian, 5½; Arnold, 1⅛; Baltic, 35½; Boston & Montana, 325; Centennial, 32; Franklin, 18; Old Dominion, 37½; Osceola, 84; Mohawk, 27½; Mass Con., 11; Rhode Island, 6¼; Tecumseh, 5½; Union Land, 8¼; Wolverine, 44½; Washington, 24½; Winona, 14; Isle Royale, 41.

GOSSIP.

Received over private wire of B. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, room 107 Chamber of Commerce and 207 Board of Trade, Chicago, June 28.—Liverpool wheat closed firm and higher. Paris closed 10c higher, flour 20c higher. Antwerp unchanged. Buda Pesth 1¾c lower. Liverpool cabled drouth continues in Danubian districts and has done considerable damage to corn, fully 50 per cent. South Russia merchants are buying here daily. Beerbohm estimates French crop at about 310,000,000 bus, which is 50,000,000 bus less than previous estimates and 60,000,000 bus less than crop a year ago. Primary receipts 571,000 bus; shipments, 401,000 bus. Clearances, 320,000 bus. It looks as if cash business here would amount to over 300,000 bus. We can confirm 23 loads at New York. Philadelphia wired that the continent accepted wheat yesterday at little over 3c per bushel higher than previous sales. Heavy rains have prevailed in the Northwest and although the bureau crop report for spring wheat continues promising, private reports from reliable people are to the effect that while the appearance of the crop from a distance looks very promising, close examination reveals rust, and in a number of instances a great many fields of wheat have lodged. The Illinois crop report fully confirms the damage that has lee nfone in this state. Should anything of a serious nature occur to the spring wheat crop it would send values to a very high level. While the full advance was not sustained there was a first-class wave of buying which was led by Patton. It looks very much to us as if we had practically seen the lowest prices on the crop year and while we may have dull periods until after the Fourth of July, we believe it should be taken advantage of to make purchases for September and December, when values sag. There seems to be a better demand for flour and we believe that receipts which have been so very heavy will soon diminish.

Corn keeps coming but the demand is not quite so heavy. A small decline was witnessed today and some of the old-time bulls sold out. There was considerable changing from July to September at ½c difference. From what we can learn, receipts will run smaller very shortly.

Oats hold very strong. The shortage of the hay crop in New England and Eastern states is a bullish factor as far as this cereal is concerned. We feel very friendly to oats and think they are a safe purchase.

Provisions—Hogs were firm and there has been a fair demand for product. There was considerable changing in pork, lard and ribs, which widened out the difference. We feel friendly to product.

Puts, September wheat, 74@74⅝c.
Calls, September wheat, 75@75⅝-⅝c.
Puts, September corn, 34¼-⅜c.
Calls, September corn, 34½c.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

A Lively Show of Animation and Strength.

New York, June 28.—The market opened with a lively show of animation and strength. Very heavy blocks of a number of railroads were taken on running sales, the scale of prices ranging down slightly from the opening. New York Central, St. Paul, Southern, preferred, and Atchison, preferred, showed gains of ⅞ to 1½. Manhattan was up 1½. The specialties generally were not conspicuous. First prices were higher for the general run of active shares, but there were some exceptions, notably American Tobacco, which sold up 2⅞. Decided gains were also made in C. I. & L., New Haven, Chicago Great Western debentures, St. Louis & San Francisco, second preferred, and St. Paul and Omaha, preferred. The latter jumped 10 points to 180.

The enthusiasm of the bulls increased and there was a steady absorption of the leading railroad stocks which carried them higher than for weeks. Special strength in the grangers and Southern groups exercised a sustaining effect on the general list. Some stocks, which usually are quiet, were pushed into activity and strength. Notably, Texas Pacific, Illinois Central, L. & N. Louisville, and some of the low-priced specialties. Sales of stocks to noon, 294,514 shares. Higher prices prevailed for the leading bonds.

NOTICE TO ATTORNEYS.

On and after this date, The Evening Herald will run all probate notices three times, as required by law, for $1. The regular price for this class of work heretofore has been $6 for the three publications, and this will be a considerable saving to estates that have to be probated.

THAT CENSORSHIP.

A report is current at the national capital that President McKinley is worried because some press reports of what is transpiring or is threatened in the Philippines reach this country which would have been suppressed if the press censorship had gotten a chance at them. Most of these uncensored reports are sent from Hong Kong by enterprising correspondents who either go from Manilla to Hong Kong for that purpose or manage in some other way to send out the news in spite of the censorship. In this connection a London cablegram to the New York Herald, published by The Herald today, is of peculiar interest, because it shows the wrong that is being perpetrated against the American people by the censorship. The cablegram contains an interview with an eminent American just returned from an eight months' stay in the Philippines, but whose name cannot be disclosed on account of his position. He went to the Philippines willing to give adhesion to the annexation policy, but returns with the firm conviction that the retention of these islands will be a curse to the American people, who are being hoodwinked and deluded by politicians. Concerning the censorship he says:

"The censorship prevents the American people learning the truth about the situation. It is the most monstrous censorship ever imposed. The Spaniards during the war closed down on all news dispatches without distinction at Manilla, but the present censorship is conducted by an officer who parades his personal prejudices against certain newspapers, openly favoring those whose correspondents frame their dispatches to suit his expressed wishes. News of vital moment to America is killed daily by this officer. * * * So our people are systematically kept in the dark, misled, and this purposeless, criminal campaign proceeds."

In order to make the censorship even more complete, it is claimed the president is now desirous of extending it over Hong Kong also, but as that city is a British port, a United States press censor would be a figurehead there. So the president has placed his reliance in this matter upon Gen. Otis and seems to expect him to manage it from Manilla. Gen. Otis has been instructed to notify newspaper correspondents in the Philippines that they must not evade the press censorship by filing their dispatches at Hong Kong, and that if they do their "usefulness to their newspapers will cease immediately." What this threat implies and how it will be enforced can hardly be understood, but every newspaper correspondent at Manilla should treat it with contempt and disregard the attempt to muzzle the press.

GOOD FOR WISCONSIN.

The Wisconsin crew made a gallant struggle for victory in the intercollegiate boat race at Poughkeepsie yesterday and ably upheld the standing of the West in the aquatic world. They rowed a splendid race, and but for an unfortunate circumstance near the close would assuredly have crossed the line the winners. As it was, they came in a close second to the Pennsylvania crew.

The cause of the Wisconsin's defeat was the presence of a buoy with which they would have collided near the finish had not their coxswain steered their boat out of its proper course. This gave the Pennsylvanias a chance to secure the lead which they maintained to the end. It was unfortunate that the buoy was in a position to endanger a collision with any of the shells, particularly as its presence there undoubtedly changed the result of the splendid contest of skill and muscle, and the blame must rest with those who had charge of the course.

The Wisconsin boys, however, are entitled to the credit of a game race and of having again demonstrated that Western oarsmen are able to successfully compete with the best that the East can produce.

TIME TO STOP IT.

A Washington dispatch says that Secretary Long has reiterated that the navy department contemplates taking no further action in the Sampson-Schley controversy. If this be true, the department has adopted a very sensible course. The public is disgusted with the squabbling that has taken place, and particularly with the attempt of a certain clique in the navy department that has endeavored to rob Admiral Schley of the glory that is rightfully his by reason of being the senior officer in the fight with Cervera's fleet off Santiago.

If Secretary Long desires to preserve the reputation of the navy he will sit down hard upon this little venomous clique, and let its members understand that the first one who opens his mouth to attack Schley or anyone else, or who is privy to any newspaper attacks of that character will be immediately dismissed from the navy. There is no excuse for keeping up the unseemly controversy that has raged both in the newspapers and in the magazines. Let it be stopped now and forever. As Schley has well said of the Santiago battle, there are honors enough to cover every one with glory. Therefore, there is no sense in keeping up wordy warfare.

UNWELCOME NEWS.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald is authority for the statement that President McKinley's projected trip to Minnesota has been abandoned, owing to the condition of Mrs. McKinley's health, which is said to be decidedly worse than it has been since she has been residing in the White House. While her condition is not regarded as serious, the president does not deem it advisable to subject her to any extra exertion such as would necessarily attend a Western trip.

This information will be received with regret by the people of Minnesota, who have been anticipating with pleasure a visit from the chief executive of the republic. It was President McKinley's intention to visit St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth, and this would have given the residents of all sections of the state a chance to greet him.

A GOOD MOVE.

The Herald's efforts to secure prohibition of the use of explosives like the giant or cannon fire-cracker on the Fourth of July or any other time bid fair to be successful. Mayor Truelsen has become convinced of the necessity of putting an end to this dangerous amusement which has caused the death and maiming of many people throughout the country, and he has issued a proclamation announcing that in Duluth at least the exploding of giant crackers and like explosives must cease.

No doubt the mayor will follow up this good work by instructing the police department to see that the proclamation is obeyed and by observing that the department carries out his order strictly.

William Goebel, who has been nominated by the Democrats for governor of Kentucky, is personally known to many people in Duluth, whose acquaintance he formed while here attending the Magoffin-Shackleford wedding two years ago. Mr. Goebel was then a member of the state senate of Kentucky and was known to be a candidate for the honor that he has now secured. A Democratic victory in Kentucky this year is looked upon as almost a certainty, and therefore Mr. Goebel's chances of becoming governor are very good.

If all the floating paragraphs about Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador at Washington, be true, it is a wonder that he finds time to attend to his official business. During the past three months he has been variously described as an expert coin collector, an autograph hunter, a treasurer of old cigarette holders, a connoisseur of old china, a stamp gatherer, a collector of walking sticks and an enthusiast on the subject of Indian relics.

In reference to a recent paragraph on mermaidens, the London Telegram says: "It may not be generally known that Japan exports these shams in assorted sizes, in glass cases, at so much per foot run. They are made of the body of a fish and the dried head of a monkey, so skillfully united that it is difficult to detect where one begins and the other ends. Of late the market for mermaidens has been flat; at one time they were fairly common in the curiosity shops."

A handsomely illustrated supplement which depicts and tells about the beauties and resources of Crow Wing county and the city of Brainerd has been published by the Brainerd Tribune, which deserves much credit for its enterprise. The supplement is in book form, contains about thirty pages, is printed on an excellent quality of paper and is filled with half-tone illustrations of much beauty. Its publication will undoubtedly be of much benefit to Brainerd and to Crow Wing county.

The London jeweler who has got a concession from the Egyptian government to mine for emeralds and other precious stones on the coast of the Red sea, in speaking of this mineral field, says with enthusiasm: "Why, Cleopatra's famous jewels were mined there and she gave as presents to ambassadors portraits of herself engraved on emeralds." That man knows how to advertise his business.

The Kansas City Star says that "when Governor Roosevelt becomes president of the United States New Mexico will have no trouble to get into the Union." If New Mexico does not get into the Union until Roosevelt becomes president she will wait a long time.

The government would have no difficulty in raising a volunteer army of 25,000 men. Why does the president hesitate to call for them? They are certainly needed, unless the intention is to withdraw altogether from the Philippines.

Secretary Alger has again announced that he will not retire from the cabinet. The statement is altogether unnecessary. He will not leave the cabinet unless kicked out.

The Chicago Record says the office boy for the trusts has let out the fact that the octopus simply winked the other eye when it heard that Alger was to fight it.

THE WAR IN LUZON.

Buffalo Express: At the outbreak of the Filipino war suggestions that it would require 100,000 men were generally classed among those "treasonable" utterances of the anti-imperialists.

New York World: Dr. McQueston late of Gen. Otis' staff and health officer at Manilla, says that the Western volunteers are "the finest soldiers in the world," but they all want to return home." And the reason he gives is this: "The men enlisted to fight for their country and they are not the kind of men who want to stay and fight an insurrection for money or the fun of fighting."

Chicago Chronicle: For once in his life the Hon. John Barrett, ex-minister to Siam and expansionist extraordinary, is entirely right. "In a few years," he declares "the United States can invest $500,000,000 in the Philippine islands." The Hon. John Barrett never spoke truer words. Had United States not been investing about $5,000,000 per month in the locality indicated, to say nothing of sending there some 35,000 soldiers, most of whom, from the present outlook, will remain permanently. We can undoubtedly invest $500,000,000, as Mr. Barrett says. The trouble is that the investment will be entirely unproductive for decades.

San Francisco Call: It is time to do one thing or the other. Either send 100,000 men at once and besom the islands bare of human life, or do what was easy five months ago—treat them as human beings, cease the reiteration of "unconditional surrender" to a people who know we are already disarming Cuba and see whether the orders we have taken from Great Britain to never treat the Filipino as human are correct or not. The latter course will not be pursued. Therefore it must be. The troops must be raised and sent. If they will not volunteer they must be conscripted. The ranks must be filled by force if need be and we must push our conquest as all conquerors have to. It is evident that we must reduce the archipelago to complete desolation and leave only the infection smouldering that may enlist among the tribes that are too cowardly to fight.

Philadelphia Ledger: The words of Dr. McQueston are those of a man who has had abundant opportunities for carefully studying the situation in the Philippine islands and they should carry weight with the authorities at Washington. It has been almost universally felt for some time by the people that the force now in the islands is totally inadequate to crush the rebellion and restore order and the words of Dr. McQueston fully confirm that feeling. The Filipinos have shown themselves to have wonderful recuperative powers and are about to be deprived of opponents and unless a large number of troops are sent at once, as the doctor has suggested, it would not be at all surprising to find his words come true and our army subjected to the humiliation of being besieged in the city of Manilla by the natives. Under the circumstances it is not at all an astonishing thought that the volunteers now in the Philippines all want to come home and the prospect of a bounty has no charms for them.

BREEZY TRIFLES.

Detroit Journal: "Too bad about Smith?"

"Yes, indeed!"

"Just when he had learned how to live, he had to die!"

Indianapolis Journal: "You have as little patriotism as any man I know. I don't believe you admire Dewey!"

"Er—well—at least he has my sympathy."

Chicago Tribune: "I shall have to crown that tooth," said the dentist, indicating the particular molar.

"Yes," assented the victim. "It's a-king rather more than any of the others."

Whereupon the dentist mentally decided to make the bill about $2.50 higher.

Detroit Free Press: "What a bird-like appetite she has," remarked an admirer to the crusty old bachelor who is helping the family entertain her while she is visiting it."

"Bird-like? I should say so. Anything from turkeys to reed birds."

Chicago Post: "Are the Kansas troops with the advancing column?" asked Aguinaldo.

"They are," replied his aide.

"Then it's no use trying to make a stand at the river," said the chief. "We must intrench ourselves in the hills."

Detroit Free Press: "Our naval officers ought to adopt Rudyard Kipling's formula for good health."

"What's that?"

"Keep your pores open and your mouth shut."

Puck: Mrs. Pine Streete (of St. Louis)—My dear, what are you wearing your old dress suit for? Why don't you put on your new one?

Pine Streete—I thought I would keep that one for daytimes.

Yonkers Statesman: He (as they are seated in a quiet nook near the lakes)—Are you quite sure we never met before this season?

She—Yes; quite positive.

"And you haven't a sister?"

"No; why do you ask?"

"Well, I'm positive I've hugged that shirtwaist before somewhere."

Chicago News: He—Do you really believe that there are microbes in kisses?

She—I have no reason for doubting it.

He—Well, I'm getting tired of the same old microbes; let's exchange.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: "I didn't sleep well," he said.

"What was the matter?" she asked.

"The bed seemed full of lumps," he answered.

"I suppose it wasn't like the beds your mother used to make?"

"No," he drily replied, "it wasn't."

"I don't wonder at that," she smilingly said. "If I remember rightly, your mother once cooked on a canal boat and slept on a shelf."

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

BEDE'S CANDIDACY.

Minneapolis Journal (Rep.): Mr. Bede is to be congratulated upon the high, fair and dignified tone of his announcement. There is not a line in it that can hurt Page Morris' feelings; not a word that would cause Mr. Bede to shrink from meeting the representative. There is not the faintest tinge of injection of unworthy personalisms. As a whole the "plain statement" is an exceedingly able and effective deliverance and will go a long way towards putting Mr. Bede fairly into the congressional race against Mr. Morris. Of course, the question that the Sixth district Republicans have first to consider is whether or not Page Morris can be re-elected. He has given them palpitation of the heart in both his campaigns. But then he had to run against a popular opponent. The question is: Could another have done better? If the answer to this question is favorable to Mr. Morris the next question is as to his record as a congressman. That has been good. He has faithfully and ably represented his district. So the decision, if made after deliberation rather than by pure political work, should hinge altogether upon the question of Mr. Morris' qualities as a vote-getter. It appears to the writer that that question is a subject for discussion and that Mr. Bede has made a strong case against Mr. Morris' abilities in that line. But the other side will doubtless be ably set forth by Mr. Morris' supporters.

St. Paul Dispatch (Rep.): J. Adam Bede avails himself of two pages of the June Budget, to announce that he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for congress in the Sixth district, saying about all that is necessary to be said upon the subject, and thus having the matter all off his mind at one sitting. The decks being thus cleared for action, the public will await the result with complete complacency, well knowing that the lively little wasp of the Budget is amply able to take care of himself. Still, we plead guilty to keener enjoyment of those 2-line paragraphs than any that could be extracted from the 2-page announcement.

St. Cloud Journal-Press (Dem.): Certainly Mr. Bede believes in standing by his friends. He once resigned the best office in the state, for this purpose, when it did not help his friend in the least. If the Republicans admire this generous trait in Bede they will most assuredly send Mr. Morris, who has been true and faithful to every trust. And these words are written in only the most kindly spirit towards J. Adam Bede. When the time comes, as come it undoubtedly will, he will be a mighty available man to send to congress. Neither this nor next year is his time.

Trusts Assume Too Much.

Springfield Republican: Industry is striving through the trusts to escape from the force of competition altogether. That is the whole story. It is no fault of the trust that a possible competition remains after combination has done its best. The trusts are therefore actually striving with the Socialists to establish industry on a non-competitive basis. They impose the Socialistic contention that competition is destructive both to labor and capital. But they assume that monopoly can be permanently established and will be allowed to be maintained as a private institution for unregulated private profit.

The Ideal Woman.

Chicago Post: It seems to be quite the fad at present to speculate as to the ideal woman of the twentieth century. It is time wasted. The ideal woman of every century is the womanly woman. She is benefited by exercise but she is not, and never will be, a female athlete. She is improved by intellectual development, but she does not, and never will, forsake the graces of femininity. The ideal woman is, and always will be, first of all a woman, and not an imitation of man.

American Drummer Abroad.

Boston Globe: Dismayed by the inroads which American enterprise has made upon what have been supposed to be British industrial "preserves" for many a year, some of the business circles in England have ceased talking about an alliance with America, and have taken up instead the desirability of forming some kind of an agreement to "protect" the home industries of Britain. The old style commercial traveler, or bagman, has been distanced altogether, not in Great Britain only, but on the continent, by the eager and pushing American "drummer." They get big orders in England, as well as from customers in Germany and Russia whom manufacturing houses in Great Britain have long counted upon as their own. Truly American trade is expanding, and new conquests in industry abroad are made nearly every day by the quick-marching forces led by the American drummer.

Force of Habit.

Philadelphia Times: It is apparently impossible to escape from the reflection that this country is irresistible. Even the cyclones carry all before them.

Food Adulteration.

Baltimore American: If the studies now being made in the adulteration of food result in laws to prevent such adulteration they will not be in vain. As long as such laws are dead letters, or full of holes, adulteration will continue and the public will suffer thereby.

Doffs the Cares of State.

Chicago Times-Herald: The king of Siam has resigned his $30-a-month job, inasmuch as he can pick his meals off of the trees and doesn't really need the necktie he has been in the habit of wearing. He probably came to the conclusion that it was foolish for him to keep on bearing up under the cares of state and adding to the gayety of nations.

The Shadows.

All up and down in shadow town
The shadow children go;
In every street you're sure to meet
Them running to and fro.

They move around without a sound,
They play at hide-and-seek,
But no one yet that I have met
Has ever heard them speak.

Beneath the tree you often see
Them dancing in and out,
And in the sun there's always one
To follow you about.

Go where you will, he follows still,
Or sometimes runs before;
And, home at last, you'll find him fast
Beside you at the door.

A faithful friend is he to lend
His presence everywhere;
Plow out the light—to bed at night—
Your shadow mate is there!

Then he will call the shadows all
Into your room to leap,
And such a pack! they make it black,
And fill your eyes with sleep!

—FRANK DEMPSTER SHERMAN.

COPPER NEWS.

First Encouragement of the Wyandotte Since Work Was Commenced.

Houghton—The first encouragement to the Wyandotte since work was commenced was met with Friday afternoon when a blast in an outcrop on the property revealed a showing of stamp copper. The workmen, as well as the officials, were highly delighted at the first vision of the red metal on the Wyandotte property and it is to be devoutly hoped that it will be followed by a profitable discovery. Saturday afternoon several blasts at a lower depth in the formation threw out a large quantity of rock of excellent character that was uniformly charged with stamp copper.

It looks as if the Arcadian people would be doomed to disappointment in starting their stamp mill next month though not through any failure in the matter of getting the underground openings extended to the point necessary. When the start is made it will be with one head in operation and enough rock to supply it has long since been available.

Capt. William Tonkin, formerly superintendent of the Atlantic, visited the Arcadian a few days ago and, after examining its workings, is quoted as saying that he would not be surprised if the mine yielded 2 per cent of mineral.

The management of the Franklin Mining company is said to expect to have the new mill at Grosse Point in operation by July 15. The mill is being fast placed in readiness to treat the product of the company's two properties and will have three heads in commission with an estimated daily capacity of 400 tons each.

Word has been received from the Arnold that the two heads at the stamp mill were now in commission and the mine was furnishing about 500 tons of rock per day. From the same source it is learned that the fissure vein encountered in the seventh level of No. 1 shaft is showing a lot of mass and ledge work. It is believed that henceforth the two heads will be kept in continuous service.

Newberry—Eastern parties have closed a deal for the Newberry furnace, together with a large tract of hardwood. The starting of the furnace in the near future seems to be an assured fact.

A RACE RIOT.

Three Negroes Killed and Two More Badly Wounded.

Birmingham, Ala., June 28.—Three negroes are dead and one is not expected to live until morning as a result of a riot between the white and negro miners at the ore mines near Cardiff in Jefferson county. The dead are:

Ellis.
Jim Hill.
Adams Samuels.

Wounded—Rudolph Williams, George Thomas, mortally.

The two races came to a clash in the late afternoon in Glasgow Hollow, where the negroes had congregated, armed with Winchester rifles. A white man passing along the road was held up and besides being abused was roughly handled. This news soon spread and an armed body of white miners hastened to the scene. It is supposed that they went around by a circuitous route in the mountains and thus came upon the negroes unexpectedly.

Ed Ellis, the ring leader, armed with a Winchester and a Colts revolver, fell at the first shot. A rifle bullet did the work. There was a fusillade of bullets and four of the other negroes fell. Jim Hill and Adams Samuels died in a few minutes after being removed to a negro house. George Thomas was shot through the abdomen with a Winchester bullet. He is not expected to recover. Rudolph Williams will live.

The trouble started yesterday when it was thought that John Shepperd, who, on last Wednesday afternoon assaulted Mrs. Monroe Jones near Corona, was in that vicinity. The negroes armed themselves to prevent his capture. Both sides were aroused and only the timely arrival of the sheriff's posse prevented an outbreak. This morning the negro miners held a mass meeting and refused to go to work.

They all belong to a secret organization known as "The Knights of Africa," or the "Mysterious Ten." They keep rifles and ammunition on hand at all times. It was in the afternoon that they gathered in Glasgow Hollow, although with what intention is not known.

Influential citizens say that the ring leaders are now out of the way and they hope to manage the other negroes. Ed Ellis, the head of the band holding the chief office in the secret organization, made a speech to the negroes just before his death, telling them not to believe what the white officers had told them and swearing that he, for one, would get even with Sheriff O'Brien who, at the point of a shot gun, ordered him to disperse his gang.

Shortly after the riot Sheriff O'Brien left here with 50 armed men. He now has the situation under control for the time being, although late reports say the situation is extremely critical and that negroes are talking of revenging the death of their leaders.

FATAL STREET DUEL.

Four Men Shot and Two Died Soon After.

Galveston, June 28.—At 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon a duel occurred at the corner of Tremont and Market streets, when the streets were crowded with shoppers.

James Johnson and William Boyd came out of a saloon at separate doors. Then the shooting began. Police officer Rowe ran between the men and made a desperate attempt to stop them. He says that while they were shooting a man standing in the doorway fired two shots at Johnson. Fifteen shots were fired in all.

When the smoke cleared away it was found that four men had been shot. Johnson died on the way to the hospital. Boyd was shot in the left leg and right arm. George Lovick, a blacksmith, and W. H. Gordman, who were on their way home from work, were hit by stray bullets. Lovick is shot through the kidney and is dying. Gordman is shot over the right lung, though not fatally. Johnson was a gambler, aged about 24. On Feb. 10, 1898, he shot and killed a comrade gambler, Dick Springfield, in a saloon, but was acquitted of the charge of murder a few months ago. Johnson and Boyd are said to have had a difficulty about a week ago.

GOOD AND EVIL OMENS

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, June 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—While witchcraft may be considered almost completely extinct in the present enlightened age, there remain many yet among us who, while scorning the folly of a time which seriously believed in wizards and their occult demonstrations, are much perturbed by omens that are of necessity absolutely devoid of meaning.

The more ignorant the people the more prolific in superstitious beliefs; hence it is safe to say that the advance of education means the absolute retreat and vanishment of superstition does not hold good in every instance. Among our most enlightened and highly educated people are found firm believers in good and evil omens, while there is a long list of portents to which the ignorant give heed. To no section of the country, to no nationality is superstition confined, but there may be found outcroppings throughout the known world, savage and civilized. Classic traditions have been brought to this country from every section of Europe and Asia, but our own American-born plant lore is of a practical character, and most of its superstition relates to folk lore.

During the writer's early boyhood, which was spent near Center Point, Ark., there came an old negro to the settlement and rented a small cabin from a gentleman named Wash Tate, who engineered a large farm and a general store at Center Point. A few days after the old negro, whom we knew simply as "Uncle Silas," had located himself I passed his cabin while going to school. When opposite the rude structure I stubbed my toe, and being barefooted, the skin was badly peeled off. "Uncle Silas" stepped up to me and said: "Don't cry, chile, I'll stop de bleeding." He took from his pocket a little bundle of something—I don't know what it was—and rubbed it on the skinned toe, at the same time muttering words which sounded like "Stop bleeding, menemmo, menemmo." Strange as it may appear, after a few moments the blood ceased to flow. While admiring the stubbed toe the old man noticed that my other foot—the left—was almost covered with warts. It is the truth when it is stated that the foot was covered with the ugly things, some of them as large as a small marble. "Uncle Silas" said he could take them off, and he took a pin and pried around the largest one of the warts until it bled freely. Then he took a small piece of cloth from the mysterious little bundle with which he had rubbed the toe, and placed a few drops on blood from the wart on it. Then rolling up with the pin, he told me to hold it tight in my left hand until I found a stalk of mullein with its head leaning toward the sun. Upon finding this I was told to dig a hole and bury the piece of cloth and pin, and then go my way without looking back. After this the warts would disappear in three days. When I awoke on the second morning I looked for my pet warts, but they were gone. There was not a trace of them. This sounds like a ghost story, but there are people at Center Point who will vouch for its truthfulness, and whether it was "Uncle Silas" or the Lord who removed them gives me no concern, but I have no apology to make when I give the old negro all the credit. In his peculiar way "Uncle Silas" became a man of prominence throughout that section, and miraculous cures were attributed to him. To some he was a voodoo doctor and controlled life and death; to others he was the high priest of black magic and in league with the devil, communing at will with demons and departed spirits. To all his race, with few exceptions, he was the embodiment of good and evil as he preferred to exercise his influence. To the white population "Uncle Silas" was an enigma, for their presence he was universally polite and humble, though among his colored acquaintances arrogant and commanding. To the white children the aged negro was never known to be otherwise than kind, though the fear he inspired among the negroes by his reputation as a voodoo doctor was shared in an exaggerated form by them. He was known to do a heavy traffic in charms, amulets, etc., among the negroes. The purchase was supposed to carry good luck or impart misfortune, as the old voodoo doctor dictated. "Uncle Silas" disappeared about the time Governor Powell Clayton, now minister to Mexico, sent his mountain jayhawkers through Sevier county to look after a few Democrats who were accused of feeding negroes to the fishes in the streams thereabouts.

So strongly was the wart disappearing incident impressed upon the writer's mind that ever since he has been somewhat shy in putting the stamp of condemnation on people who believe in good and evil omens. Turn to whatever direction one may, there is presented in the minor occurrences of everyday life some belief that tongues speak to us unheard in innumerable little occurrences. And about plant lore and folk medicine:

On the eastern shore of Maryland biliousness is cured by boring holes in a carefully selected tree and walking three times around, saying, "Go away, bilious." It is a matter of the utmost importance whether the one who performs the spell walks with the sun or against it, but no one knows which is the approved direction.

In Mansfield, Ohio, many years ago, it was generally believed that the seeds of "Job's tears," worn around the neck, would cure goitre, as would amber or gold beads. Up through New England teething children were presented with the same charm, and were kept at the drug stores to ward off sore throat and diphtheria.

A New Hampshire cure for sore throat is to wear about the neck a stocking, in the toe of which a potato has been tied. According to a Maine belief, a nutmeg pierced and hung on a string around the neck prevents boils, croup and neuralgia. The effect of a Connecticut wooden nutmeg isunknown. Georgians and South Carolinians tie a soiled stocking around the neck to cure or prevent sore throat. In Michigan a double cedar knot is carried in the pocket to revent rheumatism, and in New Hampshire a man carried a gall stone of golden rod for the same disease. A small white grub is in the gall, and he thought as long as the grub remained alive no rheumatism could get hold of him. Hickory nuts, the buckeye and the horse chestnut brings good luck in New Jersey. In some states these are foes to rheumatism. An Irish potato with a hole bored through it is a guarantee against rheumatism in North Carolina, and in Southern Michigan a pebble in the pocket serves to ward it off. Many people in the Southern states believe that a shoe turned sole up under the bed will prevent cramps, as will also the tail feathers from a white hen. A basin of cold water placed under the bed will prevent night sweats is strongly believed by a majority of people in Tennessee. Among Southern negroes the most striking remedies are to be found. Witness the combination of cure and spell in conjuring a toothache in Alabama. Go into a lonely part of the wood with one of the opposite sex, who is to carry an ax. The bearer of the ax chops around the roots of a white oak, cuts of nine splinters from the root, then cuts around the roots of the aching tooth with a knife, dips each of the nine splinters in the blood flowing from the cuts, and finally buries the splinters at the foot of the tree from which they came. While doing this the operator repeats something which you don't understand, and this is the charm. From the same locality comes a curious remedy for chills and fever. Take the skin from the inside of an egg shell, go to a young persimmon tree three days in succession and tie a knot in the skin each day. They claim that if this is done just as directed there is nothing that can break the spell.

Joel Chandler Harris, "Uncle Remus," was born and raised with the lowland darkies and he has a rabbit's foot which he has carried for more than twenty years, and which was given him by an old family negro with the assurance that so long as he carried it in his left hand vest pocket he would never have any sickness of any consequence. Mr. Harris has been connected with the Atlanta Constitution for more than twenty years and has never been absent from his desk a day on account of sickness.

But the writer could give hundreds of instances where men of prominence in the political and literary world have shown a decided tendency toward believing thoroughly in many of these things which to a majority of people are all nonsense.

Proclamation!

Owing to the great danger in firing so-called giant or cannon fire-crackers, and the many accidents which have taken place, scaring teams, maiming persons, and in some cases sacrificing life, I deem it my duty to call the attention of the public to a certain ordinance which prohibits firing of explosives, and give due notice, that anyone violating said law in firing giant or cannon crackers or any equally dangerous explosives in the city limits will be arrested and dealt with according to law. The ordinance provides a penalty of one hundred dollars fine or imprisonment not exceeding 30 days.

Respectfully,

HENRY TRUELSEN, Mayor.

Duluth, June 27, 1899.

CANNON CRACKERS

Mayor Truelsen Has Issued a Proclamation Against Their Use In Duluth.

WILL BE ENFORCED

Violators of Law Will Be Rigidly Prosecuted, the Mayor Says.

Mayor Truelsen has issued a proclamation calling the public attention to an ordinance prohibiting the firing of explosives, and stating that anyone violating it will be punished according to law. The ordinance permits a penalty of a fine of $100 or not more than thirty days' imprisonment. This proclamation will be received with satisfaction by a large number of people to whom the giant or cannon fire cracker, the exploding of which will be treated as a violation of this ordinance, seem a menace to nerves and life.

"It is a good shot," said a business man this morning. "Properly used, these implements of celebration might be all right, though at their best they make most vicious assaults on the nerves of the average man. But as a matter of fact the man who indulges most in cannon crackers to show his fiery patriotism is usually a man in whose make-up brains have been neglected, and the results are an annual crop of distressing accidents. I say 'men,' because as a rule the boys content themselves with the smaller crackers, which make enough noise for anybody and have less tendency to blow off fingers and extinguish eyesight.

"Hardly a Fourth goes by where the use of cannon crackers is allowed without some accidents occurring. Either the user of the crackers blows his own fingers off, or he throws a cracker near some other person with disastrous results to the latter. The case where the user of the cracker hurts himself is not so bad, but those who use them usually think it quite a joke to put one ignited into another man's pocket, hence the necessity of stopping the use of them. If the law is observed this Fourth and cannon crackers are barred out of Duluth, I will be glad to do honor to the man who is responsible for the change. There are plenty of ways to celebrate without the use of these dangerous explosives, and there will be no real loss to anybody if they are barred out."

There has been a disposition for several years in all of the big cities to restrain the growing use of these dangerous explosives, and in stopping the use of them Duluth is doing what many other cities are doing all over the country. There seems to be a competition among the manufacturers of fireworks to see which can produce the most deadly cannon cracker, and the result has been the introduction of explosives which are very dangerous in every way. Plain powder such as was used in the old style fire crackers is no longer a part of the make-up of these latter-day bombs, and the person who handles them freely is taking large chances. If the law is rigidly enforced this year, as Mayor Truelsen's proclamation seems to indicate, it will be the first time in Duluth, and the outcome will be watched with interest.

Mayor Truelsen's proclamation is in line with the campaign the Herald has been making against the use of cannon crackers, and it is to be hoped that the law will be rigidly enforced.

Y. M. C. A. INDIANS.

Secretary Schumann Writes Interestingly of Indian Conference.

A letter has been received from B. A. Schumann, secretary of the Duluth Y. M. C. A., in which he gives an interesting description of the annual summer conference of the Dakota Y. M. C. A., which is taking place at Lake Traverse, four and one-half miles from Brown's Valley, Minn. He says:

"There are forty associations among these people and a large number of these are represented by over 200 young men who are now camped about an Indian church four and one-half miles northwest of this place, on Lake Traverse. They have come many of them five days' travel overland to spend a week in a conference over Christian work, Bible study, etc. The daily program includes Bible hour, 9 to 10 o'clock a. m., in charge of the writer. This consists of a study through an interpreter—though many speak English—of simple truths on Christian morals, doctrines and work. Then an association conference from 10 to 11 o'clock in charge of W. T. Hart, of the Chicago Central association, a study of methods of Y. M. C. A. work applicable to the Indian work.

From 11 to 12 o'clock a series of talks on "The Truths of the Bible," in Dakota language, by Arthur Tibbetts, secretary for Indian work. He is a full-blood Sioux. The devotional service is from 8 to 8:30 p. m., led by their own men. There is a lecture on the association movement with stereopticon, which is most attractive to them.

"F. L. Willis, secretary of the Omaha association, is one of the instructors having charge also of the athletics which are so thoroughly enjoyed each afternoon. Basket ball, baseball and several Indian games, unnamable in English, are played most vigorously. One of the games is said to have been played by the Dakotas for more than 200 years. The writer has won laurels—and got the laugh on himself—by his attempts to participate in these.

"These Indian youths who are thus coming under Christian influences and being led to unite in church and association for lifting their companions, are many of them most interesting fellows. The secretary mentioned above has the heartiest sympathy and confidence of his people and is truly a leader among them. One of them, Tom Quinn, has been rather offish towards us but in the men's meeting yesterday he said, in his own language: 'You know how wicked I've been, how I've been drinking. I was brought up in a Christian home but I have lived it only in form. Today I want to begin to serve Jesus in earnest.'

"This was said in a quiet, determined way, and the boys who know him say he will stand by it. Some of the women, wives of the workers, are also here; not very handsome, but real Christians. The whole company seems to listen most eagerly to the truths given. They can sing as lustily as other people. I believe their religion is the genuine article for it leads to purity, industry and better living."

CLOSE JULY FOURTH.

Shops Are Being Asked to Close All Day.

A petition has been circulated among the business men of the city, asking them to close their stores all day July 4 in order to give their employes an opportunity to take part in the different exercises which are to take place on that day, and especially to show their respect for this great day of independence. Those who have signed the petition are as follows: I. Freimuth, Panton & White, Phillips & Co., Charles W. Ericson, Stack & Co., The Famous Shoe store, B. J. Cook, A. B. Siewert & Co., the Hub Clothing store, Williamson & Mendenhall, A. W. Wieland, Suffel & Co.

Two or three of the principal stores have refused to sign the petition, but the signers of the petition say they will close their stores all day, whether the others do or not, a fact which will certainly be appreciated not only by all the salespeople but by the general public as well. A copy of this petition is also being circulated among the West End merchants, and so far none have refused to sign.

"The Mystic Midgets."

The sale of seats for the two performances of the operetta "Mystic Midgets" will be opened tomorrow morning and it is expected that a large demand for seats will be developed, as a great deal of interest is being taken in the production. The proceeds of the performances are to be devoted to the use of the Children's home, one of Duluth's most worthy charities, and this will lead many people to patronize the entertainment. Of itself, however, the operetta is pretty enough to warrant attendance, and on its own merits the performance will draw large crowds. There are a number of features of the production that are especially pleasing, and those who attend are assured that they will be very agreeably surprised at what the little ones can do.

Park Point Line Running.

The new electric line on Minnesota Point is completed and yesterday a car made a trial trip over the new line which. Today cars began running, and tomorrow the regular service will be inaugurated. Cars will be run every half hour during the morning and every fifteen minutes during the afternoon. This service will be kept up all through the summer months. As soon as the steam ferry begins operations efforts will be made to make close connections between the cars and the ferry.

At the Pavilion.

The success of this week's program at the Pavilion continues, and the attendance is increasing largely. The Cherry sisters are drawing large crowds, and it is agreed that a better card could not have been found for the Hilltop Casino. The other performers on the excellent program are getting well deserved receptions, and altogether the Pavilion's season is getting along nicely. Last night's weather kept the crowds away, but such a setback is only temporary, and it only needs fairly decent weather to send the crowds to the hilltop.

Cooks and Waiters Merge.

A consolidation of the Waiters' Protective union and the Pastry Cooks' union was effected at a meeting held last evening. The following officers were elected for the ensuing six months: President, J. F. McDonald; vice president, Chris Jensen; James M. Murray, recording secretary; Peter Sorensen, financial secretary; James Gardner, treasurer; Thomas Savard, sergeant-at-arms. E. P. Fitzgerald, James M. Murray and J. F. McDonald were elected delegates to the Federated Trades assembly.

TO PULL TOGETHER.

Illinois Gold Democrat Goes to Confer With Tammany.

Chicago, June 28.—T. Abner Nelson, secretary of the state central Democratic committee, has gone to New York to see the leaders of Tammany and obtain their plans for the national convention in 1900. The purported object of this is to have New York and Illinois work in harmony as much as possible. It has been claimed by some of the leaders that if the party organizations of these two states would pull together they would control the convention.

Ex-Governor Altgeld has said he would go to the convention with a contesting delegation from this state.

Elliott Danforth sent work to the silver conference at Louisville that there would be a contesting delegation from New York. It is the understanding that the silver factions of the two states have an understanding and are pulling together and it is designed to unite the opposition against them. For this reason Mr. Nelson has gone to New York to see the Tammany leaders. There is likely to be a fight for the Democratic national convention. It is understood now that Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Cincinnati, New York and Buffalo are candidates.

NORWEGIAN LUTHERANS.

Ask For the Abolishment of the Army Canteen.

St. Paul, June 28.—By a unanimous vote the United Norwegian Lutheran synod decided that there should be an absolute separation of the college and the seminary, now located in Minneapolis. The proposition was brought up to move the college to Northfield, and on this proposition the debate will continue today. The plan to separate the two schools met with unanimous approval.

Prominent among the resolution introduced was one appealing to the president to abolish the army canteen. There was some opposition to this, and it was argued that it was out of place in a church meeting, but the resolution passed.

The appointments were announced of members of the board of managers of the Beloit Orphan's home; inspectors of the Orphan's home in Wittenberg, Wis.; committee to confer with the proprietors of academies; standing sommittee on ordination; board of school directors; and the standing committee on missions.

APOSTLE OF LABOR

Eugene V. Debs, of A. R. U. Fame, Speaks at the Armory Tonight.

LABOR AND LIBERTY

That Will Be His Subject---Sketch of His Eventful Career.

Eugene V. Debs, one of the foremost champions of labor, will speak at the Armory tonight on "Labor and Liberty." Mr. Debs is a student and thinker as well as an executive and a man of action; he may fittingly be called the Washington of organized labor in its struggle for independence against the tyranny and greed of capital. He goes to the bottom of the gerat economic questions of the day, his analytical mind resolving the problems presented to their basic elements. He gives his hearers food for thought, his presentation of conditions is luminous and accurate and his deductions scientific and logical.

The book student of economic and social questions will find much to profit him and mayhap the pathway blazed for him in new territory by this student in the hard school of experience, who has worked out the problems of the books by wrestling with them in the warfare of life; who has been on the "firing line," as it were.

At the age of 15 Mr. Debs went to work in the Vandalia car shops. Soon afterwards he obtained a position as fireman on a freight engine and became a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen. He quickly became a leader in this organization, was made editor of its official magazine when he was but 22 years old, and soon afterward became general secretary and treasurer.

In 1892 he organized the American Railway union, the first organization of railway employes that admitted to membership all classes from the section man and engine wiper up. The union speedily attained mammoth proportions and in its first great strike it bound the giant Great Northern railway system hand and foot. The Pullman strike followed in a few weeks after the settlement of the Great Northern trouble in 1894. It was a battle royal, in which all of the great trunk lines became involved through sympathetic strikes of branches of the A. R. U. The great strength and the far-reaching influence of the order were, paradoxical as it may seem, the cause of its defeat in this great struggle. So complete and all-encircling was its grasp that the commerce of the country was throttled and, irrespective of the merits of the question as between the original contestants, the whole power of the national judiciary was aroused to restore the circulation to the arteries of trade. The A. R. U. went down before the power of the judicial machinery of the government, and Mr. Debs and a number of his fellow leaders were thrown into jail. The A. R. U. was wrecked, although up to as late as 1896 efforts were made to reorganize it.

Paradoxical as this statement may seem, also, it is ventured that the question whether the A. R. U. was defeated or not is yet an open one. That the waves set in motion by the struggle are yet traveling, subsequent events may fairly be said to indicate and certain tendencies in the current of thought today may possibly have received their set and trend from that struggle. The results may be far reaching and not worked out in this generation.

As an indication of the trend of the current, there may be noted the recent decision clipping the Pullman company, the A. R. U.'s great antagonist, of the tentacles it had developed after birth, and relegating it to its original outlined field. And there are other things, straws, merely, some of them, that indicate a new direction to the current, receiving its impetus, perhaps, from the great death struggle of the A. R. U. organization. Can it be said that Debs and his confreres languished in Woodstock jail in vain?

The following of Mr. Debs' numerous epigrams will give an idea of his style and thought:

"Books are better than beer."

"Selfishness is moral suicide."

"Beneath a ragged coat may be a noble soul."

"Character should count for more than cash."

"If you are not well dressed society is against you."

"Excessive wealth is as demoralizing as extreme poverty."

"The American congress is a mossgrown museum of antiquities."

"Our children are becoming mere cogs in the wheels of industry."

"The millionaire has as much too much as the tramp has too little."

"Capitalism makes criminals of men. I would make men even of criminals.

"Government ownership of railroads is better than railroad ownership of government."

"A corporation is merely an organized appetite. The more you feed it the hungrier it grows."

"People are asking what we can do for the working man? I ask what can he do for himself?"

"If the arm of corporate greed could reach Old Sol there would be a meter on every sunbeam."

"Government ownership can be no worse than government receivership. The United States courts are rapidly becoming repair shops for wrecked railroads."

As an example of Debs' superb oratory, the following etract from his speech on his release from Woodstock is given:

"It does not matter that the Creator has sown with stars the fields of ether and decked the earth with countless beauties for man's enjoyment. It does not matter that air and ocean teem with the wonders of innumerable forms of life to challenge man's admiration and investigation. It does not matter that nature spreads forth all her scenes of beauty and gladness and pours forth the melodies of her myriad-tongued voices for man's delectation. If liberty is ostracized and exiled, man is a slave, and the world rolls in space and whirls around the sun a gilded prison, a doomed dungeon, and though painted in all the enchanting hues that infinite art can command, it must stand forth a blotch amidst the singing spheres of the sidereal heavens, and those who cull from the choicest beauties of nations, living or dead, their flashing phrases with which to apostrophize Liberty, are engaged in perpetuating the most stupendous delusion the ages have known. Strike down liberty, no matter by what subtle and infernal art the deed is done, the spinal cord of humanity is severed and the world is paralyzed by the indescribable crime.

"Strike the fetters from the slave, give him liberty and he becomes an inhabitant of a new world. He looks abroad and beholds life and joy in all things around him. His soul expands beyond all boundaries. Emancipated by the genius of Liberty, he aspires to communion with all that is noble and beautiful, and feels himself allied to all the higher order of intelligences, and walks abroad, redeemed from animalism, ignorance and superstition, a new being throbbing with glorious life."

WOMEN OF ALL AGES, ATTENTION!

MME. YALE, Queen of Beauty, who has lectured in all of the prominent cities of the world before vast audiences, and has been pronounced by all newspapers to be the most perfect woman in form and feature now living, speaks to the women of the world and confesses to them that the secret of her beauty lies in perfect health, and the secret of her health lies in the use of her own remedies—among them, Fruitcura—her great and wonderful tonic for curing all female aliments and building up the system. Fruitcura restores all weak organs to perfect health. It cures the many complaints of women that only women know of. It restores the vitality, makes the eyes bright, the step elastic and brings the bloom of health to the faded cheek. It renews the nerve tone and makes the flesh firm, hard and velvety. In fact, its use is the royal road to perfect health and beautiful womanhood. It cures their complaints and nervous troubles of any nature, and revives the vitality which is lacking in all such cases. For women of all ages. A discovery by a woman to cure women. AFTER THE COMBINE

Action to Be Brought Against the United States Milling Company.

THE ANTI-TRUST LAW

Passed By the State Legislature Will Be Given a Test.

Minneapolis, June 28.—The Minnesota anti-trust law, enacted at the recent session of the legislature, is to be tested in the courts, and the first corporation upon which it will be tried is the United States Milling company, the flour mill syndicate organized through the efforts of Thomas McIntyre.

The case is to be brought by the attorney general, who will have the legal assistance of W. S. Dwinnell, Minneapolis, who, as a competent attorney and the framer of the law, is probably the man best qualified for the task. The test is to be made, so it is said, at the suggestion of W. C. Edgar, publisher of the Northwestern Miller, who is deeply interested in the affair, having fought the schemes of Mr. McIntyre from the beginning.

This legal contest will be one of the most important ever brought before the courts of this state, viewing it either from the business or political standpoint. The business point of view is undoubtedly of greatest importance, and the outcome of the city and state inasmuch as a great deal of their own future welfare will be determined with the disposition of the case.

It will be remembered that while the milling trust organized by Mr. McIntyre failed to secure many of the mills of importance located in this city, they did succeed in buying three small mills from the Minneapolis Flour Manufacturing company, as well as the big Imperial mill at Duluth. Since that transaction was closed the milling people of the city and state have awakened to the fact that, perhaps, the small purchases made were enough to satisfy the United States Milling company, inasmuch as the new corporation could, possessing mills in this city and state, use the words Minneapolis and Minnesota in branding the flour manufactured by them, and it is equally plain that in case the United States Milling company wished to do so, there would be nothing to prevent it from putting upon the market a large quantity of flour thus branded, which had been manufactured in other states, and which, perhaps, had never been inside the limits of the state.

This would destroy at one blow that for which the millers of Minneapolis have been fighting for a great many years, and would nullify the results of the recent court decisions in favor of the Minneapolis millers, which were obtained only after the expenditure of a great many thousands of dollars.

At the present time the simple fact that flour bears the word Minneapolis or Minnesota, is sufficient to give it a high standing in the market, and accordingly the manufacturers have no difficulty in disposing of their entire product. With the new trust possibly flooding the market with a spurious article, perhaps greatly inferior, it is plain to be seen that Minnesota flour would thereafter be considered no better than any other, and the loss to Minneapolis people would be accordingly heavy.

It is not yet known in what particular manner the action will be commenced, but it is quite certain that the United States Milling company will be attacked as a trust. Under the law of the state all trusts organized after the passage of the act, and the United States Milling company is one of those, which come under this category, are not to be allowed to begin business in this state or to establish any agency here. They cannot even acquire property in the state, and any accounts owing any such trust are declared void and uncollectable.

A MARQUETTE MAN.

One of Those Recently Arrested For Treason In Transvaal.

Marquette, Mich., June 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Richard Floyd Nicholl, a former Marquette county man, is languishing in jail in Pretoria, the capital of the Transvaal, with a charge of high treason hanging over his head. Nicholl was a resident of this county as late as 1883.

News of his predicament reached here in a letter he sent to the county clerk, asking evidence with which to establish his American citizenship. The letter reads:

"Pretoria Jail, Transvaal, South Africa, May 27, 1899.—To County Clerk, Negaunee, Marquette County, Mich., U. S. America: On May 15 I was arrested at Johannesburg on a charge of high treason and brought here. Yesterday the United States consul general from Cape Town with the United States consul here came to see me. The consul general, Col. Stowe, requested me to write to you for a copy of my father's naturalization papers. His full name was Francis Nicholl. He became a citizen of the United States somewhere between 1875-80. I don't know exactly the year, neither do I know exactly the city in which he took his papers. I think it must have been in Negaunee, Ishpeming, Republic, Ironwood or Marquette. He at any rate resided for some time in each of the above mentioned places. He was in America over five years before he died in Washington city in the hospital in 1882 or 3. I joined my father in America whilst a minor and became of age there. I understand it is possible for me to claim American citizenship through it. Besides I had my first papers in Negaunee city in 1882-3. Be so good as to look it up and forward me copies of both my father's and my own naturalization papers as speedily as possible. I am, sir, your obedient servant.

"RICHARD FLOYD NICHOLL."

"P. S.—My father and myself were both born in Cornwall, England."

Reference to the files in the clerk's office shows that Mr. Nicholl's memory serves him badly. Papers were issued to both father and son at the same time, the date being Dec. 14, 1882. The son received the first papers, the number being 1704; his father was next in the series.

Neither one, as it appears from the records, ever took out second papers. This fact will make it impossible, it is believed, for Nicholl to establish his citizenship, and in this case his alleged offense is likely to go hard with him.

Nothing is known personally of the Nicholls, either father or son, at the court house, but it is likely they worked here as miners. With the exception of Marquette and Washington, all the towns named in the letter are iron mining towns. Johannesburg is the center of the Rand district, and the supposition is strengthened by the fact that that was where the younger Nichol was arrested.

AMONG THE SPORTS.

W. R. Gray, manager of the Westchester club, of New York, cabled an offer of a $10,000 purse for a 25-round bout between Pedlar Palmer, the champion bantam of England, and the winner of the McGovern-Ritchie contest, which will take place at the Westchester club next Saturday afternoon.

In a good whole sail breeze the new cup defender Columbia and the Defender, champion of 1895, had a second and more thorough test of their relative speed than in the light air of Sunday, and the new boat was found to be somewhat weak, she could both outpoint and outfoot the older craft.

Kid McCoy today sent the following reply to a telegram from the Syracuse (N. Y.) Herald, asking him whether he would fight Tommy Ryan before the Colorado Athletic club: "Will meet Ryan July 24, 150 pounds at ringside of the Colorado Athletic association, ten or twenty rounds, winner to to take all. Have deposited $2000 with the Colorado club to support this. Ryan must do the same as he shall not get any advertisement without paying for it."

FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

Chinese advices state that Spain will prefer a demand for a lease of Chinese territory on the ground that China during the Spanish-American war permitted the shipment there of arms and ammunition to the Philippines by American steamers.

A correspondent at The Hague says: "As a result of a protracted formal discussion of the committee's report the Russian military disarmament proposals were declared unacceptable."

It is persistently rumored, says a dispatch from Johannesburg, that Great Britain has acquired possession of Inanyax islands, at the mouth of Delgoa bay.

A dispatch to the Paris Temps from Saigon, describing the anti-foreign disturbances that recently occurred in Mengtsu, province of Yun-Yan, says that the Wong-Tse custom house, which was in charge of American officials, was sacked and destroyed.

Serious strike riots broke out yesterday in the Berchum coal mines. The troops, who were called to protect the non-strikers, were attacked by the rioters and compelled to use their side arms and firearms. Many persons were injured. The strikers fired on the miners' houses and the gendarmes returned the fire.

NEWS BOILED DOWN.

Maj. Gen. Wilson, military governor of the department of Matanzas and Santa Clara, reporting to Governor General Brooke on the collision between Americans and Cubans at Cienfuegos last Saturday night, says that no American soldiers were connected with the shooting, as was at first supposed, but three civilian employes of the quartermaster's department were mixed up in the affair. These men will be dismissed and deported from the island.

Five hundred convicts in the Anamosa, Iowa, penitentiary have gone on a strike and refuse to work. They claim that the rations are insufficient in quantity and inferior in quality.

The plans of Governor Pingree and his associates for municipal ownership and operation of Detroit street railways were left "in the air" by the common council last night. The two pending ordinances and other matters appertaining to the municipal ownership scheme were laid on the table by unanimous votes, and it is problematical when those questions will be again publicly debated.

Directors of the Diamond Match company will meet Monday, and if the present plans are carried out a call will be issued and sent to stockholders immediately calling a meeting to be held in thirty days authorizing an increase in the capital stock from $11,000,000 to $15,000,000.

CANCER IS DEADLY!

Results Fatally in Nine Cases Out of Ten—A Cure Found at Last.

This fearful disease often first appears as a mere scratch, a pimple, or lump in the breast, too small to attract any notice, until, in many cases, the deadly disease is fully developed.

Cancer can not be cured by a surgical operation, because the disease is a virulent poison in the blood, circulating throughout the system, and although the sore or ulcer—known as the Cancer—may be cut away, the poison remains in the blood, and promptly breaks out afresh, with renewed violence.

The wonderful success of S. S. S. in curing obstinate, deep-seated blood diseases which were considered incurable, induced a few despairing sufferers to try it for Cancer, after exhausting the skill of the physicians without a cure. Much to their delight S. S. S. proved equal to the disease and promptly effected a cure. The glad news spread rapidly, and it was soon demonstrated beyond doubt that a cure had at last been found for deadly Cancer. Evidence has accumulated which is incontrovertible, of which the following is a specimen:

MRS. S. M. IDOL.

"Cancer is hereditary in our family, my father, a sister and an aunt having died from this dreadful disease. My feelings may be imagined when the horrible disease made its appearance on my side. It was a malignant Cancer, eating inwardly in such a way as to cause great alarm. The disease seemed be ond the skill of the doctors, for their treatment did no good whatever, the Cancer growing worse all the while. Numerous remedies were used for it, but the Cancer grew steadily worse, until it seemed that I was doomed to follow the others of the family, for I know how deadly Cancer is, especially when inherited. I was advised to try Swift's Specific (S. S. S.), which, from the first day, forced out the poison. I continued its use until I had taken eighteen bottles, when I was cured sound and well, and have had no symptoms of the dreadful affliction, though many years have elapsed. S. S. S. is the only cure for Cancer.—Mrs. S. M. Idol, Winston, N. C.

Our book on Cancer, containing other testimonials and valuable information, will be sent free to any address by the Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Georgia.

THE DAKOTAS.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Minot—Ray Crow, 7 years old, was drowned in the Mouse river. He was playing in a boat chained to a tree on the bank with two other children about the same age, and fell out. The body was evidently carried down the stream. The father is a car repairer in the employ of the Great Northern.

Valley City—Herman Keatcher, of Alpha, Jackson county, Minn., arrived here to take charge of his brother, John, who went violently insane over religion during the Adventist camp meeting here last week. The insane man will be confined in the asylum at Fergus Falls. Last winter he was an inmate of the asylum at St. Peter.

Grandin—Crops are looking fine in this vicinity. Farmers are marketing considerable wheat.

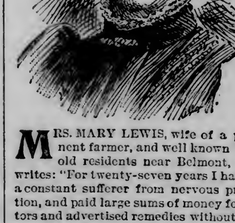
SOUTH DAKOTA.

Sioux Falls—The coroner's jury in the case of the 15-year-old daughter of Stephen Clark returned a verdict that deceased came to her death by reason of the wound inflicted by her father, Stephen Clark. Efforts to locate Clark and procure his arrest have now been renewed with redoubled vigor. All sorts of sensational reports have been circulated in reference to his being seen at various points on the east side of the Missouri river, one of the stories being that he is loitering in the region adjacent to Armour for the purpose of stealthily entering the town when opportunity offers and killing certain parties against whom he is said to harbor resentment because they are alleged to have interfered in his family troubles.

Andover—The 36-foot span of the railroad bridge between here and Pierpont was destroyed by fire. The fire was caused by the weed burner passing over the bridge and igniting the timber.

Scald head is an eczema of the scalp—very severe sometimes, but it can be cured. Doan's Ointment, quick and permanent in its results. At any drug store, 50 cents.

Suffered 20 Years.



MRS. MARY LEWIS, wife of a prominent farmer, and well known by all old residents near Belmont, N. Y., writes: "For twenty-seven years I had been a constant sufferer from nervous prostration, and paid large sums of money for doctors and advertised remedies without benefit. Three years ago my condition was alarming; the least noise would startle and unnerve me. I was unable to sleep, had a number of sinking spells and slowly grew worse. I began using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and Nerve and Liver Pills. At first the medicine seemed to have no effect, but after taking a few bottles I began to notice a change; I rested better at night, my appetite began to improve and I rapidly grew better, until now I am as nearly restored to health as one of my age may expect. God bless Dr. Miles' Nervine."

AT WEST DULUTH

Believed That Chances For Increased Fire Protection Are Quite Good.

CELEBRATES ALONE

West Duluth Will Not Join Duluth, But Will Go It Alone.

A member of the board of fire commissioners calls attention to the fact that for three months past the board has had a recommendation before the council for an increase of three men in the force at the West Duluth fire hall and that because of the opposition of the council committee, to whom the matter was referred, to any increase in the appropriation for the fire department, the matter has been hung up.

It is likely, however, that opposition to this particular demand will disappear now that the business interests of West Duluth have made a concerted demand for better fire protection. The Herald understands that opposition in the past was largely because the council committee feared that if certain limits were overstepped in the case of West Duluth other parts of the city would make demands of like character and there would be no end to the expansion.

TO CELEBRATE ALONE.

A business meeting of the Fourth of July committees was held yesterday afternoon at the office of Messrs. Barnes and Lanners and it was the general settlement of those present that there should be no coalition with Duluth and that the celebration, including the parade, should be entirely separate and distinct from the Duluth affair.

The committee appointed to solicit funds reported that $592.50 had been pledged and that more would follow.

The committee on program for the day, consisting of Messrs. G. J. Mallory, H. W. Lanners, W. Kern, H. Breen and James Mulligan, reported as follows:

4 a. m.—Salute. One gun to be fired for each state in the Union.
9 a. m.—Parade.
10 a. m.—Speaking at the band stand.
11 a. m.—Band concert.
1 p. m.—Sports and races.
3:30 p. m.—An old fashioned game of baseball.
7:30 p. m.—Band concert.
9 p. m.—Grand display of fireworks.

L. S. Neuman was chosen chairman of the meeting and S. J. Nygren as secretary. Another meeting will be held Friday afternoon, when a detailed program will be arranged.

The following committees on arrangements were appointed: Finance—Mulligan, Breen, Kerr and Barnes. Speakers—Mallory, Hartman and Nygren. Sports—Lanners, Kern, Silger and Centers. Parade—Mallory, Confers, Barnes, Lanners and Hartman.

It is the opinion of some that if the secret societies turn out well a better and larger parade can be arranged here than in Duluth proper. The business men generally are preparing floats for the parade and the local fire department will also participate.

WEST DULUTH WEDDINGS.

The wedding of Miss Martha Mayhew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mayhew, to Ernest Walworth, took place at the parsonage of the West End Catholic church. The groom is an employe of the Missabe road and the bride a well known and popular young lady of West Duluth.

The wedding of Miss Anna Clancy and Joseph Packett was solemnized here yesterday.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS.

Mrs. W. W. Calkins left yesterday for Randolph, Minn., to visit her mother after a visit here with Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Phelps.

Harvey Fetter, civil engineer for the Great Northern, returned this morning from St. Paul.

The heavy rain last night flooded several basements in West Duluth and the boys at the fire hall had to pump theirs out this morning.

You can get paint at cost at Nygren's. Why pay more?

The cantata of "Jephtha and His Daughter" will be given at the Great Eastern hall on Wednesday evening, July 12.

The Misses Olga Nielson and Diviane Johnson came down form Two Harbors Monday to visit friends. The former returned home yesterday and Miss Johnsen remains the guest of Miss Catherine Evanson.

West Duluth court No. 797, I. O. F., initiated a class of twenty-eight new members at its regular meeting Monday evening and the event was celebrated with a spread in the hall and dancing afterward.

Rev. K. S. Totterman recently arrived from Faribault to accept the pastorate of St. Luke's Swedish Episcopal church at Nineteenth avenue west. He will also preach at the West Duluth church every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

The Ladies' Aid society of Asbury M. E. church meet this afternoon with Mrs. W. B. Noxon.

Asbury auxiliary W. F. M. S. will give an ice cream social at the home of Mrs. Joseph Cochrane, 610 Fifty-sixth avenue west, Friday afternoon from 2:30 to 5 o'clock.

Stillwater Samaritans.

The Stillwater Gazette reports the addition of a large number of new members to its branch of the Modern Samaritans, the members being initiated by C. E. Lovett, of Duluth, assisted by St. Paul and Minneapolis officials of the order. Speeches were made by Mr. Lovett and others, and the growth of the order, its success and its merits were treated. The Stillwater association was instituted in April of 1898 and it is growing rapidly still.

The Forfeited Tax Sale.

The forfeited tax sale was finally adjourned for good yesterday afternoon, after being in session forty-four days. Auditor Halden, who has won many compliments on his manner of conducting the sale, is glad enough, nevertheless, that it is over, and he says that he does not want another one right away. The sale realized about $60,000, as stated by The Herald last week, and in the neighborhood of 15,000 or 16,000 descriptions were sold.

JEALOUS WOMAN'S DEED.

Bloomington, Ill., June 28.—Mrs. W. K. Martin, wife of a railroad man, today shot Miss Ida Oglesby four times, inflicting fatal wounds. Jealousy was the cause.

CITY BRIEFS.

Cullum, dentist, Palladio. 'Phone No. 9.

Tibbetts, undertaker. 31 East Sup. St.

Subscribers to The Herald, intending to camp on Park Point, can have their paper delivered to their camp by leaving change of address at this office.

The congregation of Morley Congregational church will have a picnic at Lester Park, Friday.

The Duluth Street Railway company is building a "Y" this side of the canal on which to turn the new cars that are to be placed on the Lake avenue and West Duluth line.

Mrs. John Loman's third lecture recital took place this morning at the Twentieth Century club rooms, and in spite of the bad weather it was well attended. These recitals are proving most interesting, and the series will be very successful.

The benefit for Rev. Richmond Taylor, which was to have been held last night at Brown's hall, was postponed until Friday night.

The Duluth Cycle club will meet tonight to arrange the Fourth of July races. The meeting was to have been held last night, but was postponed.

The Butchers' union will turn out July Fourth to take part in the parade, and last night it decided to ask the market men to close their places of business all day on the Fourth.

The Sewing society of the Swedish Bethel Baptist church will have an auction at the church, corner Ninth avenue east and Third street, Thursday evening, June 29.

A daughter was born this morning to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Baldwin, of 11 East Third street.

The Parlor theater is doing a great business this summer, and crowded houses nightly are the rule. This weeks' bill offers many attractive features, including Zanfrella and Aldo, Miss Ashley, Blackford Bros, Sam Green and others.

Ludwig Stein, of Rochester, N. Y., is an interested visitor in the city today.

A street car ran into a team of horses attached to a wagon at Superior street and Second avenue west this morning, knocking one of the animals down and bruising it quite badly.

A. McG. McDonald, who was injured last Friday, has been removed to his home, 407 West Third street, and he is resting nicely and expects to be out in a day or two.

C. J. Elroyed received the endorsement of the Barbers' union at a meeting held last night for his appointment as secretary of the barbers' state examining board. A strong petition will accompany the barbers' indorsement.

Mr. Debs draws the people and Kelly cleans the clothes.

IN GERMAN TERRITORY.

Governor Roosevelt Says Something Soft to the Germans.

Milwaukee, June 28.—Just before the closing of the session of the chamber of commerce today, Governor Roosevelt of New York was escorted into the chamber, where he was enthusiastically received. He made a few remarks, saying in part:

"The people of this country, whether on the Atlantic or Pacific coasts, must be equally interested in the welfare of the nation upon every foreign question and we should all see that the nation rises on the Pacific as on the Aalantic, and we have a right to demand of all good citizens to stand by the president as he upholds the honor and the glory and the greatness of the flag, no matter what the individual ideas may be regarding the Philippine question.

"And we want to make it understood that while we fear no nation and shirk no duty, we desire above all things peace, and we feel that there are three great nations which have interests together. These are America, England and Germany. These should work hand in hand for the success of the questions that now confront us in the Pacific."

SHE DISCUSSED FOOD.

Mrs. Miller Met With Opposition From the Chair.

London, June 28.—At today's session of the International Council of Women Mrs. Stanton Blatch read a paper on "Primary Education," advocating the use of manual works at every step of education, but deprecating the introduction of domestic occupations and trying to adapt trades to educational processes.

Mrs. Miller advocated her well-known views on physical development, through the reorganization of the food question, but the chairwoman, Mrs. Stevenson, intervened and declared that questions in the shape of the kitchen and preparation of food were hardly within the scope of the discussion. To this Mrs. Miller replied that rational and physical education was the only question she wished to discuss, and suggested that perhaps it had been placed on the wrong program. The audience finally invited Mrs. Miller to continue, which she did, meeting with much applause.

DIED SUDENLY.

London, June 28.—Admiral Sir Wyndham Hornby, K. C. B., retired, died suddenly of apoplexy this afternoon while presiding at a meeting of the Hotchkiss Ordnance company.

DRINK GRAIN-O

After you have concluded that you ought not to drink coffee. It is not a medicine, but doctors order it, because it is healthful, invigorating and appetizing. It is made from pure grains and has that rich seal brown color and tastes like the finest grades of coffee and costs about one-fourth as much. Children like it and thrive on it because it is genuine food drink containing nothing but nourishment. Ask your grocer for Grain-O, the new food drink. 15 and 25 cents.

A HEAVY RAINFALL

Last Night's Ducking Was Nearly as Heavy as July 3, 1897.

DID LITTLE DAMAGE

Though There Were Several Narrow Escapes---Little Damage Reported.

The rainfall last evening broke all previous records for thirty years except that of July 3, 1897. The rain that washed most of Duluth's park improvements out two years ago still remains the high-water mark, though that of last night came within .27 of an inch of equaling it. Yesterday afternoon the rainfall was .34 of an inch and last night 2.80 inches, making a total precipitation in twenty-four hours of 3.14 inches. On July 3, 1897, the date of the heaviest previous rainfall, 3.41 inches fell. From 8:40 o'clock last night till 9:15—about half an hour—1.5 inches fell, which is regarded by Weather Forecaster Richardson as a new record for the local bureau. He says the rain fell at an excessive rate.

The heavy fall of rain last night came near causing a washout on Superior street at Twelfth avenue west. The torrents of water in the creek at that point rolled a mass of rocks against the grating of the well at the tunnel where the water enters it on the upper side of Superior street, choking it up. The water filled up to the top of the grating and run off in the track of the washout of July 3, 1897. At this junction the wooden covering on the well gave way, and the water poured into the well and through the tunnel again. Several men were kept at work nearly all night keeping the entrance to the well clear of debris.

Some of the rocks that were carried against the grating by the water are so large that it takes two or three men to move them.

The basement of the police and fire headquarters at West Duluth were flooded to a depth of two feet and over, and the sidewalk, near the entrance to the police station, was undermined.

It was reported that the basement of the United States block, at Nineteenth avenue west and Superior street, was flooded to a depth of several inches. The sewer in Nineteenth avenue west is in good condition, having been recently cleaned out, it was stated at the office of the board of public works, but the water in the lake is so high that the flow through the sewer is checked.

The storm is said to have done much damage to the harbor improvements at Marquette. The extent of the damage could not be learned. Maj Sears will leave for Marquette this evening to look after the repairs. The storm at Marquette was much heavier than at this port.

HAS BEEN SUCCESSFUL.

Opinion as to Fischer's Conference With President Kruger.

Pretoria, June 28.—The conferences between President Krueger and Fischer, a member of the executive council of the Orange Free State, who was the bearer of compromise suggestions from the Free State in the matter of the disputes between the Transvaal and Great Britain, have been concluded. The general impression is that Fischer's mission has been successful. He afterwards conferred with Mr. Conyningham Green, the British diplomatic agent here.

SNEERS AT THEM.

Carlist Organ Says Present Riots Are Mere Ripples.

Havana, June 28.—The Regneracion Espanola, the Carlist organ, sneers at the Madrid telegrams published in the local papers here. It says:

"The Spanish censor is doing his best to deceive the world regarding the true situation in Spain. The pretended riots are merely ripples before the general revolt in favor of Don Carlos."

Rumors that the Carlists have taken the field are rife in Havana and are earnestly considered in the clubs and cafes. The stock exchange is affected seriously and Spanish futures fluctuated with no buying. Contract purchases for future delivery of wines, oil, olives, beans and canned goods were offered, but no sales were reported. There is a general feeling of uneasiness among holders of Spanish values.

MANY DISCONTENTED.

Forty Girls Join Ranks of Stock Yards Strikers.

Chicago, June 28.—The latest recruits to the strikers at the stock yards are forty girls, who have been drawing 75 cents per day in the butterine and eggs department of Armour & Co. They asked an increase to $1, and upon refusal walked out. It is estimated that 1200 men were out today. It is claimed by the men that the raise in wages which caused many to resume work is only temporary. It is asserted that there is a strong undercurrent of discontent running through the entire army of employes at the yards.

SOCIETY WEDDING.

Syracuse, N. Y., June 28.—Lieut. Col. M. P. Maus, of Maj. Gen. Nelson A. Miles's staff, and Miss Lindsay Poor were married today in St. James' church, Skaneateles, by the Rev. Frank Nash Westcott, the rector. Among the guests present was Gen. Miles, whose daughter was one of the bridesmaids. Another bridesmaid was Miss Mary Sheridan, daughter of the late Gen Phil Sheridan. Col. Francis Michler was best man and the ushers included Col. James Allen, Maj. John J. Pershing and Maj. I. H. Strothers. Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Maus left for San Francisco, where he is ordered on duty.

SAILS FOR PORT SAID.

Colombo, Ceylon, June 28.—The U. S. cruiser Olympia, with Admiral Dewey on board, sailed from here for Port Said at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The admiral has been living quietly here and his health has improved. He went on board the cruiser at 10 o'clock this morning. The customary official visits were exchanged during the day. Previous to his departure Admiral Dewey visited the auxiliary cruiser Yosemite, now at this port, having on board Capt. Richard P. O'Leary, U. S. N., the governor of the island of Guam, who is on his way to his post.

Ticket No. 746

Mr. E. Tengblad, employed at LaVaque's Paint and Wall Paper Co., was the holder of the lucky ticket at this morning's drawing. Being a single man, he gave his $4.00 order to his boarding house-keeper in return for a week's board.

Another $4.00 Order given away Tomorrow morning. The drawing this morning was in charge of Officer Terry of the Police Department, and Wm. F. Henry of The Evening Herald.

THE CRICKETERS.

London, June 28.—In the cricket match with the Australians at Derby today the Derbyshire players were all out in their second inning for 171 runs. As the home team only made 123 runs in its first innings, or 294 runs for both innings, the Australians, who made 53 runs in their first innings Monday won by an innings and 228 runs.

COMMISSIONER FOR ILLINOIS.

Springfield, Ill., June 28.—Governor Tanner today appointed John W. Gates, the steel manufacturer, Illinois commissioner to the Paris exposition in 1900.

ONE WAS DROWNED.

Chicago, June 28.—A tiny sailing yacht, compass gone and all knowledge of direction lost by the crew of three, drifted all last night on Lake Michigan, capsizing just as help was at hand. Thurman Malone, of Cincinnati, went to the bottom with the boat, while Seth P. Warren and Ruby Biederman were today rescued with difficulty by the steamer City of Chicago. As the steamer approached the sailboat turned over and sank, but Warren and Biederman managed to swim till assistance arrived.

HARVARD HONORS.

Cambridge, Mass., June 28.—Among the honorary degrees conferred by Harvard university today were those of doctor of laws upon Jules Cambon, the French ambassador to the United States; Gen. Leonard Wood, U. S. A., military governor of Santiago, Cuba; Rear Admiral W. T. Sampson, U. S. N., and Arthur T. Hadley, president-elect of Yale university.

Kentaro Kaneko, the Japanese peer and former member of the Japanese embassy, was also made a doctor of laws. The honorary degree of doctor of divinity was conferred upon Professor George Harris of Andover, president-elect of Amherst college.

STILL TURBULENT.

Madrid, June 28.—At Saragossa the populace continues turbulent, and fresh troops have been stationed at strategic points in the city. Many of the wounded have been hidden, so it is difficult to determine the number of injured. Quiet has been restored at Seville and Valencia.

TO PRESENT DEMANDS.

New York, June 28.—General Master Workman John N. Parsons of the Knights of Labor said today that the newly organized association of the employes of the Metropolitan Street railway had merely presented various grievances to the company's officials for the purpose of obtaining a peaceable settlement if possible, and that if that failed there would be an appeal to the public. The employes, he said, were not seeking the official recognition of any labor organization. He anticipated no trouble.

INCREASE OF STOCK.

Baltimore, June 28.—The stockholders of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad met today and authorized an increase of the preferred stock from $40,000,000 to $60,000,000 and of the common stock from $35,000,000 to $45,000,000 for the purpose of carrying out the plan of reorganization of the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern railway.

DEATHS IN CUBA.

Washington, June 28.—Gen. Brooke's death report from Havana, dated June 27, is as follows:

Death report 25th: Santiago—Acting Assistant Surgeon Frederick W. Fabricius, Private James E. McCauley and James E. Rogers, Company G, Fifth Infantry; Michael L. White, late Fourth volunteer infantry, yellow fever; Private John H. Cassidy, Company A, Fifth Infantry, malarial haematuria.

Gen. Brooke also reports the death of Waggoner Swan Jensen, Company B, Eighth cavalry, at Puerto Principe, of yellow fever, on the 26th inst.

Cheap Rates South.

On the first and third Tuesdays of each month, up to and including October, the Southern railway offers to homeseekers and settlers the advantages of cheap one way and round trip tickets to practically all points in Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia and Florida.

Homeseekers' tickets will be sold at the rate of one fare plus $2 for the round trip, tickets good twenty-one days from the date of sale in which to return.

The Southeastern territory offers to the prospector and settler more advantages than any other part of the United States, and the Southern railway has arranged for the sale of tickets on the dates mentioned above at low enough rates to enable any one to go South and investigate the opportunities in that territory.

The President Abandons His Proposed Trips to Minnesota and Coast.

MRS. M'KINLEY ILL

This Given as Reason For Decision to Remain In Washington.

New York, June 28.—A special to the Herald from Washington says: The state of Mrs. McKinley's health at this time is decidedly worse than it has usually been since she has been in the White House, and the probable result will be that the president will remain in Washington practically all summer and will take very little, if any, vacation out of this city.

President McKinley's projected trip to the Pacific coast which has been looked forward to in anticipation of enjoyment for himself and improvement in Mrs. McKinley's condition, has been definitely abandoned. His proposed trip to Minnesota has also been abandoned.

The unfavorable turn in Mrs. McKinley's condition is attributed to a cold which she contracted just before leaving Washington. She is not very strong and this cold seemed to weaken her to such an extent as to make it advisable to avoid the exertion which would have been necessary had she remained away as long as had been intended.

It is not expected that Mrs. McKinley will have to stay in the house. She will be able to drive about the city as heretofore, and it is probable that she and the president, if they do not leave the city again for any long stay, will take occasional outings on the Potomac on the auxiliary gunboat Sylph, which is a very comfortable vessel for such excursions.

STICKS TO HIS POST.

Secretary Alger Absolutely Refuses to Leave the Cabinet.

Washington, June 28.—Secretary Alger called twice at the White House yesterday. It is understood that the situation in Michigan as to the senatorship and Governor Pingree's alleged utterances, as well as the situation in the Philippines, were talked over.

When the secretary left the White House and his attention was called to the reports in certain quarters that he intended to resign from the cabinet, he promptly and emphatically denied their truth.

He added that his resignation had not been asked for, that he certainly did not intend to offer it, and that he intended to remain in the cabinet until the expiration of this administration.

Relative to Governor Pingree's published interview, Secretary Alger said that he did not care to express himself, not being of the opinion that Governor Pingree could be charged with responsibility for all of the statements attributed to him by the newspapers.

CHARGED WITH MURDER.

Mexico Asks For Extradition of Mrs. Mattie Rich.

El Paso, Tex., June 28.—The trial of Mrs. Mattie Rich was begun before the United States commissioner here to determine whether or not she be surrendered to the Mexican authorities for trial at Juarez on the charge of murdering her husband there last April. John D. Rich, an American citizen, was mysteriously shot in Juarez. He was brought to El Paso in a hack next morning by his wife and died a few days later as a result of his wounds. Mexico made application for the extradition of the woman, who is also an American citizen, and the case has aroused widespread interest on account of its peculiar features and the fact that it is the first extradition case under the neutrality agreement.

Rich made an ante-mortem statement in which he said his wife shot him, and this was placed in evidence. The surgeon also testified, and the proceedings of the Juarez court which investigated the killing were introduced. Today Mrs. Rich will testify fully in her own behalf.

The dead man's home was formerly at Fort Dodge, Iowa, and his father, a banker, resides there now.

DREYFUS COURT-MARTIAL.

Most of the Members Taken From the Artillery.

Rennes, June 28.—The official list of the composition of the Dreyfus court-martial, which is to assemble in the army service building for the re-trial of the prisoner, is as follows: President, Col. Jouaust; Maj. Brongniast, artillery; Maj. De Breon, artillery; Capt. Parfait, artillery; Capt. Beauvais, artillery. All the members of the court-martial have passed through the Polytechnic school.

HE SAW DREYFUS.

Mate of American Steamer Says Prisoner Looks Aged.

New York, June 28.—A dispatch to the Herald from Paris says: La Matin has interviewed the mate of an American steamer which passed the Sfax at Cape Verde islands on June 19. He saw Capt. Dreyfus on deck and he says he looked broken down and like a man of 60. The captain of the Sfax ordered them to keep off.

Capt. Dreyfus saluted the flags when the usual salutes were exchanged.

FIVE FATALLY SCALDED.

Collapse of Steam Flue on Steamer St. Paul.

St. Louis, June 28.—Five men were fatally scalded by the collapse of a steam flue last night on the river steamer St. Paul. Two of the injured died on the way to the hospital. The dead: Jack Mack, sailor; colored roustabout, name unknown. Injured: O. C. Thompson, sailor; two colored firemen, names unknown. It is believed the injured men cannot recover.

HONORS CONFERRED.

New Haven, Conn., June 28.—The annual commencement of Yale university was celebrated today. The weather was decidedly inauspicious, rain beginning to fall just before the time set for the forming of the elaborate procession.

The events of the day were the conferring of degrees to the number of 465, including those awarded to the members of the graduating classes of all departments of the university, and the honorary degrees, the announcement of prizes and the awards of prizes, scholarships and fellowships.

Honorary degrees were conferred as follows: D.D.—Rev. D. Stuart Dodge (Yale college, 1857) New York; Rev. Professor George Adam Smith, Glasgow, Scotland LL.D., Hon. GOEBEL WINS.

He Was Finally Nominated for Governor By the Kentucky Democrats.

Louisville, Ky., June 28.—William Goebel, who with an iron grasp has ruled the Democratic state convention since it assembled nearly a week ago, was last night nominated for governor on the twenty-sixth ballot, after a contest unparalleled in this state for bitterness and determination, and on the part of the winner for skillful manipulation. The nomination brought to an end the period of bitterness, though every inch of ground was fought. Nearly everybody joined heartily in a demonstration when the candidate appeared for the first time before the convention to accept the nomination and to return his thanks.

The Goebel forces held the opposition closely down to business all day, for it insisted on continued balloting, defeating them when they saw signs of weakness, and when they sought a one-hour adjournment, pressed for a ballot and came out with its final strength on the twenty-sixth ballot shortly after 10 o'clock with colors flying. Stone was dropped on the twenty-fifth ballot and Harding proved unable to control enough of the Stone votes to win.

The scenes during the last ballot were dramatic, though not so exciting as many in which the delegates had participated.

After the nomination the convention relaxed and the delegates gave themselves to a spirit of conciliation. Speeches were made by Congressman Wheeler, Judge Tarvin and other managers for the three candidates, and the theme of all was "Get together and win."

Ex-United States Senator J. C. S. Blackburn concluded the speech-making with a few words of exhortation. He praised the nominee warmly and expressed confidence in the success of the party in November. He paid his respects to "the few scattered remnants of the Indianapolis convention" and urged his hearers to "fall in line for Bryan and silver in 1900."

The convention then adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning, when the ticket will be completed.

FOR JOINING A UNION.

Old Puddlers Discharged and Negroes Take Their Places.

Pittsburg, June 28.—Nearly all the white puddlers employed at Moorhead Bros. & Co.'s iron works at Sharpsburg were discharged today and the places filled by negroes, who were brought from other places and taken to the plant last night. The firm has opposed the affiliation of its employes with the Amalgamated association, and recently a large number of the puddlers joined the union. There was no trouble at the plant today, and quiet prevails in the vicinity. Four deputies accompanied the negroes.

SAMPSON GETS A REST.

Newport, R. I., June 28.—Rear Admiral William T. Sampson, commander-in-chief of the North Atlantic squadron, after a year and a half of almost continuous duty of the most arduous kind, has obtained leave of absence. The papers from Secretary Long have reached the admiral on board the flagship New York, and on Wednesday, July 5th, he will haul down his pennant and go ashore for a month's vacation.

GOES TO IDENTIFY.

Shawnee, O. T., June 28.—Hon. John W Gates, president of the American Steel and Wire company, arrived here yesterday on a special train from Chicago to identify Alexander Jester as the man who killed his brother twenty-eight years ago. Habaes corpus proceedings are now going on. Jester denies his guilt, but he is gradually breaking down and has to be assisted to and from his cell. He will be taken to Missouri for trial.

A FAILURE.

Paducah, Ky., June 28.—After doing business since 1892, the Paducah Building and Trust company has assigned to R. G. Caldwell. The liabilities are placed at $200,000 and assets, the same, largely in property. Adverse court decisions and heavy demands for withdrawals by stockholders are given as the cause of the failure.

SPANIARDS LEAVING

People of That Nationality Fast Getting Away From Manilla.

START FOR MORONG

Gunboat Napidan Shells Some Intrenchments Near Town of Muntiulupa.

Manilla, June 28, 4:55 p. m.—Gen. Jaramillos, who is settling Spain's military affairs here, has received a cable message from the ministry of war at Madrid, Gen. Polaveja, announcing that the pay of all soldiers who are in the hands of the insurgents will be continued during their captivity. The families of many of these officers and soldiers are in Manilla without means of support here or on their return to Spain. The new Spanish consul here, Senor Luis Marinas, says his foremost business is to secure the release of the prisoners.

The Spaniards are fast leaving Manilla. The steamer Isle de Luzon sails for Spain, taking several hundred persons, civil and military officials and their families. The Spanish commercial men are selling out and some of the largest interests here will soon pass into the hands of English capitalists.

Capt. Gale's squadron of the Fourth cavalry embarked for Morong Monday. The gunboat Napidan, which accompanied the troops, visited the town of Muntiulupa, on the west shore of the lake, and found a small body of rebels entrenched there. The entrenchments were shelled by the Napidian, and when the rebels began to retreat the cavalry was landed. The Filipinos, in firing a final volley, killed a cavalry private.

PORTS OPENED UP.

Blockade In the Philippines Raised By Gen. Otis.

Manilla, June 28.—Maj. Gen. Otis has ordered the opening to trade of many ports that have been closed since the outbreak. These include San Fernando on the west coast: Cuarami and all ports on the islands of Samar and Leyte. Many ships used in inter-island commerce have been tied up in the harbor for months and the shippers and merchants have been urging the government to raise the blockade. When the decision was made known yesterday the scene in the customs house was as animated as the floor of an American stock exchange. It was a busy day. Shipowners were eager to get their clearance papers. There was a great boom in the hemp business, which has been at a standstill. The ships will race to bring the first cargo here before the demand weakens. There is a heavy export duty on hemp and this will greatly increase the revenue. The demands of the traders generally led Gen. Otis to take this action.

Reports from the southern islands showed that cessation of trade was bringing great hardships upon the peaceful inhabitants. Gunboats will protect merchantmen as far as possible, but some of them will risk confiscation by the insurgents, who exact heavy tribute.

The rumor that Aguinaldo has been assassinated was in circulation for several days. It is not believed, but the currency gave it a definite form. According to the story, Gen. Pio Del Pilar called upon Aguinaldo on June 20 and accused him of causing Gen. Luna to be killed. Aguinaldo denied responsibility and added that he deeply regretted Luna's death. Gen. Pio Del Pilar, as the story goes, called him a liar and scoundrel, shot him twice in the head with his revolver and walked away unmolested. The report finds no credence in Manilla. A Filipino general mounted on a big horse, with a numerous staff, has since been seen haranguing the Filipino troops near San Fernando and in Pampanga village and this is said to have been Aguinaldo.

Old artillery and trenches had been added to the Filipino block houses just north of San Fernando. This artillery had been annoying the American troops, as had also the sharpshooters in the blockhouses. Yesterday the blockhouses were destroyed, the insurgents offering no resistance.

The Spanish consul general called upon Governor Gen. Otis yesterday. In the course of a graceful speech he said the Spaniards in the Philippines would bear no resentment because of past events towards the new regime in the Philippines.

TO ENLIST VOLUNTEERS.

But No State Organizations Will Be Taken.

Washington, June 28.—As a result of a conference between the president and Secretary Alger yesterday afternoon, it was decided to begin the enlistment of volunteers for two years' service in the Philippines.

Orders to recruiting officers to this effect will be sent out today. It is proposed to arm and equip at once three brigades, or about 10,000 men, and then to continue the work until the whole 35,000 authorized by law are procured.

There will be no call on the states. The officers will be appointed by the president, and assigned to regiments without regard to state lines. The maximum of the regular army of 65,000 men has been secured, and new enlistments will be for the provisional army, to make up the total strength of 100,000 men. Gen. Otis has 29,390 men on the ground or under orders, and volunteers will be rushed to him until he has an effective force of 50,000 men.

In the enlistments, veterans of the late war, including those that did not get beyond the home camps but were seasoned, will be given the preference, and the same will be true of the officers. A brigadier general for every three regiments, and a major general for each division of three brigades, will be appointed. They will be part regulars and part volunteers, and Gen. Joe Wheeler will be among the number.

It is not known at the war department how Gen. Otis has succeeded in his undertaking to form three skeleton regiments from the volunteers now in the Philippines who are willing to re-enlist.

An impression prevails at the war department that a large proportion of the volunteers may be re-enlisted if some arrangement can be made whereby the men can be allowed to make a visit to their friends and relatives in the United States. The idea is to re-enlist them in the Philippines and give them a furlough to return to the United States.

The furlough would be for at least four months, more than half of which time would be required to make the round trip from Manilla to the United States.

TROOPS FOR MANILLA.

San Francisco, June 28.—The transport Valencia will depart today and the Pennsylvania will leave on June 30 for Manilla. The headquarters band, two troops of the Fourth cavalry and two companies of the Twenty-fifth infantry will sail on the Valencia. The headquarters and Company H of the Twenty-fourth, two companies of the Twenty-fifth infantry and 500 recruits will sail on the Pennsylvania. The transport Cleveland has been chartered again and it is said she will take down 400 recruits on her next trip as well as a general cargo.

THE JAPANESE VIEW.

Vancouver, B. C., June 28.—The Japanese papers print interviews to the effect that the Philippine war is far from an end and that the reports of American losses are not reliable, claiming that 5000 are dead so far.

MENAGE BACK.

President of Defunct Guaranty Loan Company Returns to Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, June 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Louis F. Menage, the fugitive president of the defunct Northwestern Guaranty Loan company, which failed disastrously on May 17, 1893, returned to Minneapolis this morning and gave himself up to Sheriff Megaarden. There are two indictments against him for grand larceny, and after six years of voluntary exile in Guatemala and Mexico he has determined to come back and give himself up.

Under the same indictments William F. Streeter, vice president of the company, was arrested and tried. Both trials resulted in a disagreement and the indictments were finally nolled as to Streeter.

They still stand as to Menage. It is not known as yet what action County Attorney Louis Reed will take in the matter.

Mr. Menage was subsequently arraigned before Judge Elliott and pleaded not guilty under the various indictments. He was released under $10,000 bail on one indictment and on his own recognizance as to the other. Bail was immediately furnished with four sureties.

TALK COMBINE.

An Important Conference of Railroad Managers Is Now In Progress.

New York, June 28.—Important conferences of railroad managers are in progress in this city. Among those now here are William K. Vanderbilt, Samuel R. Gallaway, president of the New York Central; President Newman of the Lake Shore; President Ledyard of the Michigan Central; President Coniff of the Nickel Plate; President Cassatt of the Pennsylvania; N. E. Ream, of Chicago; James J. Hill, of the Great Northern, and O. G. Murray and John K. Cowen, of the Baltimore & Ohio.

It is said the Westerners have come here to meet and consult with J. P. Morgan and other prominent financiers in Wall street, and many important changes in railroad management are looked for as a result of the gathering. Interest seems to center upon the Vanderbilt lines, and the belief is growing that not only is the Boston & Albany to come into the New York Central's control, but step by step other consolidations of that system with roads in New England are to take place.

The present plan contemplates the final absorption by the New York Central of the Boston & Albany, the Fitchburg, Maine Central and tributary lines and Boston & Maine. Already the Lake Shore and the Nickel Plate, West Shore and Michigan Central have been taken by the New York Central.

Despite denial, there is abundant substantiation in trustworthy places of the report that the Big Four and the C. & O. as well as the C. & N. W., the Union Pacific and the Oregon Short Line are to be consolidated with the Central. It takes time to accomplish these tremendous tasks, but the plan is matured, and as fast as the transactions can be accomplished the scheme of consolidation is being worked out.

THE GREAT SONG FESTIVAL.

The Largest Attendance Ever Known Now In Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, June 28.—Visitors to the golden jubilee of the North American Saengerbund continued to pour in today by the thousands, and there is the largest attendance that has ever been known on any occasion in this city. Tomorrow morning the newspaper men will give a burlesque parade. Today there were all sorts of parades and serenades while the local societies and committees were being escorted from the depots and about the city.

Immediately after the rehearsal tomorrow morning the united German societies of Indianapolis will give their "Fruhs Choppen" at the Great Jubilee hall, assisted by the Chicago Germania Maennerschor, St. Louis Liederkranz, Milwaukee Musikverein, Detroit Harmonie, Dayton Harmonia and Columbus Maennerschor. This promises to be one of the most noted events outside of the regular program. All other state and interstate organizations hold similar meetings during the week.

At the opening concert tonight there will be addresses of welcome by Mayor Tafel and President B. Bettman of the citizen's committee, with response by Hanno Deiler, presiedent of the North American Saengerbund. Following these addresses will be the flag presentation and a song by the Louisville Liederkranz.

THE BIG REGATTA

Finishing Touches Applied For the College Events on the Thames.

IN GOOD CONDITION

Both the Yale and Harvard Men Are In Fine Shape.

Gales Ferry, Conn., June 28.—The finishing touches have been applied, the hard practice is over and the six crews which will represent Yale and Harvard on the Thames in the big regatta are practically waiting the pistol shot which will send them off over the courses in Thursday's race.

The close of the training period finds all of the oarsmen of the two universities in perfect shape, physically, with no indications of over-training, except, perhaps, a little tiredness in the 'varsity eight.

The work on the river has been more than delightful this year on account of the cordial feeling which has from the first existed between the rival oarsmen. In fact, the utter lack of secrecy, the open and frank methods of practice and the exchange of courtesies between the Yale and Harvard settlements have done much, according to the coaches and graduates of both universities, toward putting the intercollegiate rowing on a new footing. The contests are awaited with much interest, in view of the fact that the managers have conceived and this year for the first time are about to carry out the scheme of a regatta.

All the events of the meet have been crowded into one day in order to meet the convenience of visiting spectators. The contests will begin in the forenoon Thursday and will find a climax in the early evening with the "big" race between the eights of the two universities. Wind, weather and water permitting, the university fours will row their race at 10:30 a. m., the start being just above the draw bridge. The course will be up stream for two miles, this race finishing at the 2-mile flag, off the navy yard.

Immediately after this race the two freshmen crews will go on for a 2-mile pull from the navy yard up the river to the 'varsity eight starting point, opposite Gales Ferry. Late in the afternoon the 'varsity race will come.

Harvard has the best in the betting for two of the three contests. However, last minute changes have been made in the shell of the Yale four, two heavy oarsmen having been succeeded by lighter men, and the boat moves more rapidly. As a result a hot race is looked for.

In form the Harvard freshmen are the superiors of the Yale youngsters and their shell has splendid speed. With the two big eights the situation is different. Harvard is reported to have made faster time on the river than Yale. On the other hand the Yale is markedly the superior thus far as to form. The men pull much more easily, apparently, and have a vast amount of endurance and reserve power. The New Haven crew, moreover, is largely a veteran aggregation, a factor which tells not a little in a race.

The course of 'varsity eight race is the old Yale-Harvard course, which was abandoned when Cornell became a third crew. It starts on the west river bank, makes straight for the navy yard where, with a turn, almost insignificant, it reaches straight down the river to the big railroad bridge.

The official arrangements have been satisfactorily completed. Observation trains will be run on either side of the river affording good views of the race.

TO DISCUSS REFORM.

The National Social and Political Conference Begins.

Buffalo, June 28.—The national social and political conference was called to order today by Edwin D. Meade, of Boston, N. O. Nelson, of St. Louis, presided. At a meeting of the business committee last night it was decided to change the rules of executive sessions and open the conference to representatives of the press. The conference, as explained in the official program, "is a meeting of progressive men and women of various political and social beliefs to consider the present condition of American politics and to determine what is the next thing to do."

The addresses were brief, the opening one being limited to twenty minutes and the speeches and discussions to five minutes each. Today's session was devoted to "Economic Reforms' the People vs. the Monopolies." Shall we leave the monopolies alone, abolish, control or own them?

The topic this morning was national monopolies.

1.—Industrial monopolies.
2.—Transportation.
3.—Currency.

THE SWEDE BOY

Unusual Progress Made on This Property Since Its Recent Purchase.

Reliable reports from the Seine River district show that the Swede Boy mine on Little Turtle lake is well worthy of the credit and attention it is receiving here and at Eastern cities, as well as at Milwaukee and numerous other points. The progress made on this property since it was purchased in February last is something unusual, when development is considered, and it shows that the present owners have great faith in the property and intend to make it bullion producer of it in short order. The necessary pumps and other machinery, including an air fan, are now installed, which gives the mine all ample machinery for the full development of the property. The Koochiching Border Budget of June 15 has the following to say regarding this property:

"Rapid progress is being made in the work of development at the Swede Boy mine on Little Turtle lake. The shaft is now down to the 75-foot level. At this depth drifting will be at once commenced on the lead and a cross-cut will be driven to tap another large vein about seventy-five feet south, on which the shaft is being sunk. As soon as the drifts and cross-cuts are properly started the work of sinking the present shaft will be continued and prosecuted with all vigor. The amount of available ore that will be shown up by the shaft cross-cuts and drifts alluded to will be something enormous. The vein on which the shaft is being sunk shows a width of about eight feet of ore on the surface. While showing very few specimens of visible gold, the ore taken from the present shaft is uniformly rich. With the precious metal evenly distributed through the quartz, when put to the test it never fails to show the color in the pan. Ore of this uniform character is generally preferred by mining men to that which may show rich specimens of gold in some portions of the vein, while other portions of the same show nothing but hungry quartz of little or no value. A new office and a powder house are to be built at once, and preparations are being made for the erection of larger and more commodious camps than those occupied at present. Pumps and air fans and all necessary machinery for the extensive development of the property are about to be installed, and it may reasonably be assumed that the mine will soon be in shape to take its place among the bullion producers of the Seine River district."

THE ONTARIO GOLD FIELDS.

Publisher Carrel Cannot Account for Duluth's Lack of Interest.

Frank Carrel, publisher and proprietor of the Quebec Evening Telegram, and one of Quebec's most prominent business men, is a guest at the St. Louis hotel today. Mr. Carrel is on his way to Rat Portage to look over the property of the Quebec Mining company in the Lake of the Woods district. He says that the people of Quebec are very much interested in the Western Ontario gold fields and are confident of a bright future for that country. Quebec has taken a greater interest in the development of the country than Toronto, though 600 miles farther away from the mining district than the latter city. Mr. Carrel says that the discovery of the Ontario gold fields is largely due to Duluth people, and seemed somewhat at a loss to account for the apparent lack of interest taken in that country at this time by local people. Mr. Carrel will remain in Duluth several days visiting and will then continue his trip to Rat Portage.

PLEADS AN ALIBI.

Curry Says He Was Not Near Scene of His Alleged Assault.

Frank Curry, a street car employe, was arraigned before Judge Edson this morning on the charge of assaulting P. F. Nacey last evening on Superior street, between Sixth and Eighth avenues west. He pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for July 5 at 10 a. m., he being released on his own recognizance.

Curry said that he was not nearer down town than Twenty-sixth avenue west last night. It had come to be the fashion, he remarked, to have him arraigned whenever there is any trouble in which a street car man is concerned.

News Tribune Has a Candidate of Its Own For Congress.

A very clumsily constructed article in the News Tribune today discussed J. Adam Bede's candidacy for the Republican nomination for congress and arrived at the conclusion that Bede is not the man the News Tribune wants to be given that honor. Neither does it state that Judge Morris is its choice; on the contrary it leaves the impression upon the reader that Mr. Bede is right when he says the judge is too weak in his home county. And this is in line with the game that the morning paper has been playing for some time past.

It will be recalled that it startled the politicians one Sunday morning with an article denouncing various Republicans for trying to form a combination to defeat Judge Morris for a renomination, and Senator Daugherty, who was quietly living at a summer resort and paying no attention to anything of a political nature, was singled out for a particularly vicious attack. He was accused of being at the bottom of the deep, dark plotting against Morris. Naturally this article caused talk, and the Republican papers throughout the district began to discuss it, and the impression was created, as the News Tribune desired, that there is serious dissension among the Republicans in St. Louis county and that a very bitter feeling exists in many quarters against Morris.

Other articles followed in the News Tribune all calculated to keep up the idea that Morris will have a hard fight for the St. Louis county delegation, the object being to weaken him in the other counties. That this was a carefully worked out plan to injure Morris does not admit of the slightest doubt. The article this morning is a raw production, evidently written outside the News Tribune office. No newspaper man would be guilty of concocting it, and the youngest reporter would be ashamed of such a clumsy effort. It gives away the whole scheme. The News Tribune is opposed to Bede and it does not favor Morris, and so it plays one against the other, points out the weakness of Bede's candidacy and at the same time seizes the chance to expose the weakness of Morris.

But "there is available timber in St. Louis county," it says, "and it is for the party to choose who shall lead it to the happy path of former times" and "some popular thoroughbred Republican might do." As, for instance, William H. Windom, better known as "Ed Windom's brother," who is the attorney of Manager Thoits and is understood to be that gerat politician's choice for congressman.

Died Under Chloroform.

Mrs. Thomas Humes, of 221 West Third street, died at St. Mary's hospital yesterday while chloroform was being administered to her for an operation for appendicitis. But little chloroform had been given, it is said, and death is supposed to have been due to some weakness of the heart.

A PRETTY WEDDING

Miss Edith Smythe and Frederick R. Ahbe Married This Afternoon.

HYMEN'S BUSY DAY

Several Other Weddings of Interest Take Place Today and Tonight.

The marriage of Miss Edith Smythe, daughter of O. D. Kinney, and Frederick R. Ahbe was celebrated at 2 o'clock this afternoon in St. Paul's Episcopal church. It was an extremely pretty wedding and was witnessed by a large and fashionable gathering of friends and relatives, including many people from out of town. Bishop Gilbert of St. Paul read the impressive marriage ceremony of the Episcopal church, and was assisted by Dr. Ryan. The church was beautifully decorated in green, with a profusion of ferns and potted plants embanking the altar. Society turned out in large numbers, and long before the organ peated forth the inspiring strains of the "Wedding March" the interior of the church presented a pretty scene.

The bride was given away by her father, O. D. Kinney. Miss Smythe was attended by Miss Fanchon Barrett, of Tower, as maid of honor; Miss Josephine Peyton as second maid of honor, and Miss Ahbe, of Newark, N. J., and Miss Mary Bradshaw, of Superior, as bridesmaids. Mr. Ahbe was attended by Albert Sunn, H. B. Freyberger and Clinton McCormick.

The bride wore an extremely handsome traveling gown of white broadcloth, very elaborately trimmed with white satin, white liberty silk and duchess lace. She wore a large white picture hat that was very becoming. The bride's attendants were gowned in white, and also wore large picture hats. Miss Barrett wore a pretty white robe gown trimmed with valenciennes lace, and carried white lilies. Miss Peyton, Miss Ahbe and Miss Bradshaw were pretty summer gowns of white and carried shower bouquets of white bridal roses.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Ahbe left for their future home in Soudan in a private car over the Iron Range road.

The marriage of Miss Virginia La Vaque, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. LaVaque, of 1131 East First street, to Charles Francis Macdonald, city editor of The Herald, will take place this evening. The wedding will be a very quiet affair, and only the immediate relatives and a few friends of Miss La Vaque's and Mr. Macdonald's will witness the ceremony. Following the ceremony a reception will be tendered the bride and groom at the home of Mr. and Mrs. LaVaque, on East First street. The reception is from 8 to 10, and a great many invitations have been sent out. The following out of town people are here to attend this wedding: Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Macdonald, of St. Cloud; Mrs. R. H. Hankinson, of Hankinson, N. D.; Mrs. H. L. Hankinson, Miss Harriet Wagner, Miss Halliday Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Barnard, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Halliday and H. L. Hankinson, of Minneapolis.

Another home wedding of this evening that is attracting more than ordinary interest is that of Miss Flora Louden and David R. Black. The ceremony will be performed at the home of the bride, 323 Fourth avenue west, in the presence of just a few friends and relatives. Rev. Long, of the First Methodist church, will perform the ceremony. A reception will follow, from 8 to 10.

At 8 o'clock this evening Miss Gussie Oppel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Oppel, will be united in marriage to Dr. Robert Graham. The ceremony will be performed by Dr. Cleland, of the First Presbyterian church, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oppel, 115 East Superior street. The wedding will be a very quiet affair. Muss Susie Romner, of Minneapolis, arrived this mornign to attend the wedding, and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Oppel, of Tower, are also among the wedding guests.

At high noon today Mrs. Gertrude G. Baille, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Colby Smith, was married to John J. Wangenstein, the well known architect. The wedding was celebrated at the home of the bride, 321 East First street, Rev. Patrick, of the First Baptist church, officiating. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Wangensteln left on an extended Eastern wedding trip.

Yesterday at Little Falls, Stephen R. Kirby, of Hibbing, was married to Miss Nellie Davidson. Mr. Kirby is employed in the bank at Hibbing. The bride has been prominent socially at Little Falls and has a number of friends in Duluth. A. D. Davidson and A. D. Macrae, of this city, were present at the wedding.

Many Marriage Licenses.

Yesterday and today the record for marrigae licenses was broken in the office of the clerk of district court, and enough licenses to wed were issued to ensure that June's reputation as a month of marriages will be maintained this year. Licenses were issued as follows: David R. Black and Flora J. Louden, Charles F. Macdonald and Virginia LaVaque, Frederick R. Ahbe and Edith E. Smythe, John Powell and Ragna Morken, Charles A. Turning and Olive Josephson, John J. Wangenstein and Gertrude R. Baillie, John H. Opperman and Marie Meyer, John Germeroth and Della Bjork, Joseph Pocket and Anna R. Boardman, and to Robert Graham and Gussie Oppel.

London, June 28.—The cup challenger Shamrock has been towed to Southampton.

Southampton, June 28.—The yacht Shamrock, challenger for the America's cup, has arrived here in tow and is now lying off Hythe pier. She will be taken to Fay's docks this evening in order to be completely fitted for her trials.

SAY HE IS CRAZY.

Arthur Grimes, Vagrant, Complains of Hearing Mysterious Voices.

A young lad named Arthur Grimes, who said that he "heard people talking to him," was yesterday afternoon arraigned before Judge Gearhart on the charge of vagrancy. He told the court that he was from New York city, where his father lives. He said he had been here and in Superior for several weeks. He had done odd jobs for awhile, but had not been able to work lately because he had been so worried by the voices. They were talking about his being crazy. When asked about his mother he said that she was dead, and burst into tears. He has a good face and looks as if he came of a good family. He has been spending his time lately gazing absently out over the lake. He was sent to jail a short time ago for vagrancy and had been released yesterday morning. He was committed again yesterday for five days and an investigation will be made as to his sanity.

TARIFF ON VAGRANTS.

Judge Edson Says It Will Be Raised In the Future.

Judge Edson this morning dosed out some stiff sentences for vagrancy. He remarked that there is no excuse for vagrants and that the tariff on them would be raised. William McCarthy, who pleaded guilty to the charge, was fined $20 and costs, with the alternative of twenty days in jail. McCarthy, who says that he came here from Chicago, was arrested for drunkenness the first day he was in town and put in the following ten days on the hill, having just been released.

James Quinn was fined $10 and costs on the same charge.

Henry Riley, Michael Lynch and Frank Anderson pleaded not guilty to the charge and were to be tried this afternoon.

McCarthy and Quinn went up.

IS NOT DOWNCAST.

James O'Brien Goes Jauntily to Answer Forgery Charges.

James O'Brien, who was under arrest here on the charge of passing a forged check for $20 on W. M. Abrahamson, was this morning turned over to Detective Morrissey, of Minneapolis, and the detective left for that city at noon with O'Brien, who is wanted there on the charge of passing a forged check for $50 on the Van Strum Clothing company.

The charge against O'Brien of passing a check on W. M. Abrahamson and a charge of forging a check for $25, which was also pending against him and Philip Conners were dismissed, as was a charge against Moses Eldred of passing a $25 check on Suffel & Co. The two checks passed at Abrahamson's and Suffel's and the one alleged to have been passed by O'Brien in Minneapolis purported to have been drawn by W. B. Silvey, trustee, on the First National bank of this city in favor of Fred Brown.

The man who passed the check on the Van Strum Clothing company obtained $10 in cash on it and the balance in goods.

O'Brien does not appear to take his situation to heart. He wore a jaunty air and indulged in snatches of song at intervals in jail while waiting for train time this morning.

LARGE BUILDINGS PERMITTED.

Permits Issued for Brown Wholesale Building and Others.

The building inspector has issued the following permits for the erection of buildings: Six story brick warehouse on the west side of Fifth avenue west, south of the Stone-Ordean-Wells company's warehouse, to cost $48,000, to Harold Brown, of Providence, R. I.; 2-story frame parsonage for St. James Catholic church, on Fifty-seventh avenue west, to cost $2000; addition to the Pioneer Fuel company's coal shed at Garfield avenue and Railroad street, to cost $2000.

He Is Incorrigible.

Stans Bartschol, a lad of 13, whose mother lives at Second avenue west and Fourteenth street, was this morning adjudged incorrigible and consigned to the state training school at Red Wing by Judge Edson. Young Bartschot was taken from his home some time ago by the Humane society and given a home with Mrs. McDonald at Fifth street and Twelfth avenue west, in the hope that he would improve in better surroundings, but, according to the testimony, he is thievish and generally unreliable. He wept bitetrly on hearing his sentence.

Died of Heart Failure.

Antoni Drewiez, aged 83, who is well known among the Polish residents, died yesterday morning at St. Mary's hospital of heart failure. The funeral will take place at 9 a. m. tomorrow from the Polish Catholic church, and the remains will be interred in the Polish cemetery.

The deceased has been cared for by his friends here for some time. It is said that he has a wife and daughter living at Raslom, Ill.

DEBS IS HERE.

Great Labor Leader Says Present Conditions All Tend to Socialism.

Eugene V. Debs arrived in Duluth this morning. His arrival was almost unheralded, and very few labor people knew that he was in town. He came over from Superior on the Northern Pacific train at 11:15 and walked quietly up to the St. Louis. There was no one at the train to meet the distinguished labor leader, and very few recognized him as he passed along Superior street to the St. Louis.

Although Mr. Debs has not been in Duluth for nearly three years, he has not lost track of the organized labor interests of the city, and knew the history of the recent street car strike from beginning to end. He said he could never understand the agreement whereby the labor organizations of the city lifted the strike from the main lines of the company and boycotted the sublines. In speaking of the recent Cleveland strike, he said the failure of the strikers there was an example of the impotency of organized labor without political organization.

"But," continued Mr. Debs, "I predict that within ten years—yes, within eight years—strikes will be a thing of the past. What will take their place? Why, universal co-operation. Socialism will sweep this country like a mighty wave in ten years. This forming of trusts—this concentration of interests—will produce socialism, and that is as certain as any mathematical problem.

"There are only two outlets to the present situation of our economic affairs. It will either be a combination of interests for the gain of a few, or it will be a combination for the good of the people, and the people will win. The wave that is now sweeping over Europe is irresistible and as I said before it will certainly sweep over this country in less than ten years. The formation of trusts is going to change our whole social life, and yet this trustification is but human. It is a result of competition, and competition is war. Combines and trusts are but the logical outcome of this business war, but the trusts of future years must be for the good of the people and not for a few. This centralization of wealth must benefit all. Trusts are doing away with the commercial traveling man, and that is but one evidence of the coming change in our social conditions. In a few years the vast army of commercial travelers will be a thing of the past. Competition will have been done away with, and instead of the trusts seeking trade as the companies of the past years, the people will seek the trusts, and there will be no use for traveling men. But this is just one of the many changes that are to come."

Mr. Debs is an extremely interesting talker, and those that have heard him say that he is at his best in his lecture, "Labor and Liberty," which he will deliver at the Armory tonight.

GUY WELLS DEAD.

Old Duluth Resident Died at St. Paul Yesterday.

Guy Wells, an old resident of Duluth and very well known here, died last night in St. Paul, at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Rossell at the age of 86. The body will be brought here, and the funeral will take place from the Masonic Temple tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. It will be under Masonic auspices. Mr. Wells came to Duluth in 1880, and has lived here ever since. At one time he was employed as a civil engineer on government work here for two years, and later was president of the board of public works for the city of Duluth for a long time. He leaves two daughters and a son, Mrs. C. L. Codding and Robert R. Wells, of this city, and Mrs. Rossell, of St. Paul.

HUNG IN HIS CELL.

Madman Hung Himself With a Strap at Staples.

Deputy Sheriffs Haire and Mahoney returned this morning from Staples, where Patrick Rafferty, who was on the way to the insane asylum in their charge, hung himself night before last. They say that it was a wonder how Rafferty made away with himself. On their arrival at Staples they placed him in the village jail, after securely handcuffing him, and then they went to lunch. They had been gone twenty minutes when the horrified village marshal came over and said that their man had hung himself. They went back and found him hanging in the little cell, with his toes touching the floor. He was handcuffed, but in spite of that he had taken a strap off his clothes somewhere and fixed himself up to the slats in the top of the cell.

Sheriff Sargent this morning received a letter from Coroner Parrott, of Staples, who said that he would see that Rafferty received a decent burial there. He said that the evidence all tended to exonerate the deputies and the village officials from all blame, as it appeared that they had taken every reasonable precaution. Rafferty had manifested no suicidal tendencies whatever. The prisoner in the cell adjoining Rafferty's did not hear a sound and supposed that Rafferty was asleep.

Gets Rapid Advancement.

Word has just been received that Frank Maginnis, son of C. P. Maginnis, and a Duluth boy, has been promoted to the rank of captain in the regular army, dating from May 13. He was graduated from West Point in May, 1898, and his elevation to the rank of captain in one year is something unusual and very creditable to the young officer. He is now in Porto Rico.

Why is Electric Light Best?
Because it is Healthy, Clean, Pure and Brilliant.
HEALTHY! It has no odor. Professor Thomson states one cubic foot of gas consumes as much oxygen as four adults.
CLEAN! It causes no discolorations of furnishings and decorations in homes.
SAFE! As electric bell work, no danger of suffocation.
CHEAP! By using a little care in turning off lights when not in use it is cheaper than any other illuminant.

VISITS THE PRESIDENT.

Senator Burrows Also Fires a Shot at Pingree.

Washington, June 29.—Senator Burrows of Michigan was among the president's callers today. Much interest attached to his visit, Upon leaving the White House Senator Burrows said the Michigan situation has not been mentioned.

"You can say, however," he said, "that Michigan is unqualifiedly for the administration and that any man who is opposed to the administration, directly or indirectly, will go down in that state."

Senator Burrows declined to discuss the question of Secretary Alger's possible retirement from the cabinet. Senator Burrows is en route to New York to attend a meeting of the senate finance committee called under the authority of a special resolution of the senate to consider matters relating to custom duties, internal revenue and currency.

THE SHAMROCK RELEASED.

Southampton, June 29.—The cup challenger Shamrock, which at low water late yesterday evening was aground with a list of 15 degrees, was safely gotten off the mud today.

PREPARING TO RESIST

Filipinos of the Southern Islands Very Anxious to Buy Guns.

FULL OF PATRIOTISM

Will Not Yield to Americans Though the Islands Are Destroyed.

Victoria, June 29.—Advices from Hakodad state that Capt. Sakichi of the steamer Hokoku Maru, just returned from the Philippines, reports that the southern islands the young Filipi are constructing fortifications against emergencies. Every port is garrisoned by 1000 or so volunteers, whose weapons, however, are very crude, only about 20 per cent being armed with rifles (remingtons). They are, however, full of patriotism and state that they will not yield to the Americans though the whole of the islands are destroyed.

The Hokoku Maru was warmly welcomed by the Filipinos, who consider the Japanese to be of a kindred race and hoped for assistance from them.

The Filipinos were prepared to pay for arms and ammunition, and said the Japanese vessels visiting the islands could take return cargoes of hemp. Capt. Sakichi says he only sold the insurgents two revolvers and the cook's knives.

WAR OFFICE CONFIDENT.

Expects That Philippine Volunteers Will Want to Return.

Washington, June 29.—The first volunteers to be raised for service in the Philippines will be those for the skeleton regiments now being formed by Gen. Otis. It is not believed there will be the least difficulty in obtaining these men. It is probable that some time will elapse before the troops for the provisional army are sent to Manilla, but meanwhile they will be drilled and taught marksmanship in camp. It is estimated that three months are required to make soldiers of new recruits. The officers of the war department think that a number of volunteers now coming home will desire to return to the Philippines for a short service after they have had an opportunity to see home and friends. These men are regarded as the most desirable for the regiments being organized by Gen. Otis.

It is learned at the war department that there is no actual rush to get the new men to Gen. Otis at the present time. The rainy season has set in and it is not believed that these troops will be necessary for service except to relieve those who have been on active duty.

The transport service is said to be sufficient, though ships may be chartered temporarily if needed. The announcement that a portion of the provisional army was to be raised has caused a swarm of politicians to be sent to the war department by those who are seeking commissions in the new regiments.

TO RAISE SOME SOLDIERS.

North Adams, Mass., June 29.—Maj. Whipple of the Second regiment announces his intention of raising a company of 250 men from the veterans of the Second and Ninth Massachusetts for service in the Philippines. Maj. Whipple had a consultation with President McKinley during the latter's stay here, and it is understood that in the course of the conversation the president gave his sanction to Maj. Whipple's plan.

BUFFALO IN THE LEAD.

Will Probably Get the Saengerbund Three Years Hence.

Cincinnati, June 29.—The postponement of the opening of the golden jubilee saengerfest of the North American Saengerbund from last night until tonight caused much disappointment, but it has not detracted from the interest in the great musical event. The moving of the programs along, each twenty-four hours later than originally announced, will cause the great volksfest at the Zoological gardens to be held on Sunday instead of Saturday.

There were additional arrivals today and there is very much in the line of jubilee while the crowds are waiting on the carpenters. While the visitors did the marching yesterday, they were the spectators today for a novel street parade gotten up by the press committee assisted by citizens. This parade was a burlesque on street pageants and was enjoyed more than any other demonstration of the week.

Following the burlesque parade there were various joint meetings of musical societies. Much interest centers on the election of officers, which takes place tomorrow. There is a very lively contest between Buffalo, Chicago, St. Louis, Milwaukee and other cities for the meeting of the North American Saengerbund three years hence, with Buffalo so far as favorite.

TO CLOSE DOWN.

Pittsburg, June 29.—As a result of the failure to settle a tin plate wage schedule at the Chicago conference, all the tin plate mills in the country are preparing to close down, and tomorrow at midnight there will be a general suspension. Nearly 50,000 men will be thrown idle by the shut down.

A VALUABLE COLT.

Cincinnati, June 29.—C. H. Smith, of Chicago, the wheat speculator, has bought the 2-year-old colt Lieut. Gibson from Baker & Gentry for $10,000. The colt has started in five races and won three, was second in one and third in the other. His best performance was winning the Sensation stakes at Latonia June 17.

FIVE MEN DROWNED.

Clarksville, Mo., June 29.—Five men were drowned today in the Mississippi river a mile above here by the overturning of a skiff. They were government laborers engaged in river improvement work. The dead are: William Hodge, Henry Howland, Clarksville, Mo.; J. W. Philips, Arnold Philips, W. J. Jamison, of Hamburg, Ill.

YUKON CORRUPTION.

Tupper Makes a Long Speech In Canadian Parliament.

Ottawa, Ont., June 29.—Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, who commenced speaking on the Yukon charge Tuesday, concluded his speech last night. He talked for nine hours Tuesday and three hours Wednesday. It was the longest speech ever delivered in parliament. The resolution which Sir Charles handed the speaker when he had finished his speech contained 15,000 words. It required one hour and fifteen minutes in which to read it. It contained a summary of Sir Charles' speech about the administration in the Yukon and charged the ministers with neglect and the officials with corruption. It was particularly severe against Maj. Walsh, who was declared to have led an immoral life in the Klondike.

Sir Charles wanted a commission of two judges to probe all this, failing which he was willing to retire to private life.

HE IS PLEASED.

Jules Cambon Speaks at the Harvard Commencement Alumni Dinner.

Cambridge, Mass., June 29.—The crowning event of Harvard's commencement was the alumni dinner, which took place in memorial hall after the graduation exercises yesterday. The guests included President Eliot, Ambassador Jules Cambon, Alexander Agassiz, Gen. Leonard Wood, Governor Roger Wolcott and Admiral W. T. Sampson. President Eliot opened the speech making by reporting gifts of $1,250,000 to the college during the year. Governor Wolcott followed in a brief address and Ambassador Cambon was introduced.

The French ambassador, M. Cambon, spoke in French and took occasion to refer to the part he had taken in restoring peace between the United States and Spain and to thank Harvard for conferring on him the degree of LL.D. He said:

"I feel unable to express to you how deeply I appreciate, the honor Harvard university has done me by conferring upon me the dignity of doctor of laws. I am proud to belong hereafter to your university, the oldest in America, and I am touched when I realize that the thought which prompted the bestowal of this honor upon me, probably had in view a higher aim than any personal to me. I cannot forget that a very long time ago, one of my predecessors, the Marquis de la Luzerne, who, in 1781, represented in this country King Louis XVI, was also made by Harvard an honorary doctor of laws. At that time the United States had hardly emerged from the heroic struggle which insured your independence. France had then lent you her assistance, and your university inscribed the name of her representative among those of your honored ones. That was over a century ago.

"Last year providence designated France to take the hand of your adversary of yesterday to place it into yours and to clasp both in her own. I was the chosen instrument of the humanitarian idea which inspired this act. By these feelings alone was I guided. Allow me to thank you for the personal honor you have shown me, as you did in early days to Marquis de la Luzerne, because you thereby testify once more to the traditional friendship of our two nations.

"As for myself, whose profession brings me daily in contact with the realities of public life, it is a rare good fortune to find myself in this atmosphere of learning and culture. I am a son of the university of Paris, a son of that glorious seat of learning, the Sarbonne. There it was that Dante in the middle ages, leaving Florence, came to pursue his studies, in those days no frontiers circumscribed the domain of art and science. And may we not hope that there continues to exist the same untrammeled spirit which makes the world of art and letters something more than the heritage of one country."

Admiral Sampson and Gen. Wood, who talked on war topics informally, also spoke.

GOING TO VANCOUVER.

Mr. Hill Says the Great Northern Will Be Extended.

New York, June 29.—James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern railroad, is in this city now, and is almost daily in conference with Henry W. Cannon and others. Mr. Hill reports the road to be in extremely good physical shape and to be prospering. Many improvements and alterations are being planned that will be of material advantage. Perhaps the most important move will be to extend the line into Vancouver, where the Canadian Pacific now is the dominant factor. A number of electric engines are to be placed upon the road for hauling trains through various tunnels.

MR. LORILLARD RESIGNS.

Thomas Maloney Has Been Chosen as His Successor.

New York, June 29.—The Herald says Pierre Lorillard has resigned as president of the P. Lorillard company. His resignation was accepted at a meeting of the directors of the company and his successor chosen. The P. Lorillard company became a part of the Continental Tobacco company in 1898. At the meeting at which Mr. Lorillard's resignation was considered Thomas Maloney had been superintendent of the smoking tobacco department of the P. Lorillard company's factory. No confirmation of Mr. Lorillard's resignation could be obtained in this city. It is believed that Mr. Lorillard will resign the treasurership of the Continental Tobacco company.

TO BUILD A CITY HALL.

Proposition to Issue Bonds Adopted By McIntosh.

McIntosh, Minn., June 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a special election held here Tuesday a proposition to issue bonds in the sum of $4000 for the purpose of erecting a city hall was carried by a vote of 68 for to 27 against.

BUSINESS MISNOMERS.

Catholic Standard and Times: Mrs. Brown—Our language is full of misnomers. For instance, I met a man once who was a perfect bear, and they called him a "civil engineer."

Mrs. Smith—Yes, but that's not so ridiculous as the man they call "teller" in a bank. He won't tell you anything. I asked one the other day how much money my husband had on deposit, and he just laughed at me.

WEED OUT DISEASE

Believed That Recent Tuberculosis Congress Will Result In Good.

LOOKING FOR SERUM

Most Promising Work In This Connection That of Dr. Behring.

Washington, June 29.—Surgeon J. C. Boyd of the navy, one of the United States delegates to the recent tuberculosis congress in Berlin, has returned to Washington and is preparing a report for the department on the work of the congress. Dr. Boyd things the results of the congress will be important. The chief question now interesting the profession is the preparation of an effective serum to combat the disease.

The most promising work in this connection is that of Dr. Behring, one of the most prominent of the European specialists. The results obtained by Dr. Behring have attracted the attention of the medical world, and are being pushed as rapidly as is consistent with careful scientific work. The profession sees no reason why the development of tuberculosis serum should not revolutionize the mortality rate in consumption as much as has the development of the anti-toxin of diphtheria.

The development of consumptive sanitariums in Europe is another matter that has attracted much interest among the profession on this side of the Atlantic. It is now assured that the disease in its earlier stages can be checked. With the building up of the patient's general condition he is less liable to a recurrence of the disease after leaving the institution, even if the lung tissue already destroyed cannot be replaced. Even in advanced stages the disease can be so checked that an individual may with care and a good climate live out his allotted span with only a fraction of the lung area possessed by a normal subject.

Preparations are now being made for the establishment of a consumptive ranch in the high and dry region of the Southwest, for the benefit of the merchant marine. There is a large percentage of consumptives in this service, though there is but little trouble with it in the navy, the physical examination there weeding out practically all the suspicious cases before they enter the service. The chief objection to the location as now planned for the marine sanitarium is the long distance inland, making the transportation of invalids difficult and expensive. Good results are expected, however, from the new venture.

WILL NOT RETRACT.

Dr. McGiffert Expresses His Views Very Frankly.

New York, June 29.—The committee of the presbytery appointed to confer with Professor McGiffert relative to his book, which the general assembly has condemned as heretical, with a view to inducing him to withdraw it or leave the church, has been holding meetings at the house of its president, Dr. Sample. It is understood that Dr. McGiffert was before this committee on Tuesday and expressed very frankly his views, which it is said continue to differ absolutely from those of the committee and the general assembly.

FIGHT WITH HIGHBINDERS.

A Deputy Sheriff Is Shot and Badly Wounded.

San Jose, Cal., June 29.—In a battle with highbinders in Chinatown at midnight, Deputy Sheriff V. L. Bache was shot in the side and badly wounded. Sheriff Langford received word that six highbinders were coming from San Francisco to kill Lee On Poon, president of the Hip Sing Tong, and with several deputies was on the watch, when a gang of Chinese appeared and opened fire, which was returned by the officers. Deputy Bache was hit at the first volley, and it was thought that one of the Chinese was killed, but his body has not been found. Four of the highbinders were arrested.

THE DEROIT RETURNS.

New York, June 29.—The United States cruiser Detroit, Commander Dayton, arrived during the night and anchored off Tompkinsville. The Detroit was at Bluefields taking care of the American merchants there whose lives and property were endangered by the unsettled state of Nicaraguan politics. The Detroit brought from Bluefields the body of Gen. Daniel McAuley, of Indiana, who died at Managua, Nicaragua, several years ago. Commander Dayton is to go on waiting orders, being replaced by Commander J. N. Hemphill, now in command of the Buffalo. The transfer is to be made on Aug. 1.

THE MEANING OF IT.

London, June 29.—The drop of five-sixteenths in the price of consols in the stock exchange today was due to the announcement made by the chancellor of the exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, at the banquet of the bankers and merchants of London, at the Mansion house yesterday evening, that the government contemplated reforms in the savings banks system, which has been interpreted as meaning that the range of investment securities will be widened.

A MARINE AWARD.

London, June 29—The British steamer Balmoral has been awarded £4000 for towing the British steamer Lokoja into Fayal in May with propeller gone while bound from Galveston for Havre.

BERNHARDT PLAYS "HAMLET."

London, June 29.—Mme. Sarah Bernhardt and her company gave a matinee performance of "Hamlet" at the Shakespeare Memorial theater at Stratford today. A large and distinguished audience was present. The mayor and corporation and a delegation of the inhabitants met the great French actress on her arrival at Stratford. The town was decorated in honor of the occasion. After the performance the mayor presented Mme. Bernhardt with a bouquet of flowers and the actress subsequently visited the historical spots in the neighborhood.

ABSURD SECRECY.

Yachting Authorities Beginning to Criticise Mr. Lipton.

London, June 29.—The yachting authorities are criticising Sir Thomas Lipton's attempt to maintain secrecy regarding the building of the Shamrock. The Yachtsman says:

"The absurd air of mystery is maintained to the last though the cup defender was racing the Defender when the Shamrock was put in the water. It is difficult for the ordinary mind to grasp the object of this extreme solicitude to guard the secrets of her design. Even if a highly satisfactory photograph could be obtained there is hardly time for the Herreschoffs to build a new vessels, much, no doubt, as they would like to do so."

In conclusion the article alludes to the "seditious enthusiasm" attending the building of Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht.

DROWNED IN LAKE BEMIDJI.

Bert Paul, a Farmer, Found Dead In the Water.

Bemidji, Minn., June 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bert Paul, a farmer living five miles north of town, was drowned in Lake Bemidji this morning at 5 o'clock. He left his home to go fishing and one of his brothers afterwards found his boat in the reeds without anchor or occupant. He came to town and reported, and the steamer Shadow went out at once with a crew and grappling irons.

Within an hour they found the anchor in about five feet of water, and shortly afterwards the body of Paul lying on the bottom among the reeds. There was no storm on the lake and the accident is totally unexplainable, except that his boat was a mere board trough and he could not swim.

HE WILL COME.

President McKinley Has Not Abandoned His Proposed Western Trip.

Washington, June 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator Warren of Wyoming called upon the president this morning, and Mr. McKinley informed him that he had not abandoned his intention to make an extended visit to the West. The president will visit the Twin Cities and go West over the Northern Pacific to Seattle. Thence it is planned that he will go to San Francisco and there review the troops returning from the Philippines. The plan to have a review in the Twin Cities is not considered feasible, and the president has about decided that he would have a larger opportunity to honor a greater number of returning volunteers at San Francisco, the point of debarkation and muster out, than to agree to the plan suggested by the citizens of Minneapolis and St. Paul.

* * *

Representative Fred C. Stevens, of St. Paul, arrived in Washington today. The St. Paul congressman will remain here a couple of days to attend to important matters for his district. It is also understood that he will see President McKinley and try and induce him to visit Minnesota this fall. It is now extremely doubtful, however, whether the president can make this trip.

GREAT SPORT.

Milwaukee Citizens and Visitors Enjoy Greatest Spectacle of Carnival Week.

Milwaukee, June 29.—The citizens of Milwaukee and the great crowd of visitors mingled together today to celebrate the big event of carnival week—the carnival corso. Mayor Rose proclaimed the day a public holiday, and such a gathering of humanity to witness the unique festivities never before filled the streets of the city. A bicycle parade preceded the corso.

The day began with music at different parts of the down-town district. The costume parade in several divisions moved at 1:30 this afternoon and marched through the principal streets under the marshalship of Gen. Otto H. Falk. Several thousand citizens, including 1500 young people representing young America, took part in the pageant, which was made up in this wise: Marshal of the day, Otomar El Falko (Gen. Otto Falke), with his band of Arab escorts; Prince Carnival (Louis Auer) and retinue of princes; central group; turner societies; civic societies; miscellaneous costume groups and individual costumes. Interspersed in the long line were fourteen bands of music.

After the parade had covered the line of march the fun began. Prince Carnival's retinue represented the foolish things of the past year and provoked many a laugh and no end of interest. Burlesques were made on many features in national and international history, including the peace commission at The Hague, the embalmed beef investigation, expansion, the Anglo-Saxon friendship and our new fellow-citizens. The principal characters were taken by Milwaukee's leading citizens.

The turners did themselves proud. Turn verin Milwaukee's contribution constituted the battleship Columbia. The crew was made up of women seamen and they showed how Dewey did things before Manilla.

Political and social life in the next century were depicted by the South Side turners. The common council consisted of women, policemen moved about in balloons, turners drank water and rich people insisted on paying their full taxes.

The North Side turners represented the descent of man from "the ape to the billionaire," and clowns innumerable went through all kinds of antics. Various characters in literature were also portrayed. The fun continued until late in the afternoon.

THE TRIAL OF BECKER

Motion to Discharge Him Because Indictment Was Faulty Denied.

IS INDICTED AGAIN

Mrs. Becker Is Expected to Sue Him For a Divorce.

Chicago, June 29.—The trial of August Becker, the South Side butcher, charged with having murdered and dismembered and boiled the remains of his wife in order to leave him free to marry Ida Sutterlin, a 17-year-old girl, with whom he had become infatuated, came to a sudden end today, when it was found that the indictment named Mrs. Becker as Elizabeth, when it should have been Therese. The court at once nolle prossed the indictment. The jury had been sworn in, and the defense asked for a discharge of the prisoner on the ground that Becker had been placed in jeopardy and therefore he could not be tried again. The court denied the request, however, and a bench warrant was issued and Becker rearrested.

A new indictment was faulty and created somewhat of a sensation in the court room.

The result may be, however, that Becker will escape punishment, as the case is now in such shape that the prisoner's counsel are confident of a reversal by the supreme court if a verdict of guilty is returned. The jury had been sworn in and parts of the evidence of the first witness heard, when the attorneys for the defense moved that the defendant be discharged and that the jury be instructed to return a verdict of not guilty, as the evidence produced related to the killing of one Theresa Becker, while the indictment alleged that the defendant had murdered Elizabeth Becker.

After a moment's excited conference between the prosecuting attorneys, the state moved that a noll prosequi be entered and the defendant be held on a bench warrant. The defense made the point that if the state entered a noll prosequi the court must order a verdict of not guilty. The state maintained that Becker had not been jeopardized for the murder of Theresa Becker. Judge Stein then entered a noll prosequi and the bench warrant was issued for Becker. Judge Stein sitting as a committing magistrate and hearing evidence relating to the case. In this proceeding the defense claims another error was committed. The witnesses were sworn by the clerk of the criminal court. It was held by the defense that Judge Stein, sitting as a magistrate, should have sworn the witnesses himself.

Ida Sutterlin will, it is said, file an application for divorce against Becker as soon as the case against him is concluded, no matter what the verdict is. She has been in the court room but once since the trial began, but has had nothing whatever to do with her husband.

The grand jury this afternoon voted another indictment against Becker. The jury chosen to try Becker were kept together, and when he is again called for trial tomorrow nearly all of them will probably be retained.

HUMAN BONES FOUND.

Mysterious Fire Which May Involve an Awful Tragedy.

Milwaukee, June 29.—An Evening Wisconsin special from Hartford, Wis., says: A mysterious fire took place near here, which may involve an awful tragedy. A barn belonging to Conrad Hansen, of the town of Rubicon, was burned on Sunday evening. The origin of the fire is unknown, but the ruins tell a tale of terrible significance. Part of a barrel from a gun and a clay pipe were found in the ruins and bones supposed to be those of a human being. As there were no horses or stock in the barn, it looks very much as though some awful crime had been committed. A farmer living near by claims he heard a number of shots fired in the barn a short time before the fire was discovered.

STAMP MILL INJURED.

The Dam Above the Arnold Mill Gives Way.

Milwaukee, June 29.—A Journal special from Calumet, Mich., says: A report received here from Wewecnaw says that the dam above the Arnold mill gave way last night and washed out the stamp mill and boiler house, doing great damage to the latter. The stamp mill is shut down on account of the trouble.

HALL UNCOMPLETED.

Cincinnati, June 29.—The officers of the North American Saengerbund met at 10 o'clock today to consider what should be done in view of the unfinished condition of the Saengerfest hall. President J. Hanno Deiler, of New Orleans, presided. It was finally voted to request a meeting with the local committee this afternoon to assist that body in carrying out the program of the saengerfest.

WIFE MURDERER HANGED.

Harrisburg, June 29.—Joseph S. Hollinger, a self-confessed murderer, was hanged today in the Dauphin county jail for the murder of his wife last August.

TACOMA EDITOR DEAD.

Tacoma, June 29.—Vincent Ryan, a prominent newspaper man of the Pacific coast and editor of the Tacoma News, dropped dead this morning in a restaurant.

WEBSTER STILL TALKING.

Paris, June 29.—The Venezuelan arbitration board held a session today and leading counsel for Great Britain, Sir Richard Webster, the British attorney general, continued his presentation of his side of the case.

The commission subsequently adjourned to Wednesday.

YELLOW METAL GOING.

New York, June 29.—Lazard Freres will ship $2,000,000 gold on Saturday.

NEW NAVY UNIFORMS

Just a Shade Different From Aguinaldo's Gold Collar Dress.

ADMIRAL'S NECKTIE

The Length and Width and Material Are All Regulated.

Washington, June 29.—The new regulations prescribing the uniforms of naval officers have been issued. Few material changes are made in the existing dress, but for the first time in many years provision has had to be made for distinguishing the admiral from other flag officers, and while Admiral Dewey's modesty will not be shocked by a revival of the gorgeous raiment of the office of that grade, he will be conspicuous enough to satisfy most of his admirers. He will not have to make many alterations in the eight costumes he must wear on various occasions, but the epaulettes, sleeve ornaments, collar devices and cocked hat will have to be specially manufactured before he passes Gibraltar, for the regulations, which were approved May 8, go into effect practically as soon as they are received by officers and the copies have been mailed.

To distinguish the admiral the following points are to be noted: He will have on his sleeves, near the cuffs, two stripes of 2-inch gold lace, with one 1-inch stripe between, set 1-quarter of an inch apart. A rear admiral will have only one 2-inch stripe, with a half-inch stripe just above it.

Captains have four of the half-inch stripes and ensigns have one. The epaulettes of all flag officers are the same, but those of the admiral are embellished with four silver stars of five rays each, placed equi-distant from each other in the middle of the strap or ridge of the epaulette, with a gold foul anchor 1½ inches long under each of the two outer stars, while rear admirals have only two stars, one near each end of the frog, with a similar foul anchor in the center.

Similar devices go on the shoulder straps, the admiral's straps being ⅜ of an inch longer and ¼ of an inch wider than the straps of other officers. On each side of his collar the admiral will wear four silver stars, with a gold foul anchor under each of the outer stars.

Rear admirals have two silver stars and a silver foul anchor. The cocked hat of the admiral will have a strip of 2-inch gold lace laid on flag around the outer rims of the fans, passing under the peaks. For rear admirals the gold lace is half an inch narrower. The admiral's sword belt is embroidered on each edge with half-inch gold braid, and has quarter-inch gold braid in the center. Rear admirals are entitled to half the width of gold on the same belt. The care of the admiral is exactly the same as that of the rear admirals, and his coat, waistcoat, trousers, mackintosh, overcoat, cloak, dress scarf, shoes, rubber boots, shirts, collar and gloves are the same as for all commissioned officers in the navy. His cravat is black-ribbed silk not more than 36 nor less than 32 inches long, not more than 1¾ inches nor less than ¾ of an inch wide, tied in a double bow knot in front. His shoes, high or low, shall be of black calfskin or patent leather, but in warm weather, with white trousers, plain white shoes of canvas or buckskin or russet leather are allowable when service dress is worn. Only plain-bosomed white shirts are permitted when coats are worn open.

AFFLICTED WITH PLAGUE.

Japanese Sailors of the Nippon Maru Found Drowned.

San Francisco, June 29.—The bodies of two Japanese sailors of the Japanese ship Nippon Maru were found in the bay yesterday, and towed to a point off shore by fishermen, who were afraid to touch the bodies more than was necessary to attach a rope to them for towing purposes. The coroner was notified and the bodies were taken to the morgue, where every precaution is being taken to prevent any spread of disease. The men may have carried any germs with them in the bay. It is believed the men were afraid to stay on the steamer, and attaching life preservers to their bodies, jumped overboard and were drowned.

On the trip of the Maru from Honolulu to this city a young Japanese girl died of some mysterious disease and was buried at sea an hour after death. Apoplexy was given as the cause of her death, but the affliction seldom seizes one so young, and the Japanese never die of the complaint. It is believed the disease has been stamped out from the Maru, but she will be kept in quarantine for some time as a precautionary measure.

The bacteriologist who is examining the glands taken from the bodies of the two Japanese who jumped overboard from the steamer Nippon Maru is expected to make his report today. The fact that the glands of one of the men were found to be above the normal size gave rise to the suspicion that the Japanese may have been afflicted with the bubonic plague, but the facts will not be known until the expert has finished his investigation.

KILLED BY HER PARAMOUR.

Young Woman Meets an Awful Death at Foster, R. I.

Providence, R. I., June 29.—Sadie B. Matthewson, 26 years old, was murdered by her alleged paramour, Samuel Owens, 57 years old, at Foster, R. I., Tuesday. It is claimed that both were drunk and that Owens drove the woman into the yard, knocked her down and split her head open with an axe, stabbing her twice in the breast with a carving knife, and then, pouring kerosene oil over her, set her on fire while she was still breathing. Her body was burned to a crisp. Owens was arrested.

A SERIOUS FURNACE FIRE.

Twelve Hundred Men Are Thrown Out of Employment.

Jerome, Ariz., June 29.—A fire broke out in the Verde Copper company's reverberatory furnace Tuesday night. The reverberatory is the largest of its kind in the United States, and is directly under a railroad track. Back of it a few feet are a number of coke bins.

To the north are the vitals of the mine, the power house representing an investment of $250,000. The flame work holds 500 tons of coke, and this mass of inflammable material fell with a crash on the fire, and the whole caused most intense heat.

No effort was made to save the coke, but every energy was lent to keep it from burning the nearby power house.

Tone of the burning coke fell through an open shaft and set the 115-foot level of the mine on fire. But this was controlled after a 6-hour fight.

The loss is not known at this hour, but it will be very heavy, and will fall on Senator Clarke alone.

The fire originated from friction of one of the belts on the furnace blower. Twelve hundred men have been thrown out of employment temporarily.

THE KENTUCKY TICKET.

The Democratic Convention at Louisville Finally Adjourns.

Louisville, Ky., June 29.—The contest for attorney general in the Democratic convention lasted over and hour and on the last ballot Breckinridge was opposed by Scott, Hayes and Smith.

The race for auditor was a very warm one. Gus Coulter, John B. Chenault, R. M. Collier and June Gayle were the aspirants. A ballot was taken but it showed such an advantage for Coulter that Chenault was drawn and the nomination of Coulter was made unanimous.

The convention adjourned last night after nominating the following ticket:

Governor—William Goebel, of Kenton county.

Lieutenant governor—J. C. W. Breckham, of Nelson county.

Secretary of state—Beck Hill, of Clay county.

Attorney general—Judge R. G. Breckinridge, of Boyle county.

Auditor—Gus Coulter, of Graves county.

Treasurer—Judge S. W. Haeger, of Bracken county.

Commissioner of agriculture—I. B. Nall, of Louisville.

Commissioner of public instruction—H. V. McChesney, of Livingston county.

SEEKS THE CHINESE THRONE.

Jung Lu Is Said to Be Plotting For It.

Port Townsend, Wash., June 29.—According to advices brought from the Orient by the steamship Glenogle, China still continues in a state of uncertainty which borders on revolution. The China Discussion says the empress dowager has pinned her faith in Jung Lu, who for many years has had his mind and heart centered on usurping the throne. He has confided to court in the person of one of the chief eunichs, through whom he has succeeded in flattering the empress dowager to the extent that the troops have been increased and he has been placed in command. He now believes himself invulnerable. The empress dowager has been his tool and the general feeling now prevails that his next move will be to cast her aside and place himself on the throne.

THE RAILROAD COMBINE.

It Is Believed to Be Reaching a Focus.

New York, June 29.—The directors of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad company will meet tomorrow to formulate a proposition to the Boston & Albany stockholders looking to a lease of that railroad for a long term of years. At this meeting nothing will be done about drafting propositions to other lines which are reported as likely to be absorbed by the New York Central.

The plan for the absorption of the Chicago & Northwestern, the Union Pacific and the Oregon Short Line are maturing rapidly, it is said, and may come to a focus almost any time. The Big Four and the Chesapeake & Ohio are said to be included in the scheme of consolidation and in due time and under proper conditions will merge into the New York Central.

A NEW EXPLOSIVE.

Important Tests of Thorite Made By the Government.

New York, June 29.—A dispatch to the Herald from Washington says: Important tests with thorite, a new high explosive, are being conducted by the board of ordnance and fortifications at the Sandy Hook proving grounds. The new explosive is the invention of Professor Tuttle, of Oregon, who asserts that it is perfectly safe, and was willing some weeks ago to put a red-hot poker in a charge of thorite, declaring it could be done without causing it to explode. Tests of the explosive by the inventor are said to have been very satisfactory.

NOTICE TO ATTORNEYS.

On and after this date, The Evening Herald will run all probate notices three times, as required by law, for $1. The regular price for this class of work heretofore has been $6 for the three publications, and this will be a considerable saving to estates that have to be probated.

Pacific Coast Excursions.

Tickets on sale by the Northern Pacific every day until July 8 to Los Angeles and return at rate of $59.90; to Portland and return, $52.

These low rates made on account of the National Educational association meeting at Los Angeles July 11 to 14. For full particulars call at Northern Pacific city office, Spalding hotel block.

Don't Forget Next Sunday.

Special trains for Fond du Lac, "dalles of the St. Louis," will leave Duluth Union depot at 10 a. m. and 3 p. m.

It is sad and disappointing for a father to rear a son, spend hard-earned money for his education, work to insure him an advantageous start in life, and build castles in the air about the boy's future, only to have him killed off in the early years of manhood by the dread disease consumption.

Until recent years consumption was considered an incurable disease. Now it is known to tens of thousands that Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures 98 per cent. of all cases if taken in the early stages of the disease. It also cures bronchitis, laryngitis, throat and nasal troubles and all allied diseases of the air-passages. It is the best blood-maker and flesh-builder, the best general tonic and nerve restorative. It gives a keen edge to the appetite, corrects the impaired digestion, promotes the flow of digestive juices, facilitates the production of chyle in the lower stomach, or intestines, invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It tears down old and inert tissues and builds up new, firm, muscular tissues of health. It strengthens the heart's action, promotes the circulation of the blood to every part of the body and deepens the breathing, thus supplying the blood with vitalizing oxygen. Thousands have testified to its merits. The dealer who offers something else as "just as good" is dishonest.

"I never was very strong and then I had La Grippe," writes Mrs. Gracie G. Smith, of 480 15th St., Salem, Oregon. "I had a cough and felt tired all the time. I took three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and two of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and two vials of 'Pleasant Pellets.' I have better health now than for many years."

Twenty-one one-cent stamps cover the mailing of a paper-covered copy of Doctor Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. Cloth-bound, 31 stamps. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

REPLY BY GOVERNOR

Reasons For His Veto of the Railroad and Warehouse Bill.

A PLAIN STATEMENT

As a Result the Luverne Herald Has Retracted Its Charges.

St. Paul, June 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Luverne Herald, of which State Senator H. J. Miller is the editor and proprietor, has led the Republican criticism against Governor Lind for his veto of the Miller bill, being senate file No. 24, to make findings of fact in proceedings before the railroad and warehouse commission official court records in such cases. In a recent issue Senator Miller charged unworthy motives on the part of the governor and that he has been governed in his action by certain railway influence. Thereupon Governor Lind addressed to Senator Miller an explicit denial and demand for retraction of his charges, coupled with a full statement regarding the bill and reasons for the veto. Senator Miller, in the Herald of June 22, retracted the charges, with the statement that he would publish Governor Lind's letter in full in the following issue. The full text of the governor's communication is as follows:

St. Paul, Minn., June 20, 1899.—Hon. H. J. Miller, Luverne, Minn.: Dear Sir—I confess I was not a little surprised when a copy of your paper of June 9 was placed before me and I saw the article headed "Lind's Betrayal of Trust," the first paragraph of which reads as follows: "The Herald has made the charge in previous issues that senate file No. 24, relating to proceedings for the enforcement of the orders of the railroad and warehouse commission, was killed by Governor Lind at the instance of, or by the demand of the Great Northern Railway company." I had been informed previous to this that you had made charges of some such character in earlier issues of your paper, but I paid no attention to them, as I hoped that you would be down to the city and that I might have an opportunity to place the facts before you in their proper light, any time sufficiently permitting communication by correspondence in a matter so involved as the consideration of our statutes relating to the railroad and warehouse commission, but this last charge is such a brazen falsehood and of such character that, coming from the source it does, I feel that it demands not only an explicit denial, but an explanation of the law as it now stands and the effect of the proposed amendment, so that you and any others who desires to understand the matter may see and appreciate the dangerous character of senate file No. 24, which I refused to sign.

In the case of Minneapolis & St. Louis Railway company vs. Railroad and Warehouse commission, 41 Minn., 336, which was one of the earlier cases under the present railroad law before our supreme court, Judge Mitchell uses this language: "The act (laws 1887, Chapter 10) regulating common carriers and creating the railroad and warehouse commission is a piece of legislative patchwork composed of provisions borrowed from different and dissimilar sources without uniformity of plan and not always consistent with each other. A construction of this act is therefore a difficult task." Although the act has been amended several times since that was said it will be necessary to refer to it, it is still applicable to many of the provisions of the law as it now stands, as any one who has read it with care must agree, and nevertheless it has now been before the court so often and many of its sections so thoroughly construed, that the most striking inconsistencies have been reconciled and the legislation as a whole, made harmonious by judicial interpretation. In my message to the legislature I recommended only one change and in the following language: "The report of the state railroad and warehouse commission will be laid before you, and new legislation is needed on that subject, except that the record made before the commission on a hearing should be made to constitute the record on appeal. The present practice of trying a case de novo in the district court is useless and expensive and by its delays tends to defeat the ends of the law." An amendment in harmony with this suggestion would have been a decided improvement on the law as it now stands and would have had my prompt approval, as it had my cordial endorsement in advance. I cannot help feeling that you are under the impression that senate file No. 24 would have accomplished the purpose indicated by my recommendation, for I can hardly conceive that a man of your standing would purposely traduce and malign a public servant from partisan motives alone. I shall therefore take more time and exercise more patience in explaining the law to you than I would to one for whose character and motives I have less regard than I have had for yours in the past, believing that when the matter is placed before you in its proper light you will have the manhood to undo, so far as you are able, the injustice which you have done me.

By our legislation constituting the board of railroad and warehouse commissioners and defining their powers, the duties of the board are divided into two classes. The first, and most important, is to pass upon the reasonableness of transportation rates and to prevent discrimination between persons and places. The second, is the power to regulate the manner of maintaining and operating the railroads, with a view to insuring the security, convenience and accommodation of the general public, without regard to the question of rates; in other words—the rate-making power and the administrative power respectively. This distinction must be borne in mind in order to understand the different provisions of the statute and the decisions of our supreme court pursuant to them.

In proceedings under the first class of questions, viz: Those that involve the rate making power and the prevention of discriminations, the railroad company has the right of appeal to the district court from the determination of the commissioners. See Sub-division D of section 15 of the act, (Page 21 of the pamphlet which I send you herewith). In the other class of cases, which relate only to administrative regulations, there is no appeal from the action of the commissioners to the district court. The propriety of their determination can only be inquired into upon a suit instituted for the enforcement of the commissioners' decision. See the case cited, 44 Minn., page 336.

The "Steenerson case," which is the most important case which we have had in our courts under the law up to the present time, was decided upon a review of the action taken by the district court upon the trial of an appeal taken from the commissioners' decision prescribing lower rates. See the statement of the case by Judge Canty on page 714, vol. 72, Northwestern Reporter. He says: "After summoning the railway company and having a hearing, as provided by the statute the commission made an order reducing rates on grain on all the lines of the railway company within the state. From this order the railway company appealed to the district court and after a hearing on the appeal, the court reversed the order of the commission. From the order of the court the attorney general appeals to this court, etc." This appeal was taken under sub-division D, section 15, just cited. A trial in the district court upon an appeal of that character is undoubtedly the most important feature in a proceeding under the law, for upon the record as there made the case will be reviewed by the supreme court and eventually in the supreme court of the United States, if a writ of error is taken to the latter court. This trial in the district court upon an appeal is now virtually a trial de novo, as I suggested in my message, and it was this section that I recommended, should be amended so that it would not be necessary to go over again in the district court the same ground that had been traversed before the commissioners, for a re-trial upon new evidence necessarily consumes more time.

Senate file No. 24 did not assume to correct this defect, as you appear to think, but steps in to amend section 22, page 26 of the pamphlet, which simply relates to the enforcement of the orders or decisions of the commission. These orders or decisions are of two kinds: Administrative orders and final orders or decisions involving the rate making power, when such orders have not been appealed from the district court. In regard to the latter class of orders, where the railroad company had the right of appeal if they saw fit, it is a well settled principle of law that where an individual or corporation has litigated a question before a tribunal upon the merits and had the right of appeal from the order or decision of such tribunal to the district court and omitted to exercise it, it cannot subsequently raise any question as to the merits of the order or decision which it sought to secure enforcement of such order or decision in the courts. It stands upon the same footing, when not appealed from, as a judgment of the district court rendered upon an appeal under the provisions of sub-division D of section 15. Therefore, when such an order comes up for enforcement in the district court, no question can be raised as to its validity or its reasonableness, providing the company had due notice. Hence the only class of orders or decisions that can be litigated under the provisions of section 22, which you sought to amend by senate file 24, as the law now stands are those relating to administrative proceedings.

You will observe by sub-division B of section 15 that on the hearing of the appeal provided for in that section "the record of said commission shall be prima facie evidence of the matters therein stated." The same provision exists in section 22 in regard to proceedings for the enforcement of the orders or decisions of the commission under that section. It is provided (commencing on page 28) "upon the trial of such case, the findings in its record, shall be prima facie evidence of the matters therein stated." I have underscored these provisions in the pamphlet which I send you. These two provisions are the most important features regulating the practice under the railroad act. They have the effect of throwing the burden of proof upon the railroad company to show that the decision of the commission is wrong in case of an appeal under section 15, and likewise that the order or decision was wrong or unjustifiable in proceedings for its enforcement under section 22. On this point let me call your attention to the language of Justice Canty, N. W. Reporter 72, page 715, who after quoting this provision says: "Then the burden is on the railroad company to show that the rates fixed by the commission are unreasonable." Justice Collins, page 3 (same volume), commenting on the same provision in the statute, said: "Here we find that by legislative enactment an order of the commission fixing and prescribing a tariff of rates must be deemed and taken in all of the courts of our state as prima facie evidence that the tariff so fixed and prescribed is equal and reasonable; the onus being thus fixed upon the appealing carrier, in all our legal tribunals and in all proceedings, to show that it is not. The burden of proof was therefore upon the respondent carrier (Great Northern Railroad company) to overcome a prima facie case presented in the court below by means of the order of the commission." I have no hesitancy in saying that but for this statutory provision the case could not and would not have been rendered by our supreme court. The decision, as you will observe, is simply to the effect that the record does not show the rates established are unreasonable or confiscatory. In other words, the court simply held that the railroad company had failed to overcome the determination of the commission, which the statute said and which the court said was prima facie just and reasonable. You realize that it is difficult and practically impossible to make one who has had no experience at the bar appreciate the immense advantage of going into court with a prima facie case, instead of being called upon to establish the case by affirmative evidence, particularly in matters of this character. If it were incumbent upon the state to establish the reasonableness or unreasonableness of the rate by affirmative evidence, such as would be admissible in court, it would be next to impossible under existing conditions to do so. It certainly could not be done without the co-operation of railroad experts. Notwithstanding these facts, the proposed amendment to section 22, by senate file No. 24, leaves out this vitally important provision of the section as it now stands. Now Senator, let me ask you in all candor, why was this left out? Did you realize that it had been left out when you introduced the bill? Would you have introduced the bill? Would you have introduced it, knowing that it was left out? Would you have voted for this amendment with the knowledge that the effect of it would be to shift the burden of proof from the shoulders of the railroad company to the side of the producer and the state? A candid answer to these questions I have a right to ask and do ask of you. But this is not by any means the sole reason why I omitted to sign senate file 24, although it seems to me that any candid man would regard this not only sufficient, but imperatively demanding that it should not have my approval.

I recommended in my message that the record made before the commission on a hearing should be made and constituted the record on appeal. This was for the sole purpose of expediting matters and saving time. The protracted delays reported to by the railroad companies on all proceedings against them is, as you well realize, the worst feature in the administration of the law that we have to contend against. The provisions of senate file 24, instead of tending to curtail and prevent delays, seem especially calculated to further them. The proposed amendment, senate file No. 24, provides that the commission should report to the court the papers and testimony take before it and further, that if the court "shall think it needful, that additional evidence shall be taken or further inquiries be prosecuted, it shall recommit the matter to the commission to prosecute such inquiry." Now, if you know anything about legal proceedure, you know that it would be infinitely more expeditious for the district court to try and dispose of the case before it in its own way than send a portion of it back for rehearing or for the taking of additional evidence before another tribunal. You also know or realize that if this provision had become a law, the first thing that the railroad company would have done upon a report being filed in the district court, would have been to make innumerable motions, all of which take not less than ten days' notice, to have this question and that question and the other recommitted to the commission for the taking of further evidence. But this is not all, nor the worst feature of this provision. The proposed amendment provides that the commission might be called upon or it might in its own discretion rehear and reconsider all the questions "involved in or connected with its order or requirement, to enforce which the petition was filed, such rehearing to be had upon additional evidence in connection with the whole record filed with the petition, as above provided, and may thereupon make and file in the case with its report and return of evidence taken, an amended or supplemental order, which shall then be substituted for the original order or requirement of the commission." When this amended or supplemental order was brought in, it would, of course, be subject to the same power of the court to be recommitted, and so on without limit. Now, although I realize that you are not a lawyer, it seems to me that when you consider these facts, especially if you will take the trouble to confer with some competent practitioner, or say Judge Brown, you will see that I am correct in saying that these provisions seem especially calculated to further delays. You will also observe that these are very different provisions from those that I recommended and this subject was not new to me. I had it us in all its phases when a member of the committee on interstate and foreign commerce of the house of representatives, and I then arrived at the same conclusions which guided my action in this matter.

You criticise me for not consulting with the attorney general. Why should I? Would you ask anybody's advice upon a plain proposition where your duty was clear? But I make this suggestion to you. You are at liberty to submit this letter to the attorney general and take his views upon the questions which I have discussed. I am surprised, in view of your experience in the senate and the judgment which you entertained and expressed of the majority of your colleagues, that the fact that this bill was permitted to pass through without opposition was not sufficient to put you on your guard, especially after the passage through the senate with only three dissenting votes of the Shellbach bill, which would have repealed the Anderson law taxing railroads, had it passed the house and received my approval. With such experience fresh in your mind, it seems to me that you might have scented the woodchuck in senate file No. 24.

If you require further information to enable you to understand this subject, let me know and I will cheerfully furnish it. In the meantime, I denounce every statement and innuendo contained in your article heading upon this subject as absolutely false; and as a small measure of reparation, I demand that you retract your charges and that you give this letter equal publicity in your paper as you have given the libelous articles referred to. Yours truly,

JOHN LIND,
Governor.

THE CASE TOO WEAK.

Washington, June 29.—The attorney general has been notified that the war department has decided not to retry the case in which Judge Simonton of Pennsylvania held that the canteen at Camp Meade must pay a state license. This line of action was decided upon first because it is the intention to abandon Camp Meade so that the decision if reversed would be of no value and second because this particular case is inherently weak as through the connivance of some soldiers beer was sold to civilians. The Pennsylvania case will not be regarded as a precedent by the department, which reserves the issue in the future.

LOSS FROM FLOODS.

Green Bay, Wis., June 29.—The water in the Fox and East rivers, driven by winds, is above all previous high water marks and heavy damage is threatened to property along the rivers. The water is several feet deep in the low parts of the city and residents of that vicinity have temporarily abandoned their homes. Basements in the river front are flooded and large quantities of goods have been spoiled. A fleet of boats are laying at anchor outside of the harbor unable to enter.

The Jergeson-Blesch company, wholesale and retail dry goods and carpets, estimate that their loss is $20,000.

COAST LUMBERMEN ALARMED.

San Francisco, June 29.—Lumbermen of the coast have been considerably alarmed by fears that the Canadian joint high commission may adopt measures that will injure their interests and the trade in lumber between this country and Canada. Some time ago a number of leading lumber dealers laid the matter before Congressman Julius Kahn with a request that he exert his influence to protect their interests.

In response to a letter to the president, Congressman Kahn received a letter from Secretary Cortelyou saying that the matter had been called to the attention of the secretary of state, who will instruct America's representative on the commission to look out for the lumbermen's interests.

MORE YELLOW FEVER.

Santiago, Cuba, June 29.—Fourteen new cases of yellow fever have been officially reported during the last five days. Maj. Carr, the surgeon in charge, reports that there are no further cases under suspicion and the general health of the troops is good.

A BOLD ASSERTION.

The Assertion Made in the Introduction to this Duluth Citizen's Statement is Literally True.

There is only one proprietary medicine on the market which gives local evidence touching its merits; home proof to back up its claims; Duluth evidence for Duluth people. Statements from people we know in place of statements from strangers. That preparation is the one endorsed by C. Coons, conducting a meat market at 104 East Fourth street, who says: "For three or four years I suffered a great deal with my back and kidneys, and although at different times I treated for it I could get nothing to effectually remove the trouble. There was a severe, heavy aching across the small of my back; I did not rest well nights and rose in the morning feeling tired and worn out; the secretions from the kidneys were irregular and highly colored and on standing deposited a heavy sediment. I felt generally run down and had no energy or ambition left. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and having them highly spoken of, I procured them at the Duluth Drug company and commenced to use them. In a few days I noticed an improvement and the aches and pains soon left me. My appetite became good, I slept well and felt refreshed in the mornings. I began to gain weight, and, in fact, never felt better in my life."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price, 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn company, Buffalo, N. Y. Sole agents for the United States.

DECLINE IN WHEAT

Market Started Weak, Firmed Up But Fell Off After Noon.

THE CABLES LOWER

Trading Dull Owing to the Approach of Holidays---Receipts Large.

Duluth Board of Trade, June 29.—The wheat market opened a little weaker and at lower prices this morning, but later had a reaction. There was not very much business, as there is a disposition to avoid trades of a large size until after the Fourth. The early cables did not show much strength at Liverpool, but the later reports were better. The domestic crop reports were bearish, and the Northwest receipts were quite heavy. After noon the market weakened again, the closing cables showing a decline of 1/64@1d at Liverpool. The close was unchanged here and 3/8@3c lower than yesterday at Chicago for the July option. September declined 1/4c here and 3/8c at Chicago.

There was only fair-sized trading on the Duluth board. July wheat opened 3c down, at 73¾c, sold up to 74½c at 10:20, and reacted to 74¼c at 12:05. It weakened towards the close, which was at 74c, the same as yesterday. September started 3c lower at 72½c, rose to 73¾ at 10:20 and fell off to 73¾c at 11:20. It closed at 73½c, a net loss of ¼c for the day. About 75,000 bus of cash stuff changed hands at 3c under July for wheat in store and the July price for wheat to arrive. Oats and barley were unchanged. Rye and corn each lost 1c. Cash flax declined 1c. Following were the closing prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, cash, 73¾c; July, 73½c; No. 1 northern, cash, 73¾c; July, 74c; September, 73¼c. No. 2 northern, 69¾c. No. 3 spring, 67½c. To arrive—No. 1 hard, 73½c; No. 1 northern, 74c. Oats, 27@26½c. Rye, 38½c. Barley, 37c. Flax, $1.00; September, 97½c. October, 96c. Corn, 32c.

ON THE CHICAGO BOARD.

The Wheat News Was of Rather Bearish Character.

Chicago, June 29.—Wheat showed some weakness at the opening today, September starting at 74¼c, compared with yesterday's closing price of 74⅝c. Liverpool showed irregularity, but was apparently inclined toward a somewhat lower level, and this was not to the liking of local traders. Crop reports were rather bearish, although no notable changes in condition were recorded. The Price Current reported the Kansas results better than expected. Northwest receipts were 511 cars, against 535 last week and 13 a year ago. Chicago receipts were 122 cars, 11 of contract grade. Later Liverpool cables showed more firmness due, it was said, to the probability of the standard grades being raised. The most notable feature of the local market was the narrowness of trading, outside of a coterie of small scalpers, few traders showed much interest in the market. This condition will probably prevail until after the Fourth. After selling up to 74¾c, moderate covering by shorts caused a reaction in September to 74⅝c.

After selling up to 74¾@75c, a decided reaction occurred on predictions of an increase of 500,000 in the visible at Minneapolis. A large increase was expected at Duluth. Seaboard engagements were small and the cash demand here was light. Realizing became moderately heavy late in the session and during the last half hour the market declined steadily. September finally touching 73¾c, where it closed.

Corn was dull and heavy. Receipts were large and crop conditions favorable. There was continued July liquidation. Later the market firmed up some with wheat. Receipts were 1021 cars. September opened ⅛c higher at 34¼@34⅝c, declined to 34⅛@34c and reacted to 34¼c.

Oats were quiet and easy with corn and, on lack of support, prices sagged under an extremely light selling pressure. Receipts, 292 cars. September opened a shade lower at 21⅝c, sold at 21⅞c and reacted to opening price.

Provisions followed a weak hog market and showed general, though small declines. Packers and outsiders sold moderately; buying was scattered. September pork opened a shade lower at $8.42 and declined to $8.37. September lard opened unchanged at $5.22 and declined to $5.17@5.20. September ribs opened a shade lower at $4.92 and declined to $4.87.

Closes: Wheat—July, 73¾c; September, 74¼c; December, 75¾@75c. Corn—June, 33⅝c; July, 33¾c; September, 34@34⅛c; December, 33¾@33⅝c; May, 31⅜c. Oats—June, 21⅛c; July, 21¼c; September, 21⅜c; May, 25⅝c. Pork—June, $8.17@8.20; July, $8.17@8.22; September, $8.40. Lard—June, $5.00@5.02; July, $5.00@5.02; September, $5.17. Ribs—June, $4.70; July, $4.70; September, $4.87. Cash: Wheat—No. 2 red, 73¾@74¾c; No. 3, 72@73c. No. 2 hard winter, 71½c; No. 3 hard winter, 70@71c; No. 2 northern spring, 74c; No. 2 northern spring, 73c; No. 2 spring, 70@73c. Corn—No. 2, 34¼c; No. 3, 33½c. Oats—No. 2, 26½c; No. 3, 25½c. Flax—Northwestern, $1.06½; Southwestern, $1.02; July, $1.03; September, 97c; October, 96c. Barley, 35½@42c. Rye—July, 50½c; September, 53c. Timothy—August, $2.90; September, $2.50. Clover—October, $7.50.

MIDWAY HORSE MARKET.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul.—Barrett & Zimmerman's report: Large consignments of horses were placed on the market; prices varies in many cases close to country cost. Buyers were well represented, but sales were not as active or as extensive at the opening of the market. Heavy horses were much looked for; all classes of horses had good enquiries. Mules and Western horses were in good demand. The representative sales were as follows:

Drafters, choice to extra ..... $125@180
Drafters, common to good ..... 80@100
Farm horses, choice to extra ..... 112@120
Farm horses, common to good ... 60@ 80
Western horses ..... 27@ 60

THE COTTON MARKET.

New York, June 29.—The opening of the cotton market was 1 to 3 points below last night's figures with the market steady at the decline. The South and local longs sold pretty much the entire list, while shorts covered and purchased the July and winter positions. Cable news was of disappointing average. Crop news indicated satisfactory progress with beneficial showers generally.

Cotton futures closed steady; June, nominal; July, $5.49; August, $5.54; September, $5.62; October, $5.62; November, $5.66; December, $5.70; February, $5.76; March, $5.87; April, $5.84; May, $5.88. Spot cotton closed steady, unchanged; sales, 1401 bales.

THE COPPER STOCKS.

Following were the closing quotations of copper stocks today, as reported by Paine, Webber & Co., Hotel St. Louis:

Boston, June 29.—Closing prices of copper shares: Adventure, 9¼; Arcadian, 36; Allouez, 8½; Arnold, 13½; Atlantic, 21-32; Baltic, 34½; Boston and Montana, 337; Butte and Boston, 75@77; Calumet and Hecla, 790@790; Centennial, 23½; Franklin, 19¼; Humboldt, 2½@3; Old Dominion, 37⅜; Osceola, 84½; Mohawk, 26@27; Mass Consolidated, 11; Old Colony, 10; Rhode Island, 6¾; Tamarack, 265; Tecumseh, 5⅜; Union Land, 8½; Wolverine, 44¾; Washington, 2⅜; Winona, 14; Quincy, 155@165; Isle Royale, 42@44.

GOSSIP.

Received over private wire of B. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, room 107 Chamber of Commerce and 507 Board of Trade, Chicago, June 29.—Foreign wheat markets were disappointed and generally closed lower, except Antwerp, which was 1d higher. London cabled weather favorable. A. McCormick, agent now in Russia, cabled that the crop would not be half as much as last year. Weather conditions generally fair, with a forecast of fair tonight, with the exception of portions of Iowa, Minnesota and Western Dakota. Price Current says no material change in crop prospects although private reports indicate too much rain and that the best of weather conditions will have to prevail soon now on in order to assure a crop. Winter wheat reports are on the whole fully as bad as they have been at any time. A number of winter wheat millers say that farmers are holding back old wheat and expect the new crop to move very sparingly. Primary receipts were lighter, 787,000 bus; shipments, 340,000 bus. Well informed people in the Northwest, predict the movement from first hands will show considerable diminuation. Fifty cars of new wheat were received at Galveston today. Clearances, 559,000 bus, 15,000 bus worked here late yesterday and today for export. We can confirm 16 loads. Minneapolis flour sales today, 49,000 bbls. Northwest stocks are expected to increase 1,000,000 bus. There was some fair buying early with some covering by scalpers, but the close was at the low point of the day. The market has assumed a holiday character and operations have been largely of an evening-up character, due to the fact that the holidays are near at hand and a great many operators have left and will leave the city. We believe that when new winter commences to move it will be very disappointing as regards its volume.

Corn—Receipts still continue large and values are inclined to be weak. Fifty loads reported for export, charters, 500,000 bus. There has been a good deal of changing from July to September, elevator people taking the July.

Oats have ruled dull. Trade has been light and there are quite a number of complaints from lodging, due to too much rank growth.

Provisions were easier on moderate selling by packers. Liverpool was lower on bacon and hams. Should there be a general strike at the yards, it would result in an advance in values.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Weakness Early In the Specialties Was Eliminated Later.

New York, June 29.—There was a good demand for arbitrage brokers at the opening to cover sales made in London earlier, but prices of the internationals were not lifted fully to the London level. Railroads generally were a sharp fraction higher, but the industrial specialties were inclined to weakness. Sugar, Continental Tobacco and Brooklyn Transit fell off from a quarter to ⅞, and Manhattan after rising ⅜, dropped 1 point. St. Paul and St. Louis Southwestern preferred were the only railroads of any prominence which showed declines. Pressure against individual stocks caused some sharp recession early, but meanwhile other properties made gains of equal importance. Transit, Metropolitan, New York Central and Baltimore & Ohio preferred were pressed for sale. Their weakness was offset by aggressive buying of the coalers, Norfolk & Western preferred, Louisville and the Southwesterns. The general demand for railways led to a cessation of pressure against the high-priced specialties and there were numerous advances in Sugar, the loyal traction group and Continental Tobacco.

The grangers took the leadership of the market and top prices were made for this group. The partial diversion of interest from the rest of the market caused a gauging which was accentuated by a determined drive against the active specialties. Severe losses occurred in the traction properties, Sugar and the Tobacco shares. The railroad stocks soon weakened in sympathy and some issues fell below last night's close. Sales to noon, 245,941 shares. Good buying of some of the middle grade bonds imparted strength to the bond list.

The market was heavy and drooping, without any large selling. Consolidated Gas reacted and Manhattan extended its decline to over 2 points. Some other specialties dropped a point. Wheeling and Lake Erie, first preferred, dropped 5 points. The closing was steady at net losses in most cases.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.—

Default has been made in the payment of the sum of $746.36, which sum at the date of this notice is claimed to be due and is due, owing and unpaid upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Josephine Kennedy, mortgagor, (to secure a part of the purchase price of the lands therein described) to E. Grace Graves and Mary A. Van Brunt, mortgagees. Said mortgage bears date December 20th, 1892, and was recorded in the office of the register of deeds, in and for the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, upon the 3rd day of January, 1893, at 3 o'clock and fifty minutes p. m., in Book 106 of mortgages, on page 25. Said mortgage with the debt secured thereby was, by written instrument bearing date December 17, 1894, and recorded in the office of said register of deeds, March 25, 1895, at 2:40 p. m., in Book 108 of mortgages, on page 230, duly assigned by said Mary A. Van Brunt to said E. Grace Graves.

No action or proceeding, at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover said mortgage debt, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale in said mortgage contained and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described therein, lying and being in said St. Louis County, to-wit: Lots numbered three (3) and twelve (12), in block twenty-one (21), in the London Addition to Duluth according to the recorded plat thereof, in the office of said register of deeds, with the appurtenances and hereditaments thereto belonging.

Said sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of the 10th day of July, 1899, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to satisfy the amount then due upon said mortgage debt, the taxes amounting to $16.55 paid by said assignee, $50 attorneys' fees, stipulated for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the costs and disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale, as provided by law.

Dated at Duluth, May 18, 1899.

ESTABLISHED TRUTHS.

A few newspapers, subsidized or controlled by the trusts, are trying to minimize the imminent danger of these vast aggregations of capital, and they are now endeavoring to combat the sensational testimony furnished to the industrial commission at Washington by P. E. Dowe, president of the Commercial Travelers' National league concerning the large number of traveling men who have been discharged by the trusts. A flat denial of the truth of Mr. Dowe's statements having been made by one paper, the Chicago Tribune has written letters to every commercial center in the country respecting the truth of this matter and prints replies and interviews which clearly indicate that President Dowe has underdrawn rather than overdrawn the situation. The Tribune sums up the situation by saying that "of the 300,000 traveling salesmen in the United States engaged in the distribution of the products of the country's industries 150,000 according to their estimate will be forced out of their positions unless the present epidemic of trade combinations is checked."

These are startling facts and demand the serious attention of the people.

A FEW ADMITTED FACTS.

While a double censorship at Manilla and at Washington is keeping full and trustworthy information from the people regarding the war in the Philippines, there are a few facts that are not denied. They are stated by the New York World in the following form:

1. The war has now lasted for 139 days, or twenty-five days longer than our war with Spain. We hold, after this period, less of the territory than Spain occupied and less than we held in August of last year. The rebel forces are now more "troublesome" than at any former time.

2. The war has cost nearly 700 men killed, 6500 wounded, 10,000 invalided. It has cost $63,000,000 in money, and is costing nearly $300,000 a day. Our losses in the fighting in Cuba, which resulted in the surrender of Santiago and the end of the war with Spain, were about 230 killed and 1300 wounded. Our losses in Porto Rico were 3 killed and 40 wounded.

3. There have been sent to Gen. Otis 38,000 men. Some 4500 more are under sailing orders. The president has decided, it is said, quietly to enlist the 35,000 volunteers he was authorized by congress to add to the army for temporary use.

4. According to the best expert testimoney it will take from 100,000 to 150,000 troops to subdue the Filipinos and hold the principal points in the islands.

5. The rainy season will soon put an end to campaigning. "Fifty per cent of our men will be incapacitated by sickness and the territory overrun will have to be abandoned; Manilla will be in a state of siege again." This is the testimony of Dr. McQueston, late of Gen. Otis' staff and health officer at Manilla.

6. The president's peace commission is a total failure, owing largely to its inability to consider any terms except unconditional surrender and absolute submission to the "sovereignty of the United States."

As the World says, this is not a pleasing picture, and there should be a change without delay. If the war can be ended speedily by an overwhelming force, as the friends of the administration claim, why not recruit and send the necessary troops at once?

LOSSES WERE LIGHT.

It was supposed when the war with Spain opened, that the losses of the life insurance companies would be heavy, but recent statements by some of the largest companies show that their losses were quite small, much less than they expected. The actuary of a well-known company said when discussing this matter a few days ago: "We charged a lump sum of 5 per cent on the face of the policy to all persons who desired to volunteer in the army or who were already in the service. This extra charge was only made when men served outside of the United States, or Hawaiian islands, as we considered them a part of the United States. Practically all of our policies were world-wide in extent, and none of the policy holders we lost were compelled to pay a cent extra on his policy for the privilege of serving his country abroad."

It is stated that one of the largest insurance companies paid $15,500 to policy holders killed in battle and $92,500 to policy holders who died of disease in camp; and the whole sum of $108,000 represented the combined amount of about forty policies. Another big company's losses amounted to $75,410, and they were divided in pretty much the same proportions; it paid $13,010 to policy holders who were killed in battle and $62,410 to policy holders who died of disease in camp, either in the United States or elsewhere.

It is estimated that only one-seventh of all the money paid out by life insurance companies on account of war losses were paid on lives lost in battle; the other six-sevenths being incurred by reason of deaths from disease. Inasmuch as the insurance companies treated well those of their policy holders who desired to enter the army, it is pleasing to learn that they suffered few losses.

A CONVINCING ANSWER.

In another column will be found the very full and complete answer by Governor Lind to the charges made by Senator H. J. Miller in the Luverne Herald regarding his veto of the Miller bill to make findings of fact in proceedings before the railroad and warehouse commission official court record in such cases. In a recent issue of the Luverne paper Senator Miller charged unworthy motives on the part of the governor and that he had been governed in his action by certain railway influence. Thereupon Governor Lind addressed to Senator Miller an explicit denial and demand for retraction of his charges, coupled with a full statement regarding the bill and reasons for the veto. Senator Miller in the Herald of June 22, retracted the charges, with the statement that he would publish Governor Lind's letter in full in the following issue. The Republican papers that have been repeating the charges made by Senator Miller and severely criticising the governor will now have an opportunity to follow the senator's example and retract. Probably all will not do so, because they are not as fair and honest as Senator Miller, and in this list may be included the News Tribune, which not only copies all the mean and untruthful things printed about the governor, but invents a few lies on its own account when other material runs short.

The governor's statement is very complete and explains the law as it now stands and the effect of the proposed amendment so clearly that any citizen who desires to understand the matter can see and appreciate the dangerous character of the bill which the governor refused to sign. It shows also how carefully the governor weighed the effect on the intercsts of the people of every measure passed by the legislature before signing or vetoing it.

The following is related as a true story, but to save the feelings of some concerned the names are omitted. A mechanic in a big car wheel factory, with an inventive turn of mind, occasionally went to a tavern, not a thousand miles from Chicago, for a drink. To one of the waiting loafers there he confieded a process for welding that he had perfected but not patented. Like all great patents, it was a simple thing, and the barfly lost no time in stealing and patenting the idea. This was twelve years ago. Not a fortnight ago that same man, in telling of the great fortune he had made (that is, stolen), used in a public meeting these words: "Thrift, work, economy; endless and unselfish work—this is the basis of every man's success in life. Great work makes great honesty, and in time of these comes great wealth."

One of the best special numbers that The Herald has seen for a long time, and considering the size of the city in which it is published the very best, is the anniversary edition of the Grand Forks Herald. It contains forty pages filled with interesting reading, including sketches of early Dakota times, the story of the twenty years' existence and steady growth of the Herald and a description of the resources of the rich country of which Grand Forks is the center. Handsome illustrations adorn the pages and the press work is excellent. The Herald co-gratulates Editor Winship on the enterprise displayed in issuing this special number and on the successful career of his excellent newspaper.

The Republican press bureau at St. Paul says in a recent letter published in the Red Wing Republican: "The Democratic New York Sun contains a long article on the political outlook in various states. The following is the report from Minnesota which will be read with a great deal of interest by members of all parties." Then it proceeds to give a lot of misinformation about the political situation in this state, evidently written by a rabid Republican partisan. But the manager of this press bureau should know better than to call the Sun "Democratic." The Sun is an extreme Republican organ and is the special organ of Boss Tom Platt.

An exchange relates that a Chicago capitalist was sick nigh unto death. Four doctors were successively called, an allopath, a homeopath, an osteopath and a Christian Scientist. The man grew worse, and the family let an old woman experiment with him. She recommended hot water and castor oil. The man is now well.

Hon. Jerry Simpson in his new paper, "The Bayonet," tells his Populist brethren that they "might just as well discuss a last year's bird's nest as to discuss silver at 16 to 1 this year." Jerry thinks they better stick to government ownership of railways, opposition to trusts, etc.

The Chicago Tribune is of the opinion that if Secretary Alger's candidacy for the United States senate could be submitted to popular vote, coupled with the proposition that he leave the cabinet, it would carry by a clear majority of 10,000.

The Topeka State Journal thinks that with Reed retired and Dingley dead, Maine will no longer occupy the prominent place in the nation's affairs which she has held ever since James G. Blaine brought her to the front.

Senator-elect Beveridge of Indiana writes from Manilla that his study of the people and the situation is making his so-called vacation as busy a time as he ever spent.

While Oom Paul talks peace, Joe Chamberlain talks war, and this may be an indication that the president of the Transvaal will make some concessions.

The Kansas City Star suggests that when a professional musician murders a piece it is perhaps perfectly lawful to refer to the piece as executed.

The Akeley News has made its appearance at Akeley, Hubbard county, with Kendall Clark as editor. It is a bright journal and deserves success.

The savings banks in New York state have deposits aggregating $700,000,000, of which $1,500,000 is said to be uncalled for or unclaimed.

Both the yachts that will contend for the America's cup met with accidents at their launching. It was a curious coincidence.

The czar's peace conference has not accomplished much.

POLITICAL POINTERS.

Minneapolis Journal: It is understood that when Judge Collins gets around to resign from the supreme bench in order to prosecute his gubernatorial campaign, Governor Lind will appoint to succeed him Justice Mitchell, whose term expires on Dec. 31 next. Such an appointment, assuming that Judge Collins will resign this fall, would give Justice Mitchell another year on the bench. Lawyers throughout the state would approve of such an appointment, for Justice Mitchell is everywhere respected by the profession on account of his great learning, his good judgment and his unfailing courtesy.

Anoka Union: It may be J. Adam Bede perhaps Hon. C. C. McCarthy, and either would be an improvement over the present Sixth district congressman.

Minneapolis Journal: Next Friday there will be an unusual change in the governor's office. William H. Angell, the courteous and able detail clerk, who has for seventeen years occupied a chair in the governor's outer office, will leave to accept a position with Tams Bixby's Chero-kee Indian commission at Muskogee. He has worked under Hubbard, McGill, Merriam, Nelson, Clough and Lind and could have stayed indefinitely had he chosen to do so. He was not an offensive partisan and Governor Lind would not have disturbed him. Eugene Rice, an Owatonna Democrat, is to succeed Mr. Angell.

Should Recall Otis.

Chicago Journal: After four months of fighting Otis "controls" a strip of country about forty miles long and just about wide enough to form a military road. At this rate, how long would it take him to pacify the islands? The president intends, it said, to send more soldiers—twelve thousand. That is a good beginning. Now let him recall Otis and stop his comic opera war.

Too Much "Etation."

Minneapolis Tribune: The Pioneer Press, which has tried all along to be a thick-and-thin supporter of the administration's Philippine campaign, now frankly says that Gen. Otis' latest report is a confession of failure. On the other hand, the war department officials at Washington are said to be "elated," and to be claiming that Otis' report is a sufficient answer to all criticisms. The war department officials must imagine that the people of the United States are possessed of little intelligence if they think they can make such a claim as that pass muster.

After Graduation.

I heard the essays. That one on
"The Magna Charta and King John"
The head girl wrote. She with the wreath
Described Lear's wonderings on the heath
Quite prettily. Another one
Explained "The Spots Upon the Sun."
"The Influence of Browning" and
"The Early Writings of George Sand;"
"The Transcendental Movement: How It Touches German Letters Now"—
All these I sadly listened to.

"What earthly good can these things do?"
I asked myself. "Does old King John
Teach how to sew a patch upon
A coat?—or can the spotted sun
Say when a roast is rarely done?
Do Browning's tangled poems tell
The way to mend a stocking well?"

While I was pondering sadly there,
A sweet girl rose, and, I declare,
She talked about the homely things
From washtubs down to muffin rings!
She had ten pages all on pie.
She knew the choicest way to fry
An oyster, and how best to bake
A good old fashioned johnnie cake.

Next day the girl was asked to share
The fortunes of a millionaire;
She now reads Browning's wondrous books,
And leaves the cooking to her cooks.

The girl who wrote on Browning's work
Is married to a gentle clerk
Whose income's small. No girl have they;
She scrubs and cooks the livelong day.
And sighs, while bending o'er the range,
When she reflects upon the change—
The fall from school sublimities
To tattered books of recipes.

DEPARTMENT OF COLONIES.

Chicago News: The term colony is not one that in the past has been popular with Americans. Memories of pre-revolutionary times, of King George and his oppressive policy, are suggested by the word. But times change, and nations, like man, change with them.

Kansas City Star: A department of colonial affairs is said to be confidently spoken of at Washington as a necessary and proper addition to the cabinet. While the time may come when such a department may be required, as the department of the Interior became a needed convenience with the increase of our public lands business, it may be said that at present the mass of Americans do not take kindly to the words of colony or colonial. The people of the United States are accustomed to government by states and territories. They know nothing of government by colonies. All that is historically known about that sort of rule, is that certain colonies, thirteen in number, threw off that title and relation and became the independent United States of America.

Chicago Times-Herald: We stand pledged to let Cuba go free and are estopped by inference from setting up a civil government of our own there. On the other hand, the military occupation is the natural result of the war and it has been so effective and beneficial that it should be continued without interruption until the Cubans themselves decide for or against annexation. Then they may depart from us as an independent state or enter the Union after the Hawaiian and Porto Rican precedents. In the Philippines the military government is an absolute necessity. A colonial department might hamper it, but it could not help it in the smallest particular. No one can say when it will be safe to withdraw the army, but when the time arrives the colonial problem will disappear. Given a general feeling of security and nothing will be so likely to confirm it as the assurance that the Filipinos will be accorded American territorial rights as soon as they have proved themselves worthy of them.

Horses That Cry.

"Did you ever see a horse cry?" asked Herbert Tennent of a St. Louis Globe-Democrat reporter. "Many people believe that horses do not weep, but those who have had much to do with these faithful creatures know that on several occasions they will shed tears as well as express sorrow in the most heart-breaking manner. In the West, where the hardiness of the ponies causes the riders to almost overlook the necessity of providing for their needs, it is quite common when the weather is extremely cold to leave an unblanketed pony tied up for two or three hours when the temperature is nearly zero, and while its owner is transacting business or getting drunk. In this case the suffering is evidenced by the cries which are almost like sobs, and unmistakable tears freeze on to the cheeks like icicles. When a horse falls in the street and gets injured the shock generally numbs the sense so much that it does not either cry or groan, but under some conditions an injured horse will solicit sympathy in the most distinct manner. I remember a favorite horse of my own which trod on a nail long enough to pierce its foot. The poor thing hobbled up to me on three legs and cried as nearly like a child in trouble as anything I can describe. The sight was a very touching one, as was also the crippled animal's gratitude when the nail was pulled out and the wound dressed."

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Pierre—Governor Lee has received a draft for $5600 from the war department for the special military fund, which will practically settle the claims allowed for mustering in the troops last year.

Redfield—The trustees of Redfield college, in their recent meeting, re-elected the present faculty, as follows: Elizabeth H. Avery, chair of English literature and principal of the normal department; E. H. Arnold, sociology and sciences; F. Ransom, mathematics; Dr. H. W. Magoun, Latin; Dr. Aaron Beede, modern languages and Greek; Miss Martha Thomas, instructor in elocution and physical culture; H. B. King, principal of conservatory of music.

Deadwood—As the result of the explosion of an acetylene gas machine, two men, L. R. Beck and Ben Larson, were severely injured. This is the third time that the machine has exploded and now it is a total wreck. It will be some time before the men will recover from their injuries, and it is a wonder they were not killed, so great was the explosion. One of the men was thrown ten feet by the force.

Sioux Falls—The Seventh Day Adventists of North and South Dakota yesterday opened their annual camp meeting and conferences on Seney Island here, and will remain in session until July 3.

Aberdeen—Parties in this city who were victimized by George B. Henry, the smooth real estate swindler, are likely to be cheated of the satisfaction, for some time at least, of seeing him placed on trial for offenses committed here. Sheriff Thompson left for Pierre Tuesday morning to get requisition papers with which to bring Henry back from Denver, but was intercepted by a telegram informing him that the much-wanted Henry had been gobbled by officials from Michigan.

Baking Powder Economy

Royal Baking Powder costs only a fair price, and is cheaper and better at its price than any similar article in the world.

The manufacturers of Royal Baking Powder have always declined to produce a cheap baking powder at the sacrifice of quality or wholesomeness.

The highest grade and most highly refined ingredients only are employed in Royal; hence its well known superiority.

It is always the case that the consumer suffers in pocket if not in health by accepting cheap powders as substitutes for Royal Baking Powder.

The Royal is made from pure grape cream of tartar, and is the embodiment of all the excellence possible to be attained in the highest class baking powder.

Avoid alum baking powders.
They render the food unhealthful.

REVERSES ITSELF.

Supreme Court Says Mercantile Agency Can Rate a Man.

St. Paul, June 29.—Two cases by David C. Hull against sureties of former Sheriff Chapel, of Ramsey county, are disposed of by the supreme court in one decision, Justice Mitchell writing the opinion. Chapel received in his term $1800 on redemption from foreclosure and tendered it to Hull's agent, who had full power of attorney. The agent refused the tender. When Hull finally claimed it the money was no longer in the sheriff's hands, and this action was brought against E. S. Warner, Charles Kittleson and William R. Merriam on their bond for the sheriff's official responsibility.

It was held that the tender released the sureties from their obligation. Otherwise a man might keep a surety liable indefinitely. And besides suretyship presumes good faith on all sides, which has suffered a breach when there is a tender of tender. The only question is whether an official bond is not different from a private bond, in force still as to any other official performance, in regard to this one transaction, whre the sheriff was performing in an official way a private transaction between two persons, the bonds were released.

The court in Hennepin county is sustained in giving judgment for the street railway company, notwithstanding the verdict, in the suit of Ferdina Gagnas' administrator against the Minneapolis Street Railway company.

On reargument of the McDermott case the supreme court reverses itself and the Ramsey county court. It is not libelous in itself to say in a mercantile agency report that a man is "slow pay." Thomas J. McDermott sued the Dun Credit company for rating him thus and got a verdict, which the supreme court sustained on the ground that such a publication affected his commercial and profesional standing. On second thought it does not.

Waseca county is sustained in refusing to enjoin the trustees of school district No. 47 from performance of their duties. In the absence of a regular election two men were chosen by acclamation in July, 1897. At the regular election in June, 1898, Carl Weise and John Buschow were chosen by ballot. At the same time it was voted to move the school house and on account of that dispute in the former trustees moved to oust Weise and Buschow and asked for an injunction pending the decision. If the other men had been in possession of the office, officers de facto, the court might think of it. But to employ equity proceedings to settle a dispute over office and to especially interfere when the prime facie case is the other way round, is altogether out of the question.

DIED FROM JOY.

Montgomery, Ala., June 29.—George Jones, a negro, died yesterday from excessive joy over being released from prison. He was convicted of murder several years ago, but the proof showed he bore no ill will against the victim and the prisoner stoutly maintained he did not know the gun was loaded. His good record and the attendant facts finally brought a pardon. On being released the happy negro hurried to his home near Demopolis. Approaching the old log hut, the unexpected comer was greeted by the mother, father and sisters, who ran to meet him. The joy was too much and the big lusty man, for whom no task had been too great, swooned with emotion, expiring a few moments later in his mother's arms.

LOYALISTS MEET.

Cape Town, June 29.—A meeting of 4000 loyalists under the presidency of the mayor of Cape Town was held last evening and adopted with the greatest enthusiasm resolutions supporting Sir Alfred Milner, governor of the colony and British high commissioner in South Africa, in his recent negotiations with President Krueger, and thanking the Canadians and Australians for their offers of assistance. An immense overflow meeting was also held.

NO MORE BAIT.

St. John's N. F., June 29.—In consequence of the French attitude and the attempts to make trouble for the colony along the treaty shore, the colonial government has decided to absolutely prohibit the French from obtaining bait at ports along the New Foundland coast. This policy meets with general approval. The colonial legislature voted additional sums to help enforce the bait law. A stormy meeting is expected between the French commodore and the colonial authorities when the former arrives on Saturday.

JEWELRY SEIZED.

New York, June 29.—The jewelry and other possessions of Mrs. Phyllis E. Dodge, seized last Saturday upon the arrival of the liner St. Paul, were examined today at the appraiser's office. With the exception of three lots of jewelry, everything of consequence was released, as Mrs. Dodge proved that the majority of her possessions were purchased in this city.

NEWS BOILED DOWN.

Collins P. Huntington has bought a piece of land of 1350 acres in Hanover county, Va., where at his expense, a well-equipped building with modern improvements is to be erected for the confinement of juvenile offenders of the negro race. There are now 3000 colored boys and girls confined in the prisons of Virginia, and compelled to associate with the vilest and most degraded adults. Governor J. Hodge Tyler has promised that he will transfer the young prisoners to the reformatory as soon as it is built.

Dr. Oscar Loew, one of the expert vegetable pathologists of the agricultural department, has developed to what he believes to a point of practical use, a new treatment now in use in diphtheria, fevers and many other diseases.

The secretary of state has issued a warrant for the surrender to the authorities of Manitoba of Joseph A. Richardson, under arrest at St. Paul, Minn., to answer a charge of embezzlement, forgery and the utterance of forged paper in Manitoba.

The American Tube and Iron company of Youngstown, Ohio, and the plant operated by the same company located in Middletown, Pa., have been transferred to the National Tube combine. The price paid was given at $600,000. The plant at Youngstown will continue to operate steadily.

Suit was commenced in the common pleas court by Herbert Chittenden to prevent the mayor of Toledo from signing the $150,000 worth of Ohio centennial bonds recently sold by the city council to Spitzer & Co. The petition claims the bonds are illegally issued.

The reported combination of the coal companies of the Pittsburg district was confirmed by John H. Jones, one of the most prominent coal operators in that region.

A TALE OF MISERY.

Letter Portraying Condition of Soldiers In the Philippines.

Marinette, Wis., North Star: The following letter was received by Joseph Lauerman from Hugh McCosham, a well-known Marinette boy now at Manilla with Company H, First South Dakota infantry. The letter contains statements which, if true, should arouse the indignation of every American. The letter is published below by permission, in hopes that something will result from it in the way of relief for the boys now suffering in the Philippines:

Manilla, P. I., May 12, 1899.—Dear Friend: Pardon my long silence, for I assure you that it was well-nigh impossible to write. We left the trenches on March 25 to move on Malolos. 'Twas a hard and costly movement for us; we lost men every day, fighting practically all the way to San Fernando. Eight men of my company have died of gunshot wounds and the regiment has lost heavily in killed and wounded.

Just now I am in town owing to an ulcer on my left foot which will bother me for some time. If the people of the United States could but know a small part of the truth of the situation here, a national scandal would result. The hospitals are full of men who will never live to reach home. From present indications the volunteers will be relieved in about six months, it will then be unnecessary, few will remain. Fever and dysentery are playing havoc with the boys, smallpox is raging and heat prostration is killing men faster than Mauser bullets.

Regulars have been sent here ostensibly to relieve us, but what is done with them, they are put in garrison or camp, while the volunteers of Nebraska, South Dakota, Kansas and Montana, who have marked every inch of the ground from Manilla to San Fernando with their blood, must go on, even when fever racks their bones and saps away their life and strength.

Two days after San Fernando was taken our regiment had but 190 men on the line, the remainder being dead, wounded or sick. Gen. MacArthur complained of the number of men sick, other regiments being in the same shape as ours, and Maj. Potter with one other surgeon was sent in to Manilla to rush men to the front. Acting under instructions he sent 108 men to the front. Of these, thirty were unable to reach the depot, a mile distant, many of them fainting on the way; some twenty-eight or thirty ultimately arrived at San Fernando in worse condition than when sent to Manilla, the others being ordered back to Manilla by surgeons along the line of the railroad, who saw at a glance they were in a precarious condition. I saw two of these men brought into Ward D of the First reserve hospital, who will die before this letter leaves Manilla. I can prove by the records of the hospital that men were ordered to the front whose temperature was 103 degrees, and men from other regiments fared no better.

Maj. Otis has telegraphed that the volunteers are anxious to remain here, when I know that every officer on the island knows that 95 per cent of the enlisted men in the eight army corps are praying to God to get home at once.

You Americans shudder at the tyranny of Spain and the cruelty visited upon the natives of Luzon and Cuba, but I want to tell you that bright, brave young Americans who volunteered to defend their country in the hour of peril are giving up their lives by service in sacrifice to the vanity of star bespangled generals and a fog-headed dollar-hearted bureau of officials at home.

The fierce tropical heat, the fever-cursed atmosphere and the bullets of the insurgents are working such havoc among the men that the surgeons and nurses are absolutely unable to give to the sick and wounded the care that they should receive.

You may publish this letter and my name shall be signed. I would face a court-martial willingly and prove more than I write, for I know that it is only by arousing the sense of the states that we can be relieved—and to stay much longer will be death to most of us.

When I feel a little better, when the curse of patriotism lays a trifle lighter on our heads, I shall write a longer, a more cheerful letter. Until that time I am, with sincere regards to all of the old friends and best wishes for your own success, your friend,

HUGH D. McCOSHAM,
Sergt. Co. H, First S. D. Vol. Inf.

UP THE AMAZON RIVER.

American Warship's Trip to the Interior of Peru.

The following letter, telling of the cruise of the U. S. S. Wilmington 2000 miles up the Amazon river, has been received by J. G. Brink, of Smithville, from W. A. Harbour, who is master-at-arms on the warship:

U. S. S. Wilmington, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, South America, June 1.—Friend Joe: I will attempt to give you an idea of the interesting part of our cruise. Leaving Demerera March 4 we steered south. In four days we were on the "line" and Neptune and his followers boarded us, took charge of our ship, overhauled the ship's books and any man who had not crossed the "line" on an American man-o'-war had to take his medicine. His court was composed of two judges and a clerk, two lawyers, one doctor, a barber, a barber's clerk and a pilot. His retainers were a dozen bears; their fierce growls struck terror to all hibbers. They marched aft and interviewed our gallant captain, he by the way, having met Neptune before, and were given the freedom of the ship, with full permission to enforce the traditional law. Meanwhile the barber had rigged his chair away up in the air. The bears had filled a large tank directly behind the chair. The court had convened. "Jack Corkfender" roared out the clerk of the court. That culprit was quickly seized by the bears and stood before the judge. "You are charged with spliceing the main brace and leaving home without your mother. Guilty or not guilty? Guilty. You are sentenced to be ducked and shaved." Corkfender is jerked into the chair. The barber is wielding his mighty razor. His eye gleams with fiendish glee. His clerk is busy mixing the "never-come-off." Corkfender groans. "Close shave?" asks the clerk. His mouth opens, the white-wash brush enters, the back of the chair falls out, a half dozen bears help him to find the bottom of the tank and he is unceremoniously thrown out. He is a son of Neptune. After initiating 150, Neptune dropped into his native element and we proceeded to Para. We arrived there next day, all well, pleased with Neptune's treatment.

From Para we proceeded to navigate the Amazon river, which trip proved to be very interesting. The trip up to Manaos was simply grand—the ever-changing scenery, the variegated foliage, the vast wilderness of rubber trees, the perpetual scream of wild parrots, the chatter of monkeys. The mightiness of the Amazon is beyond my power to describe. The river from Para takes a westerly course and the flow down the river is five knots an hour. Manaos is quite a large town of about 100,000 inhabitants and has electric lights and street cars very similar to Duluth. Between Para and Manaos there are a few settlements of Amazon Indians, who stand on the banks of the river dressed in nothing to speak of. In fact they appear to be very similar to our own Indians in point of hustling, etc. From Manaos we steamed 1200 miles up the river, penetrating the heart of Brazil and getting well into the interior of Peru. We are the first and only warership that ever showed itself in Ignitos, Peru. In fact it is very seldom any ships get into Peru without going by way of the Pacific. The scenery was just nothing but tropical splendor as we anchored off Ignitos. The natives were lined along the quays and beach gazing in wonder at the strange white ship with its military guests and twenty guns showing their black muzzles; of course we always fire a national salute on our arrival at a foreign port. These Peruvians had forgotten the fact, and as the roar of our first gun was heard the natives fairly flew. Ten seconds is the interval between each shot and before we had finished the twenty-one guns not a soul was to be seen. After staying at Ignitos ten days, collecting gums of Peru, we bade the Peruvians adieu, well pleased with the kindness and hospitality of Peru.

A LITTLE DISPUTE.

Driving Club and Fair Associations Claim Fair Grounds.

The Gentlemen's Driving club held a meeting at the St. Louis hotel last evening and made arrangements for the horse races that are to be held at the fair grounds on the Fourth of July in connection with the big celebration of that day.

There is one little hitch that may prevent the races, however. The members of the driving club say they have leased the grounds from the Fair association and are entitled to all ground privileges, while Secretary Cooley of the Fair association claims the right to ground privileges. The horsemen say that they will call all sports off if the fair people refuse to make this concession. The club has now made practically all arrangements and will have three races with three purses for each race, the first horse under the wire getting 40 per cent of the purse, the second 35 and the third 25 per cent. The races will all be in mile heats, the best two out of three.

Secretary Cooley of the St. Louis County Fair association said this morning that the trouble between the driving club and the fair association over the ground privileges on the Fourth of July would certainly not interfere with the program of sports. It was said that there was simply a slight misunderstanding, and that would all be straightened out in due time.

The Cherry Sisters.

The Cherry sisters are the great attraction at the Pavilion this week, and every afternoon and evening their performances are witnessed by large and delighted crowds. There are three of the sisters, and it is difficult indeed to say which is the more delicious, or which is the popular favorite. Their performance is something entirely new, and it must be seen to be appreciated. They are supported by an excellent list of vaudeville performers, and the entire show is well worth seeing, as the people are fast finding out.

Will Play Outside.

The Duluth Baseball club will play several games outside in July. It will play at Hancock July 1, 2 and 3, and at Fargo July 19, 20 and 21. There will be return games in Duluth with both of these clubs, the dates of which have not been arranged.

A DAY OF WEDDINGS

La Vaque-Macdonald and Louden-Black Weddings Were Pretty Affairs.

BRIDES AND ROSES

These June Specialties Were Numerous and Beautiful In Duluth Yesterday.

The wedding of Miss Virginia La Vaque, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. LaVaque, and Charles Francis Macdonald, city editor of The Herald, was celebrated last evening. The ceremony was performed in the presence of only the immediate relatives and a few of Miss LaVaque's girl friends. Notwithstanding the fact that it was an extremely quiet wedding ceremony, the appointments were carried out in a most charming manner, adding to the impressiveness of the ritual under which the wedding was celebrated. The marriage took place at Bishop McGolrick's residence, Rev. Timothy Corbett officiating. The hour of the wedding was 7:30 o'clock, and as the bridal party entered the room Flaaten's orchestra played the Lohengren wedding march, while during the ceremony the orchestra played very softly from Schumann's "Traumerei." The bride was unattended. She wore a very pretty gown of white faille silk, with the bodice richly draped with duchesse lace and trimmings of white chiffon, and she carried a shower bouquet of white bridal roses. Little Miss Margaret Barnard, a cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a dainty frock of white organdie and carried pink carnations. Ralph Davis, brother of the bride, attended Mr. Macdonald as best man. As the bridal party passed out of the room the orchestra played Mendelssohn's wedding march.

Following the wedding ceremony the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. John H. LaVaque at 1131 East First street was the scene of a large reception given in honor of the bridal couple. Nearly 500 invitations had been sent out and several hundred friends gathered at the house during the evening to offer congratulations and extend best wishes for much happiness. Mr. and Mrs. Macdonald, Mr. and Mrs. LaVaque and Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Macdonald, of St. Cloud, were a pretty group of lavender silk, with yoke trimmings of white silk. The receiving party was assisted by Miss Myrtle Holliday, of Minneapolis, Miss Berenice Crowley, Miss Betty Brearley, Miss Clara Ames, Miss Blanche Howe, Miss Belle Simonds, Miss Harriet Wagner, of Minneapolis, and Miss Lydia Poirier. The house decorations were very elaborate. The parlor decorations were in green and white, with the electric lights shaded in white. The library decorations were carried out in yellow. The main dining room was beautifully decorated, the prevailing color being pink. The lights were shaded in pink and the sideboard was banked with pink and white flowers. An exquisite Battenburg centerpiece adorned the table and in the center was a huge bouquet of pink roses. Flaaten's orchestra was stationed behind a large screen leading off from the dining room and furnished music during the evening.

The wedding guests from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Macdonald, of St. Cloud, father and mother of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Holliday, Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Barnard, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Hankinson, Mrs. C. S. Doolittle, Miss Margaret Barnard, Miss Harriet Wagner, of Minneapolis, and Mrs. R. H. Hankinson, of Hankinson, N. D.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Macdonald left on a wedding trip down the lakes. They will be at home after Sept. 1 in the Ashtabula flats.

LOUDEN-BLACK.

A Pretty Home Wedding and a Large Reception.

A very pretty home wedding last evening was that of Miss Flora Louden and David Black. The ceremony was performed by Rev. S. P. Long of the First Methodist church at the home of the bride, 329 Fourth avenue west. The bride was given away by her father, Robert Louden, and both bride and groom were unattended. The bride wore an elegant gown of mousseline de soie over white taffeta silk. The house was prettily decorated with American Beauty roses, ferns, palms and carnations. About fifty relatives and friends witnessed the ceremony, while over 200 attended the reception that followed. Mr. and Mrs. Black received a great many beautiful presents. They will live in the Bostwick flats.

Among the out of town guests at the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. George Black, of Ottawa, Ont.; Allan Black, of St. Paul; Mrs. Lester, Miss Smith, Mr. Saddle and Mr. Smith, of St. Paul, and Miss Paddock, of Racine, Wis.

Oppel-Graham Wedding.

Miss Augusta Oppel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Oppel, and Dr. Robert Graham were quietly married at 8 o'clock last evening at the home of the bride, 115 East Superior street. Dr. Cleland performed the ceremony, which was witnessed only by the immediate relatives and a few friends. Mr. and Mrs. Graham will at once go to housekeeping in the Buffalo flats.

Does Coffee Agree with You?

If not, drink Grain-O—made from pure grains. A lady writes: "The first time I made Grain-O I did not like it but after using it for one week nothing would induce me to go back to coffee." It nourishes and feeds the system. The children can drink it freely with great benefit. It is the strengthening substance of pure grains. Get a package to-day from your grocer, follow the directions in making it and you will have a delicious and healthful table beverage for old and young. 15c. and 25c.

Insist that your grocer gives you GRAIN-O Accept no imitation.

SAYS HE WAS COY.

Andrew Miller Claims His Duluth Marriage Was Forced.

Andrew Miller, a young fellow of 24, says that he hung back when he was led to the marriage altar by his fair-haired bride, Miss Minnie Farnham, on Aug. 21, 1897, in Duluth.

The altar was not a very formidable affair at that, judged by ecclesiastical precedents, says the St. Paul Dispatch, for it was merely the bench of the judge of probate of St. Louis county, his honor, Judge Phineas Ayer.

When he had sidled unwillingly before the judge, that official inquired of him in the usual form if he would take the lady for his wedded wife, and he returned this ungallant answer:

"I suppose I shall have to take her under the circumstances." The witnesses were George Arbury and William J. Bates.

Mr. Miller says that the considerations which urged him to marry at the age of 22 were "force, threats of criminal prosecution, duress and fraud," and declares that there was never any honeymoon to shine in silver gleams on the path bordered by tinkling blue-fringed gentians.

Mr. Miller seems a quiet gentleman and has a low voice. He wants a divorce from Mrs. Miller, and has been in Judge Bunn's court twice, and will be advised to come again, when he hopes to be able to adduce sufficient proof of the fraud, duress and threats, that urged him to act the part of unwilling bridegroom.

THE MYSTIC MIDGETS.

Great Entertainment Promised For Friday and Saturday.

Never before has an entertainment been offered to the public possessing such a peculiar fascination for both old and young as the "Mystic Midgets." It is a juvenile fairy spectacle in two acts. The cast is composed of 100 children. The costumes are rich and beautiful, being especially made for this production, coming direct from New York city. The pretty story is told in verse, and by means of twenty-four bright, catchy, musical numbers. Then there are specialties, a skirt dance by eight young ladies, Highland fling, Dutch wooden shoe dance, butterfly dance, Maypole Queen Louise gavotte, a beautiful exhibition dance by sixteen society ladies, a little coon in song and dance, Chinese dance and cake walk. Prince Obdillous, ruler of the Mystic Band, is the role Cyril Tyler is to take. This is the reappearance of Mr. Tyler, the wonderful boy singer, who will sing a solo. The Magic Song," by Meyer Helmund, also a duet with Miss Irene Smith, who is Queen Titania. The whole entertainment is given under the changing color of the calcium light, and is for the benefit of the Children's Home. The date of the entertainment is Friday evening, June 30, and Saturday afternoon, July 1.

A Foolish Man.

There was once a man who thought what a dreadful thing it would be if he were blind, and closed his eyes as he walked along to see how it would be. In this way he walked over a purse of gold which another man picked up. There are people today just as foolish. They moan over their poor health thinking nothing will help them, when a trial of Hostetter's bitters will cure their ailments. It brings steady, vigorous nerves to nervous people. It purifies the blood, tones up the stomach, and brings back real health by making indigestion and constipation impossible. It is absolutely the greatest remedy known for all stomach troubles, and is to be found in every drug store.

THE PARK POINT LINE.

Cars Began Their Schedule Run This Morning.

Cars began running on regular schedule time over the new Park Point electric street railway today. Saturday the steam ferry service at the canal will be inaugurated, trips being made every fifteen minutes. The car line will make close connections with it both ways, so that trips to O-at-ka beach and other places on Minnesota Point can now be made quickly and comfortably. Beginning at 6:45 a. m. there will be a half-hour service from the canal until 1:45 p. m. when cars will begin running every fifteen minutes until 8 p. m., from which time they will start every half hour until 10:30, when the last regular car will leave. From O-at-ka beach the first car leaves at 6:30 a. m., and the last one at 10:45 p. m. Cars will be in waiting at the canal for the accommodation of Park Point residents, who may attend late entertainments in Duluth, and for picnics and dancing parties on the point special cars will be in waiting when requested. On Sundays and holidays extra cars will be run when required.

Dock Sale Enjoined.

Another injunction was issued yesterday in Superior restraining the reorganization committee of the Lehigh Coal and Coke company from turning the coal dock property over to other parties. The injunction was issued at the request of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company, one of the original bondholders of the dock. It claimed that the reorganization company sold the dock to itself for $60,000, which it is claimed is much less than the real value of the dock. The matter of reselling the dock will be heard July 11.

NOTICE TO ATTORNEYS'

On and after this date, The Evening Herald will run all probate notices three times, as required by law, for $1. The regular price for this class of work heretofore has been $6 for the three publications, and this will be a considerable saving to estates that have to be probated.

WORK OUT ALL RIGHT

That Is Debs' Cheerful View of the World's Situation Today.

IS AN EVOLUTIONIST

He Sees In Most Alarming Tendencies Signs of Bright Future.

Eugene V. Debs, in his lecture on "Labor and Liberty," at the Armory last night, hailed the advent of the trusts as a step in the evolution of the co-operative commonwealth. The signs of the day foretell the early downfall of the competitive system, he said. Money is not the issue; to attempt to smash the trusts and restore the competitive system would be useless and a stupid waste of energy and time. The path of progress lies toward resumption by the people of their heritage—the earth. The real issue is, shall the people have their own? It will not down; it must be settled right, and that will be right soon.

There was a fair-sized audience present, Mr. Debs spoke from the floor in front of the platform. He began his address immediately on entering, without being introduced. An introduction would have been a superfluity, indeed. As the audience caught sight of him, there was a burst of applause.

"Nothing is more certain," Mr. Debs began, "than that the present social and economic system is in process of dissolution. A new social order will be evolved from the present economic chaos. Over a century ago, our fathers declared for political equality. The scepter, crown and doctrine of divine right to rule went down together. Political equality avails but little while man is in economic servitude. The man who works is compelled to apply to the master of industry, who controls the means of employment to the machinery of production only on condition that the employer shall have a profit from his labor. Private profit is more important than human life."

The speaker said he did not criticise the individual employer, he is a creature of environment; but that he opposed the system under which the employer necessitates more than he can use while another man starves.

There has been an economic revolution in the past few years, yet but few realize it. Formerly a boy who was apprenticed and learned his trade became a master of circumstances. He worked side by side with his master, and earned enough to maintain himself and family respectably and discharge properly the duties of citizenship. No other man had the power to doom him to idleness. The ideal of Jefferson was in great measure a reality. There were no extremely rich no extremely poor. There was an equitable distribution of property.

It was a slow age. The work was done by hand and it required from ten to fourteen hours a day to supply a man with the material things of life. There was a demand for a change. The brain of labor gave birth to the design by which certain forces were to be wrested from toil. This tool passed to the capitalistic class and the day of industrial tyranny began. The tool created by labor became labor's enemy. It disputed the right to work and forced wages down. The tramp era then had its inception.

Wages are regulated by the surplus who are not at work. Wages were forced down until the women and the children were forced into the factory. Every device that could be been made by the labor-saving machine. As Edison prophesied twenty years ago, machinery is doing the work of the world.

The machine, instead of being the instrument of liberation of the workmen, is made the instrument of enslaving them. Those whose labor makes the wealth of the world are on the verge of starvation.

The conditions have grown slightly better of late, and in Duluth exceptionally so, but the relief is temporary, due to a little boom in the market. The demand is fast being supplied by machinery, an era of over-production will shortly follow, ushering in one of the greatest panics ever known.

In proportion as his productive capacity increases, the consuming capacity of the worker decreases. Formerly the more a man produced the more he had, but now he produces himself out of a job.

The present state of affairs is due to the competition system. Workmen are bidding against each other for the privilege of laboring. The manufacturers are competing for markets, and he who sells cheapest succeeds and he can sell cheapest who pays lowest wages. Every time wages are reduced, the consuming power of those affected is lowered and the market is undermined.

"We are now," said the speaker, "trying to crush a half civilized people who are striving to be free. We say we are waging war in the name of freedom, but as a matter of fact it is a commercial war to make a market for the goods our own people are suffering for." (Applause.)

Centralization and combination are the controlling forces of the age. To attempt to check them would be to waste time, money and energy. As well try to dam the Mississippi. It is the natural outgrowth of the competitive system. The capitalists are impelled to concentration by the instinct of self-preservation. Why should they not combine? Men cannot be forced to make war on each other. The same reasons that would justify making trusts illegal would apply in the case of firms.

The next step will be the taking possession by the people of the trusts, the speaker declared. Socialism will be the outcome.

"I am a socialist," said he, "because I believe the earth is the equal inheritance of every human being born on it."

How would it benefit the workingman to restore the competitive system? He has been reduced to slavery by it. We would soon return to the present system—private ownership of the earth. The pendulum would soon swing back.

Carnegie and the other barons of industry believe in the subdivision of labor but they all favor individualism in distribution.

"What a conception of nature and nature's God," said Mr. Debs, "that the few must rule. Nobody is born to be the ward of another, unless he is the victim of a crime committed by another."

Refined and virtuous men and women cannot be reared in sweat shops of New York or mines of Pennsylvania where the average wage is under 75 cents per day. They will be abject miserable brutal. In this connection the speaker quoted "The Man With the Hoe." The question asked in it of who is responsible for the condition of that man is the question of the age. It will not down by injunction or any other device conceived by plutocracy.

The tariff system is exploded. (Applause.) It is the principle of helping ourselves at the expense of the weaker. All through the competition system is the spirit of commercialism, which is another name for war. What is the state of the world today? The civilized nations fill the seas with navies and maintain standing armies that sap the national life. The highest tribute is paid to him who devises the means of killing the greatest number of Christians in a given time.

"Go to Washington with a device that will kill 100,000 Christians in a minute, and your fortune is made."

Hawaii is being exploited. It is being filled with cheap labor, and the same thing will befall Porto Rico, and the Philippines if we get them. They realize that they have simply changed masters, and that is why they are restive.

"Competition is making us a nation of Ishmaelites. "There are no two business men in Duluth who will trust each other," said the speaker. "They may go to the same prayer meeting, but in business, they will keep their business eye on each other."

The money question is not the issue. What difference did it make whether a man got 50 cents per day or $100 per day, if the man who owns the earth can make the cost of staying on it a little more than a man can earn. The speaker said he is not opposed to private property except in the means of life and in the atmosphere. The day of deliverance is at hand, and meanwhile, no matter how capital oppresses the laborer he can think, and by thinking he can effect his emancipation.

In 1900 the issue will be anti-expansion, and anti-trust, but that is not the real question and the laborers should not be deceived. All the world is in touch, and co-operation is advancing with resistless strides. The United States, though the last to join the movement will be the first to form the co-operative commonwealth. A new party will in ten years sweep the country.

The speaker's remarks were frequently greeted with applause. After the lecture, Mr. Debs held an informal reception at the door.

He left at 11:15 last night for Madison, S. D., where he closes the season with two Chautauqua engagements.

THE COUNTY FAIR.

Agricultural Society Is Preparing For a Big One.

The St. Louis County Agricultural society is now busy preparing the premium list for the county fair this fall. The list will be out in a short time, and the members of the society are of the opinion that it will be much better than any they have yet turned out. The fair buildings are being improved and the grounds will be kept in good condition from now till the exhibit is made.

Rains Stop Work.

The continued rains are delaying work on the new dry dock at Superior, and the excavations are in such shape that the contractors are making no effort to do anything. There are several cracks in the walls of the excavation, and the dam that holds the water back in the slip is so weak as to be dangerous. The dock is not likely now to be ready before late in the fall.

THE OLD COUNTRY.

The diet has been summoned to meet at Coburg Friday to settle the question of the succession to the throne.

Mme. Dreyfus arrived at Rennes yesterday. There was no demonstration upon the part of the inhabitants.

It is reported at Pekin that the emperor will resume power next month; another report that about June 20, the new emperor will be proclaimed. One authority believes the new ruler will be a grandson of the late Prince Kung; another asserted that a grandson of the fifth princess (Prince Tunpy) has been chosen Kuang-Hsu.

President Kruger, it is understood, persists in his determination for arbitration as an essential condition on any settlement. In the meantime the Transvaal continues buying provisions and war material and has arranged with the Netherlands Railway company to have absolute control of the railway lines in the Orange Free State in the event of war.

The ship Cyrus Wakefield, from New York, April 4, for San Francisco, put into Stanley, Falkland Island, June 18, slightly damaged, and reported that Capt. Henry, who had sailed in her, was dead.

The Norwegian bark Isabella, from Charleston, Jan. 23, for Warburg, has not been heard from since she sailed and has been posted at Lloyds as overdue.

The British schooner Phyllis from Oporto, Jan. 20, for Newfoundland, has not been heard from since sailing and has been pasted at Lloyds as missing.

AMONG THE SPORTS.

The London Daily Chronicle announces that the prince of Wales has challenged Sir Thomas Lipton, the owner of the Shamrock, and that a race will be arranged for the third week in July in the Solent.

In a 30-mile beat to windward, the w defender Columbia beat the old Defender 8 minutes, besides giving her a 2-minute handicap. The race was from Brenton lightship, off Newport, to New London, fully 38 miles.

Oscar Gardiner has received a letter from Billy Delaney, champion Jim Jeffries' trainer, from California, asking if he would consent to join a star fistic combination which would do a tour through the country after September. Tommy Ryan, the welterweight, was to be one of the party and was to divide the honors with Gardiner in meeting all comers in their classes along the road. Jeffries and Ed Dunkhorst, his sparing partner, were to complete the aggregation. Gardiner wrote Delaney his willingness to go with the party.

A coroner's jury has exonerated Harry Peppers, the antagonist of "Dutch" Neal, the prize fighter who died Saturday in St. Luke's hospital. It was shown that Neal died from a hemorrhage of the brain and not from the effect of any blows received. Neal's real name was Frank Nelwald. He had relatives in Minneapolis.

Tommy Ryan has expressed his willingness to fight Kid McCoy, but said he would not accept the offer from Denver if some other club should offer a larger purse than the Colonial men and Ryan said he would post a forfeit with Lou Houseman, of Chicago, which the "kid" could cover if he wished. Of McCoy's willingness to fight, Ryan professed to be skeptical, however.

The L. A. Carkeek was matched to throw William Allen, catch-as-catch-can, four times in an hour, at Eau Claire Tuesday night. Carkeek won the first fall in 18½ minutes and the second fall in 12 minutes. After 7 minutes more, Carkeek picked Allen up and dropped him from shoulder height. There were shout of "dirty work for a big fellow" from the audience, but Allen said he took no exceptions and shook hands with Carkeek. Allen, however, declined to go on with the match, as he had hurt his arm, and it was given to Carkeek.

BEST BECAUSE PUREST — Ask Your Physician — MAKES HEALTHFUL FOOD

What he thinks of Rochelle Salts as a "diet."

Dr. A. Warner Shepard, formerly health officer in Brooklyn, says: "I have not the slightest doubt that the mental and physical health of thousands is permanently injured by the excessive use of Rochelle salts in impure bread and other forms of food. It is certainly a factor in the alarming increase of Bright's disease of the kidneys and similar complaints. It irritates the stomach, bowels and kidneys and produces the most unfortunate results."

Food prepared with

Calumet Baking Powder

is entirely free from Rochelle Salts, Alum, Ammonia, Lime or any injurious substance.

There are baking powders on the market that lay great stress on their "purity." Such baking powders deposit enormous quantities of Rochelle salts in the food.

WANTED AT EVELETH.

Mrs. Olie Brown Arrested on a Charge of Larceny.

A woman giving her name as Olie Brown was arrested yesterday afternoon at the Union depot by Detectives Donovan on her arrival here from Eveleth on a telegram from the chief of police of Eveleth, where she is wanted on a charge of the larceny of some clothing from a young woman named Katherine Murphy. Mrs. Brown was accompanied by a man known as "Doc" Robinson, who was at first inclined to unceremoniously desert his companion when she was arrested, but later thought better of it and accompanied her to police headquarters and looked after her baggage. He and the woman were attaches of Dell Cooper's plant at Eveleth.

Chief Rolfe of Eveleth, who came after Mrs. Brown today, said that Robinson helped steal the clothes, but the latter had gone, there having been no request to hold him. Chief Rolfe returned to Eveleth with his prisoner this afternoon.

Guy Wells' Funeral.

The funeral of Guy C. Wells, who died at his daughter's home in St. Paul Tuesday, took place this afternoon, the services being held at the Masonic Temple. The body reached here on the noon train and was met at the depot and escorted to the temple by the Knights Templar. The services were under the direction of S. G. Stewart, senior warden, acting as worshipful master. Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. Ryan. The pall bearers were L. P. Totman, S. F. Boyce, F. T. Little, J. R. Carey, R. E. Denfeld and E. S. Upham. Interment was at Forest Hill cemetery.

There was a large assemblage at the services. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful.

IN MEMORIAM.

Seldom has the shock of death fallen upon so wide a circle of friends and with such severe loss as was felt upon the announcement of the passing away of Mrs. Kate Jewett Horton at Wahpeton, N. D. Though her health has been delicate for some time past, it was confidently believed by her friends that it was slowly mending, and her sojourn during the winter months in the South, followed by a change of residence to Wahpeton, N. D., was expected to be productive of lasting improvement. Thus her host of friends in Duluth were entirely unprepared for the sad intelligence, and it is with the deepest sorrow they are forced to realize its truth. Her long residence here, her prominence in social life, her high esteem in club work, her broad, liberal character and education gave her a place among the many, while to a few she was more closely known as a rare friend, generous, warm-hearted, sympathetic, cheerful, helpful, making her presence felt and desired in her home and elsewhere.

In her new residence, where everything possible was done for her comfort and pleasure, she was already well known and loved. Duluth's loss was Wahpeton's gain, though, alas! for too short a time. Her circle of new friends there regret, as we all do, her sudden passing away, in the prime of life, just as she was settled and ready to enjoy a home prepared with careful thought by a devoted husband and sons. Her last illness was short; the end peaceful and beautiful as devoted friends could make it. She was laid away in Lakewood cemetery, Minneapolis, being accompanied by her immediate family and a few friends, among whom were United States Senator McComber, Hon. D. R. Davidson, G. T. Propper and Eugene Schular. At Minneapolis the pall bearers were university friends of her sons, while a wealth of flowers, sunshine and music made the sad event beautiful and impressive. G.

FACTORY IS CLOSED

A Complete Lockout In Effect at Pingree & Smith's Shop.

CAUSES OF TROUBLE

The Introduction of Machinery Which Replaced Men With Boys.

Detroit, June 29.—A complete lockout is in effect this afternoon in Pingree & Smith's big shoe factory, employing upwards of 600 persons. The only work in progress is that necessary to clean up the machines. The trouble was forced by a strike this noon of employes of the turning and welt departments.

Three weeks ago the factory started new machines in the shoe turning department, which are operated partly by boys in place of men. The Shoemakers' union decided that, unless higher wages were paid in that department, that upwards of 100 men employed in the turning and welt department should quit today. The company announced that if these men struck out the entire factory would be shut down.

The employes also complain that while the Pingree company and its employes hitherto fixed the scale of wages for the year in May, this was not done this year. Last May day the company notified all employes that it had discontinued the use of the union stamp.

The company gave out a signed statement this afternoon to the effect that its agreements with employes cannot apply to work undertaken by new methods, which are yet in an experimental stage. It states that the benefits of the union stamp are slight now, but the company expects to treat with its employes as formerly.

Frank Pingree this afternoon said reasonable time would be allowed the strikers for consideration, but that rather than suffer a loss of this down the firm would employ non-union men to fill the strikers' places.

THE LAPPEN FAILURE.

Sale of the Assets a Matter For Investigation.

Milwaukee, June 19.—Judge Johnson of the circuit court of Milwaukee county was today served with a writ of mandamus by the supreme court to grant relief which the creditors of the Plankinton bank have prayed for, or to show cause before the supreme court on July 3 why he has not done so. A wirt of certiorari has also been served upon Judge Johnson to produce all the papers and records in the case of which the creditors complain.

The creditors claim to have lost about $127,000 through the operations of Assignee W. A. Plankinton of the bank, who levied upon the stock in the store of Frank A. Lappen, who had received large loans from the bank before the panic which caused the failure. The creditors claim that a bid of $125,000 was made for the stock, which was did in by the assignee who, it is claimed, paid out $2000 more in conducting the sale than he received in returns. The assignee did not make a report according to law and the creditors, failing to get satisfaction in the circuit court, carried the matter to the supreme court.

It is now expected that a complete investigation will be made.

TWELVE PEOPLE LOST.

Steamer Margaret Olwill Went Down In Lake Erie.

Chicago, June 29.—The steamer Margaret Olwill, owned by L. P. Smith, of Cleveland, went down in the storm off Lorain, Lake Erie, last night. Twelve people were lost, including Capt. John Brown, his wife and son, and Miss Baldwin, a passenger. The Olwill, of 554 tons, was bound from Kelley's island to Cleveland with limestone, her cargo shifting in the heavy sea, sending her down by the stern. Seaman Coyle was the only man saved. He was picked up by the steamer State of Ohio today.

The lost are: Capt. James Browne, wife and child, of Cleveland; First Engineer Alex Clay, of Cleveland; Second Engineer Rudolph Shinski, St. Clair, Mich.; First Mate John Smith, Cleveland; Wheelman George Hedron, Cleveland; Watchman Frank Hipp, of Kelley's Island; three deck hands, names unknown to Duncan Coyle, the sole survivor.

STOCK YARDS STRIKE.

A General Walkout Is Expected on July 1.

Chicago, June 29.—The number of men striking at the stock yards is variously estimated at from 500 to 1500. The only skilled hands still out are the gutters. The packers declare that as they are now having that work done for less money and the gutters will not get their places back. Those still out assert that a general strike will take place July 1 unless their demands are met. Buying was light today, although all the packers did some killing.

RECEIPTS INCREASING.

Washington, June 29.—The treasury officials are now confident that the deficit for the present fiscal year will not exceed $90,000,000. One week ago the estimate was a little short of $100,000,000, but during the last few days the receipts have been rather above the estimates while the expenditures have greatly fallen off.

HER DEATH EXPECTED.

Washington, June 29.—Mrs. E. D. E. N. Southworth, the novelist, was considerably worse today and her death may occur at any hour.

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave Gen. Burnham, of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she could not live till morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night. "All thought she must soon die from pneumonia, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, saying it had more than once saved her life, and had cured her of consumption. After three small doses she slept easily all night, and its further use completely cured her." This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all throat, chest and lung diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. HARVARD WON.

Defeated Yale In Four-Oared Substitute Race at New London.

New London, Conn., June 29.—Owing to a north wind blowing against the outgoing tide, making a mussy course, the races scheduled for this morning in the Yale-Harvard regatta were postponed until afternoon. All the races were to be rowed down stream, the freshmen race and the 4-oared race being rowed ahead of the 'varsity race, which was scheduled to start at 6 o'clock.

A new drawing for positions took place after noon today, resulting as follows:

Four-oared—Yale west and in shore; Harvard east and in center.

Freshmen—Yale west and in shore and Harvard east and in current.

Eight-oared—Harvard west and in shore and Yale east with current.

The position of the crews in the varsity race does not give any advantage. Harvard has the current for the first two miles on the start and Yale for the last two miles.

At the time set for starting the 4-oared race, the course in just rough enough to be only fair for feathering, but wind and tide favor the crews.

The postponement of the race seemed to have no particular effect upon the betting. Twenty to 50 was offered that Harvard would win all their races. The professional stakeholder had but $200 in his possession at 2 o'clock.

At 2:39 p. m., the Yale four got into their shell and rowed to the start, precedede a few minutes by the Harvard men.

At 3:43 p. m. both fours turned above their stake boats and rowed in the direction of their quarters, after a few words had passed between the coxswains. Something in the Yale shell had been broken, and the New Haven men wished to return to their boathouse, probably for repairs. Following an apparent agreement the Harvard men went to their boathouse, after informing the referee's boat, which came up at this time, what had occurred. Referee Meikelham at once proceeded to the Yale quarters.

The course has become more smooth and the sky is clear.

4:03 p. m.—The Yale four has again put out for stake boats. Harvard's men are also getting into the vicinity of the start.

4:10 p. m.—The two boats are in position. Water almost calm.

4:12 p. m.—They are off.

Harvard got the water first and forged ahead rapidly. Two hundred yards down the course Harvard led by nearly a length. Both crews rowing in splendid form.

At the quarter mile Harvard had increased her lead and Yale was splashing slightly.

Harvard's men rowed 36 strokes to the minute, slowing a trifle apparently as they approached the half mile. Yale rowed 35. At the half Harvard led by a length and a half. These positions were maintained as they proceeded through the second half of the first mile, though Harvard appeared to be slowly but surely increasing her lead.

At the mile Harvard led by about a length and three-quarters. At the mile and a quarter Harvard was two and a half lengths ahead and was pulling 32 to Yale's 34. At the mile and a half Harvard was pulling easily at 31 and was two and a half good lengths ahead.

Harvard wins the 4-oared substitute race.

Harvard won by five lengths. Harvard's time, 10:18 2-5. Yale's time, 11:04 3-5.

HANNAH CURRIE WINS.

Supreme Court Decides Against the Duluth Street Railway.

St. Paul, June 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Justice Buck of the supreme court has filed four decisions, in all of which the decisions of the trial courts are affirmed.

Hannah Currie wins in her suit against the Duluth Street Railway company. She was riding on one of the company's cars, had signalled the conductor to stop, and was standing on the rear platform holding the rail. The car gave a sudden lurch forward throwing her to the street. The court holds that the question of contributory negligence was one for the jury.

THE REFORMER.

Before the monstrous wrong he sets him down—
One man against a stone-walled city of sin.
For centuries those walls have been a-building;
Smooth porphyry, they slope and coldly glass
The flying storm and wheeling sun. No chink,
No crevice lets the thinnest arrow in.
He fights alone, and fro mthe cloudy ramparts
A thousand evil faces gibe and jeer him.
Let him lie down and die; what is the right,
And where is justice in a world like this?
But by and by, earth shakes herself, impatient;
And down, in one great roar of ruin, crush
Watch-tower and citadel and bettlements,
When the red dust has cleared, the lonely soldier
Stands with strange thoughts beneath the friendly stars.

HE KILLED THE MAYOR

A Disappointed Office-Seeker Assassinates the Mayor of Muskegon.

THEN SHOT HIMSELF

After Taking Carbolic Acid Murderer Turns the Revolver Upon Himself.

Muskegon, Mich., June 29.—Mayor James Balbiornie was assassinated at noon today by J. W. Tayer, a disappointed office seeker. Tayer shot Mayor Balbiornie while the latter was standing in the doorway of his store. The ball entered his left breast above the nipple. After the shooting Balbiornie turned and ran up stairs to his living rooms and dropped in the hall. He expired fifteen minutes later.

Tayer swallowed some carbolic acid and then turned the revolver upon himself and fired. The ball entered his left breast. He died at 1 o'clock.

John W. Tayer was ex-city poor director. At the time of the shooting Western avenue, the main thoroughfare, on which the mayor's store is situated, was crowded. After the mayor was shot he staggered, turned around and ran upstairs.

Before he had reached the stairway, Tayer was lying on the walk with a bullet through his breast. Fearing that he had not finished his work, Tayer swallowed the contents of a bottle of carbolic acid. He was removed to the city hall, where he died at 1 o'clock. The affair arose over Mayor Balbirnie's refusal to reappoint Tayer director of the city poor.

MAKE PURE DIAMONDS.

An English Chemist Claims to Have Done So.

Counterfeit diamonds are made of crystal, zircon or paste. But can real diamonds be manufactured? Recent discoveries would lead us to believe that the problem is not unsolvable, says the Philadelphia Press.

Artificial rubies, sapphires and spinels are made which have the same properties as natural specimens. Spinel, for example, is composed of pure alumina, magnesia and iron. By combining these elements in the proper proportion and crystalizing them the chemist can produce a real gem, indistinguishable from the natural one.

Some years ago an English chemist named Hannay discovered that when a carbon compound is heated under great pressure with an alkali metal carbon is deposited in the form of small scales. After heating lithium with a mixture nine-tenths bone oil and one-tenth paraffine splitts in a closed iron tube for fourteen hours some hard transparent crystals were found in the tube, which had all the chemical and physical properties of the diamond. Unfortunately the crystals were so minute that they had no commercial value. The chief difficulty experienced was in making a vessel strong enough to withstand the enormous pressure and high temperature, wrought iron tubes of half inch bore and four inches thick being burst in nine cases out of ten.

More recently close study has been made of the probable conditions under which diamonds are formed by nature. In the famous Kimberly mines of South Africa diamonds are found in the neighborhood of volcanic pipes, through which, at some remote epoch, they were evidently erupted, together with all the other debris of a mud volcano. The soil in which they are found is rich in iron. From these circumstances the theory has been advanced that diamonds were formed from carbon liquefied by enormous heat and pressure and dissolved in iron, from which they crystalized out in cooling. By calculation it was found that this would require a temperature of about 4000 degrees centigrade (7232 degrees Fahrenheit), and a pressure of fifteen tons to the square inch.

Acting upon this hint, Moissan, of Paris, recently packed half a pound of pure iron in a graphite crucible, together with some pure charcoal prepared from sugar. He placed the crucible in an electric furnace and turned on a current of 600 ampheres at forty volts pressure, producing a heat above 4000 degrees centigrade. After a few minutes the current was stopped, the crucible plunged into cold water, and held there until it sank to a red heat. The sudden cooling solidified the outer envelope of iron, holding the molten core in a tight grip. When finally the inner liquid cooled it expanded in solidifying and produced a great pressure. Under this pressure the dissolved carbon separated in a crystalline form, that is to say, a diamond.

But here again the crystals were too small and imperfect to have any value as jewels. Some other process must be discovered whereby carbon and iron can be subjected to enormous heat and pressure before we can hope to produce diamonds on a commercial scale. In this connection Professor Crooks has suggested to the Royal Institution that "in their researches of the gases from fired gunpowder and cordite Sir Frederick Abel and Sir Andrew Noble obtained in closed steel cylinders pressures as great as ninety-five tons to the square inch, and temperatures as high as 4000 degrees centigrade. Here, then, if the observations are correct, we have sufficient temperature and enough pressure to liquefy carbon; and if the temperature could only be allowed to act for a sufficient time on the carbon there is little doubt that the artificial formation of diamonds would soon pass from the microscopic stage to a scale more likely to satisfy the requirements of science, industry and personal decoration.

"Diamonds made by dynamite" would be a queer sign on a jeweler's window, but queer things are bound to happen in an age of electric furnaces on one hand and liquefieid hydrogen on the other.

A LOUDER 'PHONE.

One Will Not Have to Stand So Close Up.

According to a report from London, an ingenious and desirable improvement of the telephone has just been perfected. The inventor is a Frenchman, M. Germain, who is attached to the French ministry of posts and telegraphs. It occurred to him some time ago that the usefulness of the telephone would be greatly enhanced if the sound transmitted over it could be heard at a greater distance and with more distinctness than is the case at present, and he at once set to work to make an improvement in this direction.

"Every story goes, he has so adapted the telegraph wire that the microphone is made to develop and intensify the vibration received, the result being that it is unnecessary to place the receiver to the ear or stand with the mouth close to the transmitter. In other words, it is claimed that by the use of this new attachment conversation can be easily carried on between two persons, both of whom may be several yards distant from the instrument. We are also told that this improvement, which is familiarly known as "the high speaker," has been officially tested on several occasions and has proved a complete success.

Concerning this, J. J. Carty, chief engineer of the New York Telephone company, spoke to a New York Herald reporter as follows:

"The idea of so arranging the telephone circuit that speech can be transmitted between distant points with such loudness that it can be heard when the ear is placed, we will say, fifty feet from the earpiece, is not new. Neither is it new to arrange the circuit so that speech can be transmitted between distant points without placing the mouth close to a transmitter.

"At the exhibit of the American Bell Telephone company in the electricity building at the World's fair, Chicago, there was an apparatus shown whereby speech could be heard distinctly in a large audience chamber forty feet square. Even previous to the World's fair demonstration scientists had been familiar with the working of the Edison chalk telephone, whereby speech was emitted from a telephone receiver in a tone much louder than that ordinarily employed in conversation.

"Therefore the cabled description of the European invention applies equally well to well-known American devices, and unless there is something more to be said upon the subject we must place this latest wonder in the same category with the stories of those marvelous devices accounts of which are cabled from Europe to this country from time to time, and in regard to which we hear nothing more."

"How is it then," he was asked, "in view of this well known device, that they are not employed commercially in America? They are not only not employed commercially in America, which is far ahead in this as in the rest of the world in telephonic matters, but they are not employed elsewhere in the world commercially."

"The reason is a simple one," he replied. "The devices are not practicable, can only be maintained under special conditions that are not to be found in practice, and, furthermore, they are not compatible with the proper commercial working of telephone lines. The great desideratum in telephony is not so much to make the telephone speak out loudly in the room, but rather to make the telephone speak distinctly and for very great distances. We have succeeded in making the telephone speak distinctly and for considerable distances, as the local and long-distance service of this country testifies. We have not yet, however, succeded in talking for great distances under ground or under water.

"Unfortunately, none of the advices applicable to the loud-speaking telephone is of any use to us in making the far-speaking telephone. The difficulties encountered in making the telephone speak across an ocean cable are as yet insurmountable. They are of a peculiar kind, and, as yet, an unknown nature. A great reward awaits the man who will make the ocean telephone a success, not so much because there is a demand to talk to Europe, but because it would enable us to extend our underground system throughout our own country. In the present state of the art the underground telephone is not a success beyond the confines of large cities."

"Have there been any attempts to make an ocean telephone cable?" Mr. Carty was asked.

"There has been no actual attempt at the construction of such a circuit," he replied, "but at the World's fair, where this loud-speaking instrument that I spoke of was exhibited, there was a paper read by Sylvanus Thompson, a distinguished electrical engineer of England, in which he described what he considered to be a theoretical solution of the problem. Although distinguished electricians from all over the world were present and discussed his paper, no one has had confidence enough in his theories to undertake the construction of one of his cables."

In conclusion Mr. Carty was asked whether he believed that an ocean telephone cable was possible, and he replied:

"The ocean telephone cable is the dream of telephonists. We all hope to live to see its accomplishment. My belief is that such a cable will be constructed some day, but I do not think that we have yet enough knowledge to accomplish this much-desired result."

PAINT, NOT PICTURES.

The recent discovery of Turner's first exhibited picture, says Tit-Bits, has set going a Turner story that has not been spoiled by much telling.

An art patron one day went into Turner's studio when the artist was already famous. He looked at a picture and asked what was the price. The artist named the sum he had set upon it. "What!" exclaimed the buyer, "all those gold sovereigns for so little paint?" "Oh," replied Turner, "it's paint you are buying? I thought it was pictures. Here," producing a half-used tube of color, "I'll let you have that cheap; make your own terms," and, turning his back on the astonished patron, he went on painting.

STRONG MAN CRAZE.

Will Have Much to Answer for In the Next Decade.

"In my opinion the strong man craze, through which the country is passing at the present time, will have a lot to answer for in the course of the next decade or so," said a well-known English authority upon hygienic athletics recently.

"Nothing can be more natural than the normally healthy desire to expand its chest and develop its arms and legs. A sound body is one of the greatest blessings, and nobody can overestimate the sanitary effect which it has upon a man's mental and moral caliber. But there are limits beyond which it is exceedingly unwise, nay, even dangerous, to go; and it is in the due appreciation of these natural barriers to feats of strength and daring that young men need a lesson at the present time. The examination of a few cases in point will illustrate my meaning far better than tone of argument.

"One of the finest exercises ever devised for the nineteenth-century man is that of cycling. Unfortunately, however, it is one of the easiest to overdo. Everybody knows the effect upon the nerves and muscles that is engendered by the continuous strain of an over-long or too-hurried ride. But, says the ardent cyclist, that strain can be averted by a proper course of training. The properly trained man never suffers from his exertions.

"This, however, is not the case. It is perfectly true that he shows fewer symptoms of distress, but it does not at all follow that he escapes scot free. Where, for instance, are the cycle racing champions of the '70s and '80s? Many of them, also, have sunk into early graves, solely on account of their abnormal exertions; while others, such as poor James Somerville, who recently succumbed to heart failure just as he was passing the tape in a Sydney racing carnival, have actually died upon the track.

"As for those ghastly shows known as '6-day races,' one can only be thankful that they will soon run their course. However strong a man may be, there is neither rhyme nor reason in taxing his powers to this extent; but while the worship of brawn continues at its present level there is small chance of such idiotic exhibitions being entirely abandoned.

"Another very large body of muscular enthusiasts devote themselves with equal assiduity to a great variety of gymnastic exercises, which have been specially devised in order to exercise every possible muscle in the body. Most of these individuals are perfectly sincere in their belief that, by alternately exercising each muscle from head to foot, the harmful effect experienced when only one set of muscles is utilized, as in cycling, is done away with. On the face of it this theory sounds feasible enough; but in actual practice it is entirely erroneous.

"A short time since I carefully examined a youth who had been taking lessons from a well-known professor of physical training. Although barely 20 years of age, the pupil was literally a young Hercules in the development of his limbs. He could lift enormous weights, smash iron bars by his own unaided efforts, and generally gave me the impression that he would be an extremely awkward customer to tackle in a street row. A careful examination of him, however, revealed a state of things that was truly startling.

"Not only were his limbs unduly enlarged through the constant exercise, but his arteries, the valves of his heart and, indeed, all his internal organs, were similarly dilated, the result being that while his capacity for violent feats of strength was undoubtedly phenomenal, his staying power—the 'stamina' of which we hear so much nowadays—was literally 'nil.'

"In the same way his intellect was by no means of the first order. It seemed as though the vital power, which should have been equally divided between physical, mental and constitutional strength, had all been absorbed by the first-named, leaving the remaining two distinctly impoverished. In short, while his limbs were quite capable of undergoing work such as most men do by the aid of the friendly steam engine, his staying powers and capacity for concentrating his efforts were distinctly inferior to those of that invention.

"An even worse side of the strong man craze is that exhibited by the strong woman. By all means let our sisters and our cousins and our aunts develop their physique side by side with ourselves. It is only when they essay to enter into direct physical competition with mankind that harm is likely to ensue. The reason for this is simple enough. The 'weaker' sex is no fanciful expression, it is indisputable fact.

"A short time since a leading scientist set himself the task of making a careful comparison between the relative strength of some 400 men and women of equal age. The result was extremely interesting, as, owing to the accuracy of the instruments employed, the percentage of error was infinitesimal. The figures obtained are as follows:

Strength in proportion to	Men.	Women.
Height	25	20
Weight	50	43
Total strength	100	53

"From this it will be seen that, whether her strength be compared relatively or actually with that of man, woman is naturally his inferior, and in any attempt to contend with him upon physical grounds she must infallibly overstrain her natural powers if she is to achieve success.

"Upon the whole, then, one is forced to the conclusion that, so far from being really useful, great strength may be actually harmful. If one excepts perhaps a few music hall stages, there is absolutely no market for human bridges, cranes or lifts; the steel types are more reliable and wear longer, while the vital and mental energy which is sapped by the strain upon the physical powers of the human substitute is unfortunately limited. It is good to be strong, but the strength which endures is found rather in the even balancing of body and mind than in any abnormal development of one's arms and legs."

AN OBSTINATE PASSENGER.

I don't remember what day it was, but it was one day of the jubilee that a man way down on the avenue made a flying leap for a Fouteenth street car, midway of the block, says the Washington Star. As a leap it was a feat to be commended, and even as an exhibition of flying it was an unqualified success, but as a means of boarding a car it left much to be desired. The man ricocheted, and his head struck the pavement with a crack that must have upset the entire solar system for him. The conductor and the motorman ran to assist him, and seeing that he was not seriously hurt, started the car again. The conductor produced a notebook and pencil and took down names and addresses of witnesses to the accident. The car had passed U street before he came to a handsome, elderly woman, with a green velvet collar. Respectfully he asked her name and address.

"Oh, I can't give them," she said. "I don't want to be in the paper, but I do know that it wasn't your fault at all. I was just saying to my daughter that—"

"But won't you give me your name?" interrupted the conductor. "We're required to get the names of witnesses in cases like this."

"Witness!" said the lady. "Well, I saw it, but I don't want my name in the paper. I could testify, though—"

"What's your name, please?" persisted the conductor.

"I just can't bear to have my name in the paper," she went on; "and I—"

"Oh, there's no danger of being in the paper, madame," said the conductor. "We only want the names in case there's any trouble. You need have no fear. We don't put the names in the paper."

"Don't put the names in the paper!" echoed the lady in the green collar, with a change in her voice. "You don't? Well, of all the silly things I ever heard! What do you want with them, then? No, indeed, I won't give mine!"

PLENTY OF WORK

Iron and Steel Mills Still Unable to Take New Orders.

THE RUSSIAN ORDER

It Has Not Been Placed Though Carnegie May Get It.

New York, June 29.—Reviewing trade conditions the Iron Age will say today: The close of the current month witnessed the end of many low-priced contracts on which makers of all kinds have been delivering. It is becoming more and more apparent that the markets will not during the balance of the year furnish buyers a pretext for cancelling of contracts entered into so far. In fact it looks now as though a good deal of tonnage will be caried into next year. Some of the larger concerns in the country are falling more behind, instead of gaining on their commitments, and that may take the market well over the midwinter dullness. So far as we can learn the majority of the really live concerns are filled up for the balance of the year, and can take orders only when they can arange for a postponement of older work. Some of the steel mills have thus found it possible to make some steel billets available.

Really important movements do not seem likely for a long time to come, and the question of next year's work, therefore, will be held in abeyance, except in those cases where material must be bought to cover contracts for structures, etc.

The scarcity of material continues all along the line. It is sometimes believed that it is artificial only, because makers are making deliveries on old cheap orders for the purpose of meeting the demands of consumers, who are paying higher prices on more recent orders. That may be done in some cases, but we believe that the majority of makers are doing their best to get the old orders out of the way.

In view of the fact that every mill is strained to the utmost to get out material, it is unfortunate that there is some danger of labor troubles. It looks as though the Amalgamated Association were ambitious to conquer last ground in the Pittsburg district, where the majority of the iron mills are now non-union. It is not a question of wages, but a matter of organization, which may prove troublesome.

A good deal of fuss has been made over the order of 180,000 tons of steel rails for Russia. We are officially advised that it has not yet been placed, although it seems likely that the Carnegie Steel company will receive it. As early as last April three parties were in the market for 90,000 tons.

Pig iron has stiffened further, and the furnaces are booking increasing quantities for delivery in 1900. The Southern furnaces have made some fair sales in Chicago, and have placed mill iron in Pittsburg and in Cincinnati. There was one sale of 20,000 tons of mill iron, have also sold basic iron in Eastern Pennsylvania. In the latter district, too, one block of 10,000 tons of local basic has been sold at $18.75 delivered at tidewater.

Inquiries from abroad for pig iron continue large, but sellers here are cutting down requirements and will book only enough to hold the trade.

There have been some interesting movements in the beam market. A local mill has taken 16,000 tons for the Wanamaker store in Philadelphia for delivery during the two years, under arrangement with the association, and upward of 10,000 tons have been sold for forward delivery in New York. All indications point to an enormous tonnage.

THE CRICKETERS.

Third Test Match With the Australians Being Played.

Leeds, England, June 29.—The third test cricket match between the visiting Australians and all England eleven opened here today. The weather was bright, though the wicket was soft after a night's rain, and favorable to the bowlers. There were about 12,000 spectators present when the Australians went to the wickets. Very great interest is taken in the present match, owing to the poor showing made by the home team in the two previous matches and the fact that the press and the cricketers of the whole country have been showering advice upon the selection committee regarding the choice of an eleven, with the result that considerable ill-feeling has been aroused among some of the players who have thought themselves slighted. But the public clamor has led to the exclusion of some of the old time favorites. The English eleven, however, is thoroughly representative and includes MacLaren, Ranjitsinhji, the famous Indian cricketer; Jackson, Erlck, Hayward and Hearne. The Australians at lunch time had scored 131 runs for six wickets down. The Australians were all out in their innings for 352 runs.

MACKAY NOT INTERESTED.

New York, June 29.—Apropos a dispatch from Chicago relative to the annual convention of the Independent Telephone association and an excerpt in the Chicago Record indicating that John W. Mackay, who is now in Chicago, is the principal factor in the movement of the independent telephone managers, Vice President E. C. Bradley of the Postal Telegraph company today stated that there is no foundation for this intimation. Mr. Bradley stated positively and without reserve that Mr. Mackay is not in any degree interested in or sponsor for the independent telephone lines.

Why?

Why is it that when a salesman calls on the retail grocery trade to sell a bath and toilet Soap, that the strongest argument he can put forth is, it's nearly or about, or perhaps (to make his argument very strong) will venture to say, just as good as Jas. S. Kirk & Co.'s JAP ROSE GLYCERINE SOAP? Salesmen are sufficiently clever to know that JAP ROSE is recognized by all dealers as a superb article—that's why they use the argument they do.

IN MICHIGAN.

The Big Chapin Mine at Iron Mountain Is Leased.

Iron Mountain—Stockholders in the company which owns the famous Chapin iron mine here, announce that the property has been leased for a period of twenty years. Four million dollars was paid for the lease. The name of the lessee was withheld, but it is said the new controlling interests in the property are held by either the National Steel company or the Frick-Carnegie interests of Pittsburg.

Houghton—During the last year the Calumet & Hecla people have been seeking new mining lands in various parts of the country. To facilitate the acquirement of properties they have organized the New England Exploration company. The officers and board of directors are prominent officials of the Calumet & Hecla Mining company. The exploration company has its main office in Colorado Springs, Col. This office is the headquarters of a large corps of mining experts and engineers, chief of whom is Mr. Dickerman, formerly of the Michigan iron district. The company recently acquired the majority interest in the Smuggler Union silver and gold mine at Telluride, Col., which has been wrought for more than a decade and is reputed to have the largest amount of development work completed of any mine in Colorado. It has been a dividend payer for many years. The engineers of the company are at present making examinations of at least three other mining propositions in Colorado and, it is stated, of a large placer property in California.

It is no secret that the Calumet & Hecla company is highly pleased with the developments of the last year and a half on the Osceola lode. The amygdaloid has been carefully tested and is proved to carry a good percentage of copper with the result that the three shafts originally started are being given attention in the matter of permanent equipment of the best patern. No. 16 shaft, locate near company's hospital, has attracted much attention owing to its favorable showing and it is stated that another shaft, No. 17, is about to be started north of this opening.

The Kearsarge branch of the Osceola mine never presented a better appearance than at the present time.

W. W. Stockley is conducting exploratory work on the Torch lake property. The work thus far has been confined to the sinking of test pits.

Rumor has it that still another shaft is soon to be started at the Arcadian to be known as shaft C. The location is toward the extreme south end of the property and near the brow of the hill.

A shipment of 120 tons of water pipe was received yesterday by the Isle Royale company. The pipe will be laid between the mine and Huron dam which is to be the source of supply for operative and fire purposes.

According to quiet gossip a big mining deal is among the possibilities in the no distant future in Ontonagon county. Should it be consummated along the lines talked of it will certainly be the biggest deal in the history of the county.

West Duluth Library Patrons Will Be Able to Get Books.

WAS WITH DIGGLES

N. M. Lanners Writes Interestingly of Experiences In the Philippines.

Through the efforts of Mrs. Keyes, member of the library board from West Duluth, arrangements have been made whereby West Duluth citizens can leave an order at the branch library here for any book in the Duluth library and it will be brought here by the janitor, who will make two trips a week for this purpose. A catalogue of the Duluth library will be found at the branch, as also catalogues for patrons who desire to take them home. The library board has shown a disposition to help the West Duluth branch in every possible way, and the citizens of West Duluth will be grateful to Mrs. Keyes for suggesting this latest improvement, which gives an opportunity for reading the latest library productions while they are in the public mind.

INTERESTING MANILLA LETTER.

Attorney H. M. Lanners this week received a letter from his brother, N. M. Lanners, who is a member of the Stillwater company of the Thirteenth Minnesota regiment, now doing duty in the Philippines. The letter is dated May 15, shortly after the wounding of Maj. Diggles, but several days before the death of that officer. Mr. Lanners says he had been serving as mounted orderly for Maj. Diggles. The latter was wounded on May 8, and the writer was detailed by Gen. Lawton to take him to Manilla and look after him in hospital. They traveled fourteen miles by wagon and fifty-one miles by railroad before they reached Manilla. At the hospital it was thought that the wounded man would recover. At the time he was hit by a Filipino bullet the major was in command of the regiment. He would not ask a man to go into danger where he would not go himself, and the men of the regiment had come to love and respect him greatly. Tears stood in the eyes of Gen. Lawton when he spoke of the major. Capt. Masterman of the Stillwater company, being next in command, took control of the regiment.

Mr. Lanners believes that most of the fighting is over. He says the Filipinos are not as brave as Indians and will not stand up and fight in the open.

There are three large military hospitals, two at Manilla and one on Creagodore island. They are kept in excellent condition and are pleasant places to live in. Owing to accident to the ice-making machinery the patients were suffering some for lack of ice. The weather was terribly hot and wearisome and Mr. Lanners thought it much better to be in the hospital than on the firing line.

He did not have hopes of getting home very soon. The Stillwater company had been very lucky, only four men having been wounded and none killed.

There were about 2000 men sick and wounded in the hospitals on May 15, and the addition of several women nurses from the United States had greatly relieved the situation.

ALL WILL DECORATE.

Practically every merchant at this end of the city has promised to decorate his place of business for the Fourth of July celebration. They are entering into the spirit of the affair with a zest, and a splendid demonstration is looked for.

The A. O. U. W., at its meeting last evening, decided to turn out in a body for the parade. The Red Men had already signified their intention of parading, and it is believed that all the secret societies will follow suit.

A New Burlington Book.

Railroad companies are great patrons not only of the liberal arts, but of that modern classical expression that printing, engraving and photography places within the reach of everyone.

The Burlington route has contributed its share to the sum total of railroad art and its latest addition will rank among the finest specimens of scenic souvenirs ever issued. It is the Burlington's book of St. Paul and Minneapolis, a rich oblong volume picturing first the magnificent train, then scenes along the route, then St. Paul and surroundings, followed by Fort Snelling and Minneapolis. In all respects, composition, letter press, illustrations and binding, it is a dainty volume.

Copies of this elegant book can be had by enclosing 25 cents (postage stamps not received) to George P. Lyman, general passenger agent, Burlington route, St. Paul, Minn.

Expenses of remittance can be saved by several persons combining their orders.

New Train to Northfield, Faribault, Owatonna and Austin.

The C. M. & St. P. Ry. has put on a new train leaving St. Paul at 7:20 p. m. daily, except Sunday, running to Austin. This enables people at the head of the lake to leave in the afternoon and reach I. & M. division points the same evening.

Yours truly,
J. T. CONLEY, A. G. P. A.

Piles, Fistula Fissure and Rupture cured.

TOTALLY DEAF.

T. B. Millen, Minneapolis, (aged 73), 420½ Nicollet avenue: "I was totally deaf when I went to Dr. Doran, so deaf that I could not hear my son speak to me. When he wished to communicate anything to me he would have to write to me. I did not want to live if I had to be so deaf. So I went to Dr. Doran and he restored my hearing. Now I can hear ordinary conversation without difficulty."

MAY THIS GREAT DOCTOR CURE OTHERS.

Mrs. A. B. Carmen, 221 Fourth avenue northeast, Minneapolis: "When I first noticed my eyes failing was six years ago. I did not do anything for them until last year, when I visited Chicago and consulted several physicians there. After months of treatment, under great expense, I returned to Minneapolis, not cured. Out of curiosity, I went to Dr. Doran's office. The doctor received me very nicely and told me I could be cured in six weeks. I was very thankful to hear such good news, because I had given up all hope of getting any better. I did not tell my husband where I had been until one day he said, "I believe your eyes are getting better." It was then I told him that Dr. Doran was giving me treatments. I can speak very highly of this great doctor because he cured me in six weeks when Chicago physicians failed."

A FRIEND TO THE SUFFERING.

James R. Stevenson, Hastings, Minn.: "When I began treating with Dr. Doran I was one of the greatest sufferers possible. I could not move in bed without help. My back would crack and act as though it would break. I was helpless, nervous, debilitated and had not enjoyed one good night's rest in three years. I was in misery all the time. My life began to be a burden to myself and to all of the family because someone had to be with me all the time. I spent all my earnings doctoring with home physicians to no avail. After learning of a great specialist in Minneapolis, Dr. Doran, I took three months' treatment and today I am cured and working at my trade."

To Those Outside of the City.

Dr. Doran announces that he has so perfected his Home Treatment that he can now treat successfully at their homes those patients who are unable to call at the office. Send postal for information.

THE WAR DISCUSSED.

Declared the Saddest Thing In United States History.

Buffalo, June 29.—The national social and political conference resumed its session today to discuss non-partisan efforts in political reform. The subject is divided into eight sub-divisions—expansion and militarism, permanent international tribunal, proportionate representation, single tax, recall or imperative mandate, non-partisan temperance and organized labor.

Each speaker was limited to ten minutes, with twenty minutes for discussion under 5-minute rule. Rev. F. W. Thomas, of Chicago, presided, and discussed "Expansion and Militarism." Mr. Thomas was one of the first to espouse the cause of the Cubans. In speaking of the war in the Philippines, he declared it the saddest thing in the history of the United States. As militarism tends to despotism, he opposed it, believing that industrialism means democracy and the preservation of the liberties of the people.

During Mr. Thomas' remarks not a particle of applause greeted Admiral Dewey's name. William J. Ghent, of New York, took the opposite side of the question and declared that popular sympathy was with the government.

MORE MINES TO OPEN.

Demand For Iron Ore Is Becoming Very Great.

L'Anse, Mich., June 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Taylor iron mine, five miles east of here, and the most westerly mine on the Marquette range, will be reopened and worked to its fullest capacity of production, after sixteen years' idleness. The Beaufort and Tolden mines, sixteen miles from here, idle thirteen years, will also be reopened during July. The demand for iron ore is greater than all the mines of the Lake Superior district can meet collectively.

NEWMARKET RACES.

Princess of Wales Stakes Won By Flying Fox.

London, June 29.—The princess of Wales' stakes, run today at the third day of the Newmarket July meeting were won by the duke of Westminister's colt Flying Fox, winner of this year's derby stakes. Lord Arlington's Royal Emblem was second, and Prince Soltykoff's Minus was third. This race is of 10,000 sovereigns, the second horse to receive 1500 sovereigns, the third 1000 sovereigns, the nominator of the winner 400 sovereigns and the nominator of the second 200 sovereigns out of the stakes, for 3 and 4-year-olds; winners of the derby, St. Leger or Grand Prix de Paris 12 pounds extra. Nine horses ran the Bunbury mile (a straight mile). Sloan rode Capt. Greer's bay colt Birkenhead, but was unplaced. The betting was 8 to 1 against Birkenhead.

The Exeter stakes was won by H. McCalmont's chestnut filly Jeunesse Dorce. Terrapin, Lord Beresford's bay colt, ridden by Sloan, was second, and Arthur James' the Gorgeon, third. This race is of 30 sovereigns, half forfeit, with 200 sovereigns added, for 2-year-olds.

A selling plate of 400 sovereigns was won by the duke of Portland's 3-year-old bay colt Latheren Wheel. Sloan rode P. Lorrillard's chestnut gelding Illogic and finished third. Eight horses ran the Suffolk stakes course (one mile and a half).

The July cup of 300 sovereigns for all ages was won by Mr. Fairies' 5-year-old bay horse Eager. Sloan rode Lord Beresford's Knight of the Thistle and finished second.

The ladies' stake handicap, 200 sovereigns, was won by J. B. Leigh's 4-year-old bay colt the Wyvern. Sloan rode C. F. Dwyer's 4-year-old chestnut colt Sly Fox, but was unplaced. The betting was 5 to 1 against Sly Fox.

MME. DREYFU'S GUARDED.

Rennes, France, June 29.—The house occupied by Mme. Dreyfus was guarded by gendarmes all night long and at daybreak these policemen were succeeded by others. In addition a giant porter keeps the outer gate locked and barred. No one is allowed to enter without the express permission of Mme Dreyfus.

YELLOW FEVER DEATHS.

Washington, June 29.—Gen. Brooke has cabled the department the following death report, dated Havana, June 28:

"Santiago, 27th. Musician James McCarthy, G. Fifth infantry, yellow fever: Puerto Principe, Sergt. Hugh Letow, C, Eighth infantry, yellow fever."

SAFE ROBBERS.

How Officers of the Cuban Army Employ Their Spare Time.

Havana, June 29.—Advices received here from Guanajay today say Maj. Jose Acosta of the Cuban army, accused of complicity in the recent safe robbery at Mariel, at first succeeded in escaping the rurale police but was captured in a small country house, which he reached after dark. On the approach of the guards, Acosta, who was at a well drinking, attempted to reach his horse, but the guards fired and Acosta dropped on his knees and begged them to spare his life. He was taken to Guanajay jail and was afraid the guards would kill him on the way there. On the promise of his life being spared, he said his party numbered twenty-nine, among whom the chief was Col. Carillo Doiz, who was appointed last week chief of the Guanajay rural police. Acosta received $3.0 as his share of the Mariel robbery.

Maj. Barines and the head man of the San Francisco plantation attack have both disappeared and there are rumors that they have organized a party near Cayajabos.

At Puerto Padree four boats returning from fishing were halted by armed negroes in five boats, one mile from the shore, and were compelled to surrender their fish, and everything of value on board.

The Tenis Retuals and a detachment of American cavalry are scouring the hills in search of forty outlaws, who have been raiding that istrict recently. The band is well mounted and has successfully evaded its pursuers so far.

At Cienfugos fifty-nine Cuban soldiers have been paid.

FURTHER WORD FROM ANDREE.

Another Bottle Message Picked Up By a Norwegian.

San Francisco, June 29.—H. J. Baron, formerly an Eastern newspaper man, has written the following to the Associated Press from Wrangel, Alaska, under date of June 24:

"Information received here several days ago which seemingly confirms the story that Andree, the Arctic explorer, is dead. A Norwegian who was a passenger on the Rosette, a Seattle boat bound for Skagway, showed a letter supposed to have been written by Andree. The letter, in a sealed bottel, had been washed ashore off the Norwegian coast and dated May 1. The latitude was given as 74 north and the balloon was somewhere to the westward of Iceland. 'I am leaving balloon and provisions—Andree.' Were the words written."

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.—Default has been made in the payment of the sum of $452.80, which sum is at the date of this notice claimed to be due and is due, owing and unpaid upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Josephine Kennedy, mortgagor, (to secure a part of the purchase price of the lands therein described) to E. Grace Graves and Mary A. Van Brunt, mortgagees. Said mortgage bears date December 20th, 1892, and was recorded in the office of the register of deeds, in and for the County of St. Louis, state of Minnesota, upon the 3rd day of January, 1893, at 3 o'clock and fifty minutes p. m., in Book 106 of mortgages, on page 27. Said mortgage with the debt secured thereby, was by written instrument dated December 17, 1894, and recorded in the office of said register of deeds March 25, 1895, at 2:40 o'clock p. m., in Book 108 of mortgages, on page 229, duly assigned by said Mary A. Van Brunt to said E. Grace Graves.

No action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover said mortgage debt, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale in said mortgage contained and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described therein, lying and being in said St. Louis County, to-wit: Lot numbered eleven (11), in block forty-four (44), and lot numbered thirteen (13), in block sixty-four (64), all in the London Addition to Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof in the office of said register of deeds, with the hereditaments and appurtenances thereto belonging.

Said sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of the 10th day of July, 1899, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to satisfy the amount then due upon said mortgage debt, taxes amounting to $10.85 paid by said assignee, $50 attorney fees, stipulated for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the costs and disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale, as provided by law.

Dated at Duluth, May 18, 1899.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.—Default having been made in the payment of the sum of ten thousand seven hundred thirty-one and 51-100 dollars ($10,731.51), which is claimed to be due, and is due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Douglas A. Petre and Agnes M. Petre, his wife, mortgagors, to Alexander Macrae, mortgagee, bearing date the 21st day of November, 1895, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, on the 26th day of November, 1895, at 8:40 o'clock a. m., in Book 127 of mortgages, page 504.

Which said mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby was duly assigned by said mortgagee to Abram Nesbitt, by written assignment dated the 6th day of January, 1896, and recorded in the office of the register of deeds for said county, on the 6th day of January, 1896, at 4:40 o'clock p. m., in Book 107 of mortgages, on page 231.

The assignee of said mortgage paid on April 25th, 1899, taxes on the mortgaged premises for the years 1895 and 1897, amounting to forty-one and 90-100 dollars ($41.90), and on May 23rd, 1898, taxes for the year 1898, amounting to one hundred four and 37-100 dollars, which sums so paid for taxes with interest from the date of payment are claimed as an additional lien and are due and payable, making the total amount due on said mortgage, the sum of ten thousand eight hundred seventy-eight and 08-100 dollars ($10,878.08).

And no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof,

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statutes in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, which are situate in St. Louis County, Minnesota, viz:

The east half of the southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter (e½ of sw¼ of se¼), and the west half of the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter (w½ of se¼ of the sw¼ of se¼) of section eleven (11), in township fifty (50), north of range fourteen (14), west of the Fourth Principal Meridian, and containing ten (10) acres more or less, according to the government survey thereof, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the 7th day of July, 1899, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public sale, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of ten thousand seven hundred thirty-one and 51-100 dollars ($10,731.51) and interest, and the said sum of one hundred forty-six and 27-100 dollars ($146.27) taxes on said premises, paid as aforesaid, and one hundred dollars ($100) attorneys' fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated Duluth, Minn., May 24th, 1899.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.—Default has been made in the payment of the sum of eleven hundred twelve and 34-100 dollars, principal and interest, which amount is due, owing and unpaid at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage containing a power of sale, made, executed and delivered by Susan H. Tallman and Geo. D. Tallman, her husband, to W. M. Wells and E. Wells, bearing date the 6th day of June, 1892, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds of St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 24th day of June, 1892, at 8 o'clock a. m., in Book 68 of mortgages, on page 306.

Default has also been made in the payment of the taxes due for the year 1897 upon the mortgaged premises, which to the amount of fifty-four and 19-100 dollars was paid by the undersigned on April 20th, 1898. Also in the payment of premium for insurance upon said premises to the amount of eleven and 20-100 dollars heretofore paid by the undersigned.

By reason of said several defaults there is claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the date of this notice, the sum of eleven hundred seventy-seven and 73-100 dollars, to recover which no action or proceeding, at law or otherwise has been instituted.

And whereas, said W. M. Wells heretofore died, leaving a last will and testament appointing as executor, the undersigned Elisha Wells, to whom has issued letters testamentary out of the county court of Walworth county, Wisconsin, an exemplified copy of which was duly filed and recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the premises therein described and situate in St. Louis County, Minnesota, to-wit:

Lot number eighty (80), on East Seventh street, in Duluth Proper, First Division, according to the recorded plat thereof, which premises, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house of said county, in the city of Duluth, Minnesota, on Saturday, the 8th day of July, 1899, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the amount due upon said mortgage as aforesaid, with interest to date of sale, together with fifty dollars attorney's fee, as stipulated in said mortgage and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from date of sale, as by law provided.

Dated May 25th, 1899.

THE TROPHY.

Will Be Mounted on High School Campus, Facing Second Street.

The captured Spanish gun is to be mounted on the high school campus. It will be placed at the edge of the stone walk on the terrace in front of the main entrance, the muzzle pointing out over the street. The school board will provide for mounting. The city paid the freight and the park board paid for hauling the gun from the car.

The gun was to have been mounted at Lincoln park and the change of plan was made at the last minute yesterday afternoon, after the team had been engaged to haul it to the park. Secretary Miller of the health board was instrumental in bringing about the arrangement to have the gun taken to the high school. He got President Silberstein to delay the unloading of the gun and then laid the case before Dr. Salter, who called the executive committee of the school board together for a conference with the park board. The question of payment for mounting the gun on the campus was brought up and Mr. Miller said that if the school board would not furnish the money he would raise it by subscription, and Mr. Mendenhall of the park board said that he would help him. The school board committee said that the expense would be provided for.

The gun was taken to the campus last evening.

Some of the West End and West Duluth aldermen may make a row about the matter at the council meeting. The school board was offered the gun in the first place, but would not undertake to stand any of the expense of getting it here and it was tendered to the park board, the aldermen from the western part of the city securing it for Lincoln park.

Returns to Duluth.

Professor W. F. Phelps of the state normal school has returned to Duluth for the purpose of again taking up his residence here. He will represent the Bankers' Life Insurance association, of St. Paul, here. He is at present staying with Mrs. Alexander McGregor.

School Lands Involved.

Attorney General Danenhower came up from St. Paul this morning and is engaged in the contest hearing of the state against the settlement of certain claims of Andrews and Clemens in the land office. The lands involved are said to be school lands in section 26, 60-7. The hearing was taken up in the land office this morning, but at noon a recess was taken till tomorrow morning.

A Gory Christmas.

Suit has been filed in municipal court by Hans Olson against C. A. Soderberg to recover $400 damages alleged to have been suffered by plaintiff by being gored by a cow belonging to the defendant Dec. 25, 1898, while the plaintiff was working for the defendant.

Josephson-Turning.

THE LINE OF MARCH

How the Fourth of July Parade Will Proceed Next Tuesday.

SHOULD DECORATE

Committee Wants Business Houses to Dress as Gaily as Possible.

The big parade that the citizens' committee is preparing for Duluth's Fourth of July celebration will form on East First street, near the Armory, and as the start will be made at 9:30 o'clock in the morning it is necessary that those who are to participate should be on hand early. Maj. F. H. Bidwell will be the marshal of the parade, and the different societies will apply to him for their places in the parade. From the various societies that are to take part Maj. Bidwell will selecet his aides, of which there will be quite a number, all of whom are to be mounted. The order of the parade will be announced later.

The parade will be quite an extensive affair, if all the promises that have been made are fruitful. It will start at 9.30 o'clock and will move west on First street to Mesaba avenue, down Mesaba avenue to Superior street, east on Superior street to Second avenue east and up Second avenue east to the Armory, where it will disband. Immediately after the parade the exercises in the Armory will take place. Rev. T. H. Cleland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will act as chairman. C. E. Lovett will follow the time-honored custom of reading the Declaration of Independence, and speeches will be made by Thomas J. McKeon and Mayor Truelsen. There will be music by the City band and vocal numbers by a quartet.

The sports will take place in the afternoon, and an excellent program will be given. They will take place at the fair grounds in the West End. In the evening there will be a grand military ball at the Armory.

The committee desires to request, if it is necessary, that all Superior street business men and the owners of public buildings decorate as much as possible. This, they say, should be done in honor of the day, regardless of the parade, but it will help out the effect if every building along the line makes its best holiday appearance. Last Fourth of July there were quite a number of large buildings all over the town that did not even fly the flags all of them have, and there was considerable adverse criticism of this lack of regard for the solemnity of the day.

"It will look very bad for Duluth," said a business man this morning, "if the decorations are not general. In a political campaign a lot of them will decorate in honor of their favorite candidate for some office, and when it comes to the celebration of the greatest event in history, beside which that same candidate is infinitesimally insignificant, they are not around. The people have gotten into a habit of decorating, however, through the various celebrations and excursions that have taken place, and most of the buildings have supplies necessary for decorative purposes on hand all the time, so probably the display will be a good deal better this year than it was last year."

Some Hypnotic Freaks.

If wit is the association of incongruous images then the entertainments given by the Flints, which will begin next week, are the wittiest things in the world. The spectator simply roars with laughter and delight. He sees men gravely undertaking the most impossible feats. He sees them accept, as a matter of fact, the suggestion that they are circus performers, that they are cocks fighting a main, that they are horsemen racing on a track, that they are bicyclists. In short, every conceivable vagary that the human brain can entertain is adopted by these hypnotic subjects, and carried out with a gravity that makes uproarious fun. While there is a scientific undertone to it, the idea is of itself funny and mirthful without there being anything in the slightest degree deleterious. For the effects on the subjects are healthful rather than otherwise.

Next week the whole phenomena will be exhibited here in this city. Dr. Flint is assisted each evening by the only lady hypnotist, Grace Marion Flint, who possesses a power scarcely inferior that of the eminent doctor himself. They will be at the Lyceum every evening next week. A special program will be arranged for the evening of July 4.

OVER A TRANSIT.

Two Bartenders Wreck City Engineer's Surveying Implement.

Henry Livea, bartender at Sullivan & Devine's saloon, and John Taylor, bartender at the Rising Sun hotel, drove over a transit instrument that a force of the city engineer's office was using on Morse street this morning, badly injuring the instrument. Both of the men were intoxicated, it is said. Livea, who was afterwards arrested and locked up on the charge of drunkenness, claimed that the horse was uncontrollable, but several witnesses state that the animal was at a walk and that the men stopped it a few feet farther on in front of a saloon.

The instrument was dragged about ten feet and badly wrenched, and it will have to be sent to St. Paul for repairs, which will cost at least $30, it is thought. Livea and Taylor will probably be called on to pay the expenses.

BEST ON EARTH

July's Average Temperature In Duluth Is 66 Degrees--- Great Climate.

Anyone desiring to have a taste of what really nice weather is should come to Duluth and enjoy the weather provided here by the month of July. According to a bulletin issued by Local Forecast Official Richardson, the average temperature for the month of July is 66 degrees, just about the right temperature for the enjoyment of life. In other words, when other cities all over the country are sweltering under temperatures running all the way from 85 degrees up to 100 or more in the shade, Duluth's average tempearture is most delightfully cool and pleasant. The warmest July reported by the bulletin above referred to, which covers a period of twenty-eight years, was that of 1878, when the average was 71 degrees. So theer are only 10 degrees spread between the highest and lowest averages.

Duluth some times gets extremely warm July days, as for instance, July 1, 1883, when the temperature reached 99 degrees. It sometimes gets pretty cool, too, as on July 2, 1895, when the lowest temperature, 45 degrees, was recorded.

The month averages well for precipitation, 3.72 inches. There is an average of twelve days in each month with .01 of an inch or more of precipitation. The greatest amount of precipitation in any one July was 10.42 inches in 1879, and the least was .47 of an inch in 1875. The greatest amount of precipitation recorded in any twenty-four consecutive hours was 4.20 inches July 2 and 3, 1897. The average number of clear days is nine, partly cloudy days fifteen and cloudy days seven. The prevailing winds are from the northeast, and the highest velocity of the wind was forty-eight miles an hour from the northwest July 2, 1897, at the same time as the big rain storm that washed the parks down the hillside.

TRUST IS COMPLETE

Tug Combine Is Established and Will Soon Acquire Properties.

TO REDUCE FRICTION

That Will Be One of Principal Advantages of the Scheme.

A Cleveland dispatch announces the formation of the Great Lakes Towing company in that city yesterday with a capital stock of $5,000,000, one-half of which is to be preferred stock and the other half common stock. The articles of incorporation will be filed in New Jersey within a week by James H. Hoyt, of Cleveland.

The local tug companies, both of which are to be included in the consolidation of tug interests that the new company proposes to bring about, are still in the dark, they say, as to the condition of the trust. Neither of them have recent advices from the promoters and they do not know when the formal transfer will take place. Options on both outfits are still in existence, and under them the new company can acquire both plants at any time it desires. These options have both been renewed at least once, and they are in such shape that they can be closed at once.

It is probable that the company will not begin to acquire the various plants until it is fully organized, and this is probably the reason the Duluth companies have heard nothing of the matter. The company could not acquire property until it has a corporate existence, and this it has not even now, and will not have until its articles of incorporation are drawn up and filed with the secretary of state of New Jersey. The filing will be made shortly, and after that will come the formal transfers of the various lines to the trust.

This will mean the consolidation of the two local lines, and the cessation of all rivalry between them, and the same thing will be true in every port where there are competitive lines. The trust will do away with a large amount of friction in many ways, and it is regarded by most tug men as the only way to successfully run the tug business. One thing in which a considerable saving can be made is insurance, which is one of the heavy items in the tug man's expense account. The tug trust will be in a position to talk turkey to the insurance people, because if necessary, with its large holdings, it could afford to carry its own insurance.

The headquarters of the company will be in Cleveland, and it is said that W. A. Collier, of that city, will be the president of the company. Financial matters have been entrusted to a board of five trustees. All the stock has been subscribed and all of the properties appraised. The trust will include the following lines: Dunham Wrecking company, of Chicago; Barry Bros., of Chicago; Lutz Towing company, of South Chicago; Parker & Maxom, of Milwaukee; Milwaukee tug line, Escanaba Towing company, White Line Towing company, of Duluth; Inman Towing company, of Duluth; Thompson Towing and Wrecking company, of Port Huron, and the "Soo" Toledo Harbor Tug Line company, Nagle tug line, of Toledo; Huron Tug company, Cleveland Tug company, and the Vessel Owners' Tug company, of Cleveland. This does not include the Buffalo lines, which were reported some time ago as holding out for high prices for their plants.

DUNHAM AND BARRY SELL.

Chicago, June 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Capt. J. H. Dunham, president of the Dunham Towing and Wrecking company, for nearly half a century prominently identified with lake shipping interests, has decided to sell his properties to the Great Lakes Towing company, organized in Cleveland yesterday, and retire from active business. The independent tug company of Chicago, owned by Barry Bros., will, according to John F. Barry, also be absorbed by the new combine. The Cleveland organization will, it is said, absorb nearly every tug line of prominence on the great lakes from Buffalo to Chicago and Duluth.

NIAGARA RIVER NAVIGATION.

Buffalo, June 29.—Under the regulations governing masters and pilots no pilot has a right to take a vessel down Niagara river unless his papers mention it or specify both Lakes Erie and Ontario. It is a great mistake to undertake this work unless a pilot is well acquainted with the river, as there are a great many narrow and crooked passages. It is now declared by vesselmen that the narrow passages ought to be marked on each side by stakes, and an effort will be made to obtain such protection. The order from Tonawanda shippers and vesselowners is not to load deeper than 14 feet for the river, which even then makes it a foot or so better than the Welland canal. The steamer Fred Kelley went down this week drawing 14 feet 3, bow and stern.

New Elevator Company.

The Hall Elevator company has been formed, and articles of incorporation were filed this morning in the office of the register of deeds. The company is to have Duluth as its principal place of business, but its articles empower it to maintain offices in any part of the United States. It will build and operate a small mixing elevator on the Superior side of the bay, with headquarters in Duluth. The capital stock is $25,000 and the limit of indebtedness is the same amount. The incorporators are Henry D. Hall, of West Superior and William J. McCabe and J. W. Sheridan, of Duluth.

Wants Its Land Back.

The Western Land association this morning began a suit against Valentine Lenlusiak et al to recover possession of lot 13, East Eighth street, Duluth proper, First division. It is claimed that though the land association has owned the land for fourteen years, the defendants have been unlawfully in possession of it for ten years. The suit is to have them ejected and for $400 damages for the unlawful detention of the land. Fryberger & Johansan are the attorneys.

Suit to Clear Title.

The Woodland company began this morning suit in district court against the Motor Line Improvement company to clear title to a large amount of acre property and lots in and around Woodland park. The property was formerly owned by the Motor Line Improvement company, and the suit is brought to establish the title in the plaintiff. Jaques & Hudson and John G. Williams are the attorneys.

Takes Care of Them.

P. H. Kiley, father of the Kiley infants, who have achieved some celebrity because of their arrest recently for stealing a bunch of flowers, takes exception to part of Assistant City Attorney Spencer's excuses for permitting the warrant to issue. He denies most strenuously that he does not take good care of his children, or that he has ever shown any unwillingness to keep his babes from doing things that might bring them into the stern grasp of the law. He says that The Herald was right when it denounced the arrest as an outrage, and that it will not mend matters for the city authorities to make out that he is careless of his children.

START RIGHT.

Ordinary failing eyesight is regarded as alarming by some—by others, treated too carelessly. All eyes begin to fail at 40 years of age, some have trouble a year or two before that time—the majority not till after. From 36 to 45 is the time you should consult a competent optician or oculist in order to start right.

Why is Electric Light Best?

Because it is Healthy, Clean, Pure and Brilliant.

HEALTHY! It has no odor. Professor Thomson states one cubic foot of gas consumes as much oxygen as four adults.

CLEAN! It causes no discolorations of furnishings and decorations in homes.

SAFE! As electric bell work, no danger of suffocation.

CHEAP! By using a little care in turning off lights when not in use it is cheaper than any other illuminant.

NEGROES SHOT.

Train Fired on By Miners, One Killed and Twenty Wounded.

St. Louis, June 30.—A special to the Post Dispatch from Marion, Ill., says: At 10 o'clock today, as the train on the Illinois Central carrying a coachload of negroes from Pana to Brushes mines, one mile north of Carterville, stopped at the Fredonia mine, three miles northwest of Carterville, a large number of striking union miners opened fire on the negroes, killing one woman and wounding about twenty others.

Before the work could be carried further, the train pulled out for Johnson City. When it reached a point one mile north or Brushes mine, the negroes were unloaded and marched across the country to their destination. It is said that a majority of the rioters were negroes who were brought here to scab about a year ago and have since joined the union.

Reports from Cartersville say there is great excitement in the neighborhood of the Brush mine, and a battle between the working negroes who are well armed and the strikers who are on the ground ready for a fight, may be precipitated at any moment. Superintendent Brush has wired Sheriff Gray asking for protection. The sheriff has gone to the scene, but he took no deputies with him. He has not guns to arm them with.

A majority of the British miners have been on a strike for a month, though many of his imported negroes have remained loyal to him. The trouble is over wages.

UPROAR RENEWED.

Rome, June 30.—In the chamber of deputies today the Socialists and Extreme Leftists recommend their obstructive tactics and created an immense uproar. The president of the house combated the efforts of the obstructionists and finally the deputies left their seats, crowded on the floor and there was such an uproar that the sitting was suspended. When it was resumed, similar tactics were carried out by Extreme Leftists, who crowded the floor. The tumult was deafening and eventually a free fight ensued, and the sitting was again suspended.

A ROYAL WEDDING.

San Francisco, June 30.—From Honolulu comes the news of the marriage, on June 1, of King George of the Tonga group of Islands to Princess Livina.

GUILTY OF MURDER.

London, June 30.—At the Hertford assizes today Mary Ann Ansell was found guilty of murdering her sister, an inmate of an asylum for the insane, by sending her poisoned cake by post. She was sentenced to death. The condemned woman had previously insured her sister's life, giving a false description.

RUMORS DENIED.

New York, June 30.—H. H. Vreeland, president of the Metropolitan Street railway today denied the rumors of a proposed consolidation of the Manhattan Elevated road and the Metropolitan system.

TO REVOKE AN ORDER.

Hearing Before the Secretary of War and Assistant.

Washington, June 30.—There was a hearing before Secretary Alger and Assistant Secretary Meiklejohn today to secure the revocation of an order issued by Mr. Meiklejohn, while he was acting secretary of war, cancelling a contract with the Driggs-Seabury Ordnance company. The contract in question, which was dated April 15, 1898, was for twenty 6-pounder and eighty 15-pounder R. F. guns, mounts and ammunition. The order in question also rejected a bid of the same company, March 30 1899, for forty 6-pounder and forty-five 15-pounder rapid-fire guns.

The contract of April 15, 1898, amounted to $700,000, while the bid which was rejected amounted to $200,00. The bid of the American Ordnance company was $7900 in excess of the Driggs-Seabury company.

When Mr. Meiklejohn rejected the bill of the Driggs-Seabury company he ordered new proposals which are to be opened on July 3. Secretary Alger took the matter under advisement.

IT WAS POSTPONED.

Paris, June 30.—In the chamber of deputies today M. Millevoye, Republican Nationalist, said he desired to interpellate M. Millerand, the minister of commerce (who is a Radical Socialist in politics), relative to the manner in which he proposed to apply his socialistic doctrines, but the chamber, by a vote of 357 to 165, supported the minister's request to postpone the question for a month.

CLEANING JEWELRY.

Gold jewelry may be cleaned by washing it in a lather of warm soapsuds, to which a few drops of sal volatile have been added. This imparts brilliance, and the articles should then be dried with a soft cloth and rubbed with a chamois leather.

Silver jewelry should also be washed in a little warm soapy water. It may then be polished with a very little of the best whiting or hatrshorn powder and finished off with a soft leather. Maltese silver ornaments of filigree work do not require a powder to be used; they should be brushed with a small brush and soapy water, dried carefully and rubbed with a soft leather.

After gold jewelry has been cleaned, it should be placed in a bag of boxwood sawdust, to be procured from the jeweler's; shake and rub the ornaments thoroughly in the dust, and they will look beautifully bright and clean when taken out. Chains and necklets may be treated in this way.

WOMEN SMOKING PIPES.

Statistics have been taken in France of the spread of the habit of smoking, and it has been discovered that within the last year the cigarette and even, astonishing as it may appear, the pipe have found an enormous increase in their female votaries, says the New York Journal. The fashion of smoking among women is no longer confined to the secrecy of a private room. The Duchess d'Uzes and the Marchioness de la Rochefoucauld now publicly take a cigarette after diner.

PEACE AND QUIETNESS

Situation In Samoa In Marked Contrast to That Recently Prevailing.

OFFICES ABOLISHED

There Will Be No President of Apia In the Future.

Apia, Samoa, June 16, via San Francisco, June 30.—Peace and quiet now reign in Samoa in marked contrast to the warlike scenes of two months ago. The arrival of the auxiliary cruiser Badger on May 13, with the international commissioners on board, caused a distinct change in affairs here. The commission lost no time, but went to work immediately, electing Mr. Tripp chairman and Mr. Morgan secretary. The commissioners held interviews first with King Tanu and then with Mataafa. Tanu was not at first recognized as king by the commission. Tanu and his chiefs readily agreed to give up their arms, and stated that they were prepared to accept any formal government the commission might recommend, even if the kingship was abolished.

The following day Mataafa and his party came alongside the Badger, singing songs and flying the Samoan flag. The rebels were ordered to take down the flag, which they did. The commissioners explained to the chief that they had come to make peace, and Mataafa said that he was tired of fighting, as were his chiefs. He said his party would recognize any government fixed by the commission, but he hoped to have a king of Samoa, as it was an old-established institution. Mataafa readily agreed to give up the guns held by his party, but insisted that as the weapons were the private property of the natives, they should receive compensation for them. The commissioners issued a proclamation stating that the guns would either be returned or proper payment made for them after all trouble had been settled. This, of course, meant that payment will be made, as it would be foly to return the weapons.

Mataafa's party also asked if they could be represented by attorneys before the commission, but this request was declined.

After the Mataafas had turned in 1800 rifles and the Tanu supporters 2000 more, the Tanu was invited on board the Badger. There he was informed that the commissioners supported the decision of Chief Justice Chambers and that Tanu had been King of Samoa ever since the decision had been rendered. Tanu said that he would willingly do anything for the good of Samoa, and at the request of the commissioners resigned his kingship to them.

The commission is now engaged in writing its report. The abolition of the kingship will be a feature of the report, also the abolition of the office of president. Apia, a municipality, is to be governed by its council and a mayor. This will relieve the municipality of an official drawing a salary of $5000 a year, and who has in the past only been a source of friction in Apia.

The judicial and diplomatic functions of the consuls will be greatly restricted and the commissioners recognize the fact that the supreme court and one law is sufficient for the needs of Samoa. Revenue will be raised by indirect taxation, by means of increased customs duties, and the poll tax will be abolished. The licenses and tax rates of Apia will remain as formerly under the treaty. The supreme court will remain as under the treaty.

An administrator will be appointed who will not be a subject of any of the treaty powers. He is to be assisted by a legislative council of three, one appointed by each of the three powers. This council will legislate for the Samoans, and will be aided by a small body of representative Samoans. The governor will have the power of veto over all proposed laws.

Chief Justice Chambers wishes to resign his position and return to the United States, but on the request of the commissioners has decided to remain.

Many claims have been lodged at the different consulates for damages to property during the past few months. While not empowered to take any action on these claims, the commissioners agreed that real hardship had been suffered, and it is understood that the commission will recommend that the three powers each pay the losses caused to its own subjects.

On the evening of the queen's birthday, British representatives announced that never, under any circumstances, would Great Britain recognize Mataafa's claim to be the king.

Consuls Rose and Mase are passengers on the steamer Mariposa for San Francisco.

Some of the rebels, dissatisfied with the proclamation providing for a provisional government, have declined to give up their arms. Mataafa disclaims any responsibility for this action, and says it is without his consent.

THE PARTY OF REFORM.

Social and Political Conference Tries to Find It.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 30.—Rev. B. Fay Mills, of Boston, was chairman at this morning's session of the national social and political conference. The subject of today's discussion was "Reform Through Party Action." This morning the question considered was "What Can the Parties Do?" Former State Senator John Laughlin presented the claims of the Republican party, which he said was born to meet a great emergency, to free mankind, to lift the shackles from 4,000,000 slaves. The Republican party had always been the friend of labor and the oppressed.

"Never," called out someone.

This brought forth a rebuke from Chairman Mills, who advised the interrupter to retire or be more courteous.

Continuing, the senator upheld President McKinley and his policy in the Philippines. He declared he would be re-elected president in 1900, and that the Empire state was going to present Governor Roosevelt to the nation in 1904 as its presidential candidate.

R. S. Thoman, editor of the New Era, published in Springfield, Ohio, and who is also national chairman of the uniform reform party of the Buckeye state, presented the claims of that party. He said is stands simply and solely for direct legislation; in other words, government by the whole people and not by a party, which is but a part of the people.

George Fred Williams expressed his unbounded confidence in Democracy, which, he said, was great enough to accommodate every reformer and every fad among them.

INSURANCE COMPANIES BOUNCED.

Missouri Supreme Court Grants a Writ of Ouster.

Jefferson City, Mo., June 30.—The Missouri supreme court en banc today awarded a writ of ouster on the information of Attorney General Crow against seventy-three foreign fire insurance companies doing business in St. Joseph, Mo., for violating the state anti-trust law of 1895. Under this decision the seventy-three companies cannot continue doing business in the state.

THE SAME OLD STORY.

Brooklyn Rapid Transit Will Not Recognize the Union.

New York, June 30.—A meeting of the employes of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company will be called tonight to discuss grievances. The men complain that under the present system of paying by trips they cannot make living wages. The employes have been organized by the Knights of Labor. It was said today that while the company was willing to meet its men as individuals it would not recognize the labor organizations.

IN THE DARK.

Congressman Stevens Unable to Learn When the Thirteenth Will Return.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, June 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative Stevens visited the war department this morning and tried to find out when the Thirteenth Minnesota would be permitted to sail from Manilla for San Francisco. He was unable to secure any definite information. He said today that he would see the president while here and endeavor to find out about his Western trip. Mr. Stevens does not appear at all confident that the chief executive will consent to review the Thirteenth Minnesota and other Northwestern troops at St. Paul. As telegraphed to The Herald from here yesterday, the returning volunteers will be mustered out at San Francisco and the president may review them there.

* * *

The combine to control the offices in the next house said to have been formed by Representatives Babcock, Tawney and others may be broken. Former Congressman Ellis of Oregon is a candidate for sergeant-at-arms and will have good support. He may defeat the combine's candidate, Henry Casson, of Wisconsin. In that event the combine may go to pieces. It is said that Eddy and Stevens of Minnesota are very favorable to Ellis' candidacy.

The court of inquiry which had the case of Leonhauser, colonel of the Fifteenth Minnesota, to deal with has exonerated him. This information was given out by the war department today.

FAVORS CONCILIATION.

Premier's Declaration Will Probably Appease the Belgians.

Brussels, June 30.—When quiet was restored in the chamber of deputies this afternoon, the Socialists drew moving pictures of the victims of the repression, lying wounded in the hospitals, and demanded to know who was responsible for such "unjustifiable horrors." The premier replied:

"It is I who caused the strength of the gendarme to be increased, on legal requisitions made before the repression commenced."

This statement drew forth a storm of invectives and SOcialistic cries of "Murderer." Subsequently several of the deputies appealed to the government to be conciliatory, whereupon the premier expressed the strongest desire for conciliation and said he was prepared to seek to that end. The statement was greeted with applause, in the midst of which the session was ended.

The Socialists left the house together and M. Vander Velde, after receiving the permission of the police, addressed the crowd outside, informing them of the ministerial statement and exhorting the people to calmness. The Socialist deputies were warmly cheered by the crowd.

It is believed the premier's declaration will appease the public.

During the night stones were hurled at the windows of the premier's residence, the porter of which was hurt, and blood was smeared on the pavement in front of the house.

SPANISH SECURITIES.

London, June 30.—After the close of the stock exchange today, Spanish is declined to 59¾, on Paris and Brussels liquidation. When this ceased the 4s went up again, closing at 61, in sympathy with the general improvement in prices.

STRIKE THREATENED.

New York, June 30.—Leaders in the movement to organize the street railway employes of Brooklyn assert that if the Brooklyn Rapid Transit does not accede to the demands of the men a strike on the entire system will be inaugurated at 7:30 a. m. on Sunday.

THE CRICKETERS.

Leeds, Eng., June 30.—The all-England eleven in the third test cricket match with the Australians, which began here yesterday, wee all out today in their first innings for 220 runs. The Australians yesterday were all out in their first innings for 172 runs.

GOVERNMENT SUSTAINED.

Ottawa, Ont., June 30.—The house of commons divided on the question or mismanagement in the Yukon country today. The amendment of Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, censuring the government, was defeated by 32 for, to 82 against, a majority of 50 for the government.

THE TUG COMBINE

Vessel Owners Are Back of Combine That Has Been Formed.

WILL NOT SQUEEZE

Combine's Power Over Tug Men Will Not Be Used Viciously.

A Cleveland paper has found out what is back of the proposed tug trust. It is the vessel owners of the lakes, who have decided to take the towing business into their own hands and run it to suit themselves. They will buy up all the various lines around the chain of lakes and consolidate them into the Great Lakes Towing company, whose organization was noted by The Herald yesterday.

The manner in which this intelligence was treated by the morning paper has amused the local vessel men very much. It is stated that the proceeding is a fight against the individual harbor tug men, and that they will find an antagonist in the new company. How this will be possible after the trust has purchased all of the lines and the individual tugmen have gone out of business or entered the employ of the trust is what the local vessel men are puzzling over. They figure that after the trust has purchased the various lines the matter will be about settled.

The Cleveland paper states that a meeting of vessel interests was held in Cleveland last Saturday at which a large amount of cash was subscribed to push the deal along. The Bessemer Steamship company gave $100,000; Pickands, Mather & Co., $100,000; American Steel and Wire company, $70,000; American Shipbuilding company, a large amount, the figures not being given out; James Davidson, $40,000; Thomas Wilson, $20,000; John Mitchell, $10,000. All of the vesselowners of prominence on the lakes were represented at the meeting. Five men were named as a board of managers to have charge of the combination, and among the five are Capt. A. B. Wolvin, of Duluth, and Capt. James Davidson, of Bay City. The combination will hold another meeting in Cleveland tomorrow.

The company will appoint a board of appraisers, which will inspect the various tug lines and place values upon them. The price to be paid for the outfits will be the figures placed upon them by the board of appraisers. The report that small values will be offered is not received with credence by local vessel men. It has been promised from the inception that fair prices would be given for the plants, and the options were given with that idea in view. Of course it is not to be expected that the full cost of all the tugs purchased will be paid, as this would not be reasonable. Nearly all the tugs have been used a number of years, and there has been a depreciation in them which will take away from the price that will be paid.

The local tug men are not worrying about this part of the matter. It will be a great load off their shoulders if the combination goes through and they get fair prices for their outfits, and they expect that both of these things will be realized. The announcement that it is the vessel men instead of outside parties that are getting up the combine is an interesting one, but there the matter ends. There is not an advantage that the vessel men will have over the tug men that the combine engineered by outside parties would not have, and it is not believed that the vessel men are going to use their power to ruin the tug men by forcing them to sell out at a great loss. It would be possible for them to do it if they desired, but it is unreasonable to suppose that they have any such idea in view.

They propose merely to take the tug business in their own hands and manage it so as to reduce the friction that has been the most prominent feature of the business in the past. In this way they will save money and reduce the cost of towing in many ways and the idea is a good one.

NO DIAMONDS.

Geological Surveyors Think Diamond Mines Are Scarce Here.

J. Morgan Clemens and C. K. Leith, of the United States geological survey, are at the Spalding today preparing for their summer's work up on Vermilion lake and the Vermilion range. They have been making a geological survey of that country for the past two years, and expect to finish up their work this summer. In speaking of the recent reports sent out from Chicago and Milwaukee of a possible survey of Wisconsin and Minnesota to locate diamond deposits supposed to be somewhere up in Northern Canada, Mr. Clemens said that from time to time scattering diamonds had been picked up in Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota on the edge of drift of glacial deposits, and that this had given rise to the belief that there must be a large diamond deposit somewhere in the mountains of the far North, but it is not likely that an attempt will be made to trace the deposits at present at least.

Both Mr. Clemens and Mr. Leith are from Madison, Wis., and they say the little university town is much worked up over the great showing of the Wisconsin crew in the inter-collegiate boat races. There is no doubt in the minds of the Badgers but that they had the best crew, and that the race was lost by a berry crate. The crate will probably be brought to Madison and kept as a relic.

LOST---ONE BEAR.

Night Clerk Lock Mourns the Loss of a Cub.

Peter H. Lock, night clerk of the St. Louis hotel, is looking for a man with a bear cub today. Several weeks ago George Hillyer secured two cubs up at Mine Center and presented them to Mr. Lock. Th bears have been kept in the sub-basement of the hotel securely chained, but this morning, when Mr. Lock went down to look at his bears one of them had disappeared. The chain was all that was left to indicate that there had been another bear, and the fellow that was left was in a very ugly mood over the loss of his brother. What puzzles Mr. Lock is how the bear was smuggled out of the building without any person seeing it. The subbasement is well guarded, and as that is where all the machinery is located there is some one there nearly all the time.

A more pitiful sight than a mother and her child, both captives and shackled in a dungeon, could not well be imagined. There are thousands of mothers and their babes who lie shackled by disease in the dungeon of death.

Without knowing it, or having the faintest comprehension of it, the fault lies with the mother. Too many women enter upon the responsibilities of wifehood and motherhood while suffering from weakness and disease of the delicate and important organs that make wifehood and motherhood possible. A woman who suffers in this way cannot be a capable wife and a competent mother. Before entering upon the duties and responsibilities of these positions, she should see to it that her health, both general and local, is thoroughly restored. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best of all medicines for this purpose. It acts directly on the sensitive organs concerned, making them strong, healthy and vigorous. It promotes regularity of the functions, allays irritation and inflammation, heals ulceration, checks unnatural and exhausting drains and soothes pain. It tones and builds up the shattered nerves. It turns the dangers and pains of maternity into safety and ease. It is a medicine that is intended for this one purpose only and is good for no other. Dealers sell it and no honest dealer will suggest a substitute.

"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription did me so much good that to-day I am well again and stronger than I have been for years," writes Mrs. Alex. Lockie, of Wise, Isabella Co., Mich. "I have a baby one year old and as fat and healthy as one could wish to see. I took two bottles of 'Favorite Prescription.' I keep Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets in the house all the time. My family take no other kind of pills."

G. C. WELLS' FUNERAL.

Took Place Under Masonic Auspices Yesterday Afternoon.

The funeral of Guy C. Wells, who died Tuesday in St. Paul, took place yesterday afternoon from the Masonic Temple. The local commandery of the Knights Templar met the body at the station and escorted it to the Temple, where Palestine lodge took charge of it. Rev. J. Ryan offered prayer and spoke briefly in the lodge room, after which the remains were taken to Forest Hill for interment. There Senior Warden S. O. Sterrett, acting as worshipful master, read the Masonic burial service. There was a large assemblage of friends at the Temple, and the floral offerings were numerous and beautiful. The pallbearers were L. P. Tetman, S. F. Boyce, F. T. Little, J. R. Carey, R. E. Denfeld and E. S. Upham. The board of public works closed its offices in the city hall during the services in respect to the memory of Mr. Wells, who was the first president of the board.

A Balloon Ascension.

Dr. Herbert L. Flint and Grace Marion Flint, the funmakers and hypnotists, will during their engagement here next week take a number of volunteers and give part of them a balloon ascension. They will meet all sorts of adventures, and finally an eagle will tear a hole in the balloon and compel the aeronauts to descend and, as they approach the earth, they will find that they are about to fall into the sea. They will prepare for the emergency, and when the balloon strikes they will dive off, in some cases they will acrually dive into the floor. The scene is the most vivid and lifelike delineation possible, and it never fails to win storms of applause. They are at the Lyceum every evening next week.

THE IDAHO TRIAL.

Wallace, Idaho, June 30.—With all three county commissioners and Sheriff Young on the stand, the evidence in the impeachment trial of Sheriff Young touching matters connected more directly with the riot of April 29, Sheriff Young said he went to Wardner April 29 on the train with the 800 to 1000 men, many of whom were masked. All the masked men were armed and some of the others had revolvers. At Kellogg the mob threw up the Bunker Hill mill. Smith was killed outright and Cheyenne fatally wounded. The mill was blown up by the masked men who also shot these men. Witness was questioned closely as to the time he had arrived in the Coeur D'Alenes and his acquaintance with the people, ending with very scorching questions as to whether he recognized any of the people in the mob, but he persistently stated that he did not recognize a single man.

Energy all gone? Headache? Stomach out of order? Simply a case of torpid liver. Burdock Blood Bitters will make a new man or woman of you.

Amalgamated Officers Think Most Manufacturers Will Sign Scale.

SECRETARY HOPEFUL

The Tin Plate Factories Will Close Down For a Time.

Pittsburg, June 30.—All the annual scales of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Plate Workers of the United States expire at midnight tonight, and if operations are to continue with the present employes the new schedule of wages prepared by the Amalgamated convention at Detroit must be accepted before that time. However the situation turns out in the end, it is certain that not all of the mills will be concerned in a stoppage of operations.

A number of manufacturers have already stated their intention to sign the scale, and the workers believe that before midnight others who have not made any declaration will accept the terms and renew relations with the organization.

From the attitude taken by some of the manufacturers, it is sure that some of the mills will not work after today with their present employes. At some of them the scale of the Amalgamated association has been paid, and the manufacturers are willing to pay the new rate, but with the association itself they will have nothing to do. This may cause trouble, but as work is so plentiful it is thought the men will quietly seek employment elsewhere, as they did at the Moorhead plant, where the firm refused to recognize the organization and discharged the puddlers, replacing them with negroes.

Secretary John Williams of the Amalgamated association was sanguine today that matters would come out all right, but was not bound by precedents or promises. He said the association is on a sure basis, especially in the Pittsburg district, and that the lodges which had gone to pieces during the past few years had been reorganized and would present the iron scale to their employers individually.

Continuance of operations will not depend upon single plants, as heretofore when the scale was accepted or rejected in conference for all mills.

Work will continue at the mills which accept the scale and labor will cease at plants which refuse recognition. This program, he said, would apply to all mills, whether now classed under the name of union plants or non-union. Mills that are non-union today will appear as union plants tomorrow after the scale has been presented.

Secretary Williams said the scale would be offered at almost every mill, but exactly how many he declined to say. He said that the association had been assured by a number of manufacturers—some of whom have not been union manufacturers either—that they would sign the scale, and from that he believed the situation will be handled without trouble.

In the matter of the tin plate factories a general shut-down would take place tonight, pending the action of the lodges on the scale rejected by the manufacturers.

NORWEGIAN LUTHERANS.

Final Session of the Synod of United Church.

St. Paul, June 30.—The final session of the synod of the United Norwegian Lutheran church was occupied in gathering up the loose ends, the acceptance of the buildings and grounds of St. Olaf's college, the election of a board of managers and the selection of a president for the college, Rev. G. N. Kildal, of Chicago, being chosen.

It was decided that any attempt to merge St. Olaf's and the Minneapolis college together this year would only result in confusion and the shutting out of a number of new students, so it was decided to allow them to remain just as they are until next year.

The territory of the united church has been divided into thirty-two districts one new one being created at Albert Lea this year. The superintendents for these were appointed, among them being the following: H. E. Rue, of the Atlantic district; A. Ofstedal, Chicago; O. H. Stenson, Michigan; T. A. Loe, Milwaukee; O. Nilson, Scandinavia; C. Tangjerd, Eau Claire; O. M. Savig, Madison, Wis.; J. Madsen, Superior; O. Guldbrandsen, LaCrosse; J. O. Houghen, Decorah, Iowa; P. G. Ostby, St. Ansgar, Iowa; H. C. Holm, Des Moines, Iowa; S. K. Ulsaker, Wisconsin; O. O. Hafstad Kansas; P. J. Reinertsen, Sioux City Iowa; Thormodsgaard, Howard, Wis. J. J. Heje, Pacific; C. J. Olsen, Spokane Wash.

BROUGHT YELLOW FEVER.

New York, June 30.—John Johnson, mate of the Norwegian steamship Krim, was removed to Swinburne island hospital suffering from yellow fever and his condition is serious. The Krim sailed from Havana on June 20 for Matanzas arriving at that port the same day. Mate Johnson, who had been ailing was taken severely ill two days after arrival at Matanzas. The port physician was called in but up to the time of sailing for this port on June 24, although the man developed high temperature, no suspicious symptoms appeared. The steamer was detained at quarantine here for disinfection which will probably be finished tomorrow. The crew will be held at Hoffman island five days and the steamer will be allowed to proceed to the dock with a new crew.

CASE OF CONTEMPT.

Cincinnati, June 30.—David N. Comingore, collector of internal revenue of the Sixth Kentucky district, is constructively in jail for contempt of court. The state authorities called him as a witness to tell how much whisky a distiller in the district had on hand subject to state taxation. Comingore took the ground that the knowledge coming to him as a United States officer was privileged, and refused to testify. The court ordered the sheriff to place him in jail for contempt of court. Comingore has applied for writ of habeas corpus, which will be heard July 5 by United States Judge Evans. Meantime the sheriff is responsible for the collector's response to any order of the court.

TO TRY LYNCHERS.

Athens, Texas, June 30.—Walter Wilkinson, Joe Wilkinson, Polk Weems, William Brooks, John Greenhaw, Arthur Greenhaw, W. E. Johnson, W. M. Garris, John Stevens and Samuel Hall were remanded to jail without bail, charged with having murdered James, John and George Humphreys, by taking them from their homes and hanging them. The prisoners will institute habeas corpus proceedings. The case is the most celebrated in Texas criminal history, and the state has sent an assistant attorney general, district attorneys and rangers to aid in apprehending the lynchers. Three of the men have confessed and others have pleaded to be permitted to do so.

AMONG THE SPORTS.

Eddie McDuffie made a new world's record for the mile at the Buttonwood Cycle track at New Bedford, Mass., yesterday afternoon. His time was 1:31 2-5 for the distance, beating Maj. Taylor's previous record by two-fifths of a second.

Kid Wanko, of Washington, Pa., and Felix Carr, of Huntington, W. Va., were to have fought a 20-round contest at Fries Park last night. Wanko knocked Carr out in the fourth round. Carr did not recover promptly after the knockout and was taken to the Commercial hotel, in Parkersburg, where doctors worked with him until 1 a. m., when he died without having fully regained consciousness. He was 23 years of age. Wanko was arrested.

At the West Side Turner hall, Milwaukee, last night, Jack Hammond, of Detroit, fought Bob Douglas, of St. Louis six rounds to a draw.

Perry Lipman, of Milwaukee, and Jack Daly, of Chicago, also fought a 6-round draw.

Ned Maher, of Milwaukee, and Young Morris, of Chicago, fought a 6-round bout, which the referee decided in favor of Morris.

IT IS MURDER.

Philippine War Denounced By Prof. Herron of Iowa College.

Buffalo, June 30.—At the social and political conference last evening Professor George D. Herron of Iowa college declared: "We are living in this country today under a military dictatorship of the most contemptible kind. This is an illegal war and we are being governed without a constitution in America today. We are in that same period from which the Roman republic passed to the reign of the Cæsars who were simply chiefs of police for the property classes."

His remarks caused a sensation.

Miss Lucinda B. Chandler, of Chicago, put in an earnest plea for the expansion of the love of liberty in the hearts of the people as the true safeguard against militarism.

Frank J. Stevens, of Philadelphia, characterized the war in the Philippines as "Murder of people, murder of the love of freedom and of our fellowmen."

Mrs. Edwin D. Mead, of Boston, spoke on "A Permanent International Tribunal." While advocating international arbitration, she did not go the length of claiming that the standing army could be wholly abolished.

Professor Richard T. Ely, of Cambridge, Mass., speaking on "Co-operation," brought out the fact that the British co-operative societies in one year divided profits amounting to $25,500,000. The Scottish and English societies owned, among other things, eight steamships.

John S. Crosby, of New York, spoke in favor of the single tax.

Mrs. Marie Brown, one of the national secretaries of the W. C. T. U., discussed non-partisan temperance and made an earnest and eloquent plea for the cause.

J. R. Sovereign, former head of the Knights of Labor, discussed organized labor. He said that while there was craft selfishness in some labor organizations, and while all were not perfect, as a whole organized labor was doing much good. The various subjects were further discussed in three-minute speeches, after which the convention adjourned until evening.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

The correspondent of the Standard at The Hague telegraphs that he has had an interview with Sir Julian Pauncefote, British ambassador to the United States and head of the British delegation at the peace conference, and has been assured by him that he intends to retire from the American embassy in April next.

In consequence of his exertions during the recent religious ceremonies the pope is now suffering great prostration, together with a slight attack of fever. He was confined to his bed yesterday and some anxiety is felt regarding him.

The British first-class cruiser Indefatigable, one of the finest ships of the British North American squadron, will leave Halifax July 5 for Newfoundland. It is no doubt the intention of the naval authorities to attach her to the fleet performing fishery protection service on the French coast.

As an example of the Dreyfus rumors current, the Soir declared that a high police official, speaking to an intimate friend, said the French government received information forty-eight hours ago that Dreyfus committed suicide on board the cruiser Sfax, on which he left Devils island for France.

A special from Ottawa says that the meeting of the international commission, which was to have taken place on Aug. 2 at Quebec, has been postponed until October. The exact date has not been fixed.

NO GOLD THERE.

San Francisco, June 30.—Dr. J. K. Stone, formerly a prominent San Francisco physician, writes from Klikaki River, Alaska, that the circulars sent out by certain transportation companies announcing the Koizebu Sound country as the richest gold fields in Alaska, are totally without foundation and were issued for the purpose of inducing people to travel over their lines. He says $50 paid $250 each passage money but none of them have ever found gold in paying quantities.

DEMURRER FILED.

Columbus, Ohio, June 30.—The American Sugar company has filed a demurrer to the suit of the attorney general, who seeks to hold them for a penalty of $56,000 for failure to file statements of its transactions with the secretary of state. The demurrer raises the point that the condition of the attorney general is an interference with the interstate commerce law, the company being a foreign corporation.

TO BE APPEALED.

Seattle, Wash., June 30.—S. A. Sylvester, the North Dakota fugitive and alleged embezzler, was discharged by Federal Judge Hanford on a writ of habeas corpus yesterday morning during the prosecution. Attorney B. Hart gave notice of an appeal to the supreme court of the United States, and Judge Hanford orderer the prisoner held by Sheriff Vanderventer, pending a decision on the appeal.

A SCORCHER.

Electricity travels at the rate of 288,000 miles per second, and when necessary, in order to secure them, it is this agency the C. M. & St. P. Ry. employs in the placing of orders for any mechanical device or appliance that may be offered which will give increased safety to the operation of its trains. COPPER NEWS.

At Present Prices Copper Production Equals That of Precious Metals.

Houghton, June 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—If the present price of copper is maintained till the close of the year, which seems probable, as December sales are being made at the present price of 18 cents, the value of American copper production will equal the total value of all gold, silver, iron ore, lead, zinc, aluminum and other metals produced in the United States.

A second shaft has been commenced at the Rhode Island, No. 1 shaft has attained a depth of 120 feet. As yet no drifting is under way.

The Quincy company is about to pump out one of the old shafts on its Mesnard property. The shaft is believed to extend to the third level and is full of water.

Much encouragement is met with by the Jeffs Land company in the exploratory work that they are conducting on the Davis lands, comprising about 300 acres located at Rockland. The work thus far has been confined to the opening of pits along three veins that follow the south side of the property and dip to the north. Each of these lodes carries more or less copper while their character shows improvement at lower depths.

UPPER PENINSULA NEWS.

Marquette—The mosquito pestilence is raging this year. At Nadeau recently the schools were closed one afternoon because of so many mosquitoes.

Ironwood—E. A. and J. O. Hayes, representing the stockholders of the Ashland Iron Mining company, took formal possession of Ashland mine Monday morning and began shipping ore. The old Ashland Iron Mining company no longer exists, but now one composed of stockholders of the old company will operate the mine. The name of the new company is not yet known. The mine will be under the direct management of E. A. Hayes, who will begin immediately to get it into condition. It will take some time, as it is not in the best of condition. The cost will be in the neighborhood of of $150,000. No expense will be spared, and in a few months the Ashland will be one of the largest employers of labor on the Menominee range. E. A. Hayes intends moving his family to Ironwood and keep the mine under his personal care.

Escanaba—Mayor Hartnett informs the Mirror that an application for the location of the upper peninsula agricultural experiment station at Escanaba, has already been sent to the secretary of the state board of agriculture. "We are the most central point in the agricultural belt of the upper peninsula," said Mr. Hartnett, and the prospects for the development of agricultural interests in Delta county are brighter than in any other locality that I know of. In fact, we have at present many well-cultivated farms and the location of the station here would stimulate the improvement of lands that have been shown to be productive, and well adapted for farming purposes. We propose to push our claims for this as well as everything else, and hope to be able to convince the board of agriculture of the many advantages offered by this locality for the station."

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Negotiations looking to the consolidation of all the street transportation lines of Manhattan, Brooklyn and Bronx boroughs are in progress.

Suit was begun yesterday to prevent the Metropolitan Traction company from using electricity, carried through the conduits along its surface railway tracks, for any purpose other than operating its cars. The suit is said to be a phase of the struggle between the Standard Oil on one side and the Whitney-Brady-Elkins-Widener syndicate.

At New Haven, Conn., fire in the convent of the Sacred Heart caused the death from suffocation of Sister M. O. Aloysius and $50,000 damage to the building.

Chairman O. H. Ingram, of the New Richmond relief committee, has issued an official circular to the public as the first fruits of their investigation. The circular states that a careful estimate shows the money loss from the cyclone to be $750,000. Subscriptions thus far amount to only about $80,000, a large portion of which has been spent in clearing away the debris and in lending temporary assistance to the people. There is great need of money and building material.

Secretary Long signed an order designating Capt. H. C. Taylor to command the North Atlantic squadron during the month's leave of Admiral Sampson, which will begin early next month.

Louis Bush, of 129 West One Hundred and Twelfth street, New York, is confined in jail at Detroit on suspicion of smuggling from Canada $20,000 worth of diamonds, which he had in his possession. The diamonds were found sewed around his rankles, wrapped in diamond paper.

The attorney for the new American Isthmus Ship Canal company said that he would file amendments to the incorporation papers at Trenton, covering the points made by the secretary of state, who refused to accept the papers as prepared.

At a meeting of the directors of the Metropolitan Street Railway company, it was resolved to issue $5,000,000 additional stock of the company for cash. Stockholders have first right of subscription.

Fire Commissioner Scannel appointed Acting Fire Chief Edward F. Croker permanent chief of the fire department of greater New York at a salary of $6000 per year. The new chief is a nephew of Richard Croker.

Mayor Van Wyck vetoed a resolution of the municipal council making Monday, July 3, a holiday, on the ground that public officials had no right to a holiday not secured by law to the general public.

Daniel F. Tiemann, mayor of New York in 1858-58, died aged 91 years. He was chosen mayor on a citizens' ticket, defeating Fernando Wood.

THE COLUMBIA.

New York, June 30.—The new cup defender Columbia dropped anchor in the sound, just off the Rochelle Yacht club house today. The yacht has come into New York waters to prepare for the races, which are expected to prove her fitness to race with the cup challenger Shamrock. As she lay at anchor the Columbia attracted attention, and the shore has been lined continually with admiring spectators.

RIOTING CONTINUED.

Trouble at Brussels Assuming a Serious Phase.

Brussels, June 30.—The rioting here was continued until 2 o'clock this morning at various points. The gendarmes charged and fired several times upon the Boulevard Auspach, and used ball cartridges on the Grande Place. One rioter was bayoneted and two reporters were seriously injured. Saucepans and other domestic implements were thrown from windows during the night at the troops.

The Gazette says 100 persons have been injured during the rioting, and that of this number eight were seriously wounded.

At the opening of the chamber of deputies today a motion was introduced amending the rules so as to allow the expulsion of any deputy causing a disturbance. The Socialists vigorously protested and violently anathematized the movers.

M. De La Nanthier, for the Rightists, defended the proposal, and delivered a caustic indictment of the Socialists, who interrupted him by whistling, hooting and banging their desks.

FRANK PINGREE TALKS.

Has Stood Much From Unions For Political Reasons.

Detroit, June 30.—The Pingree & Smith shoe factory lockout is in full force today. Frank C. Pingree, brother of Governor Pingree, who is manager of the business, said today:

"We have stood a great deal from the unions on account of Governor Pingree's position in politics. No, sir, there will be no decrease in wages. It is simply a question if we are going to run this business. We have not heard from the men yet."

WHEAT IS STEADY

Market Started Out a Little Higher and Held Fairly Firm.

THE CABLES LOWER

Fear of Damage By Very Hot Weather In the Northwest.

Duluth Board of Trade, June 30.—The wheat market started with a firmer tone this morning, principally because of a small decline in the Northwest receipts which was thought to confirm the recent prediction that they would soon begin to fall off. The Liverpool market started at lower figures, but this had very little effect as it was expected there would not be much English trade until after the holidays. Prices advanced on a report that very warm weather in the Northwest is likely to prove damaging to the growing crop, but they soon reacted to about the opening figures. The Liverpool market closed steady at 1/4@1d lower. The close was 1/4c lower than yesterday here and 3/8c lower at Chicago for the July option. September lost 1/8c here and was practically unchanged at Chicago.

There was a fair amount of trading on the Duluth board. July wheat opened 1/8c down at 73@c, rose to 73@c at 9:50, reacted to 73 1/4c at 10, rose to 73 5/8c at 10:20 and fell off again to 73@c at 1 o'clock, closing at 73@c, or 1/8c under yesterday. September started unchanged at 73@c, sold at 73@c at 9:35, declined to 73@c at 10, but reacted to 73@c at 11:20. It declined to close at 1 o'clock and closed at 73@c, being 1/8c below yesterday's final figures. Cash business was quiet, 50,000 bus being sold at 1/8c under July for wheat in store and the July price for wheat to arrive. It is estimated that wheat stocks here will show an increase of 400,000 to 500,000 bus this week. Oats declined 1/4c, rye fell off 1/2c, while barley, corn and flax were unchanged. Following were the closing prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, cash, 76@c; July, 73@c. No. 1 northern, cash, 73@c; July, 73@c; September, 73@c. No. 2 northern, 69@c. No. 3 spring, 66@c. To arrive—No. 1 hard, 76@c; No. 1 northern, 73@c. Oats, 25@@26@c. Rye, 49c. Barley, 36@c. Flax, $1.00; September, 97c; October, 96c. Corn, 36c.

Car inspection—Wheat, 204; corn, 67; oats, 1; rye, 2; barley, 2; flax, 10. Receipts—Wheat, 240,247; corn, 55,871; oats, 4069; rye, 1263; corn, 35,873; flax, 5616. Shipments—Wheat, 165,259; corn, 27,224.

ON THE CHICAGO BOARD.

Small Decrease In Northwestern Receipts an Encouragement.

Chicago, June 30.—A little dropping off in Northwest receipts opened September wheat today 3c above yesterday's close of 74@c, the market starting at 74@@75c and holding firm on light trade. The Liverpool market opened 1@c off. Owing to approaching holidays the English trade is expected to be slight. Minneapolis and Duluth received 502 cars, as compared with 669 last week and 52 a year ago. Chicago received 123 cars, 11 of contract grade. Later September advanced to 74@c on fear of damage by extremely hot weather in the Northwest, but reacted again to 74@c. Corn was fairly active with moderate July liquidation. September opened 1@c lower at 32c and advanced to 32@c on an improved demand. Local receipts were 999 cars. Weather was favorable.

Moderate selling on favorable weather sent oats a fraction lower at the opening, but a recovery of yesterday's close followed on a better demand. September opened 1@@1c lower at 21@@25c and advanced to 21@@25c.

The provision market was slightly higher than yesterday in sympathy with a fair hog market, pork holding firm at $8.40@8.45. Lard, $4.87@4.90; ribs, $4.15@4.20.

THE COTTON MARKET.

New York, June 30.—After opening steady, with prices unchanged to 1 lower, the cotton market pursued an uneventful course. As demand from shorts exceeded selling pressure the tendency of prices was gradually upward. As for news the situation in general was unchanged. The Liverpool market was described as quiet and featureless as to futures and less active in the spot department. Beneficial rains in the Atlantic states and needed clearing weather in the Mississippi valley were offset in effect by damage by the possible excessive rains in Texas.

MIDWAY HORSE MARKET.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul.—Barrett & Zimmerman's report: The tone of the market less active today. The supplies on hand were composed of all classes of horses, which sold at prices leaving the profits for the shippers very scant. Owing to the increased scarcity of horses in the country and the more active demand for good horses the past six months, the prices are rapidly advancing on horses in the country, and it is impossible to educate the buyers on this market to pay prices accordingly. NEW YORK STOCKS.

Covering In Sugar Caused a Better Tone to Trading.

New York, June 30.—Prices of railroad stocks were shaded at the opening and pulled down the few industrials, which showed opening gains, notably Manhattan and Metropolitan Street Railway, which lost their advance. Speculation became rather hesitating, but a general reaction followed liberal offerings of Sugar and the city traction stocks. There was little feature in the standard stocks and although they moved in unison with the specialties the variations were narrow. Covering in Sugar caused a better tone to the trading, but dullness developed on the rise.

There was no energetic demand for any of the specialties, but they maintained their level well at the rally. Third Avenue exceptionally dropped 5 points. Sales of stocks to noon, 137,121 shares. Bonds brought higher prices, with the St. Louis Southwestern issues the favorites.

MEATS FOR OCEAN VOYAGERS.

"Away down in the bottom of the ship the chief steward has a market of his own, one which he has stocked and from which he draws, thus serving in the double capacity of merchant and customer," writes Helen C. Candee, describing "Housekeeping On An Ocean Steamship," in the June Ladies' Home Journal. "Here is an enormous refrigerator, and is presided over by a steward who is responsible for every pound of meat within it. Before the ship slips from the dock this room is stocked, for a full ship, with 20,000 pounds of beef, 200 pounds of veal and 3000 pounds of mutton. From hooks along the walls and ceiling of another refrigerator hang bunches of birds, very much as dried corn and peppers hang from the rafters of old farmhouses. As many as can be tied together are hung until 400 pounds are stowed away. Ducks are not as popular as chickens, therefore 700 pounds only are provided—about 100 pounds' allowance for each day. Turkeys are liked, and 1000 pounds must be provided for the demands of the cook. Pigeons, squabs and other small birds, these are reckoned in pieces, and it is calculated that the family which floats across the ocean will devour 1000 birds."

RICHEST MAN IN TURKEY.

Naturalized American Citizen Who is Worth $40,000,000.

The richest man in Turkey is an Armenian, who is a naturalized American citizen and lived in this country for several years. If the stories told in the diplomatic circles of Constantinople are true he came by his money in a peculiar manner. It will be remembered that the sultan, Aziz, was assassinated in 1876. For several years prior to his death he accumulated all the money and bonds he could obtain, which he stored away in his palace as a reserve fund in case of a war with Russia, which had been impending for some time. The amount of his accumulations has been variously estimated from $10,000,000 to $40,000,000, and was undoubtedly considerably in excess of the latter sum.

Although the assassination was a mystery it is believed to have been inspired if it was not actually accomplished by Midad Pasha, the minister of finance, from avaricious motives. He alone was aware of the magnitude of the sultan's hoard and the place of its concealment, and after his sovereign's death, by virtue of his position, he took charge of the fund and pretended to deposit it in the public treasury. But it is believed by those most familiar with Turkish affairs that he retained for his own benefit a large part—perhaps one-half of it—which for motives of self-protection he intrusted to the Armenian banker I have named and directed him to take the bonds to London and Paris and there deposit them in such a manner that their ownership could not be traced to Midad Pasha. It is also believed to have been the latter's intention to withdraw a portion of this property from concealment as soon as he felt safe in doing so.

But not long afterward Midad Pasha was himself assassinated in the boldest and most astounding manner. He was attending a meeting of the ministry, when he was informed that a messenger was awaiting him in the ante-room with a confidential communication that must be delivered immediately and to himself alone. Midad left his colleagues and entered the ante-room, where an unknown man immediately plunged a dagger into his heart. The palace guard, hearing his death cry and the fall of the body, immediately rushed into the room and shot the assassin before he could escape. Although the police continued their investigation for months, they were never able to identify the assassin or associate any one else with the crime, but knowing ones believe that he was a ruffian imported from the mountains by the Armenian banker referred to and was handsomely paid to commit the deed. One Armenian merchant went to Midad's palace and informed his widow that there was concealed in a certain strong box certain papers that would connect her husband with a plot against the life of the crown and would undoubtedly cause the arrest and imprisonment of the entire family and the confiscation of the property if they were discovered. The frightened widow, already beside herself with excitement because of the assassination, begged him to search her husband's papers and destroy all questionable or suspicious documents. He spent the night at this work, and among the papers burned that night are believed to have been the evidence of Midad's ownership in the bonds that have made the Armenian the richest man in Turkey.

VAIN EMPRESS.

The German empress has passed through troublous times of late, says the London Mail. She has had a sad time with her hair. When the silver threads began to come the empress was very much depressed about it, and an accommodating friend got her a bottle of hair dye, "warranted harmless. The misguided empress used it, with the usual dire results. She would gladly have gone in retirement for a while, but that was impossible, and with fear and trembling she presented herself at the next family meal. The august William gave her one awful look, and then demanded the bottle. In vain she protested that there was no bottle. The emperor searched until he found it, when he disposed at one fell swoop of the stuff and the man who had sold it. But the empress was not to be daunted, and, at her request, a friend sent to Paris for another dye, which was duly applied. The very next morning the emperor eyed his wife with wrath, and demanded who had sold her "that glaring, so shameful to see on the head of a mother and a spouse." So that bottle went the way of the first. The empress did not fancy going about in society, so far as her hair was concerned, so she again appealed to her friends to procure something which would completely blanch the hair. The final experiment is said to have been successful. So young, and yet so false! It is impossible to believe that the bonny brown-haired empress is now a white-haired old woman.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.—Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage which was duly executed and delivered by Angus Gibson and Mary S. Gibson, his wife, mortgagors, to A. R. Macfarlane, mortgagee, bearing date June first (1st), 1891, and which was duly recorded in the register of deeds' office for Saint Louis County, Minnesota, on June fifteenth (15th), 1891, at 10:20 o'clock a. m. in Book eighty-nine (89) of mortgages, on page eleven (11); which mortgage, with the debt thereby secured, was thereafter duly assigned by said A. R. Macfarlane to Sadie M. Reeves, by an instrument of assignment dated June seventeenth (17th), 1899, and which was duly recorded in said register of deeds' office on June eighteenth (18th), 1899, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. in Book seventy-three (73) of mortgages, on page four hundred forty-one (441); such default consisting in the non-payment of the principal sum thereby secured, with interest thereon from December 1st, 1896, and in the non-payment of taxes amounting to $14, and insurance premiums amounting to $3.25 which said mortgagors neglected to pay, and which the undersigned paid in accordance with the provisions of said mortgage.

And whereas, there is therefore claimed to be due, and there is actually due, upon said mortgage debt, at the date of this notice, the sum of seven hundred forty-two 47@2) dollars, principal, interest, taxes, insurance and exchange.

And whereas, said mortgage contains a power of sale in due form, which has become operative by reason of the defaults above mentioned, and no action or proceeding, at law or otherwise, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of said power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described therein, situate in St. Louis County, Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: Lot (10) numbered four (4), in block numbered six (6), in Hunter & Markell's Grassy Point Addition to Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof on file of record in the office of the register of deeds in and for said St. Louis County; which premises will be sold by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, Minnesota, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the fifteenth (15th) day of August, A. D. 1899, at ten (10) o'clock a. m., at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and said taxes and insurance paid, and fifty dollars attorney's fee, stipulated for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated June 30th, 1899.

SADIE M. REEVES, Assignee of Mortgagee.

FRANCIS W. SULLIVAN, Attorney for Assignee.

HARVEST OF REGRETS.

Police Court Victims Will Garner One In Jail.

The mourners' bench in police court was full this morning. Charles Olson and Michael Cherrll pleaded guilty of drunkenness and were fine $10 and costs each. They went up for ten days.

J. Connors and Patrick Griffin pleaded guilty of disorderly conduct and went up for five days in default of payment of a fine of $5 and costs each.

James O'Connor, a "vag," was given ten days, and James Burk, another member of the same profession, was given five days. E. Richardson, James Gilson, Thomas Wilson, pleaded guilty to the charge of vagrancy and were let off with sentence suspended. C. E. Peterson pleaded not guilty to the charge and was to be tried this afternoon.

Henry Levita, one of the men who drove over a transit instrument belonging to the city on Morse street, yesterday, badly damaging it, and was arrested for drunkenness, forfeited his bail of $10 by failing to appear for trial this morning.

Use Telephone Poles.

It is thought that an arrangement may be made with the Zenith City Telephone company for stringing the electric light cables on the telephone poles without its being necessary to have the poles higher than the ordinary, if the city builds an electric light plant. If this could be done, the cost of erecting a light plant would be reduced by about $12,000, it is estimated.

The plan would be for the telephone wires to be placed about five feet lower than they are usually. If the wires are lowered after they are up, the cost will be only from 50 cents to $1 a pole, it is thought. The estimated cost of the plant would be lowered to about $4,000.

HAS BEEN ABANDONED.

New York, June 30.—It was reported in Wall street today that the reorganization committee of the Columbus, Sandusky & Hocking railroad, of which Louis Fitzgerald is chairman, has found it inexpedient to carry out the proposed plan of reorganization and that it has been abandoned.

SETTLING OF TAXES

Duluth Corporations Rapidly Cleaning Up Back Personal Property Taxes.

TO TAX THE STOCK

This Year Capital Stock of These Companies Will Be Assessed.

In a very short time all of the personal property taxes due the county of St. Louis from corporations will be cleared up, and a source of considerable bother and expense will be out of the way. At the next meeting of the county board, which is due to occur shortly, the Duluth-Superior Bridge company and the Duluth Street Railway company, two of the largest delinquents now remaining on the list, will submit propositions in settlement of the personal property taxes due against them, and if these propositions are accepted, as they are likely to be if they are reasonable, there will be little left to clear up before the county has a clean sheet to start anew upon.

The bridge company owes only for one year, 1898, and the amount of its tax is about $1000. The street railway company owes for several years, as it has permitted its personal property taxes to slide for some time, and the amount coming from it to the county is about $15,000, according to County Attorney Phelps. It used to be very much more than that, and it would be more than that now had it not been for the recent decision of the supreme court to the effect that the franchises of these corporations are not taxable as personal property.

This franchise feature of the personal property taxes is one of the moot points that have supplied the corporations with material for litigations and kept payments back for several years. Now that the point is definitely settled, and there is no possibility of it coming up again, things should go more smoothly, and there should be less litigation. When all of these corporations are cleaned up to date on their personal property taxes it is not likely that they will again get in arrears so much, and if they show a tendency to do so it is even less likely that the county officers will permit them to stay so far behind other taxpayers.

The Hartman General Electric company, with which a settlement was reached recently on the basis of the supreme court decision, is paying up its back taxes, and it, too, will be clear of debt to the county in a short time. The other minor corporations will also settle up soon, and the biggest item on the list, the tax of the Duluth Gas and Water company, will shortly be paid, the United States court having decided that it should be.

When it comes to assessing these properties this year there is another question that may come up and cause a little more trouble. The supreme court in the same decision in which it passed upon the franchise tax held that it is proper to tax the capital stock of the companies without subtracting from it the debts. Including bonded indebtedness in many cases, the debts wipe out the capitalization and leave nothing to tax. If the county can assess the stock without taking from it the debts, its taxes will amount to nearly if not quite as much as they do when the franchises are taxed at a stiff valuation. This will be done this year, and the companies may see fit to make objections to it, because if it is done all their efforts to get the franchise tax knocked out will have been practically fruitless, as their taxes will not be reduced.

Says He Deserted Her.

Julia Kline has brought suit for divorce from Frederick Kline on the ground of desertion. The plaintiff in her complaint says that they were married in Posenheim, in the province of Posen, Germany, Oct. 27, 1885, and that they had lived in the city of Virginia during the past seven years. She alleges that in 1897 her husband deserted her, without cause, and that he has remained away from her since that time. She is 37 years of age and her wandering husband is 40. J. D. Taylor is her attorney.

MARINE NEWS.

Demand For Grain Tonnage Causes Rise In the Duluth Rate.

There was a strong demand for tonnage among Duluth grain shippers this morning. Tonnage on wheat was offered at 2¾ cents, and at least two vessels—the M. A. Hanna and the Onoko—have been placed at that rate. It is rumored among the marine men that several more boats will go at that rate before tonight. This 2¾-cent rate is better than $1 per ton on ore and may take some vessels off the ore-carrying trade for a few trips. Ore shippers will have to keep up to the pace now set by grain men if they want to get tonnage. It has been more than ten days since an ore charter was announced at this port although some chartering has been done on the quiet. It was predicted on the board of trade this morning that the ore rate would go pretty close to the grain rate. The feeling is strong that the grain men will take care of nearly all the wild tonnage.

There has been a fairly heavy grain movement from Duluth, Superior and West Superior for the past two weeks and still the stocks are unusually heavy compared with former years.

Vesselmen claim the rate for coal tonnage to this port is 40 cents with a good demand for this class of tonnage, but very few vessels seeking cargoes.

A special dispatch to The Herald from Cleveland today says: Ore rates are $1 from the head of the lakes, 80 cents from Marquette and 75 cents from Escanaba. Charters have been made from each of these ports at the figures quoted.

WEST DULUTH JOINS.

Its Parade Will Join With Duluth's July Fourth.

The committee having the Fourth of July celebration in charge met last night with the West Duluth committee and planned to have the West Duluth people assist in the big celebration. West Duluth is to have a celebration of its own, but as that will be early in the morning, the West Duluth parade will join the big parade up town afterwards.

A large number of societies are applying for a place in the parade, and the committee desires to have as many people in line as possible, and so extends an invitation to all societies and organizations and merchants to participate. The committee will hold another meeting tomorrow night.

A CLOSE SHAVE.

Chicago Man Attempted Suicide With a Razor at St. James Hotel.

C. F. Clopton, a guest at the St. James' hotel, registering from Chicago, slashed his throat with a razor in his room at the hotel just before 2 o'clock this afternoon. He did not cut very deep and was able to walk from the hotel to Dr. Eklund's office half an hour afterwards.

This morning Clopton sent a note to Cecil Jefferson, an actress at the Pavilion, to which an answer was returned saying that if he was foolish enough to kill himself he had better let his sister know before he did. After sending the note, Clopton went to his room on the third floor. When the messenger returned with the note, he was sent up to the room, but was unable to get an answer to his knock.

He informed the people in the office, and the door of the room was forced open. Clopton was found lying on the bed with his eyes closed, a gash in his neck and a blood stained razor on the bureau. As a senile effect, it was startling. It was found on examination that the bad-looking gash in the throat was not much more than a slit in the skin. When the examination by the physicians who had been called was completed, Clopton sat up.

He was taken in charge by Detective Troyer and taken to police headquarters. He stated at police headquarters that he was the son of a former governor of Alabama, and that his father had been a senator and congressman. His stepmother, he said, was the wife of Jefferson Davis. He said that the actress to whom he had written was his wife. He had married her last May, he said, and she had left him.

A GREAT PURCHASE.

Wright & Davis Interests Have Acquired Valuable Property.

Michael Kelley returned yesterday from Louisiana, where he has been looking over the large purchase of timber recently made by the former Wright & Davis interests in the Louisiana pine districts. Mr. Kelley is heavily interested in the deal, and its consummation is largely due to him. He will spend most of the coming winter looking after the interests of the company that has been formed to get out the timber.

He said this morning that the purchase is a most advantageous one for the new company. The tract is one of the largest, if not the very largest, that has not already been acquired and the timber is very fine and plentiful. Mr. Kelley said that the South is in excellent shape in every way, and that the wave of prosperity so long looked for is at its height there. In all the large cities, several of which he visited, business is excellent and everything looks promising.

A. T. Thoits of Duluth Has Purchased the Superior Leader.

Alvin T. Thoits, publisher of the News Tribune, has practically purchased outright the Superior Leader. The Leader is at present in the hands of Receiver H. H. Stewart, ex-county treasurer of Douglas county, and the sale to Mr. Thoits has not yet been confirmed by the court. A few weeks ago the Leader was sold to the S. E. Middleton syndicate for $3500, but this syndicate was unable to raise the money in the required time, and as Mr. Thoits was the second highest bidder on the occasion of the first sale he was given second preference.

THE THIRTEENTH MINNESOTA.

St. Paul, June 30.—Governor Lind today received from Lieut. Col. Friedrich at Manilla a cablegram stating that the effective strength of the Thirteenth regiment of Minnesota volunteers was 940.

Of the total membership 150 men were sick, but not seriously. The regiment was doing outpost duty on the railroad. There is no definite information there about their return.

CONNECTED ON BOTH SIDES.

The Kansas City Journal says: John Peverly, a commercial traveler, whose home is in Wichita, enjoys the peculiar distinction of being a second cousin to both Abraham Lincoln and Jefferson Davis. Mr. Peverly's grandfather was first cousin to Lincoln's father, and his grandmother was first cousin to Davis' father. Thus, while those great chieftains were in no wise related, Mr. Peverly has blood kinship with both. He is as tall and angular as Lincoln.

ALASKAN BOUNDARY

There Is Now Little Hope of Formulating a Modus Vivendi.

AT END OF THE ROPE

Ambassador Choate Is Not Authorized to Make Further Concessions.

Washington, June 30.—The negotiations in London looking to the arrangement of a modus vivendi fixing the Alaskan boundary have again nearly reached a crisis. The several conferences that have taken place recently between Lord Salisbury and Ambassador Choate have been signally disappointing in results. At moments it appeared that a basis of understanding had been reached and the details could be easily arranged, but it now turns out that these very details cannot be agreed upon without the sacrifice of the interests of many American miners, mainly those who were driven out of the Atlin district by the severe and discriminating laws enacted by the legislature of British Columbia, and this the state department is determined not to sanction.

The United States ambassador has come to the end of the concessions he is authorized to offer, and therefore the prospect of a successful outcome of the negotiations is rather depressing. Meanwhile nothing is said on either side of a reconvention of the present high joint commission at Quebec, although the date set for the meeting at the last adjournment is rapidly approaching.

PLUCKY WHEELMAN.

Arthur F. Cary Completes a Trip Around the World.

Lynn, Mass., June 30.—Arthur F. Cary reached here today after a tour around the world on a wheel. He left Lynn June 1, 1896, for San Francisco, where he was at work until October, 1897. Then he sailed for Japan. He wheeled through Japan and China, Australia, Egypt, Italy, Switzerland, France, England, Ireland and Scotland. He was at work in Melbourne for awhile. He reached Boston by steamer today and rode to Lynn at once. His record shows 12,500 miles ridden on one wheel and 18,000 miles covered by sea. Cary is 28 years old. He made the trip for instruction and pleasure.

FISHER FAILS.

The Ex-Congressman From Michigan Files an Assignment.

Bay City, Mich., June 30.—Spencer O Fisher, ex-congressman, leading Democratic politician and formerly a wealthy lumberman, has filed a petition in bankruptcy in the federal court. The action is the result of a series of misfortunes, caused chiefly by failures of others with whom Mr. Fisher had business relations.

The petitioner's personal liabilities are given at $428,475, about $75,000 of which is secured by mortgages and other collateral. Mr. Fisher is liable for some $320,000 commercial paper, signed jointly with various business associates. All his available assets are pledged to secure the indebtedness of himself and of the firm of Turner & Fisher.

How Non-Union Miners From Pana Were Met at Carbondale.

St. Louis, June 30.—A special to the Post Dispatch from Carbondale, Ill., says: Word is just received here that the colored men of Pana, Ill., who went to Williamson county coal fields last night received an exceedingly warm reception today as they were attempting to reach the mines at Fredonia. When nearing the mines they were met with a fusillade of shots, resulting in the killing of two persons and the wounding of twenty men. Desultory firing, it is said has been in progress all morning.

WILL LEAVE HIS SHIP.

Commander of the Chicago to Travel to Pretoria.

Washington, June 30.—The Chicago, which arrived at Delagoa bay yesterday, is several days ahead of her schedule time. According to the itinerary arranged before the ship sailed from New York, she was to arrive at Delagoa bay July 5. The visit of Admiral Howison to Pretoria is said to have no political significance, although it is not usual for an admiral to leave his ship to proceed overland into another country. Undoubtedly the admiral will consult with the American consul general at Pretoria respecting the outlook in the Transvaal and will be guided largely by his advice as to how long the Chicago will be detained at Delagoa bay, which is the nearest port to the Transvaal.

BRIGANDAGE DEPLORED.

Havana Papers Sorry For Recent Troubles at Guanajay.

Havana, June 30.—The local papers devote considerable space to the recent troubles at Guanajay, deplore the action of a few unprincipled men and congratulate Gen. Fitzhugh Lee upon the prompt measures he had taken to put a stop to them.

According to the Diaro de la Marina at Matanzas which hitherto has been considered immune against crimes, highway robbery and violence have broken loose. Two arm d Cubans have held up the village of Bachica and robbed the principal stores, after killing the proprietors. The police killed a man found and disarmed at Cabezas, claiming that he tried to escape, and two Spaniards have been set upon and killed by a body of Cubans at Presio plantation near Cardenas.

Owing to the expressed opinion of Brig. Gen. James H. Wilson, governor of the consolidated departments of Matanzas and Santa Clara, that rural police are not wanted, trouble is expected in the province of Matanzas for some time.

MRS. McKINLEY BETTER.

Washington, June 30.—Mrs. McKinley continues to improve slowly and today she received Gen. and Mrs. Wood. Gen. Wood was Mrs. McKinley's physician before the Spanish-American war. There is no truth in the stories that Mrs. McKinley is seriously ill and that the president has abandoned all his summer plans in consequence.

ORE MOVEMENT.

New Record For a Month's Shipment Has Been Made In June.

Cleveland, June 30.—The Iron Trade Review says: There is no doubt in the ore trade that a new record for a month's shipment has been made in June, and the official figures are awaited with unusual interest. Maximum records are being made in the size of cargoes. Nominally in the case of head of the lake ports and actually in the case of Marquette and Escanaba an advance of 5 cents in the ore rate has been made the past week. Wild charters are reported at 75 cents from Marquette and 70 cents from Escanaba with a steady business done from Lake Michigan on triangular trips—boats ore laden from the head of Lake Superior going to South Chicago, then light to Escanaba where ore is taken for Lake Erie ports, and the next destination in turn being Duluth, and so alternating.

The grain movement is well sustained on a basis of 2¾ from the head of the lake, equivalent to $1 on ore, while contract boats are carying 60 cent ore. This is the best summer rate paid in years, and vesselmen are not slow to take advantage of it. There have been no wild ore charters from Duluth, Ashland and Two Harbors for more than a week. Activity in Republic Iron company stock has been the feature of iron mining stocks the past week, options at 20 having been asked by Chicago parties, interpreted by some who have marketed their holdings on the advance of the week as preliminary to the purchase of the property by an ore-consuming interest.

KENNEDY INNOCENT.

So Claims Jennings, One of the Train Robbers.

Springfield, Mo., June 30.—William Jennings or "Bill" Ryan, one of the convicted Macomb train robbers, has made a written confession in which he declares that Kennedy is innocent of the crime of which he has been adjudged guilty. He also says that if Shepard will speak he can corroborate this.

MUST GO TO TRIAL.

Motion Denied For Discharge of August Becker.

Chicago, June 30.—When the hearing in the Becker wife murder was resumed today before Judge Stein, Attorney Leon Hornstin for the defense made a formal motion that his client be discharged. He alleged that Becker had been placed in jeopardy once for the murder of his wife, and that Mrs. Elizabeth and Mrs. Theresa Becker were one and the same persons.

The court, however, would not entertain the motion. He at once overruled it and announced that the hearing would proceed.

At the outset six of the original jurors were excused.

TREATY SIGNED.

Madrid, June 30.—The treaty confirming the agreement of July 1, ceding the Carolines, Pelew and Marianne islands to Germany and the declaration granting Germany the most favored treatment from July 1, were signed today by Premier Sagasta and the German ambassador here, Count von Radowitz.

QUIET IN SAMOA.

San Francisco, June 30.—The steamship Mariposa arrived from Australia, via Samoa and Honolulu today, and reports everything quiet in the Samoan islands.

An Old-Fashioned Sledge Hammer Ball Game For the Fourth.

RED MEN TO DANCE

Enough Money Being Raised to See Celebration Through.

An old-fashioned game of baseball, where the fielder who gets the ball breaks the ribs of the base runner with the ball if he can, will be one of the features of the Fourth of July celebration. The game will be played by two nines of old timers, who used to play ball that way when they were boys. It is expected that a soft ball will be provided so that there will be no fatalities.

Members of Sitting Bull tribe of Red Men are practicing for a scalp dance to be given at the band stand in the evening of the Fourth. This feature will, no doubt, be thoroughly enjoyed by the crowd.

Further contributions of funds have been made during the past few days and there will be sufficient money in the purse to carry out an excellent celebration and pay all bills.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS.

Ruth Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Allyn Scott, is visiting with her grandparents in St. Paul.

Dr. Edward Brown, who has been attending a dental college at Louisville, returned home this morning.

Capt. J. R. Randall went up on the range yesterday on business.

Mrs. W. J. Wallace is visiting her son at Lakeside.

R. W. Mars has moved his family to Duluth.

The citizens of Practorknott have given up the idea of celebrating the Fourth and many will attend the celebration in West Duluth.

A dance will be given at New Duluth on the evening of the Fourth.

A daughter was born this morning to Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Johnson, of Fifty-eighth avenue west.

GEN. KEMPER DEAD.

Washington, June 30.—Gen. Delaware Kemper, consul to Amoy, China, under the first Cleveland administration, died at his home in Alexandria, Va., today. Gen. Kemper was a distinguished soldier in the Confederate army during the civil war, was wounded in the second battle of Manassas and was subsequently in command of the Confederate forces in Charleston. He was a prominent member of the Confederate Veterans' association and up to a year ago was in charge of the Alexandria Times.

PLENTY OF OFFICERS.

The President Deluged With Applications For Commissions.

Washington, June 30.—Since the announcement that about 10,000 volunteers were to be mustered into the army for service in the Philippines, the president has been deluged with applications for commissions. Almost every congressional caller has one or more applicants when he presses on the president's attention. The president requests all his visitors to file their applications with Adjt. Gen. Corbin. At the same time he makes it clear, in a general way, that the policy of the administration in granting commissions will be to give preference to volunteer officers who showed ability and who performed valuable service during the Spanish war. Some regular officers are also to be given volunteer commissions in the belief that one or two regular officers in a regiment will be of great advantage.

GEN. WOOD DECLINES.

Will Not Take the Management of an Electric Company.

Washington, June 30.—Gen. Leonard Wood has declined the presidency of the Washington Traction and Electric company, of this city, and will return early next week to his post as military governor of the province of Santiago. The offer was a very flattering one, but Gen. Wood, after considering the matter for a week, decided to decline it. In view of the outbreak of yellow fever at Santiago, he decided that it was his duty to return there at once.

Gen. Wood came at the request of the officials of the war department to confer with the president and secretary of war regarding the situation in the islands, and to discuss with them his future plans. The president and the secretary of war want him to remain in Santiago, where he has been so successful.

Some time ago Gen. Wood sought service in the Philippines, but it was then believed, as it is now, that his services could not be spared in Cuba.

Gen. Wood, in talking of the conditions existing in Cuba, said that what the people there needed was good schools, good sanitation in the cities and the enforcement of the United States laws. Gen. Wood says his advices from Santiago are such as to convince him that there will be no serious outbreak of yellow fever. He says there has always been yellow fever there, and in some of the low dives it will be impossible to prevent infection, but he thinks it will not be serious, as the best of precautions have been taken by the United States authorities.

NEW WEATHER MAP.

Weather Office Issues One Which Is Much Appreciated.

The local weather bureau this morning issued its new weather map, and vesselmen and others say that it is a great improvement over the old map and much easier to handle, as it is only half the size of the old one.

Instead of having the data marked on the face of the map, it is placed in tabulated form underneath the map, and in this way much more complete data is given. The weather bureau now has this map in use all over the country, making the service uniform.

A NIGHT OF TERROR.

Heavy Storm Does Great Damage at Bathgate, N. D.

St. Paul, June 30.—A Bathgate, N. D., special to the Dispatch says: The heaviest storm in fifteen years passed here this morning at 4 o'clock. Buildings were blown to pieces, smokestacks and chimneys were wrecked, shade trees ruined, churches blown off their foundations and small buildings moved. There was some hail, but no damage to the crops. With heavy thunder and lightning it was a night of terror.

AT BUFFALO NEXT.

The Saengerbund Will Hold Its 1901 Session There.

Cincinnati, June 30.—The North American Saengerbund today decided to hold their next saengerfest at Buffalo in 1901.

A meeting of the delegates of the saengerbund was held today in the Turner hall, President Deiler calling the body to order. Reports of officers were read. The treasurer showed total receipts, $3401; expenditures, $1652; balance on hand, $1788.

The proposed new constitution was taken up. One or two paragraphs were adopted, one of which prohibits the use of proxies for delegates from societies whose singers do not attend the saengerfest.

A section was under consideration to change the rules of the saengerfest that it should be held but once in four years. The consideration of this was laid aside in order to choose the place for the saengerfest of 1901.

Mayor Diehl of Buffalo presented the claims of that city so effectually that no other city was mentioned, and Buffalo was chosen unanimously.

The meeting then adjourned until Saturday.

Attention, Co. C!

All members of Company C are requested to report at the Armory at 8 o'clock this evening, June 30, to arrange matters pertaining to going to camp.

RICHARD LITTLE,
Lieut. Commanding Co.

WILL NOT WALK OUT.

Stock Yards Employes Are Inclined to Wait a While.

Chicago, June 30.—Practically all of the packing houses were in the market today buying hogs for packing purposes and there were few evidences around the yards of a strike. A general walkout of the packing house employes, which was contemplated for tomorrow unless a general adjustment of the wage question was had with the packers, will not take place tomorrow if at all. Several secret meetings were held by the strikers today to discuss the advisability of taking action looking toward a general strike. It was the generally expressed opinion that if the order for a walkout was postponed for a few days, chances for success could be perfected. Many of the employes strongly argued against any further extension of the strike at the present time.

ROBBERS IN HIDING.

Cincinnati, June 30.—The Times-Star special from Greensburg, Ind., says: The Osgood robbers, who were traced to the Magnoss stone quarries, are thought to be concealed in a cave near there. A posse of men of Ripley county is scouring the hills and valleys in that vicinity. Serious trouble is looked for, with hints of lynching.

THE CHESS MEN.

London, June 30.—At the 4:30 p. m. adjournment of the international chessmasters' tournament today's play stood as follows: Cohn and Showalter adjourned their game in an even position; Janowski had beaten Bird; Pillsbury had worsted Tinsley; Tschigorin had a bad game against Maroczy, Steinitz had the superior position against Blackburne and Schlechter had beaten Lee.

DECLINES TO SERVE

C. A. Duncan Will Not Act on State Forestry Board.

NO DULUTH MEN

This Section of State Is Now Unrepresented on the Board.

Charles A. Duncan has declined to serve as a member of the state forestry board and A. L. Cole, of Motley, has accepted the place first tendered Mr. Duncan. This will leave Duluth and Northern Minnesota without a representative on the board and considerable regret has been expressed by those interested in the Minnesota forestry preservation as well as among the many friends of Mr. Duncan all over the state and particularly in Duluth.

Under the act of the last legislature creating a forestry board the managers of the State Agricultural society recommended Hon. Greenleaf Clark, ex-judge of the supreme court; the fish and game commission recommended Hon. William Mitchell, of Winona; the regents of the state university recommended John Cooper, of St. Cloud, Frederick Weyerhaeuser, of St. Paul, and O. M. Lord, of Winona county, and the forestry association recommended Capt. J. N. Cross, of Minneapolis.

From several parts of the state it was urged that Duluth should have a place on the board and State Fire Warden C. C. Andrews wrote to Senator Daugherty and Representative Laybourn for a man to be selected by the Horticultural society from this end of the state. Mr. Duncan was pressed to accept the place and somewhat reluctantly promised to serve with the understanding that he would be recommended for the place by the regents of the state university. The board of regents, however, recommended Mr. Weyerhaeuser of St. Paul, and John Cooper, of St. Cloud, who was formerly, though not now, a lumberman and when ex-Governor Pillsbury proposed the name of Mr. Duncan to the board concluded that they were appointing too many lumbermen and then recommended C. O. Lord, of Minnesota City in place of the Duluth man.

About a week ago the State Horticultural society unanimously recommended Mr. Duncan, but Mr. Duncan wired C. C. Andrews that he could not accept the place and at the instance of Gen. Lind A. L. Cole, a business man of Motley, was selected.

There is a general regret expressed by the members of the board that this important county is not to be represented and probably the two men most disappointed are Senator Daugherty and Representative Laybourn.

OUR TRADE IN AUSTRALIA.

The marked improvement which has obtained in the importation of goods of American manufacture into the Australasian colonies has been due primarily to the fact that our manufacturers have taken the trouble to consult and consider the requirements of the Australian importers and have maintained a uniform standard of quality and finish in their goods and have made few alterations in prices, reports Consul Bray from Melbourne. In instances where quality has been deliberately varied and prices have been advanced, on the supposition that the market has been "cornralled," the results have been disastrous to the exporters and have had a reflex action on manufacturers in similar lines of business. That these colonies present a vast opening for the introduction of our goods is evidenced by the fact that more than half of the agricultural implements imported are of American manufacture and origin, and those which are manufactured in these colonies are copies or travesties of the originals from the states. American prospects have never been brighter here than they are now. It must, however, be remembered that in all the seven colonies forming the Australasian group there are only 5,000,000 people.

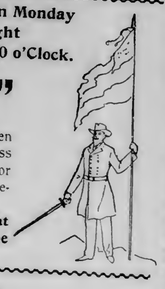
"GIVE ME LIBERTY OR GIVE ME DEATH!"



Was the fiery sentiment with which Patrick Henry electrified the world one hundred and twenty-three years ago, and it has been ringing in the ears of the American people ever since. It is this free and independent spirit that has governed our own business transactions in the past and it will be the guiding influence in the future. We never have, and never will recognize any trusts or combinations to keep up prices artificially, and the same goods for less money, or better goods for the same money will ever remain the standard under which we will sail.

There remains but two more days—Tomorrow and Monday—to prepare for the Glorious Fourth. The Great Eastern has gone through its entire stock and reduced the prices in every department to enable its patrons to be comfortably and stylishly dressed on America's Independence Day.

SECTION THIRTY

Case Is on Again Before Special Examiner Greene Today.

ENDLESS DISPUTES

The Section Thirty Litigations Are Fixtures In Local Courts.

The famous section 30 case took a new lease of life yesterday afternoon when the hearing of the suit over what is known as the James K. Belden 40 was resumed before Special Examiner H. F. Greene. From present indications this case will be as hard fought as any of the other sixteen forties of the town during the land office hearings. The hearing will certainly last a week or ten days, and it may last all summer, according to the statements of the attorneys on both sides.

This case is practically the same old fight between the Minnesota Iron company and A. M. Miller, of this city. It is said by friends of Mr. Miller that he has spent $250,000 in fighting these cases during the past ten years, and is willing to spend much more. When the section 30 cases were in the land office the Minnesota Iron company won out in nearly every instance. Then the cases were taken into court and the land office decisions were sustained only in matters of fact and not in matters of law. An appeal was taken in the case of the Belden forty to the court of appeals and the decision of the land office was reversed.

The litigation is over the question of whether or not James K. Belden was an innocent purchaser for value of the forty in dispute. The fight for Mr. Belden is practically the fight of the Minnesota Iron company, Mr. Belden's attorneys claiming that he was a bona fide purchaser of the property from William Craig. The A. M. Miller interests claim that at the time the land was purchased from Mr. Craig, James K. Belden was an agent and employe of the Minnesota Iron company, and that the land cost him nothing. Davis, Hollister & Hicks, H. J. Grannis and J. K. Reddington are the attorneys for Belden and the Minnesota Iron company, and Walter Ayres and P. H. Seymour for the Miller interests.

The case was before Mr. Greene all afternoon yesterday and was continued at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Maj. H. S. Pickands, of Pickands, Brown & Co., of Chicago, was the principal witness for the Minnesota Iron company yesterday and today. His testimony took the case back to the Warren scrip and the contest of Emil Hartman against the land located by the Chicago and Minnesota Iron Ore company, the predecessor of the Minnesota Iron company. He testified to a conference held in the office of the First National bank in July, 1891, between the officers of the bank, of which Luther Mendenhall was president and A. M. Miller vice president, and the officials of the Chandler Iron company, of which he was secretary and treasurer.

He said the fight between himself and Mr. Miller originated shortly before that time. As treasurer of the Chandler Iron company he had withdrawn the money of that company from Mr. Miller's bank, giving as his reason for so doing that Mr. Miller was backing Emil Hartman financially in his contest against the Minnesota Ore company, and that secretly he was in partnership with him. Maj. Pickands accused Mr. Miller of this during the conference and Mr. Miller is said to have replied that he was using his own money and not money of the bank's, and then left the conference. The other bank officials immediately disclaimed any knowledge of Mr. Miller's assisting Mr. Hartman in the contest. The case promises to be a very long one but of little outside interest.

HIS FIRST BATTLE.

Fred Spetz, Clear From Honolulu, Gets It Here.

Fred Spitz, who enlisted for the war with Spain and who has just returned from Honolulu, found his first battlefield on a street car last night, on his way from the depot to his home in West Duluth. He put his satchel on the rear platform of the car and the conductor objected. Spitz, who used to be a conductor himself, thought he had a right to stow his satchel on the platform and told the conductor so. Words followed and a skirmish was brought on. The conductor planted a blow on Spitz' nose and the latter got in one under the conductor's right eye. Spitz was arrested and had to go to police headquarters and put up $10 bail for his appearance this morning before he could go home.

He pleaded guilty of disorderly conduct before Judge Edson this morning and was fined $5 and costs, which he paid.

New Mexico Thriving.

Dr. J. R. Howes, of Lakeside, is in the city today after an absence of six months in New Mexico, where he will open a large sanitarium this fall. Dr. Howes says that New Mexico is picking up fast and that all indications point to a rapid development in the next few years. He has selected the town of Las Crucas for his future home and will move his family there in October. He says it is the healthiest spot in the Southwest. The copper mining of New Mexico has particularly interested Dr. Howes and he says the people north and east of the southwestern states are as yet unaware of the great possibilities of the country.

West Duluth's Engine.

The fire commissioners will, at their meeting this evening, discuss the question of giving West Duluth a fire engine. The commissioners are in favor of placing an engine at West Duluth, but it was thought that the water pressure might not be sufficient. Chief Black visited West Duluth this afternoon for the purpose of ascertaining whether it is or not.

CHRISTIAN RED MEN.

Secretary Shuman Talks of Sioux Indian Conference.

Secretary Shuman of the Y. M. C. A. returned this morning from the conference of the Dakota Indians' Young Men's Christian associations, which has been in session about five miles out from Brown's Valley, on the Dakota side of Lake Traverse. There are about forty associations on the various reservations.

There were present at the conference at least 250 Indian young men, many of them having their wives with them, Mr. Shuman says. There were forty-five tepees counted on the grounds at one time. Mr. Shuman had charge of the Bible work each day. Every man had his pencil and note book with him, taking down in his own language everything of interest.

At the business session on Tuesda the Indian youths raised the funds necessary to pay the expenses of their conference on Wednesday they voted to have a similar gathering next summer and sent a committee out to confer with John Wakantaduta, Red Thunder, who owns the ground, as to using it next year. Red Thundred said: "Of course you can come next year and I will enlarge the pasture lot to take in more horses."

One of the interesting things about the conference was the use of the camera carried by Secretary Willis of Omaha. Some of the squaws positively refused to be seen, believing that having their photos taken would bring bad luck, but a splendid group picture of thirty of them was secured; also a fine photo of all the men present from the various Dakota associations.

Said Mr. Shuman: "This conference and the make-up of its attendants suggests the possibilities of real manhood which are in these red men when the gospel of Jesus Christ gets hold of them. The Dakota youth who is a Christian believes in his Wowapi Wakan—holy book—and responds as readily to 'Caddya sikte'—let us all pray—as does his white brother. These influences also vitally affect his living and habits too."

Mr. Shuman expects to have some of the photographs taken at the conference here in a few days.

TO BUY A ROAD.

Believed That Central Directors Have Not Decided Yet.

Chicago, June 30.—A meeting of the executive officers of the Western Passenger association was held here today to consider the proposition of the Union Pacific railroad to withdraw from the agreement entered into by the Passenger associations of the entire country to give the government no more reduced rates for the transportation of troops. The meeting was called upon a report that the Union Pacific had violated the agreement. The latter read claims that the compact was first broken by the Rock Island.

SCALE SIGNED.

Several Eastern Iron Firms Agree to the Advanced Wages.

Pittsburg, June 30.—The amalgamated scales were signed today by John Jarrett, for the Association of Iron and Steel manufacturers, employing 50,000 workmen; James H. Nutt, for the American Steel Hoop company and Republic Iron and Steel company; Zug & Co., Keystone Rolling Mill company and the Lockhart Iron and Steel company.

Other prominent firms are expected to sign before night. The sheet workers' scale advances the wages of 25,000 skilled workmen 10 per cent and about 25,000 unskilled men 15 per cent.

The sub-lodges of the tin plate workers will meet tonight to act upon the propositions of the manufacturers. It is believed that the majority of the workers will insist on the original demand of 20 per cent increase.

CARRYING OF SOLDIERS.

Report That Union Pacific Has Broken the Agreement.

New York, June 30.—The directors of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad company met here today. The interest attaching to the meeting centered in the rumored proposition for the lease by the New York Central of the Boston & Albany railroad.

William Bliss, who is the president of the Boston & Albany road, and also a director of the New York Central, was among the first to arrive. He was said to have had a conference with President S. R. Callaway of the New York Central prior to the meeting, which was an executive one. Besides those mentioned there were present Frederick Vanderbilt, William K. Vanderbilt, J. Pierpont Morgan, William Twombly and E. V. Rossiter.

When a recess was taken for luncheon it was stated that President Callaway would later in the day give out something for publication. It was reported that the proposition to lease the Boston & Albany was favorably discussed during the morning session, but the surmise is that no definite conclusion has yet been reached by the directors.

GROWTH OF OUR EXPORTS.

Manufactures Now Form More Than One-Third of the Total Domestic Exports of the United States.

OUR SIX NEW CRUISERS

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, June 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—Manufacturers are now forming more than one-third of our total domestic exports. During the last month they were 35.77 per cent of the total domestic exports, during the three months ending with May they were 35.50 per cent, and during the fiscal year just ending they will form a larger percentage of our total domestic exports than in any preceding year, and exceed by many millions the total exports of manufacturers in any preceding year. The fiscal year 1898 showed the largest exports of manufactures in our history, $290,697,354, and in the eleven months of the fiscal year 1899 the increase over the coresponding months of the preceding year has been $45,164,000, so that it is now apparent that the exports of manufactures in the fiscal year now ending will be about $335,000,000, as against the high water mark, $290,697,354, in the fiscal year 1898.

Iron and steel continue to form the most important, or at least by far the largest, item of value in the exports of manufactures. In the month of May, 1899, the exports of iron and steel, and manufactures thereof, amounted to $8,601,114, making the total for the eleven months $84,873,842, against $63,235,029 in the corresponding months of last year, a gain in the eleven months of over $21,000,000. The recent advances in prices of iron and steel caused the belief that a reduction in the exports of iron and steel would follow, but certainly this has not been realized up to the present time, since the exportations of iron and steel in the month of May are 20 per cent in excess of those of May of last year, while those of April are nearly 50 per cent in excess of April, 1898.

The increase which the year's exports of manufactures will show over earlier years lends especial interest to a table prepared by the treasury bureau of statistics showing the exportation of manufactures by great classes in each year from 1889 to 1898. This table will appear in the next monthly summary of commerce and finance. The following extracts from it show the exportations in 1889 and 1898 of all articles whose total value exceeded $1,000,000 in the year 1898:

Designs have been completed by the naval board of construction for six new cruisers of over 3000 tons displacement and a steaming radius of action that will place them ahead of any ships of their class in the service. All these vessels were provided for at the last session of congress, together with three battleships and six powerful protected cruisers, but owing to the difficulty in securing armor no attempt has been made to draw plans for any but the cruiser class. In appearance and effectiveness the new ships will approximate the Raleigh and Cincinnati, but are to have less engine power, a far greater coal capacity, and thus be able to steam long distances without stopping to coal. The new cruisers are designed for a speed of 16½ knots, but will make 17 knots when pushed, while the Raleigh and Cincinnati were designed for 19 knots. The former will be able to maintain their designed speed indefinitely, while the latter could scarcely maintain a speed of 15 knots, and that with an excessive consumption of coal. The horse power required in the new designs is 4500, as compared with 10,000 in the Raleigh and Cincinnati, which means less than half the weight of the propelling machinery.

The general dimensions and features of the new cruisers will be as follows: Length of load water line, 292 feet; length of extreme water line, 308 feet; breadth on extreme water line, 43 feet, mean draft at trial displacement, two-thirds coal, ammunition and stores, 15½ feet; extreme draft fully loaded, 16 2-3 feet; trial displacement, about 3100 tons; full load displacement, 3400 tons; coal carried on trial, 470 tons; total bunker capacity, 7000 tons; speed on trial, 16½ knots; estimated indicated horse power, 4500; type of boilers, water tube; number of boilers, 6; main battery, ten 5-inch 50-caliber rapid-fire guns; auxiliary battery, eight 6-pounders and two 1-pounder rapid fire guns; four Colt machine guns.

With the demand less pressing for ships in foreign waters and the situation at home such that no large fleet need be maintained in commission, the authorities propose to take advantage of the present strength of the North Atlantic squadron for an elaborate system of maneuvers before the retirement of the more expensive ships. Admiral Sampson, who will probably be detached from sea duty this autumn, has been notified that all vessels of his squadron will be held in commission during the summer and autumn, and that no detachments will be made for special duty unless some unexpected important circumstance arises. The admiral will be allowed to carry out the program of the naval war college, to drill the men off the New England coast, and later in the season to send the ships to the Southern drill grounds for target practice with big and little guns. Admiral Sampson's ambition is to turn the squadron over to his successor in a most efficient shape, better drilled than any squadron of modern ships has ever been.

The navy department is considering the formation of a small squadron of light auxiliary cruisers for reserve service at the navy yards, and subject to the orders of the authorities for duty in the West Indies or Central American waters should the presence of war vessels in such quarters be urgently demanded. This fleet will be independent of the North Atlantic station and under the direct orders from the navy department, the purpose being to have several small craft for shallow water navigation on short notice, with skeleton crews aboard and stores and equipment accessible on a few hours' notice.

It has been necessary, whenever the slightest sign appears of a disturbance in Central America, to dispatch some of the larger ships to Bluefields or other ports for the protection of American interests, often involving the detachment of a vessel required for maneuvers with the fleet and wholly unsuited for such duties. Vessels like the Detroit have seen much service of this character, although it is said that a small yacht would have the same effect in impressing the people with the firmness of this government in dealing with the situation.

It is now suggested that several auxiliary vessels of the Hawke, Dorothea and Eagle class, all purchased for patrol work in Cuban waters last year, should be placed in condition and held at the Norfolk and New York navy yards ready for such service. It is probable that the suggestion will be adopted and put into effect. Three officers, a commander, an engineer and one watch officer will be detailed to the vessels and the crews held available for shipment from some one of the receiving ships. Affairs in Cuba and Porto Rico are expected to constantly require the presence of several small naval ships near the chief ports, and while it may not be necessary to station them there permanently in Southern waters, it is thought advisable to form a fleet from which ships can be drawn when needed for such duty without interfering with the work of the home fleet. Naval officers have for years labored under the disadvantage of having little practical experience with fleet formation, owing to the necessity of reducing the squadron by relieving one or two ships for other duties just when evolutions are about to be conducted.

There will probably be no necessity for the president to designate other candidates for the cadetships at Annapolis to fill vacancies caused by the failure of several of the principals to pass the examination. Information has been received here from the academy that the alternates will most probably meet the requirements and thus the five places allowed by the president by a special act of congress will be filled this month. All the young men who pass will be given leave until August, when they will join the new fourth class. J. S. VAN ANTWERP.

GOLF PLAYERS MEET.

Chicago, June 30.—All the prominent golf candidates, with the exception of J. A. Tyng, have arrived and are registered at the Onwentsia club house. Findlay S. Douglas, the amateur golf champion, last evening demolished the amateur record for the course, beating J. I. Blair, Jr., of Morris county, by 3 up to 1 to play in an 18-hole match with a medal score or eighty strokes. The amateur record has hitherto been held by his two old champion opponents, Walter B. Smith and Charles B. McDonald, who have both made the course in eighty-three.

RAIDED A SALOON

Colored Soldiers Shoot Down the Bartender and Steal the Liquor.

THE TRAIN DELAYED

Prosecuting Attorney Served a Writ of Attachment on Local Agent.

Winnemucca, Nev., June 30.—Last night a special train containing members of Companies L. and M. of the Twenty-fifth infantry and Company E of the Twenty-fourth, colored regiments, arrived in Winnemucca. A number of the men left the train and raided a neighboring saloon. They wrecked the bar and stole what liquor there was in sight. Chris Deiss, the barkeeper, was shot down by one of the soldiers. Those who committed the outrage then fled to the train. The alarm was given at once and before the train could draw out of the station it was surrounded by the excited citizens of the place. Sheriff McDeid and District Attorney Vanduzer would not permit the train to leave until the guilty parties were given up.

Maj. Noble, who was in command, while not recognizing the authority of the local authorities to delay the expedition, consented that the train be delayed until a thorough search could be made. The three companies were ordered out twice for the inspection, and citizens who were present when the shooting occurred closely inspected each man. But one was identified, Sergt. Smith, who gave a satisfactory explanation of his presence in the saloon.

At this point a recruit gave out that in daylight he could identify one of the men connected with the robbery. Mr. Vanduzer insisted that the train remain here until daylight so that the identification could be made.

Maj. Noble would no consent to this. At 1 o'clock this morning the district attorney and the major came to an issue and the major gave orders to have the train start. A writ of attachment was then secured on the local ticket agent, prohibiting the moving of the train from Winnemucca until 5 a. m., or until the soldier had been turned over to the officers.

Maj. Noble claims that by delaying the train the expedition, which was to leave San Francisco tonight for the Philippines, has been delayed.

Later—At 1:30 this morning District Attorney Vanduzer consented to the release of the train.

NIPPON MARU RELEASED.

Believed That Japanese Found In Bay Had the Plague.

San Francisco, June 30.—The steamer Nippon Maru, suspected of being infected with the bubonic plague, has been released from quarantine, after being thoroughly fumigated by Dr. Kinyoun, the federal quarantine officer at Angel's island. Her passengers and crew are held on the island, but the steamer is now lying off the Pacific mail dock, where it is the intention to unload her cargo.

Although Dr. Barbat, bacteriologist of the board of health, fears that the bacilli taken from the grounds by the two Japanese sailors found in the bay are plague bacilli, from their close resemblance to the germs of the Asiatic disease, he cannot express a definite decision until the cultures have been developed.

Meantime the members of the board of health declare they will prevent the landing of freight from the vessel.

NO COLORED REGIMENTS.

Experience With Colored Men In Cuba Not Fortunate.

New York June 30.—A special to the Herald from Washington says: No colored regiments will be organized for service in the Philippines. Any colored men enlisted will be assigned to vacancies in the present colored regiments of the regular army. The experiment of the war department with colored volunteers in the Spanish war was not a happy one, and in spite of reports which come from the Philippines to the effect that the colored man is greatly feared by the Filipinos, the authorities are averse to running the risk of a repetition of the troubles of last year.

The selection of officers for the ten additional regiments is now being made. Gen. Otis has selected officers for the regiments to be organized under his supervision and the war department officials are going over the efficiency reports of officers who served during the Spanish war for the purpose of securing leaders for the regiments to be organized at home. The president will have the appointment of 470 officers—1 colonel, 1 lieutenant colonel, 3 majors, 14 captains, 12 first lieutenants, 12 second lieutenants, 3 medical officers and 1 chaplain. No general officers will be appointed, for the reason that there will be a surplus of major generals and brigadier generals after the old volunteer officers are mustered out.

PRISONERS WERE SHOT.

But Denied That It Was By Order of Officers.

Chicago, June 30.—Dean C. Worcester, member of the Philippine commission, yesterday cabled the Times-Herald denying reports that Filipino prisoners were shot by order of American officers.

This was in response to a cable inquiry sent by H. H. Kohlsaat, as follows:

Worcester, Manilla: Charles Brenner, Minneapolis, Kan., writes: "Company I had four prisoners and did not know what to do with them. They asked Capt. Bishop what to do. He said: 'You know orders,' and four natives fell dead."

Cable the truth. KOHLSAAT.

Commissioner Worcester's answer follows:

Manilla, June 30.—Editor the Times-Herald, Chicago: "The original statement of Brenner is untrue. Brenner's charge was promptly investigated by the military authorities here. No facts were ascertained to support the charge at the time of first inquiry, but the investigation has been renewed and is prosecuted vigorously and extensively. This investigation has not yet been completed.

Brenner's charge has some semblance of truth, for the reason that it is now believed that two prisoners were shot in the heat of battle for refusing to pass to the rear when ordered to do so. This matter is being probed to the bottom. It is an isolated case.

The inhabitants of the towns recently captured had been maltreated, robbed and left destitute by the insurgents. The natives rejoice at the arrival of the American troops, who neither burned their homes nor looted their property, but fed the hungry. Inhabitants are resuming the ordinary occupations and are ready to co-operate with us. The wounded insurgents are brought to Manilla, where they receive the same care and attention as our own wounded. WORCESTER.

ACETYLENE MAKERS.

Chicago, June 30.—Arrangements have just been completed for the annual meeting and election of the International Acetylene association, to be held in Chicago on Tuesday, July 11. George Landis Wilson, president of the association, stated today that an interesting series of meetings is promised, with papers upon subjects of mutual interest to the trade. Manufacturers of apparatus for house lighting by acetylene gas, made from calcium carbide, constitute the membership, which is expected to increase largely during the present year.

LABOR GETTING READY.

General Strike at Stock Yards Expected on July 1.

Chicago, June 30.—Labor is rapidly organizing at the stock yards in anticipation of a general strike July 1. The leaders of the dissatisfied employes claim that they are finding no trouble in uniting their forces. The labor organizations will be perfected whether a general strike is ordered or not, as the employes of the big packing companies say that heretofore none of their requests have carried weight with the bosses because stock yards labor lacked unity.

The packers are claiming that the present difficulty is practically over and that there will be no general strike in July. The strikers, who still refuse to return to work, say they have the sympathy of the employed workmen and unless all their demands are granted there will be a complete tieup in the packing district.

FREIMUTH'S

NATIONAL REUNION

Encampment of Grand Army of the Republic at Philadelphia.

A ROUSING WELCOME

Being Prepared For the Veterans In the Month of September.

Philadelphia, June 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—Under the shadow of old Independence hall the general committee of veterans and citizens preparing for the thirty-third national encampment and reunion of the Grand Army of the Republic, during the first week of September are hard at work and they say that the demonstration in this city will exceed anything that has ever preceeded it. Philadelphia is patriotic to the core and when she sets out to make the soldiers of the rebellion welcome she intends to do it to the "queen's taste." Thousands of the men of '61 who passed through here on their way home or to the front know what was done for them and few will ever forget it. Her Union and Cooper shop refreshment saloons and her magnificent army hospitals went right to the hearts of the "boys" and they are still talking about them—those who are above the cold, cold ground. For be it remembered that over 1,000,000 of the brave souls who fought in that utter strife are lying all over the land in their last resting places. But they are not forgotten and on Memorial day, every year, fresh garlands are placed upon the mounds under which they sleep and their deeds will live in history forever.

Well, good old Philadelphia intends to give the boys such a rousing welcome in September that they'll hardly know where "they're at," when she's done with them. Do they deserve it? Yes, and more, very much more than Philadelphia even can do for them and that's saying a great deal. All sorts of plans are being arranged for the 'old vets" and the program is already such a big one that it's enough to make one's head swim. The boys will hate to leave us, once they're here. But let 'em come and see for themselves.

Gen. Wagner and Col. R. B. Heath are the mainstays on the committee and they have a lot of hustling fellows with them, so that the encampment is sure to be an "eye-opener." What the committee doesn't know about making people happy isn't worth knowing. When you leave the headquarters, you have to walk but a few steps and then you are in old Independence hall with the bell which rang out liberty to all the world in 1776. The bell alone is worth the visit to the city.

But let's get down to business. One of the prettiest attractions at the great encampment will be the camp in Fairmount park. There will be accommodation for 10,000 men in tents, with cots for four men in each. The camp will be pitched on a beautiful plateau of twenty-eight acres, overlooking the charming Schuylkill, with the city in the distance. It will be accessible from all parts of the town at all hours of the day and night, and will be guared by a battalion of the Sons of Veterans. In the heart of the city there will be free quarters for fully 30,000 additional comrades, so that all who come will be sure to be cared for. Then, again the committee on public comfort have done a big thing. They've arranged a plan of registration for the visitors, so that one will be able to find an old comrade of the war at any time, day or night, in 'steen minutes by the "town clock," which, by the way, is the biggest clock in this big world. How convenient that will be, particularly late at night. But that's only one of many good bleas of the hustling committee, which comes to one's mind on the spur of the moment.

Secretary of State Hay will be here and at the camp fire will read a poem which he has been asked to write and dedicate to the veterans. There'll be a night of it, sure, at that camp fire. President McKinley, himself a veteran, will be there, and, in addition to Secretary Hay, he'll have nearly all the members of the cabinet along.

The following is the program for the week, as revised:

Monday, Sept. 4: Reception of visiting posts and delegations at railroad stations, parade of naval veterans.

Tuesday, Sept. 5: Parade of the Grand Army of the Republic, reception at the Academy of Music to the national encampment G. A. R., Woman's Relief corps, ladies of the G. A. R., Daughters of Veterans and other national societies. The president of the United States and members of the cabinet, the governor of Pennsylvania, the mayor of of Philadelphia and many other distinguished officials, comrades and guests are expected to be present.

Wednesday evening: Receptions by the Woman's Relief corps, ladies of the G. A. R., and Daughters of Veterans. The "dog watch" of the naval veterans will be held at the Academy of Music on Wednesday evening, and the camp-fire of the National Association of Union ex-Prisoners of War at the Academy of Music on Thursday evening.

The business sessions of the various national organizations and corps, division, regimental and other reunions (about 200 of these alone) will be held on Wednesday and Thursday. On Friday there will be a great naval review on the Delaware river, which, it is anticipated, will be the grandest event ever seen in this country.

As this dispatch is intended mainly for the veterans, it will be well to give some other facts and then they may clip the entire article and bring it with them to the encampment for their guidance. These additional facts are contained in the following arrangements just completed by Capt. John M. Vanderslice, chairman of the committee on camp-fires and reunions, for the regimental, corps and other reunions:

Armies of the Potomac, James and West Virginia.—All the commands of the Army of the Potomac, the 1st, 2nd, 3d, 5th, 6th, 9th, 11th and 12th corps; of the Army of the James, the 10th, 18th and 24th corps; of West Virgilia, the 8th corps; of the Defenses of Washington, the 22d corps, will hold their reunions in Odd Fellows hall, Broad and Cherry streets. The corps and division societies will meet in the auditorium, drill and other large rooms, and the regimental associations will meet in the thirty lodge and other smaller rooms. The 25th corps, the colored troops of the Army of the James, will meet in Kater hall, 1530 South street, the colored citizens having made arrangements for such meetings.

Armies of the Cumberland and Ohio.—All commands of the Army of the Cumberland, the 4th, 14th, 20th and 21st corps; of the Army of the Ohio, the 23d corps, will meet in the armory of the First regiment, Broad and Callowhill streets. Corps societies will meet in the drill room and regimental associations in the company and other rooms.

Armies of the Tennessee and Southwest.—All commands of the Army of the Tennessee, comprising the 13th, 15th, 16th and 17th corps; of the Southwest, the 19th corps, will meet in the State Fencibles armory, Broad and Race streets. Corps societies will gathered in the drill room and regimental associations in the company rooms.

The several naval societies will meet in Industrial hall, Broad and Wood streets, which will be used as a general rendezvous for all the men who served in the navy during the war.

All these halls are within three blocks of each other, and bands of music will be stationed in the vicinity during the encampment. By holding two meetings a day in each room, 200 reunions have been provided for, and if necessary 300 can be arranged for. Rooms will be assigned upon application, care being taken that the regimental meetings will not conflict with those of the corps to which the respective regiments are attached. Officers of regimental corps and other societies are requested to make applications for rooms without delay, so that the committee may make arrangements satisfactory to all.

Prices on All Kinds of Iron Products Constantly Going Higher.

HARDWARE ADVANCE

Plates Are Causing Greatest Turmoil, Prices Jumping Up Sharply.

Chicago, June 30.—Iron and Steel will say tomorrow: Among the producers of small iron and steel articles, or, generally speaking, the hardware trade, old quotations are being swept away and their place superseded by higher range. The crude products of iron and steel have been advancing steadily for the past six months, but a vast number of manufactured articles have sluggishly held to the quotations of 1898. This condition of things is now changing. Almost every article of trade, into which iron and steel enters to any considerable degree, will be higher in price after the first of the coming month.

But the advances have not been confined to the above products. Pig iron is a little higher. Manufacturers of bars have marked up quotations $1 per ton. All kinds of merchant steel have experienced a complete change of heart respecting their self valuations. Places are in the greatest turmoil. There are not enough to go around. Mills cannot ship and stocks from store are constantly broken. To keep these stocks in any degree of completeness requires the establishment of considerable advance in prices. This week the advance is $4 to $5 per ton.

It can be said on good authority that the agricultural implement works, and, perhaps, manufactories in general, will not be interrupted this year by any protracted period of idleness.

Among the finished products there will be some additional advances next week. There is expectation that nails and wire nails will again advance, although no basis for these reports can be discovered.

VOLUNTEERS BADLY USED.

A Duluth Boy Among Those Returning From Cuba.

New York, June 30.—The United States transport Buford, from Havana, which arrived at Brooklyn Wednesday evening, brought 100 discharged volunteers, one-half of whom were wandering about the streets today, penniless and despondent and each complaining of their treatment in Cuba.

The men were refused their transport money before leaving Havana; they arrived here to find no transportation for them to their homes. Theodore D. Worth, of Duluth, a member of the Seventh cavalry, is one of the stranded.

"We were discharged," said Worth, "under general order No. 40. Gen. Humphreys, the quartermaster general, said our transportation would be furnished us on our arrival in New York. At the quartermaster's department at the Army building we have been laughed at and told the walking is good. There are fifty others in the same fix as I, and to receive such treatment after the cruelties and neglect we suffered in Cuba is too much."

The men give no details of their cruel treatment in Cuba, but simply describe it as miserable.

COOPER DENIES.

Says He Is Not Organizing a Grocers' Trust.

St. Paul, June 30.—J. W. Cooper, of Griggs, Cooper & Co., of this city, well-known wholesale grocers, who was reported in a Chicago dispatch to be organizing a combination of Minnesota grocers for the sake of competing with Chicago wholesalers, enters a very emphatic denial of the whole story. Mr. Cooper says the story is entirely unfounded and that he has had no thought of or need for any such scheme. He denounces the report as an injustice and a business injury.

KILLED HIM FOR SNORING.

New York, June 30.—The coroner's jury brought in a verdict that Harrison J. Ramsey was murdered by his wife while she was temporarily insane. She cut his throat last Friday and gave as a reason that he snored. As Mrs. Ramsey was on her way across the bridge of sighs to the Tombs she attempted to thrust a hat pin into her neck. She made several determined attempts to commit suicide in this way, but was eventually disarmed by a policeman.

PRACTICE TORTURE.

Lima, Peru, June 30.—The confederation of artisans of Lima has decided to take criminal action against the chief of police, who is accused of torturing members of that body. The attorney general has brought action against some priests who are charged with illegally treating a child, at a school near Chinuah, who was suffering from a disease. The accused priests have fled from the country.

DIED ON THE BOAT.

Port Huron, June 30.—The steamer North West, which passed down yesterday, reported that Theodore Shotwell, of Minneapolis, died on board of heart disease at 6 o'clock yesterday morning. The remains will be landed at Detroit on arrival of the steamer at that point for shipment to Minneapolis.

THE PEANUT COMBINE.

New York, June 30.—The American Edible Nut company, to control the peanut trade, is about to be incorporated in New Jersey. The capital stock, it is stated, will be $5,000,000. The charter of the combination will permit it to handle nuts other than peanuts and the product of nuts grown in this and other countries. The company will control, it is claimed, the entire peanut market of the world. Peanuts have been advancing for some months from natural causes, there being an active demand and scant supply. When the company begins operation the nuts, it is believed, are likely to advance still further.

ASPHALT TRUST.

Philadelphia, June 30.—The Asphalt Company of America has just been incorporated in New Jersey with a capital of $30,000,000. "The corporation," said George A. Habo, one of the incorporators, "has been formed to control the sale of asphalt in the United States. It will have charge of the entire output of Trinidad asphalt and whatever other natural beds can be obtained. In this way we expect to control all the asphalt in the world. We shall absorb a great many smaller companies in this country."

Mme. Yale's

HAIR TONIC

Ladies and Gentlemen: It affords me great pleasure to call the attention of the public to the Excelsior Hair Tonic, which is the first and only remedy known to chemistry which positively turns gray hair back to its original color without dye. It has gone on record that

MME. YALE,

wonderful woman chemist—has made this most valuable of all chemical discoveries. Mme. Yale personally endorses its action and gives the public her solemn guarantee that it has been tested in every conceivable way, and has proved itself to be the only Hair Specific. It stops hair falling immediately and creates a luxurious growth. Contains no injurious ingredient. Physicians and chemists invited to analyze it. It is not stick or greasy—on the contrary, it makes the hair soft, youthful, fluffy, and keeps it in curl. For gentlemen and ladies with hair a little gray, streaked gray, entirely gray and with BALD HEADS, it is especially recommended. Price, $1.00. Our special price—

TIME IS ASKED.

Conference Held In St. Paul Over the Cass Lake Affair.

St. Paul, June 30.—A committee of representative citizens from the thriving village of Cass Lake called on Senator Davis and asked him to lend his influence to secure the recall, or at least the suspension, of an order recently issued by the interior department which gave all the whites on the Leech Lake Indian reservation until July 27 to get off the government land, with bag and baggage.

As the order would mean the absolute abandonment of the town of Cass Lake and other villages, the residents are alarmed. Many have invested large sums of money.

A meeting was held in Cass Lake, and as a result Judge Ives, Senator McCarthy, Frederick Smith and William Dunlop, together with Congressman Page Morris, of Duluth, came to St. Paul.

The committee was closeted with Senator Davis for a couple of hours, and when the conference was over Senator Davis said that he and Representative Morris had sent a joint request to Indian Agent Mercer at Washington to suspend the order for thirty days, or at least until a thorough investigation of its effects could be had. As all the arguments used by the members were incorporated in the letter to Mr. Mercer, none of the committee would give out anything for publication, as a matter of courtesy to Mr. Mercer.

A DEFEAT FOR YALE

She Lost All Three of the Rowing Races to Harvard.

OVER SIX LENGTHS

Great 'Varsity Race Was a Walk-Away For Harvard Eight.

New London, June 30.—Harvard won all of the boat races yesterday—three victories over Yale in three hours—and the western sky glowed last evening when the Harvard 'varsity crew pulled over the finish line six and a half lengths ahead of Yale.

After eight years of defeats the students of Cambridge are tasting the sweets of success.

Harvard's university eight won from Yale over a 4-mile course by six and a half lengths in 20 minutes 52 seconds.

Harvard's freshmen eight won from Yale over a 2-mile course by two and a half lengths in 9 minutes 33¾ seconds.

Harvard's substitute four won from Yale over a 2-mile course by six lengths in 10 minutes and 51 seconds. The Harvard crews rowed a modification of the English stroke, coupled with some features of the stroke pulled by Wisconsin, and Coach McConville, who saw the race, said: "If Harvard's crew in today's form had been at Poughkeepsie I am afraid they would have given us all a hustle for first place."

Yale has greatly modified the Cook stroke, and the boat did not go today as it did when the famous coach was there. The races were rowed in an almost ideal winter and wind and clear skies. The course was badly policed, boats getting into the land and steamers kicking up swells after the race had started. Harvard, in the 'varsity race, very nearly collided with a number of small boats at the finish, and a heavy swell impeded Yale.

The 'varsity race was prettily rowed, but the defeat was crushing. Yale, however, rowed gamely to the finish, and neither crew showed signs of distress.

The contest between the substitutes, constituting the 'varsity fours, was, like the 'varsity eight, a procession, with Harvard six full lengths ahead at the finish. The freshman effort was a mighty and splendid one up to the last eighth of a mile, when Harvard's superior staying powers, coupled with an unfortunate obstruction of the course of the Yale launch, always a large steamer, worked for Harvard's advantage and set the 1901 of Harvard across the line two lengths ahead of Yale.

In the 'varsity race Harvard took the water first, but Yale was close after, and the two eights started on their journey practically even terms. With perfect rythm the two crews pulled in unison.

Just before the half mile was reached Yale seemed to put more power into her stroke and gave the first intimation of an advantage. Accordingly at the half mile buoy the nose of the blue shell was a trifle in the van, giving Yale a lead of perhaps an eighth of a length. Reaching down for the mile the Yale coxswain swerved slightly from his true course, and directly after the mile flag had been passed Harvard took the lead, which she was to command throughout the race.

Yale, whose men had up to this point been rowing beautifully, indulged in a little freaky watermanship and Harvard stole away. During the next half mile the crimson oars were sweeping gracefully through the water at a rate and a style which fairly lifted the shell from the water, and in this short stretch she increased her lead to a full length. At this point the Harvard men did the prettiest rowing of the day, and it was the unanimous opinion that no finer work had ever been seen on the Thames.

Notwithstanding Yale's speedier stroke they found it impossible to overcome the Harvard lead. During this Yale spurt the Harvard shell actually gained another half length and proceeded to make it two full lengths in an amazingly short period.

At the 2-mile flag the Cambridge boat was fairly flying through the water, her carsmen apparently growing stronger. Yale was rowing well, and improved in the next half mile, but for every notch of work Yale cut out, Harvard cut out two, and at the two mile and a half it was Harvard's advantage by three clean lengths.

Yale then put in some gruelling work, and undertook to fight bravely the defeat that now seemed certain. The race had gone too far and Harvard, having in mind the previous thrashings which she has suffered at Yale's hands in former years, proceeded to make a walk-away of it, and at the 3-mile flag the race partook of all the elements of a procession. Harvard had stolen two more lengths from the Yale boat, and was gliding along with Yale five lengths to the rear. Down the long lane of frantically decorated yachts gathered at and about the finish the Harvard eight swung jauntily, steadily pulling away from Yale.

Reaching for the final flag, the tide caught the Harvard shell and swerved it woefully. The little coxswain had his head about him, however, and with great skill worked his way back into the line and shot down to the judge's boat.

Here was witnessed wretched policing, many small boats hovering about the course. It cost Harvard a fraction of a length perhaps, but Yale struggling along bravely had a similar experience, and the disadvantages were even.

Harvard crossed the finish line in a whirlwind, rowing beautifully, six and a half lengths to the good. Yale finished in fairly good shape, but her men were somewhat depressed. In terms of minute Harvard had won her grand race in 20 minutes 52⅖ seconds, while Yale crossed the line in 21 minutes 13 seconds.

The Associated Press time, taken from a telegraphic start and timed on the finish line by C. C. McConville, the coach of the Wisconsin crew, was 20 minutes 47⅕ seconds, and is believed to be the accurate time of Harvard's crew.

HOME CURE FOR BLOOD POISON.

Beware of the Doctors' Patchwork; You Can Cure Yourself at Home.

There is not the slightest doubt that the doctors do more harm than good in treating Contagious Blood Poison; many victims of this loathsome disease would be much better off to-day if they had never allowed themselves to be dosed on mercury and potash, the only remedies which the doctors ever give for blood poison.

The doctors are wholly unable to get rid of this vile poison, and only attempt to heal up the outward appearance of the disease—the sores and eruptions. This they do by driving the poison into the system, and endeavor to keep it shut in with their constant doses of potash and mercury. The mouth and throat and other delicate parts then break out into sores, and the fight is continued indefinitely, the drugs doing the system more damage than the disease itself.

Mr. H. L. Myers, 100 Mulberry St., Newark, N. J., says: "I had spent a hundred dollars with the doctors, when I realized that they could do me no good. I had large spots all over my body, and these soon broke out into running sores, and I endured all the suffering which this vile disease produces. I decided to try S. S. S. as a last resort, and was soon greatly improved. I followed closely your 'Directions for Self-Treatment,' and the large splotches on my chest began to grow paler and smaller, and before long disappeared entirely. I was soon cured perfectly and my skin has been as clear as glass ever since. I cured myself at home after the doctors had failed completely."

It is valuable time thrown away to expect the doctors to cure Contagious Blood Poison, for the disease is beyond their skill. Swifts Specific——acts in an entirely different way from potash and mercury—it forces the poison out of the system and gets rid of it entirely. Hence it cures the disease, while other remedies only shut the poison in where it lurks forever, constantly undermining the constitution. Our system of private home treatment places a cure within the reach of all. We give all necessary medical advice, free of charge, and save the patient the embarrassment of publicity. FIT FOR SELF-GOVERNMENT.

S. S. S. FOR THE BLOOD

A hard blow has been dealt to the imperialists by Brig. Gen. King, better known as Capt. King, who has returned from the Philippines on account of his health being shattered by the severe campaigning and the trying climate. He asserts in a positive manner, as the result of careful observation, that the Filipinos are capable of self-government. As Gen. King is a man of good education, known to be a keen and intelligent observer and the possessor of calm judgment, his opinion necessarily carries weight with many people. The principal argument of those who uphold the policy of Asiatic conquest is that the Filipinos are utterly unable to govern themselves, consequently American control is necessary to save them from self-destruction. Gen. King had been among the natives for months prior to the outbreak and fought them for over three months. Thus he had the best facilities for observing their characteristics in peace and war. In a letter to the Milwaukee Journal he states that "the capability of the Filipinos for self-government cannot be doubted, and if given a fair start they could look out for themselves infinitely better than our people imagine." Furthermore, he declares they rank far higher than the Cubans or the uneducated negroes to whom the United States have given the right of suffrage. It will be interesting to see how the imperialists will meet this opinion expressed by an American of Gen. King's high standing, who has had exceptional facilities for observing the Filipinos. Probably they will fall back on the old silly cry that "the flag must not be hauled down" or that "no backward step must be taken."

Other leading Americans who have been in the Philippines are in line with Gen. King on this point, and their statements have been published by The Herald from time to time. For instance, Admiral Dewey expressed a similar opinion nearly a year ago in a dispatch to the navy department. On Aug. 29, 1898, he telegraphed as follows: "The population of Luzon is reported to be something over 3,000,000, mostly natives. These are gentle, docile, and, under just laws and with benefits of popular education, would soon make good citizens. In a telegram sent to the department on June 23 I expressed the opinion that these people are far superior in their intelligence and more capable of self-government than the natives of Cuba, and I am familiar with both races. Further intercourse with them has confirmed me in this opinion." More recently a New York "yellow journal" published an alleged interview with Admiral Dewey at Hong Kong, in which he was represented as saying that this country should never give up the Philippines. The interview was denounced as a "fake," and the paper which published it has never produced any proof of its authenticity. It may therefore be dismissed as unworthy of consideration, and the opinion expressed by the admiral in his dispatch to the navy department last year remains unchanged.

Lieut. Henry Page of the regular army at Manilla, writing to the Chicago Record concerning the evidence of native statecraft found in abandoned cities near Manilla, says: "When we reached the headquarters at Santa Ana another surprise awaited us, for here was found some of the machinery of Aguinaldo's government. Among the papers scattered about in confusion by the retreating officials were telegrams, letters and commissions showing something of their system. One letter was from a township governor asking relief from his duties; a surgeon's certificate was enclosed. It had been forwarded through official channels to Aguinaldo's secretary of state and returned with abundant endorsements approved. With it was an order to the governor of the province to have a new election. Another letter was a complaint made against another local governor for maladministration. It stated the charges in real legal form and was duly signed. The numerous papers concerning school teachers' appointments showed that the Filipinos had already perfected arrangements for the education of the youth on a large scale.

"I might also mention the deeds of property, records of births, deaths, etc., to show that Aguinaldo's organization is at least not a laughable farce. I might mention also meteorological and other scientific instruments and records to show that the Filipinos didn't neglect science during those busy, warlike times. Letters dated Feb. 4, from Malolos, showed that they had a good courier system. A book on tactics, engravings of the several uniforms, beautiful topographical maps, copies of the Declaration of Independence and the revolutionary constitution, military and state seals and other articles all went to show that labor and intelligence were united in their production.

"In each town a church, a convent, or priest's home, a 'tribunal,' which is court house, jail and record office all in one, and a school, constitute the public buildings. The schools were neat, substantial buildings, which testified that the Spanish made an honest effort to educate the masses. The Filipino is very anxious to learn, and the new government of Aguinaldo used every effort to start afresh these schools. The number of natives who speak Spanish as well as their native tongue, and who also know how to read and write, is remarkable. No school teacher has been appointed in San Jose, and the school buildings are held by the American officers. In spite of this discouragement there is a private school flourishing in a native hut."

How any person can honestly contend that these people are not fit for self-government, that they are incapable of conducting an independent government of their own, passes comprehension.

THE SENATORS ELIGIBLE.

In the article in the Budget announcing his candidacy for the Republican nomination for congressman, J. Adam Bede endeavors to remove any aspiring state senators from his path by claiming that they are ineligible under the constitution and that, while Governor Merriam gave a certificate of election to Congressman Tawney when he was also a state senator, Governor Lind might not follow this example. Mr. Bede might also have cited the case of Darwin S. Hall, who, while a member of the state senate, was elected to congress from the Third district. Both Tawney and Hall actually sat and voted in the state senate after they were elected to congress but, of course, before they were sworn in as members of the latter body. No question was ever raised as to their right to be elected to congress when they were state senators, and their opponents did not make any objection to their eligibility.

The fact is that Mr. Bede has fallen into an error, like some other people, on this subject. The state constitution cannot determine the eligibility of members of congress. That question is governed solely by the provisions of the federal constitution, and congress itself is the sole judge as to whether any person claiming a seat in either the house or senate possesses the requisite qualifications.

Section 1, article 2, of the constitution of the United States says: "No person shall be a representative who shall not have attained to the age of 25 years and been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state in which he shall be chosen." Section 6 says: "No person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office." These are the only regulations made by the federal constitution governing the qualifications of members of the house of representatives. Thus it will be seen that members of state legislatures are not ineligible.

But it is claimed that the state constitution makes members of the legislature during the term for which they were elected ineligible to sit in congress. As already pointed out, this is impossible, because the constitution of the United States solely governs the qualifications of members of congress. The part of the state constitution on which Mr. Bede and a few others apparently rest their contention is found in section 9 of article 4 and reads as follows: "No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he is elected, hold any office under the authority of the United States or the state of Minnesota, except that of postmaster." The effect of this is that if a senator or representative is appointed or elected to a federal office, except a postmastership, he loses his seat in the legislature and, by accepting the federal office, ceases to be a member thereof. That is all it means—all it can mean.

Consequently the state senators and representatives who are mentioned by Mr. Bede as good timber for congressional honors are as eligible as he is to become members of congress. Mr. Bede must find some stronger reason than a section of the state constitution to keep them out of the congressional race.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

THE STATE BANK TAX.

A strong appeal is made in the Bankers' Magazine for June for the repeal of the 10 per cent tax on state bank issues. This able financial publication has for several years past contended that the best method of liberalizing the currency is to permit state banks to issue notes on their unimpaired assets under federal supervision. It is a great mistake to suppose that the volume of our currency is made up wholly of greenbacks, banknotes, gold and silver certificates and metallic money. The bank check is a very general medium of payment, and it is claimed that in some parts of the country it forms 95 per cent of the entire currency.

The Bankers' Magazine says: "The individual check against a bank account is today the principal currency of the United States. It has in itself the most important constituents of a safe and elastic currency. The check is rendered safe because of the criminal penalties imposed on anyone who draws a check and makes a payment therewith when he has no corresponding credit in bank. It is elastic because as soon as the transaction for which the check is drawn is completed, the check is redeemed and destroyed. Just the moment it ceases to be wanted as a medium of payment it is irresistibly attracted to the bank of its redemption."

State bank issues, in addition to our present stock of money and the use of bank checks, would furnish a very large volume of currency. State banks have many strong friends, but it is noticeable that the currency committee appointed by the Republican caucus of the last congress, in its report to be submitted to the next congress, ignores state banks, and it is hardly likely that under the present administration the 10 per cent tax on their notes will be removed.

AUSTRALIAN FEDERATION.

The vote of New South Wales in favor of the federation of the Australian colonies finally consummates the scheme which has long been agitated to bring them under one central government, similar in many respects to the Canadian government.

The success of the project to federate these colonies has served to call attention to the advanced position of Australia in many things. The federal government comes into possession of the postal system, which includes both the telegraph and telephone lines. The railroads, which were the property of the colonies, remain their property. Nearly all public utilities are in the hands of the people, and corporations cut small figure in these matters.

As the Des Moines News says, there are some things about the conduct of affairs on the other side of the globe that may be made the subject of profitable study on this side.

THE CHARGES RETRACTED.

The Minneapolis Journal says: "Governor Lind has made an innovation in his controversy with Senator Miller, of Luverne, over the veto of senate file No. 24. Senator Miller became so bitter and emphatic in his language and so pointed in his charges against the governor in that connection that Minnesota's chief executive took up the cudgels in his own behalf and wrote to Senator Miller demanded of him a retraction of the charges made through the columns of the Luverne Herald. It is a rare thing for a governor of a state directly to answer by communication newspaper charges and demand their retraction. But the results seem to have justified the governor in his course, for the senator has already retracted the charges, and has promised to publish in full the governor's letter of defense of his course."

Perhaps the News Tribune will now be willing to admit that Senator Miller, who is a fair and conscientious man, has retracted the charges he made against Governor Lind, because he became convinced, after reading the governor's letter, that they were unjust. The Journal is a Republican newspaper and not likely to misrepresent Senator Miller.

The Skandinav this week acknowledges the receipt of a check for $15 from Johnson & Moe for the relief of the sufferers by the cyclone at New Richmond, Wis. The Skandinav has also offered to donate to the same cause one-half of all subscriptions paid in before a certain date, and is entitled to credit for its efforts to raise a fund for the victims of the cyclone. Nearly every person in New Richmond lost all he possessed in the awful storm, and there has been great need of money and supplies to put the poor people on their feet again. Many cities have contributed largely to this worthy cause, and the commission appointed by the governor of Wisconsin has taken steps to secure $350,000 from the state to give the people of New Richmond a fresh start. This should be sufficient to handle the situation.

An exchange remarks that Lord Macaulay gained more fame by his "History of England" than by his service in the upper house of the British parliament. Macaulay was not created a baron until less than two years before his death. His parliamentary efforts were all made in the house of commons, his most famous speech being on the great reform bill. He never spoke in the house of lords and only a few times did he ever appear there. His health was already shattered when the title of baron of Rothley was conferred upon him.

The story of the vessel which has been enclosed in Antarctic ice for thirteen months will no doubt be a surprise, says the Boston Transcript, to the old lady who put no faith in the yarns about frigidity in the vicinity of the South Pole. "We can believe in a frozen North," she said, "because we know that when the wind is from the north it is cold; but the idea of the warm south wind blowing off the face of an iceberg is absurd."

The rapid growth of the telephone in the United States is shown in facts and figures given in a pamphlet issued by the correspondents of J. P. Morgan & Co. in New York and Boston. In 1880 there were 208 exchanges, with 132,692 instruments in the hands of licensees. In 1898 there were in the same territory 2100 exchanges and more than 1,200,000 instruments under rental.

Des Moines, Iowa, is making preparations to experiment with crude oil as a means of road improvement. The oil is to be furnished by the United States department of agriculture, and the board of public works of Des Moines is to sprinkle it over some of the country roads which lead to the Hawkeye capital. This may do on country roads, but it would not be a success on city streets.

A Brooklyn correspondent of the New York Sun is informed by "a man who seems to know what he is talking about," that men who are baldheaded never go crazy, and that there are no baldheaded men in any insane asylum in the country." It might be well to investigate this story before giving it credence.

The Kansas City Star says: "It would be impossible to conceive of two men more thoroughly unlike than Governor Roosevelt and President McKinley." It is doubtful who is complimented by this remark.

It is said that in the United States there are 6,000,000 members of fraternities and sisterhoods, and that yearly there are more than 200,000 initiates.

The announcement that eggs will cut consumption will probably result in the formation of a hen trust.

BEDE, MORRIS ET AL.

Elk River Star-News: We hardly think Mr. Bede will get the nomination, but there is a possibility of his candidacy bringing out other candidates and precipitating a contest in the district that is not at all desirable. * * * A recent visit to Duluth and the northern part of the Sixth district did not develop any of that well organized opposition to Congressman Morris' renomination that we had been led to suspect existed. If there is any such it is keeping well under cover.

Minneapolis Times: It is stated that J. J. Hill's henchman, J. Adam Bede, a Republican proselyte of known virulence and vehemence, is being groomed ostensibly as successor to Congressman Morris of the Sixth district, but really as railroad commissioner under the elective system. Doubtless Mr. Bede in the event of success of the plan outlined, can be of further value to the Great Northern railway, a road with which he has become familiar by constant travel, and on which, in every station, he has loosened his voice and his humor—dry and otherwise. (Hill papers please copy and comment.)

Cloquet Independent: There are a whole lot of questions that should be answered before a change in congressmen is made then if a change is found necessary for the good of the district it may be that there are others, besides Mr. Bede, whose qualifications must be given due and serious consideration. If, we say, the people of the Sixth district decide that Mr. Morris is persona non grata, then Carlton county will come forward with a candidate and we will expect the rest of the district to at once fall in line for him. We are not going to mention his name at this time, suffice it to say that Hon. Oldenburg would be a mighty handy man for the entire state of Minnesota to have in Washington.

Princeton Union: The St. Paul Dispatch advocates the idea of "electing good men to congress and keeping them there." Before proceeding to finally adopt this valuable suggestion the state of Minnesota will do well to select for the prominent positions thus provided, at least one new man. There is no doubt that an experienced member of congress, the matter of natural ability being equal, is of more value than an inexperienced man, but some of Minnesota's material might remain in congress until the second coming and still be as inconspicuous and unimportant as a blue-bottle fly in a flock of wild geese.

Minneapolis Tribune: The Tribune has no disposition to interfere in Sixth district local affairs. The Republicans of that district are abundantly competent to decide whether they want Judge Morris or Mr. Bede for their candidate in 1900. The judge has made a very creditable representative, and his value to the district is undoubtedly increased by the experience he has had in the house. Mr. Bede admits that Morris is an accomplished gentleman and good Republican, but is rather inclined to dispute his popularity in his home town and county. The main point of the Bede argument is that he (Bede) would make a stronger candidate before the people than Morris, and that as his district is a close one, and the best vote-getter, other things being at all equal, should be nominated. On the score of popularity the Tribune is not prepared to say which would be the stronger candidate. As we remarked above, that is something for the Republicans of the Sixth district to decide for themselves. Both Bede and Morris are very popular in Minneapolis, and our city could welcome either with effusion, "were 'tother dear charmer away." Mr. Bede's frankness in announcing his candidacy so early is to be commended. It will give the voters of his district ample time to make up their minds and Judge Morris and his friends ample time in which to push the judge's claims.

Minneapolis Journal: The Duluth News Tribune devotes a column to showing why Mr. Bede is not the man to succeed Page Morris. While emphatically declaring that the nomination should not be conferred upon Mr. Bede, the inference is plain that the News Tribune does not think Page Morris the most popular candidate ever nominated in the Sixth district. In fact, it is a fair inference that the News Tribune is distinctly of the opinion that it will be good politics to name a new man for congress. It holds that a good Republican is needed and can hardly accept Mr. Bede as such.

Wadena Tribune: It is now apparent that the Republican politicians will not allow J. Adam Bede to make the race for congress in place of Page Morris. Jadam is accused of having received a just and equitable proportion of the vast sum sent into this district by Marcus Aurelius Hanna to defeat the Hon. Charles A. Towne for congress, and the Republican bosses now argue, that, having sold out for spot cash, the birch bark Josher has no further claim on them, at least in a political way. Poor Jadam! His money is gone and he has nothing now to cherish but the doctrines of gold bugism and protection.

Pine City Pine Poker: The fair, frank and manly announcement made by J. Adam Bede, in his June Bidget, of his intention to be a candidate before the Republican convention for the nomination of congressman for the Sixth district, must command the respect of every voter regardless of his attitude toward Mr. Bede's candidacy. That Hon. Page Morris was just barely elected both times cannot be denied, and that next to him Mr. Bede is the logical candidate seems equally true. Probably no other man in the district is so widely known and we anticipate a lively pre-convention campaign. Some of the influential Republican leaders are under obligation to support Mr. Morris if he asks for the nomination, but at this time most Republicans should be free to act as their best judgment suggests. Mr. Bede enjoyed the reputation of being the most effective speaker in the state campaign last fall, in winning votes for other people, and having labored earnestly for years in behalf of others he is certainly justified in asking the Republican party to give him a chance to work for himself.

Grand Rapids Magnet: Mr. Bede says in his manifesto that he has always been working for others and he intimates by that statement that he has gone out of his way and neglected his business to help the Republican party. All that we deny. The business of Mr. Bede for the past ten years has been politics and nothing else, and everything he has done during the past two campaigns has been right in line with his business, in fact, has been his business. Mr. Bede has never sacrificed one dollar of money or business for the Republican party. If the Republican party nominates Mr. Bede we will support him as loyal Republicans, but we will not support his nomination.

Real Hero of Manilla.

I'm the hero of Manilla,
Sez I
Only thing that ever happened,
That's me,
Every bloomin' victory,
On land or sea,
'S due to me.
Paste that
In your hat!
I'm the whole thing—the boss;
And every time we have a fight
I see that our loss
Is greatly pared slight.
And still,
Goodness knows,
I kill
More foes
Than I could count.
Furthermore, I never sleep.
For it's my mission
To always keep
The army in "superb condition."
I'm a thinker.
Also something of a tinker.
Manilla wouldn't be
Knee-high to me
Turning defeat to victory.
Give me any old defeat,
Rivelled, frayed, rusted,
Ripped and busted,
And I'll turn it and rebind it
Like an old dress;
Then I guess
You'll find it
As neat
And complete
A victory
As you'd care to see!
You will also take notice
I know every art
Of attack or defense or—
What's that? Am I Dewey or Otis?
Why, no, bless your heart!
I'm the Press Censor.

The Policy of Weaklings.

Bathgate Pink Paper: From all sections of the country and from every political faction (except the extreme Hannaites) comes protests against the effeminate policy of the administration in the Philippines. It is our firm conviction that the attitude of this government in attempting the subjugation of these people, 6000 miles from our shores, who are struggling for freedom, is wrong and un-American. That every clause of our glorious Declaration of Independence cries our against it. The condition, however, exists, and the president is committed to that disgraceful policy, (exactly the opposite of the position he maintained just preceding the opening of the war with Spain) and cannot recede from it. It being the policy of the country through the action of the administration, there is but one course to be pursued, and that to at once send an army to the Philippines sufficient in numbers to speedily and successfully carry out the policy. * * * As the president cannot recede from his present policy of conquest and aggrandizement, he can at least give it the appearance of honest conviction by vigorous action. The first step towards that course would be to lay aside the petty jealousies that have so far practically deprived us of our most experienced general and greatest warrior, Gen. Miles, whose right it is, as ranking officer, to take charge of the active campaign. The matter of form of government for the Philippines can be settled by the people at the national election a year from next November and we have no doubt it will be an endorsement of our constitution and our traditions and the upholding of individual liberty and the right of the governed to say how they shall be governed.

An Explanation Needed.

Aitkin Age: The Minneapolis Tribune proposes that the state pay the expenses of transporting the Thirteenth Minnesota regiment from the Pacific coast to the Flour City, providing they are mustered out at San Francisco, as now seems probable; whereupon The Duluth Herald raises a big roar, says it would be robbing the state, and insists that the Twin Cities pay the expense. That might be arranged if Duluth will agree to build its own normal school it wanted so bad last winter.

Cloquet Independent: Will the Age kindly explain the connection between the Duluth normal school and the state paying the expenses of transporting the Thirteenth Minnesota regiment to Minneapolis for the edification and profit of Minneapolis. We fail to see any. If the Twin Cities want the soldiers had enough they should pay the freight, for they will be the only ones directly benefited. On the other hand the Duluth normal school will prove a lasting benefit to a large portion of the state. Do you catch on, Bro. Warner?

AN INGENIOUS DEVICE.

Chicago Journal (Expansionist): Gen. Otis' last dispatch is like the rest. Almost the same phrases occur; at least the substance of the statements is so like what he has said before that on casual reading the phraseology seems the same. "Insurgent armies have suffered great losses and are scattered." Nothing is said about the insurgent army which, at last accounts, was closing in on MacArthur at San Fernando under the personal command of Aguinaldo, nor of the formidable organization in the vicinity of Imus.

Demoralized from recent defeat. The mass of people terrorized by insurgent soldiers, desire peace and American protection." No allusion to the mass of "friendlies" that fired into a detachment of Lawton's division from the rear near Bakoor. The sentiment of these "friendlies" before that event seemed entirely favorable to the Americans, and perhaps they declared they wished to be protected from the wicked insurgents.

But there is an ingenious device added which Gen. Otis seems to have made over from the proclamations of the thick-and-thin administration supporters at home. Here it is:

"The only hope of insurgent leaders is in United States aid. They proclaim the near overthrow of the present administration, to be followed by their independence and recognition by United States. This is the influence which enables them to hold out."

This is the old story. The insurgents are being aided by the critics of the administration at home. You mustn't say anything indicative of the slightest dissatisfaction with the conduct of the war because it helps Aguinaldo. It gives him rifles and powder and men and organization.

Why doesn't somebody acknowledge for Gen. Otis that the "only hope of the insurgent leaders" is in Gen. Otis himself? Why not admit that "the influence which enables them to hold out" is Otis' complete failure to do anything with them, and his inability to hold more of the island than his army stands upon, just like his Spanish predecessors?

There is the real encouragement to the insurgent cause. Why not acknowledge it? Why not put the blame where is belongs?

Wall paper does not hang, and yet the person whose business it is to paste it up is called a paperhanger. The reason is simple. Long before the introduction of wall papers, Arras, a town in France, was famous for its tapestries called "Arras." These were used as wall coverings, and the men who were employed to put them up were called "hangers."

One of Boston's municipal officials, who is especially interested in the establishment of free ice water fountains in that city, hired a man to watch one of the drinking places the other day from 6 a. m. to 10 p. m., for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not it was well patronized. Between the hours named exactly 3235 persons drank at the city's expense. The fountain has four faucets.

BOOTBLACK AND THE ADMIRAL.

I'm just as proud of Dewey as a feller well can be,
No Rockerbilt or Vandergould can like him more than me;
No millionaire in all the world, no matter what his man,
Can take more pride in Dewey and the things that Dewey done.

But they have much the best of it in makin' Dewey think
That they're the only pebbles when it comes to meat and drink;
They're askin' him to dinner, and a-blowin' in their stuff
In wods so big you'd hardly think the world could hold enough.

They're sendin' swords out to him that are made of solid gold,
Enough to fill his cabin and to stock his bloomin' hold;
They're buyin' city houses and a-givin' 'em to him
In such a way as I should think would make his thinker swim.

But I—I ain't got nothin' for to show him what I think,
But you can bet I'll not set by and get the rinky-dink;
An' what I kin do I will do, and sort of kinder teach
These millionaires they're not the only pebbles on the beach.

So I have written Dewey just a single little line
To offer him the freedom of a patent leather shine,
And told him if he'd call on me I'd blow him off right here
To just a half a portion of a nickel's worth of beer!

FROM THE KLONDIKE

Carl Johanson Writes an Amusing Letter About the Gold Country.

ICE CROP IS GOOD

Ancient Order of Sour Dough Stiffs and Alaska Pack Animals.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Appreciating that ignorance is not always bliss, at least for a man in your position, and as I am always willing to "whack up" what is mine with my friends, that being also one of the fundamental rules of the A. O. S. D. S. (Ancient Order of Sour Dough Stiffs) and A. P. A. (Alaska Pack Animals), of which I have the honor to be a member and of which I shall speak more fully hereafter. It is, therefore, not only from kindness of heart but from duty that I share my knowledge with you about the great and undiscovered country, from whose bourne it was once thought no traveler ever returned, but from what follows you will find that the above assertion, though made by a great man, is not always true. "To hit the pay streak" of my knowledge at once, Alaska has been blessed with many things during the past year for which we are truly grateful. The ice crop has not been as large as usual, that is true, which may be of some value, as it may affect prices down your way and even save you some money by buying "long." This advice will cost you nothing. Still, I think there is enough, for we have some left yet in its native state to last us over the three months of summed expected by and bye. I have several tons put up at Eagle City, and can probably spare you some if you are short. The demand here is small, for people will not buy it on this bank while there are millions of tons in sight on the river. This country would make an ice king swell his chest with pride if the great supply would not prevent a "corner" in the market, therefore my chance in reigning is very small at present. We can also congratulate ourselves upon a little snow, enough to haul our house logs on with, cut grating against rocks, and the moose hunters have had a sufficiency for snowshoeing over the tree tops. Although last August the hardy Norseman was apprehensive of a shortage for ski running on the mountainst of which we have a few), yet in a short time after his great anxiety was dispelled, and he has now had six months of this exhilarating pastime, and today, the 16th day of May, in the year of our Lord A. D. 1899, (I mention the year in case the mail is a few years behind time), we have still a couple of feet of snow left, which will almost take us through the middle of next summer, when we will have a fresh supply of beans, bacon and snow. At the present writing the mosquito crop promises to be large and productive. The advanced agents can be seen daily skating around upon the ice announcing the advent of their principal humming and stinging exhibitions to take place a little later. The supply will be so good here that the demand for them will be very small down your way. The mosquito export will be large in comparison with the gold export, many will take free passage in the eyes and ears and other openings of those who are going South to milder climes.

The silver men will rejoice that the gold crop was not as large as usual, but while a few have discovered gold many have discovered the "gold cure." A great many "chickens" scratching around the woods and hills last summer and not finding gold on the blueberry bush or under strawberry leaves they soon went to roost for the winter. Some have discovered coal which will be a very useful article in thawing the thermometer and keeping conversation from congealing. Some genius, and we have many, claims he can freeze Edison out of business with this improved method of congealed speech. We rejoice over all these things, not only over the exodus of the mosquitoes, but of the many mining experts (?) and the thousands who represented "the Rothschilds," "big London syndicates," "unlimited capital," but with limited truth and veracity; that the prodigal son who invested one portion of his inheritance in "hooch," another on the "high card" and the balance on tender caresses of a "Chloe" or "Phyllis" is now ready to go back to his father and feed on husks. It may be inquired why these gentlemen representing unlimited capital left a country reversing and disregarding the old and established rule of the aristocracy going South in the spring instead of the fall. Why did these little gems, representing big ones, leave the country with the "knight of the tic" at a time when the sun promises to shower its blessings twenty-four hours a day, when the currant, blueberry and turnip crops never promised better or the ice broke earlier or the snow went sooner within the memory of the "sour dough stiff." Simply for the same reason that "Weary Willie," who used to go South with the ducks in the fall and return with them in the spring and who in Alaska has been in winter quarters with the bear, both satiated with a midwinter's dream, now appear to gether on the banks of the mighty Yukon, the latter waiting to catch a salmon an dthe former a boat for St. Michael's. The sight makes one believe that Texas was empty this winter and all the hoboes were here. The greater portion of these universal travelers will stand on the Seine in 1900 ready to do likewise, provided that the railroad authorities have not materially altered the truck during their absence and provided also that the space behind the boilers on the transAtlantic ships is of sufficient dimensions to admit a pointed head. Perhaps a woman's reason for this unnatural phenomenon, this action of the "rara avis" might suffice, however, for the enlightenment of the world on so momentous migration a few hypothesis may be indulged in. It is contended by the philosophers, fabulists and "bench warmers" devotees at the shrine of Hoochinoo, who masticate their "Battle Ax" with the same familiarity a Nebraska steer does the yellow maize, the resultant forming a highly colored chemical solution acting at the same time as a lubricant for the machinery of the tongue and palate ares and as a fire extinguisher to the village stove. We have many of these men for wisdom and mythology are as indigenous to this salubrious climate as mushrooms to New Jersey.

The cause of this migration of species might confound the most emment ethnologist, but it does not perplex the connoisseurs of wisdom in Alaska. The philosophers of the Alaskan school construct their syllogisms with minor and major premises and arrive at conclusions that will make the fame of Plato, Euclid and Newton "shudder and grow sick at heart." These wise men declare that the strict rules and regulations of the O. O. S., D. S. and A. P. A. art the causes of this southward movement. Therefore it becomes necessary to submit ourselves to the bar of public opinion for investigation even at the risk of exposing some of the secrets of our organizations in order that the ice crop, mosquito crop and other crops in the expansive domain of Uncle Sam attached to the North Pole may not grow less and fall in lmaccurous dessuetude through our negligence.

The fundamental principles of our order are as old as the mountains which surround us, they were rocked out of the cradle of the human race and were transmitted by divination to Lycurgus, who was and has been the boss Socialist of all times. He was a strong defender of the ax. You will remember he once made a decree that a house made by a more complex tool than an ax should be razed to the ground as tending to subvert the liberties of the state. He also delighted in black broth, fish and beans, how he stood on the pick and shovel question history sayeth not, but from his friendliness to Iron and simplicity, we presume that he would have backed us up on these simple tools also. He did not believe in stampeding except when he stampeded the Athenians, and under his regime one man could not hold more ground than he could work or one claim at a time. He believed not only in equal distribution of land, but of food. The Alaskan Siwash practice this theory today, for when one member of the tribe kills a moose or a rabbit, all the members of the tribe go to the carcass and smack their lips until it is gone, when they go hunting again. I think the Siwash who originally emigrated from the East when the skating on Bering strait was good, got their ideas from Lycurgus, aand from them it was handed down to us for the intercourse between the Siwash and some of our members have been very intimate in the past inasmuch as the "ladies' men" of our order are generally known as squaw men. So much and more we owe to Lycurgus.

The candidates for membership in these societies are first required to enter a period of probation to determine whether they are worthy to be admitted into the "holies of holies," they must by their behavior and actions convince the committee that they will scorn all luxuries and dainty articles of diet, and by way of sustenance indulge in nothing but sour dough bread of their own manufacture, the red bean, better known as the Yukon strawberry, oiled with some of Cudahy's or Armour's "sour belly" to avoid friction, and to facilitate the eating thereof and drink nothing but Siwash tea and "hooch," the latter requirement comes very natural to most men and is no hardship, and if necessities demand, to be able to subsist on a moose hide or dog harness, and share that with his fellow members if occasion demands it. This rule of virtue is calculated to inure him to hardships and provide abundantly against famine. He must not only be his own cook, but his own shoemaker and tailor. His clothing will, in time, become one of his own make from the top of his head to the sole of his "macluce," for he is allowed only one imported suit during his sojourn in the country, but he is permitted to make such additions and alterations in this garb as natural wear, tear and shrinkage demands this precaution, is calculated to the development of home industry and manufacture, which keeps the gold at home and the country richer. In the labor line he must be a regular knocker, not like John L. or Fitz, who do it for a few minutes once in four or five years, but more in the fashion of Atlas, who has to hold the world upon his shoulder all the time.

If the candidate can cut three cords of wood a day for six months, travel over the small icebergs of the Yukon like "Windy Jim," who made a century record on his pedameters for his winter's work and climb a chilcoot or an iceberg with a winter's outfit he is making headway over the divide down into the sunny slopes where the "goat" of the A. O. S. D. S. is pastured. He must also be able to sleep in a snow drift or on an ice cake, 75 degrees below zero, as sweetly as if under an eider quilt on mother's feather bed; to "mush" a dog team as gracefully and intelligently as if competing for the first prize at a New York dog show; in spring and summer to travel by night and sleep by day; to make a flying trip to the headwaters of the Tanana, Porcupine or Kowkak rivers on a relief expedition to some worthy brother; to be able to hunt like a Nimrod, fish like a Walton and swim like a duck; to know how to trap the bear, the wolf and the marlin; to lie in wait on the mountains in midwinter for the moose and caribou; to shoot the rapids like a "Swift Water Bill;" to travel in April and May without being snow blind; to wear no car laps or nose guard in winter or mosquito net in summer; to have the patience of Job in gold explorations, and finally to maintain to the world that Alaska is the finest country it the world. All these requirements being satisfactorily complied with the candidate's application for membership in the A. O. S. D. S. will receive careful consideration. From these inferences the miscreses with Pefferian beards which they fondle with the most tender affections summarily conclude that these universal travelers were unsuccessful in their laudatory ambitions of gaining "entree" in these most exclusive and honorable societies viz: "The Ancient Order of Sour Dough Stiff and Alaskn Pack Animals" and this they say is the only reason why the "checkarkow" left the country. Yours respectfully,

CARL JOHANSON.

THE CLAMMY HAND.

North Dakota Troops Say They Got It Here.

The members of the Hillsboro, N. D., militia company are not satisfied with the reception given them by the Minnesota guard on their recent visit here. Instead of the glad hand that they expected would be reached out to yank them to the bosoms of the Minnesota guard, they were extended a cold flipper in a cast-iron mitt, they aver. This is how "One of the Boys" expresses himself in the Hillsboro Banner: "Mention should here be made of the coldness of the Minnesota guard. They were very exclusive and clammy. Had it not been for the Wisconsin company we would have had a sorry time indeed. We don't know whether the Minnesota boys were stuck up or not, but at any rate, they have no reason to be. They made no better appearance than the rest. Their action only serves to strengthen the feeling that all through the recent war the Gopher troops have acted like babies."

It is believed here that this is perhaps an expression of individual opinion and not endorsed by the company as a whole. It is stated that some, at least, of the Hillsboro boys had a very good time here.

THE DAKOTAS.

A Review of South Dakota Crop Conditions By the Weather Bureau.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Huron—South Dakota crop condition for the week just closed are summarized as follows by the United States weather bureau in this city:

The temperature during the week averaged about the normal, possibly below over the northern part of the state, and there was about the average amount of sunshine.

The rains averaged below the normal, though some localities were favored with heavy showers, and in some fields of wheat, oats and barley in same eastern localities, the need of more rain is becoming evident; otherwise the weather conditions have been favorable for all crops.

Early wheat, oats and barley are making stem and joining in most fields, and some barley beginning to head. There is considerable spring rye in the eastern portion of the state that is beginning to head; winter rye is in head generally.

Corn and potatoes have made good progress and cultivation has progressed very satisfactorily. In some southeastern fields corn is twelve to fourteen inches high, and except in northern localities potatoes are generally in blossom. There is no report of cut or wire worms working in corn to any extent, nor bugs affecting potatoes; on the whole, the stand of both crops is satisfactory.

Flax has made good progress generally. Millet seeding is completed and the crop generally is reported as looking and doing well.

Gardens are in flourishing condition generally, except that in some eastern localities they need more rain.

Early haying is being prosecuted in some localities, with excellent results.

With the exception that some small grains show the need of rain in some eastern localities, the week closed with all crops in good condition.

Hot Springs—Mrs. Henry E. Lease, of Kansas, in an interview yesterday afternoon, stated that she is done with politics. She said: "It engenders too much strife, too much animosity to be pleasant to a woman. It has served my purpose and served it well. Ten years ago, when I began to take an active part in the politics of Kansas, I did so with a definite point in view. I wished to make a reputation for myself as a public speaker and I have done so. I realized that it was necessary for me to get this reputation before I could, with success, follow the life I had picked out for myself—that of a public speaker, a lecturer."

Rapid City—O'connor Bros., who own large herds of cattle on Grand river, passed through this city Monday on their return trip from Texas, where they have purchased 2,000 head of cattle. The cattle were brought up in two trains of thirty-one cars each and were unloaded at Orin Junction. The cattle shipments from the South have closed on account of the quarantine.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Jamestown—Black leg is causing the death of from three to five cattle per day on the Vassan ranch, near Medina, a small village west of Jamestown. The cattle live but a short time after being affected. The disease is contagious and it seems almost impossible to successfully cope with it. Cattle crossing a trail or drinking at the same watering place where animals afflicted with it have been are sure to become diseased. Veterinarian Moore has been at the Vassan ranch for some days and has divided the cattle into groups to prevent the disease from spreading to other ranches. He vaccinated a number of the animals and so far those treated in this manner have not been affected in the least. About 600 of the cattle in the herd affected were brought from Manitoba some time ago, bringing the disease with them, and the lax methods of the inspector, who failed to inspect them when brought across the border, is severely criticised.

Fargo—Professor Waldron, who went to Eddy county to investigate the grasshopper scare, has returned. He found the hoppers very thick in 2000 acres of stubble that had not been plowed last fall as agreed. The eggs were deposited by the pests last summer and the ground was literally alive with them. They were too young to fly and the farmers have organized and will have all the land plowed by the end of the week and the young hoppers will be buried out of sight. The professor states there is not likely to be any danger, but delayed action might have resulted seriously.

Grand Forks—The Cameron Great Northern damage suit went to trial at the opening of the adjourned term of the district court. This is its second trial, as the result of an appeal to the supreme court on the part of the railway. The amount of damage asked is $20,000, $11,000 being granted at the first hearing. It is charged that through the negligence of the railroad company, the steps had been removed from the rear of one of the coaches, and that Conductor Cameron had stepped from the main platform into space, not knowing that the steps had been removed.

WILL GIVE IN.

Report That the Volksraad Will Give the Franchise to Uitlanders.

London, June 30.—The Digger News, the Boer organ in London, prints a dispatch from Johannesburg today, announcing on reliable authority that the volksraad will be asked on Monday to confirm an arrangement made by the executive council, acceptable to the British high commissioner, Sir Alfred Milner, and the British government. It is believed the arrangements grant a retrospective franchise to Uitlanders resident in the Transvaal before 1890, who will be immediately admitted to burghership, with other modifications in the naturalization laws.

WHITES MUST MOVE.

Interior Department Says All Must Leave Cass Lake.

Washington, June 30.—It is learned that despite denials heretofore made, protests have been received from politicians and others in Minnesota asking for a postponement or revocation of the order for the removal of whites at Cass Lake. To all these Secretary Hitchcock has turned a deaf ear, and the citizens of Cass lake must move at the time set. Employes of the railroad and the Scanlon-Gipson Lumber company will remain undisturbed, but their intercourse with the Indians will be restricted. Said a high interior department official:

"Efforts to have the removal order revoked will be unsuccessful, I feel sure. The whites are on the reservation in violation of law, and have established various enterprises at Cass lake that tend to demoralize the Indians and make them pay. Capt. Mercer saw this and determined that it should not go on if he could prevent it. He accordingly reported the facts to the department, and the order of removal was promptly issued. The right of the Great Northern Railway company to keep their hands on the reservation will probably not be denied. Regulations will be made, however, to prevent them from selling whisky or otherwise violating the Indian laws. The same course will probably be taken with the employes of the Scanlon-Gipson Lumber company. They can carry on their business, and that certainly does not include selling whisky to the Indians. As to the main proposition that the town of Cass lake shall be abandoned, that will stand, and whites might as well begin to move now."

THE COST OF GAS.

Manager Case Finds That It Is Nearly 32 Cents.

In a report submitted to the light and water board, Manager Case states that the total cost of making gas with the new generator is 31 and 98-100ths cents per 1000 feet. The results given by Mr. Case are the data adduced from a five-days' test. In the time named the generator produced 366,000 feet of gas and a consumption of 14,400 pounds of coal and 1524 gallons of gas oil. For every 1000 feet of gas produced there was consumed an average of 37 and 34-100ths pounds of coal and 4 and 16-100ths gallons of oil. The cost of the coal per 1000 feet of gas was 9 cents 6 1-3 mills, and of the oil, 11 cents 8½ mills, approximately, making a total of 21 cents 4 8-10ths mills. The cost of cylinder and machine oil, boiler, coal, etc., was 2 cents per 1000 feet, and the cost of labor per 1000 feet averaged for the five months 8 cents 4 9-10ths mills per 1000.

MORE TROOPS SAIL.

Washington, June 30.—The war department is in receipts of the following dispatch:

San Francisco, Cal., June 29.—Adjutant General, Washington: Transport Valencia left yesterday evening with headquarters, band, Troops B and M, Tenth cavalry, 7 officers, 195 men, 200 rounds carbine, 120 pistol ammunition per man; Companies E and H, Twenty-fifth infantry, 5 officers, 253 men, 200 rounds rifle ammunition per man, 1 assistant surgeon, 1 acting assistant surgeon, 6 men hospital corps. SHAFTER, Commanding.

THE LAW UNHEEDED

Statutes Against Noxious Weeds Not Enforced as They Should Be.

NOT LONG TO LIVE

Said That Dandelions Will Run Out In Less Than Two Years.

In spite of laws on the statute books of the state of Minnesota declaring certain weeds a nuisance, and providing penalties for allowing them to grow, some of these weeds are on the increase here, and in a short time they will be overflowing lawns as the dandelions, Duluth's enemy of several years' standing, have done. The laws are very strict on the subject, and it is unlawful even to permit any of the weeds that are under the ban of the law to grow unmolested. There are quite a number of the weeds that are declared nuisances by the law, but of those that grow in this vicinity the Canada and other thistles are the most numerous.

A greater number of these weeds are to be seen about Duluth every year. The law says that it is unlawful to permit them to go to seed, and it is the duty of the officials having charge of public highways to see that the law is enforced. These officers must examine the highways to see if such weeds are growing, and when they are found they must give the owner of the property notice of the time within which the weeds must be destroyed. If the owners of the property do not heed the notice, it is the duty of the officials to proceed to destroy the weeds, and charge the cost up to the fund for the support of such highways.

Anyone may start the law in motion if he knows of such weeds being in existence by notifying the proper officials in writing of the fact, and after that it is up to the officials. The cost of clearing land from weeds may be collected from the owners, because if they fail to pay when called upon it is to be turned over to the county auditor and charged up against the land and collected through the ordinary machinery of taxation.

The penalties for violation of this law are severe. Anyone who violates the provision against allowing weeds to grow, or who shall fail to obey the notice given by the local officials is guilty of a misdemeanor and is punishable by a fine of not less than $10 or more than $100. Any officer who fails to do his duty under the law is punishable by a fine of not less than $25 or more than $100. A petition signed by two persons is enough to compel the county attorney to prosecute such offenders.

There is a whole law directed especially against the Russian thistle, and under it the town and county officers of this county are already liable to a fine. It provides that every board of town supervisors or every city council, and the board of county commissioners, shall appoint weed agents whose duty it shall be to destroy or cause to be destroyed all Russian thistles, and any of the officials neglecting the duty are liable to a fine of $25 to $100.

The weed that Duluth has been especially afflicted with, however, is the dandelion, and there is no law against them. They have been thriving on Duluth lawns for several years, and that in spite of most energetic efforts to crowd them out. In many cases it has been necessary to abandon the fight against them. There have been many suggestions offered as to how they should be fought. Alderman Crowley is in favor of organizing a campaign against them, and going out with torches to burn them, and he believes that this will be an effective method to pesue against them. Judge Ensign, on the other hand, speaks from experience when he says that the best way to fight them is with grass seed. He says that if grass seed is persistently planted where the dandelions grow it will in time crowd out the latter. His own lawn is as free from the pest as any in town, and this speaks well for his theory.

A man who has lived in other towns where dandelions have thrived as they have here gives them not more than two years at the most to live in Duluth. He says that in time they exhaust the vital essences of the soil on which they live, and die out of themselves. It is a well-known fact that different plants require different elements of the soil, and farmers who have had one crop work out in at patch of ground and who have had another crop thrive on the same soil know what it means. The dandelions grow so fast and crowd so much that in a very short time not more than five or six years, they will exhaust the soil and die out from starvation.

This theory looks reasonable, and the man who advances it says that it was shown good in Chicago a number of years ago. That city was afflicted with the pest in as marked a manner as Duluth has been, and every conceivable method was adopted to run the weeds out. Finally, after all these methods had proven ineffective, they died out of themselves and they have never come back.

THE MIDGETS.

Graceful and Pretty Operetta Is Assured a Great Success Tonight.

With graceful dances, beautiful costumes and charming songs the "Mystic Midgets" will be presented at the Lyceum tonight for the benefit of the Children's home. The last rehearsal was given at the Lyceum last evening, and the success of this charming little operetta is assured beyond a doubt. The sale of tickets has been very large and the rush continued all day today. The boxes have been taken and it is expected that when the curtain goes up tonight there will not be a vacant seat. A most generous amount is already assured the home and the women who have worked so hard for the success of the presentation were greatly elated today at the bright outlook.

Among the many pretty features of the "Mystic Midgets" will be the dance of the Archer guards by eight young girls beautifully costumed. All the dances will be given pretty spectacular effects by means of calcium and electric lights. The "Princess Louise gavotte," danced by sixteen young society girls promises to far surpass anything of its kind ever seen in Duluth. This dance was only recently brought to this country from abroad and Professor Collins was granted permission to use it for this occasion at the recent convention of dancing teachers in Niagara.

Beauty is not the only attraction of the operetta. From beginning to end there is a sparkling of wit that is in keeping with the rest of the performance. There will be a grotesque gathering of representatives of all nations at the fairies' carnival and other interesting features too numerous to mention. The operetta will be given with the following cast:

Titania queen ..... Rene Smith
Tinymite ..... Marjorie Harrison
Tiddlewink ..... Natie Smith
Psyche ..... Maude White
Butterfly guards—Lottie Dryer, Hazel Roberts, Helen McKinley, Florence Orchard, Edalia Shiffman.
The queen's favorites—Luella Whishart, Chloe Richards, Alice Beneteau, Katie Sargent, Myrna Pressnell, Grethen Ancke, Maud Kelly, Frances Kelly, Corine Beneteau, Lucille Bradley.
Archer guards—Ida Magie, Marie Fredericks, Louise Chappell, Edith Milligan, Effie Smith, Stella Ladsuceur.
Prince Obdillous ..... Cyril Tyler
Commodore ..... Joe Harrison
Uncle Sam ..... Louis Tyler
John Bull ..... George Edwards
Terrence McGinty ..... Arthur Fitzgerald
Rob Roy ..... Kate Gordon
Karl von Krause ..... Willie Bloedel
Policeman ..... William Harrison
Carlos Zorilla ..... George Swan
Gaetanio Bananlo ..... Chalmer Agnew
Count Pierre Contrad ..... Edward Furni
Major Do-Little ..... Elmer Furrel

ALL ARE DELIGHTED.

The New Music Hall at Cincinnati Is All Right.

Cincinnati, June 30.—The golden jubilee of the North American Saengerbund is now an assured success. The attendance during the past two days surpassed expectations, and the opening concert of last night surpassed the highest expectations in the musical line. The new hall is a grand one, strong and with every appointment for convenience and a most imposing interior appearance. It is being urged as a fitting place for the national conventions next year.

The officers and members of the North American Saengerbund express their highest appreciation now of the efforts of the local executive board in providing such a hall, and have issued a statement that the delay of twenty-four hours was due to unforeseen accidents and unavoidable obstructions.

There are double programs for today and tomorrow. After the concerts this afternoon and evening and tomorrow afternoon and evening, the great volksfest will be held at the Zoological gardens all day Sunday and Sunday night, instead of Saturday, as originally announced.

"REAL DAUGHTERS."

They Are Scarce In the Revolutionary Society.

While the organization known as the Daughters of the American Revolution embraces many thousands of members, there are still but few "real daughters" among hte number, says the New York Tribune. A "real daughter" is one whose father rendered material assistance to the cause of independence. Most of the members of the Daughters of the American Revolution belong to the society by virtue of the services rendered by a grandfather, a great-grandfather, a great-great-grandfather, perhaps even a great-great-great-grandfather

The Daughters of the American Revolution chapter of Harrisburg, Pa., has been congratulated by the register general of the United States on the fact that it numbers a "real daughter" among its members. To national society dressed Mrs. Hannah M. Hess with a handsome souvenir spoon, beautifully engraved. She is in reality a daughter in Harrisburg, Pa. Her age is 81 years and her father was Dr. Zenas Macomber, who was born in Connecticut in 1754. Dr. Macomber died in Peachbottom, York county, Pa., in 1821. He served as surgeon in Gen. Carter's Connecticut regiment; later he was one of Gen. Washington's life guards. He served faithfully during the revolutionary war and was wounded a number of times—most severely — perhaps at the battle of Paoli. His record is a noble one, and his venerable daughter is proud of the fact that she is one of the few "real daughters" in the country.

The distinction of having a real daughter of a patriot of the war of '76 is also accorded to the Quaker City chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The "daughter" is Sarah Donon Terry, who joined the chapter on her 98th birthday, which occurred a year ago, and she lives with her great-grandniece, Mrs. R. E. Fairbrother, at 545 North Sixteenth street, Philadelphia. Mrs. Terry has a clear recollection of the events of her girlhood and the things so fraught with interest to the American people. She is a charming conversationalist, bright, quick and witty, and has such a store of information that she is the raconteur of all the patriotic gatherings she attends.

Mrs. Terry is the only living member of the large family of Stacey Doron, of Mount Holly, N. J. Mr. Doron particularly distinguished himself at the battle of Monmouth and his daughter recalls that fact with pride.

She did not marry until her sixtieth year, and then chose her brother-in-law as a husband. She likes to recall the days of Washington and Lafayette, both of whom she knew personally and designates as "bonny men." She has many stories to tell about her life at Copenhagen, where she went in her girlhood as companion to Mrs. Pederson of the Danish embassy, and her most precious possession is a copy of the Ulster County Gazette of Jan. 4, 1800, which gives an account of the death and burial of Gen. Washington.

THE WHITE MAN'S LIMITS.

What is the greatest foe of the British empire? Mr. Chamberlain gave the correct answer in his eloquent and suggestive speech last night. It is malarial fever. This terrible enemy exacts the appalling death tax in many portions of the empire and prevents the colonization of vast regions over which the flag flies, says the Philadelphia Press. The British empire is rich and populous. Its riches, its population, its strength, would be increased many fold if fever in its various forms could be defeated. At present the white man's portion of the earth is severely limited by malaria, and the late Dr. Pearson, in his celebrated book, indulged in many not very cheerful speculations based on the permanence and inviolability of this fever frontier. But is there any scientific justification for treating the malarial properties of so large a portion of the earth's surface as an ultimate and irremediable fact? Is it not possible that science may yet discover some means of rendering the white man immune? Or, again, may not the malarial conditions be modified? The Roman Campagna, which is now the haunt of malaria, was once the seat of powerful and populous cities. If science should ever achieve such victories as we have suggested above, the whole future of the white races will be profoundly modified, and the foundation of the British Empire immensely strengthened. It is, therefore, most proper that Great Britain, as a power so largely responsible for the control of the tropics, should make some serious, concentrated and prolonged attempt to solve this greatest of all African questions. The scheme for a school of tropical deseases, expounded by the colonial secretary last night, deserves the support of all "sane imperialists."

KILLED HIS WIFE.

Lowell, Mass, June 30.—William Kelly shot and killed his wife while she was passing along the street early today. Kelly then ran away. Mrs. Kelly, who works in an all-night restaurant, was on her way home when her husband, with whom she had not lived for some time, confronted her and asked her to return to his home. She refused to do so and the man fired three shots, killing her.

RENOUNCE THEIR CLAIMS.

Coburg, June 30.—It was officially announced today that the duke of Connaught, brother of the reigning duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha and the son of the duke of Connaught, Prince Arthur, have renounced their claims to the Coburg succession in favor of the duke of Albany, son of the late Prince Leopold of England. The duke of Albany, who was born in 1884, and whose mother was Princess Helena of Waldeck, will be heir to the throne of Coburg, under the guardianship of Prince Hohenlohe-Langenburg.

WHAT IS IS RIGHT

Gen. Harrison Gray Otis Gives His Opinion on Philippine War.

NO MISTAKES MADE

Maj. Gen. Otis Is Everything That Is Wise and Good.

Chicago, June 30.—Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, of Los Angeles, Cal., who was with the Eighth army corps at Manilla, and who saw nearly a year's fighting around that city, arrived in Chicago last night en route for Washington. He stopped at the Palmer house and will remain in the city until tonight before proceeding eastward. His visit to Washington will mark his muster out of the volunteer service.

Gen. Otis discussed the situation in the Philippines at considerable length, and took the hopeful view that with the additional troops to be furnished the war would be terminated before the next rainy season sets in.

"With 50,000 troops all told—say 30,000 for the fighting columns and 20,000 for garrison duty," he said, "Maj. Gen. Otis can suppress the revolt before the next rainy season, restore peace and establish order, protect all well-meaning natives of Luzon in their rights of person and property, and establish and maintain a simple, economical, just and effective government over the islands."

"Do you believe the Filipinos are capable of self-government, or will it be necessary to maintain a standing army in the islands for a great length of time?"

"In their present state I do not believe the Filipinos are capable of self-government. If the restraint and control of this government were withdrawn from them now, I believe they would be at each other's throats in a very short time and make a farce of self-government. The conclusion from this premise, therefore, is that it will be necessary for the United States to maintain a considerable force in the islands for an indefinite period. Such a course will, in my judgment, be unavoidable if we are to hold, protect and properly govern the possessions we wrested from Spain as legitimate prizes of war in an honorable contest.

"This country owes much to itself, and it owes the distinct obligation of providing a sound, adequate and just government to the natives of the Philippine group. Moreover, it owes something to the world in this regard, for it would be a shame and a reproach to an enlightened nation to conquer and posess a half-civilized land and then abandon it without adequate government, protection and internal security."

"Has there ever been any question as to the duty of the government in the Philippines?"

"I cannot see how the duty of the government in the Philippines can be fairly questioned by any self-respecting American with a proper conception of the actual situation. It was not possible to avoid hostilities after the capture of Manilla. The most careful, honest and persistent efforts to accomplish that so desirable result were made by Maj. Gen. Otis and all in his command, in obedience to the orders of the president of the United States.

"Regarding the general situation in the Philippines, let these prime facts be borne in mind: First, with even the small force now available in Luzon, the enemy has been defeated in every engagement; second, no serious mistakes have been made by Maj. Gen. Otis, either military or civil. He has shown himself to be a commander with a strong grasp on the situation. He has ability, experience, skill, integrity and a marvelous capacity for work."

GOING TO PRETORIA.

Lourenez, Marques, Delagoa Bay, June 30.—The United States cruiser Chicago, Rear Admiral Howison's flagship, has arrived here. Her commander will proceed to Pretoria.

The Chicago sailed from New York in April last to circumnavigate Africa, but owing to the unsettled state of affairs in the Transvaal is to remain in that vicinity to protect American interests.

LOUD'S GREAT SCHEME.

Makes Bicycles Into Railway Tricycles In a Trice.

W. H. Loud, train dispatcher of the Northern Pacific, has invented an attachment for converting an ordinary bicycle into a railroad tricycle in as short a space of time as it takes to tell it. Mr. Lowd gave his apparatus a trial last evening on the Park Point street railway track, and it proved a success. A third wheel is attached to the bicycle by three bamboo rods, one at each axle and one at the head of the frame, fastened by a pin that is easily removable. An iron bracket sprung in the fork by the hand prevents the front wheel from turning. Sheet iron flanges, easily detachable, are placed on the wheels of the bicycle. The third wheel is made of wood, with a sheet iron flange. The new device will undoubtedly be very popular with Park Point campers, as the track of the new electric line is without ballast, making it as hard as the Jordan road for cyclists. The railroad tracks about Duluth can now be utilized by wheelmen.

GRAIN GROWERS' ELEVATOR.

Its Construction on Duluth Site to Be Discussed.

The project of building a 600,000 bushel elevator on the state site at West Duluth will be discussed at the meeting of the Grain Growers' Co-operative association to be held in St. Paul July 7. There are two factions in the association, one of which is composed of those who are also members of the Grain Dealers' association, which is ambitious to operate a line of elevators in competition with those operated by other companies. The other members of the association contend that dealers have no business in an organization that is organized to conserve the interests of those who grow wheat.

Is Not the Man.

E. P. Nacey, who had Frank Curry arrested several days ago on the charge of assaulting him, has made up his mind that he was mistaken. He says that he was told that it was Curry who had assaulted him, but on seeing the latter he found that he bears no resemblance to his assailant. The case against Curry has been dismissed.

A Female Scrap.

Lizzie Hazel was arraigned before Judge Edson yesterday afternoon on the charge of assaulting Alda Bazel. She pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial. The case was set for July 5. She was released on her own recognizance.
